The Ministry of Post and Telegraph is releasing for circulation old postal stamps which have remained unsold from previous issues and surcharging them. The postal stamps presently in use have been ordered in 1920 by the Ministry from the American Bank Note Company which also printed the new 10 dinar notes in circulation since last October. NTAN.—Mr. R. Roberts submits 1 black on script watermark paper.

FOUNDLAND.—Frank F. Wills sends pping from a St. John's newspaper stating that a letter mail was despatched by train Feb. 11 for Labrador, part of the service to be performed by airplane. From Mr. Wills' letter we quote:—"I learn that a sheet of the 1920 provisionals has been found with the 3c on 35c inverted overprint. We already have the other two stamps of this set inverted, viz.:—the 2c on 30c and the 3c on 15c narrow spaces."

NYASALAND.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the 3d script watermark on new yellow paper and the 1sh bright emerald all through, old watermark.

PANAMA.—Mr. F. E. Heydon advises that new official seals were issued last November and are 42 x 22mm in size. The design is type set and printed in very dark blue on light red groundwork with squares arranged like a city map with white spaces between; 20,000 were issued and are now in use. The wording is "Republica De Panama Servicio De Correos Cierre Oficial" in three lines.

Mr. Heydon also adds that the same design with colors reversed have been printed but so far have not been placed in use.

RUSSIA.—Mr. A. H. Luck informs us that the 250r, first Bolshevik issue on wove paper, has been surcharged 100,000 roubles.

SPAIN.—Mr. R. Roberts advises that he has received the 10c green and 20c violet in the new design. Mr. Roberts also adds that he has also received the 10c carmine in the same design and is informed that when the Mint began to print the new issue they had not had instructions to alter the colors of the stamps according with the decision of the Postal Congress, Madrid, but they had hardly started printing the 10c before the order to change the colors was received, consequently the 10c carmine was a very small printing.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Mr. R. Roberts has shown us the 21c on script watermarked paper.

TRANS-JORDANIA.—Two sets of locally overprinted stamps have been issued for this place. The first overprint consists of the Arabic "Ushr ul-qirsh" (tenth of piastre) on the millieme values, and "al-qirsh" (piastre) on the piastre values. The second appears to be a new overprint in place of the old one "sharq il-urdun" (East of Jordan) and reads in Arabic "Hukumat ul-sharq il-arabiya" (Arab Government of the East) and beneath this the word "nisan" (April) and the Arabic equivalent for 1921. This is all the information received as yet from our correspondent, who is absent from Trans-Jordania at present, but promises to send us some sets when obtainable.——Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

BOOK REVIEW.

We have received from F. Hugh Vallancey, 89 Farringdon St., London, Eng., a "Guide to Stamp Collecting" by C. C. Lambert. It is No. 23 in the series of books published from the office of Stamp Collecting and is priced at 25c. It covers the usual lines of books of this kind and will doubtless be a good missioner for philately.

A neat pricelist has just been received from J. G. Jewett, South Orange, N. J. It will be sent to any address free of charge.

THE LAST OF THE IRISH PROVISIONALS.

By W. WARD.

Right on the point of the announcement of the new permanent series of stamps for Ireland, three or four matters over which the Provisional Government had no control, were the cause of further "Swan Song" provisionals on the eve of the ratification of the Free State by the King on December 6th, when Mr. Timothy Healy, a well known Irish Patriot-Lawyer was appointed Governor-General of the Southern portion of Ireland, and when the event was signalised by the issue of the 2d "Map" stamp.

The first new provisional was occasioned by the change of the colour of the British 9d stamp from sepia to sage green, which stamp again bore the red or rather carmine "Rialtas Sealadach" overprint. Rumour had it that this stamp might in any case have been short lived as complaints were received from postal clerks that in artificial light it was very difficult to distinguish from the 4d bottle green which also bore a red surcharge.

Towards the end of November, without any apparent authority, but solely on account of using different gauged spacing blanks on the monotype machines, the printers made a wider spaced "die" setting with the first word "Rialtas" about 2mm longer than the original setting and the whole body spaced out slightly but enough to be easily distinguished from the previous surcharges.

The inaugration of the new State taking place on December 6th naturally the old title "Rialtas Sealadach an hEireann" (Provisional Government of Ireland) gave way to the new designation of "Saorstat Eireann" (Irish Free State), and orders were given that until the permanent series could be ready, the British stamps on stock were to be so overprinted. Thus in the few days at their disposal the printers (Messrs. Alex. Thom & Co., Ltd., Dublin) were only able to make a small printing of the wide spaced "Rialtas Sealadach" provisionals and on only a few values, the ½d, 1d, 1½d, 2d and 1sh. Most of these came and went before people were able to sit up and take notice, and are certain to prove the scarcest of the Irish provisionals.

While the whole of the stamps were then overprinted "Saorstat," one value was almost immediately strangled at birth by the appearance of the new "Map" type—the 2d—and though a fair printing was made, these were almost immediately used up, since 2d is the general single rate letter postage in Ireland. Few varieties occurred in these short-lived stamps, the rarest being a few sheets of several values having a printer's rule stuck up over the top of the first word "Saorstat," in the second stamp of the fifth row, same printing as a heavy line. This was however soon corrected. Other smaller varieties occurred through a wrong setting of the machine of a "c" for an "e" or an "o" in "Sacrstat" and "hEircann." The 2d values of both the above mentioned overprints are on the Die II British stamp. Also at about this time a final printing of the Rolls of the 2d stamps were made by Messrs. Harrison & Sons, of London, also on the Die II stamp, while a number of the same value appeared with the original surcharge on a variety of the British stamp (again Die II) printed in aniline orange on a highly calendared paper.

Thus the final check list for the Irish Provisionals, without varieties, which I have however mentioned, are:—

Mr. Tubbs Says --

Mr. C. Lee Tubbs, of San Diego, Calif., a prominent western dealer and a large WEEKLY advertiser, has given us permission to print his testimonial, which was absolutely unsolicited and is a frank expression of appreciation for services rendered:

February 6, 1923.

H. E. Harris & Co., Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:—Enclosed find order from your No. 5 list. My business is growing steadily and a few months ago I asked you to send me much larger wholesale consignments on approval. Now, I could of course establish good foreign connections, but you people have always treated me fine and I am a firm believer in trading at home.

Please send another collection of 10,000 varieties at once. As these will be cleaned out in about a month, you may also place my order for a third collection of 10,000 different for delivery the first of April.

Will say, in passing, that of the hundreds of dollars I have spent in the past year for stock, none has gone to a firm where I was more promptly and courteously treated than those that were spent with you.

Very sincerely,
(Signed) C. LEE TUBBS,
4021 First St., San Diego, California.

THANK YOU, MR. WARD!

February 17, 1923.

"Gentlemen:—I consider the Portuguese Colony collection (1,500 different for $67.50) the best money makers I have had in a long time. I sold $40 worth within ten days after received, and the balance are going fast. The dealer who cannot make money with these collections must be lacking appreciative customers." — D. M. WARD, 608 Buchanan St., Gary, Ind. (Member A.S.D.A.)

February 28, 1923.

"Gentlemen:—Enclosed find check for the last collection of Portuguese Colonies (1500 different). These are the best sellers I ever had, and I will be pleased to have you send me another lot immediately, and will want still another one—the fourth—in about ten days."—D. M. WARD.

Our files are literally stuffed with testimonials and good wishes from hundreds of other pleased customers.

Ten Thousand Varieties

PRICE $155.00

Here is a collection "de luxe" and one that we can recommend to any collector, as it not only contains a large number of medium-priced stamps of the slippery, hard-to-get type, but also a lot of good ones from British, French and Portuguese Colonies, Europe, etc., cataloguing up to several dollars each. Practically all countries of the world, from the oldest to the newest, are represented, and there are scores of attractive picture stamps, new issues, and other novelties. The collection is also desirable for any dealer with counter trade, as it is neatly mounted in ten large books and needs only to be priced and put on sale. Catalogue value is guaranteed to exceed $750.00. Never before have we been able to offer such out-and-out value in a medium-priced collection—just think of getting 10,000 all different stamps at just about 1½ cents each! Send in your order immediately on our "Money-Back-if-you're-not-satisfied" Guarantee — you will never regret it! SPECIAL PRICE, $155.00

FREE PREMIUM! To convince the most conservative and in order to doubly show our sincerity and desire to prove the excellent value of this collection, we will present to every cash buyer, absolutely free of charge and with our compliments, all of the following: 1 set Trinidad Nos. 81-2-3, lightly cancelled (cat. $30.50), 10,000 Superior Hinges in boxes (value $1.50), 1 Peerless loose-leaf album (value $2.50), as well as a Surprise Package containing a magnifying glass, pocket stock book, stamp tongs and other philatelic articles for your "Stamp Den." Send in that order today—YOU CAN'T LOSE!

Twenty Thousand Varieties

PRICE $895.00

Words cannot do justice to the aristocratic and thoroughbred appearance of this excellent assembling, nor to the fineness and quality of the stamps contained therein. It is easy enough to get together 20,000 stamps of a kind, including telegraphs, cut-squares, and other unlisted varieties, but it is a different matter to obtain a collection of the same number of standard varieties, all in the pink of condition, and containing a number of the scarcer stamps cataloguing up to $10 or $15 each. We will back the quality of this collection against all comers, and the best proof of our sincerity is our guarantee of "Complete Satisfaction or Money Back." The collection is mounted by countries in twenty ruled books and is ready for immediate transferring into your albums. All countries of the world are represented, 20th century and new issues are quite strong, but the older issues are by no means conspicuous for their absence. All in all, a wonderful buy for the man who has the money to spare if he is assured that the investment and value are there! PRICE $895.00

Portuguese Colonial Collection

SENATOR GODCHARLES ADDS 700 STAMPS TO HIS COLLECTION OF 27,000

"My collection numbered 27,220 varieties at the time I ordered the 1,500 Portuguese Colony collection from you at $67.50. I want to say that in all my dealings I have never made a purchase which was so thoroughly appreciated. The stamps were not only good in quality, but also in character, and I added to my large collection 695 stamps to the value of $248.07, and have 805 varieties with which to make up exchange books. I am indeed pleased!

SEN. F. A. GODCHARLES, Harrisburg, Pa.

A COLLECTION OF 1,500 DIFFERENT STAMPS FROM PORTUGUESE COLONIES ONLY (no Portugal), mounted by countries in three blank books. Most of the stamps are unused and the condition is perfect throughout. Vasco da Gama issues, scarce provisionals, and hard-to-get varieties abound in large numbers. Specially selected for quality, and every stamp is guaranteed genuine. Catalogue value is approximately $325.00. Collectors and dealers all over the country are beginning to realize the popularity and investment value of Portuguese Colonies, many of which are underpriced and destined to become quite scarce within the next few years. This is positively the most exceptional offer we have ever been able to make. Order immediately, as present stock cannot be replaced. SPECIAL NET PRICE, ONLY $67.50

MR. ACKERMAN ON THE STAMP BILL.

We have received a copy of the Congressional Record containing an extension of remarks of Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman, representative from New Jersey, on the stamp bill that recently became a law. Mr. Ackerman has been a strong friend to philately and his advocacy of this measure has been of tremendous value in securing its enactment. We quote from the Record the following:—

Mr. Ackerman: Mr. Speaker, this law will prove a boon to humanity. Anything that tends to make more interesting a clean, instructive, fascinating hobby, or assists in facilitating the extension of such a popular pastime as stamp collecting, is conferring a blessing on a group estimated by some to be as large as a million persons in this country.

While this act amends the penal code in the direction indicated, yet it is a moot question at the present time whether the laws now existing were intended to cover the illustrations which would make clearer to the mind's eye spaces in a stamp album or to visualize from the description in the text of catalogues. These crude black and defaced illustrations which have been used ever since stamp collecting started, some three-quarters of a century ago, are merely pathfinders for the correct places where the genuine specimen should be placed and in no sense can they be considered as a substitute for the original article. If there is anything that the true collector abhors, it is a counterfeit or a repaired or imperfect specimen.

Besides bringing to the coffers of the United States Treasury a sum exceeding $100,000 per annum of net revenue, through the sales of stamps at the Philatelic Agency of Post-Office Department, and in addition thereto defraying all the expense of making the new dies and plates, the Government secures at all times the collateral interest by having this million pairs of eyes throughout the country actively engaged in looking out for anything that rogues might do in their efforts to foist upon the public counterfeit stamps or securities. It can be readily seen that the educational effect of encouraging this clean, upbuilding, instructive hobby has a worth far greater than is perceptible at first.

All classes and ages, from the lowliest and youngest to the most influential and the oldest and also both sexes, become devotees of this fascinating pursuit which has no deleterious effects and which if pursued along proper lines is not only a source of pleasure but may become a means of substantial profit, in the event that the hobby for any reason is abandoned. Governments could not do better than to assist in such meritorious pursuit as this one and it is hoped that this action of Congress will be a forerunner of more consideration on behalf of public officials in the future than has been manifested in the past for the ubiquitous stamp collector.

An article in Ewens Weekly Stamp News recently published, gives the number of collectors on the globe at 2,930,000 and the number of collectors annually buying one or more catalogues at 250,000.

Another authority gives the number of collectors in the respective countries as follows:

Germany,	440,000
Austria-Hungary,	110,000
Great Britain,	363,000
Russia, Scandinavia, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Balkan states,	60,000
France, Belgium, Netherlands, Switzerland, Luxemburg,	300,000
United States and Canada,	1,000,000
Mexico, Central and South America,	20,000
Africa and Australia,	10,000
Asia,	20,000
Total for the globe,	2,323,000

These figures are believed to be substantially accurate. In any event they indicate the growing popularity of philately, which has far outstripped that of numismatics, which for centuries has been looked upon as well worthy of high consideration not only by all civilized governments but by the most distinguished savants and literati. Our own G ment at the Smithsonian Insti maintains a curator and publishes of the stamps of the United States up to 1920, and by reason of this lation, the pages of the catalogue in the future be embellished with trations, thus increasing its usef to the average collector.

The long line of literature whic been issued touching upon philat later years has been added to by suance of a "Who's Who," wherei be found the name of celebrities, the rulers of the greatest nations, of royal blood, to statesmen, adı actors, foresters, singers, and losophers in all parts of the globe these classes have recognized the lectual value of this hobby. Its reaching educational value is acc nied by a charm of persistence grips the enthusiast; by a devotio never can be totally eliminated collectors of the country are grat Congress for having enacted this lation.

I MET HER IN DENMARK.

By Rev. Edward E. Small.

(Mr. Small is a longtime subscriber to the WEEKLY. Wherever located in the ministry, he makes a practice of getting in touch with the boys in stamp collecting. He is now located at East Pepperell, Mass., and every two weeks he meets with the boys to work out some of the stamp problems. The night that Denmark was up a map of the country was studied, pictures from the Geographic Magazine shown and the following article read.—W. O. W.)

This a joy story not a calculated investment. I'm not a regular seeker of stamps, but just a lover of fair Philately. She has led me to every land, but settled me in none. To-day I made new declarations of my admiration for her charms. She turned her face towards Denmark and tauntingly remarked, "What good does it do for you to admire me? I'm sick of the fellows who simply keep saying I'm so charming. I want to be of some practical worth in this world and not merely a man's hobby and a boy's enthusiasm. Hearst's man has slurred me. He has attempted to make me worthless to my admirers. Why don't you defend me? Do something for me."

Seizing the nearest pencil, I began, not to sketch her in that mood, but to show her the figures of her practical worth. Remarking that I'd put aside the admiration declaration, I recalled how I met her in the land of Denmark as late as September, 1920, saying, "Do you remember the old costume of lilac said to be produced in 1870-71 that you wore on that occasion?" (I have often noticed that if you get a woman's mind off her aggravations to some pleasant dress, she feels at once as much better as even Coue would wish her.) Smilingly she said, "It wasn't much. Just No. 17 as clerks put it down in the catalogue, and only one dollar for a square the size of a postage stamp." "Pardon," I added, "people put even a used scrap of it at $1.25 to-day. You see, that means over 12% interest in the time since we met. Most folks think 12% quite practical."

She looked pleased and leaned interestingly over the pencil as I recorded: "Forgetting all those varying experiences as for newspapers, charity, military occasions, officially and in that three part commemorative act, when you added Northern Schleswig to the fine Danish folks; not to mention the numerous parcels post packages and other occasions which you have adorned; you have been eagerly sought to adorn our nicest albums. I confess to 67 souvenirs of you in different array from Denmark."

"Riding on a train, these stamps greatly interested a stranger and myself. A little restless sick girl was so calmed and pleased to see them all. My last recollection of her is quietly sleeping with a few of the very nice stamps of Denmark close clasped in her little fist. My own pleasure and information seems to me quite practical. A number of parties of boys have thought that quite a bit of the pleasure they had was in the quiet delight for which boys are not noted, as they dwelt upon these same stamps of Denmark."

"I do confess that on some of those dressy occasions of yours I got duplicates which have helped me to make a number glad, and have, even a long time

if so, I have a very fine bunch of U. S. and B. N. A. Old Issues on Original Covers.

I have gathered these during past 5 or 6 years, making no effort to sell them. Now that Scott has a specialized catalog of U. S. showing approximately what stamps are worth on original covers, I am willing to let part of lot go from my private collection, providing customer is willing to pay a decent price for rare items. As everyone knows who has tried to make a collection of old U. S. or B. N. A. on covers, fine pieces sell readily at top prices. If you are a live buyer for nice goods in this line, let me hear from you. If on other hand, you are out for bargains or sleepers, nothing doing, as I am not crazy to sell, but will accommodate a few buyers who really appreciate high grade material in this line. 5c, 10c 1847; 5c N. Y. and nearly everything in U. S. from 1851 to 1870, excepting rarities, on covers; with fine lot of B. N. A. items also. Address as usual.[81

Mr. U. S. Stamp Collector

With my vast holdings in old U. S. stamps, I must have something you would like to own, with several hundred picked copies of 5c 1847, and over a hundred of the 10c of that issue, and dozens of 5c, 10c, 12c of the 1851 and 1857 issues, and also many fine copies of 24c, 30c, 90c of 1857, 1861, 1868, 1869 issues, ready to show live buyers. I would like to hear from new prospects. I am getting calls all the time from people who have been advised of my wonderful stock. I have the goods, and I am anxious to sell to real up-to-date men who know stamp values and are willing to pay the market price. Address as usual,[81

Severn-Wylie-Jewett Co, Beverly, Mass. Portland, Me.

afterwards, sent back unexpected replies of pleasure. Own up, Philately, are not such things practical?"

My response was of that languid sort which says I am too used to this kind of praise, but which put itself into these words almost mockingly: "It is money makes the mare go, is it not? Money talks." It was evident to me that something desperate must be done. "Philately," I said, "are you ready to take that walk to see a little lad whose folks tell me is a very keen student of his pennies?" As I selected a new Roosevelt which I had heard the boy had wanted, I led Philately to his after school den and made him a present of the coveted stamp before asking him to show us his accounts. Philately learned that he had for three years had a Christmas present of the more than 1200 page book we call a Stamp Catalogue. She also learned that he had begun in January to keep a set of books. Philately learned to have a new Joy in life by seeing his balance of January, 1923. It read:

"Begun January, 1921, to collect stamps from Denmark, because a friend gave me what I found catalogued 75 cents. I spent most of my money for the stamps which did not catalogue very dear." Then followed the items. I was interested to see that Philately spent her time on the totals for Jan., 1923.

"January 1921

By gift	$ .75
By purchase var. times and for var. prices	9.24
Duplicates	.01
Total	$10.00

January 1923

Value of the .75 ones is	$ .94
Value also of the 9.24 ones is	13.25
Value duplicates on hand by exchange	1.67
Total	$15.86"

We were smiling as we looked back on leaving to see that this 15-year-old lad was taking his pen and saying, "Just now I am going to enter my new Roosevelt stamp as your gift." When the door closed, I said, "Philately, do you think of any bank that a boy could visit for two years and get his toys at one cent upwards, have them for two years, and then get a statement from the bank saying that at various times in two years you have bought of us to the extent of ten dollars. We now credit you with $15.86?" Philately looked happy. I next told her of a fellow I knew who got in a hard place when he grew up and was married, and wanted a little money. He had never borrowed, but he felt he must have $10. In distress at what seemed like a crime to him, he tried to think to whom to go. His own little daughter came to him and said, "Papa, show me your pretty stamp book, the one you had when you were a boy." To please her he got it out and was surprised to find he had so many stamps. He remembered as a lad how he intended to make a fortune sometime from his old stamps. A little later, rather shamed of face, he put the book on a stamp dealer's counter, saying, "Is it good for anything?" When the dealer got done looking at it, he replied, "It is good for $13. Will you take that for it?" He took it, and his first purchase was of a 50 cent packet for his little girl. He is now in easy circumstances, but says that was the nearest he ever came to disaster. I assured Philately of other very practical things and she warmed up enough to reply: "All right; hereafter I think I'll stand for your compliments, even if you say, 'Charming'." And I do.

I think the rest I said was about like this: "You see very well what a practical charmer you are. I have not told it all. You are no vampire, but a worthy companion. You not only got me stamp interest in Denmark, but I have read up. You are an education. You make me a traveller. You are—"

Anyway, I believe with Theodore Roosevelt, "Never hit unless it is necessary, but when you do hit—hit hard." I am only sorry I can hit no harder for Philately, but facts are my club and Philately and the country of Denmark my present time joy and charming.

THE PARSON AUCTIONEER.

One of the most enthusiastic members of the Waterbury Stamp Club is an Episcopal clergyman. The Stamp Club was organized in his parish house and he has not missed a meeting from the start. Recently he was appointed the auctioneer of the society which finds commemoration in the following lines by a budding poet:—

It may seem a little queer
To have a reverend Auctioneer,
But as blessings in disguise
May sometimes come before our eyes,
So he stands upon the mat
And says, "Now, look at that!"
And the bids begin to rise
Like rockets in the skies,
For "You'll never get to heaven,
Without a watermark like that!"

Then he picks another piece—
"What am I offered for these?"
"Lot 10, Belgian, Eupen
"Oh, my fellow men!
"A nickel! a nickel! a dime! a dime!
"A tenth of a dollar"
You should hear him holler,—
"A quarter! a quarter!"
Till some one bought her
At twice he oughter
For "He'd never get to heaven
Without a watermark like that!"

If you feel a little sobby
Just try this good old hobby,
Give your stamp-bug half a chance
To rise up and gaily prance.
Just gather with the boys
And contribute to the noise
Which those philatelic males
Make at the fortnightly sales,
When that reverend Auctioneer
Says something kind of queer
Like, "You won't get to heaven
Without a watermark like that."

WHY THEY STICK

By C. S. T.

A friend who is a horticulturist came to manicure my peach trees a few days ago, and noticed that there was considerable exudate on some of the branches. He has a boy who collects stamps, and being familiar with my interest in both, he mentioned the fact that he himself had been a stamp collector many years ago, in Europe, and that when mucilage was scarce, he and his boy friends gathered the gum on the peach trees and boiled it in order to obtain cement to solder stamps to albums.

I have often wondered why some of these old "stuck-downs" resisted all reasonable efforts to pry them loose, and this is apparently the explanation, as the material employed to attach the stamps behaves exactly as peach-tree gum does, i. e., it swells slowly, and remains extremely viscous for an extremely long while, and when moistened it requires a long time to dissolve.

This is explained when we inv tigate its chemical properties. The gu contains principally amygdalie, I belie and a considerable quantity of cerasi The latter is insoluble, but the form which rejoices in the formula C_{20} NO_{11} $3H_{20}$ is soluble to the extent eight parts in 100 parts of water at F., the ordinary faucet-water temp ature. At 212 degrees, or boiling, it infinitely soluble, i. e., mixes in all pr portions. In alcohol it is practically soluble, like other members of its gro as it is mandelo-nitrile di-glucose.

Thus it seems that many an old c lection is a "peach" in more ways th one, though one might wish for the gu of the acacia if a collection of stuc downs must be acquired.

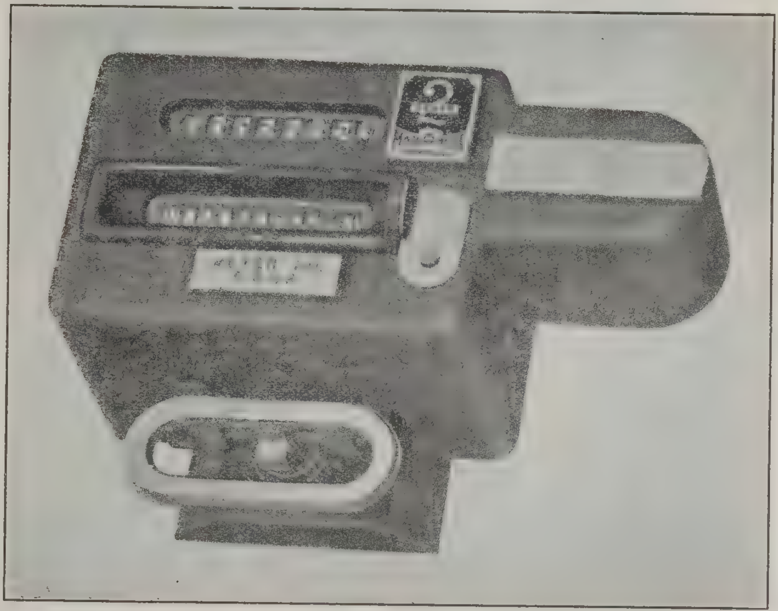
U. S. FIRST-CLASS MAIL PERMITS.

By A. H. PIKE, 80 Grant St., Buffalo, N. Y.



THE POSTAGE METER.

Since the check list of users of First Class Mail Permits was published in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY (page 377, 1922) a great interest has been created in these markings. Thousands of collectors are seeking specimens, sufficient, at least, to make a showing of this form of postage. This has encouraged us to make every possible effort to obtain information on all issued permits as well as specimens so that the check list would be as accurate and complete as possible.

There has been no change in P. O. rulings of any importance since our last published list. Officials at Washington, as well as postmasters in the various cities have given publicity and encouraged large mailers to take advantage of permit mailing. They have also lent encouragement and assistance to inventors and manufacturers to aid them in putting out machines combining sealing of the envelope, and the printing of an indicia at one operation. The machines already in operation are assisting wonderfully in the despatch of mail, and are already saving the government thousands of dollars monthly in the making and distribution of postage stamps.

The Postage Meter Co., up to December, 1922, had practically a monopoly on machines for "metered mail," and as our check list will show, they have been very successful in placing them. Both the management as well as representatives have shown us many courtesies. Through the kindness of Mr. A. H. Pitney, the inventor, we obtained a complete list of movements of all meters with dates of installation and we are receiving weekly reports of new business, including all the information necessary to make these records complete. Some machines are placed on trial and are in use but a few days, others are rented for a month or more and then returned to the factory; there are a number of instances where meters have been exchanged, permit numbers have been switched and other changes which makes dates of great importance, especially in placing a valuation on these markings.

A New Blank Album

made exactly like the famous "Oriel" but without the fancy trimmings. This new album is canvas bound, has fifty leaves of the finest possible quadrille ruled paper and has the same peg attachment as the Oriel. When we say this book is just as fine an Album as anyone needs, we are going pretty strong but we mean it. Oriels may be imitated, which some people say is "the sincerest form of flattery."

WHOLESALE

In response to hundreds of answers to our announcement in MEKEEL'S Anniversary Number, we wish to state our policy which is already in effect.

Having purchased the entire stock of two foreign dealers, in addition to our regular consignments, and because of the limited quantity of many items, we have decided to place these goods on the market through means of display sample books rather than a general list. Upon receipt of request from reliable dealers, with proper references, or cash deposit if unknown to us, we will send on one of this series, comprising over 4000 numbers.

We hope soon to issue lists as well at regular intervals, but for the present refer you to our sample selections.

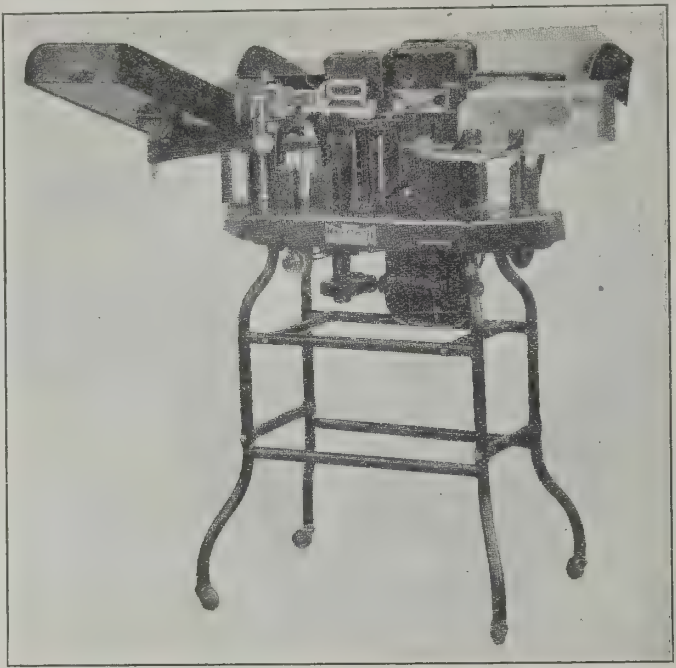
H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

The Mail-o-meter Co., of Detroit, have for a number of years made various models of sealing and stamping machines. Early in 1922, they brought out their Model "D" permit printer, an electrically driven machine, which in one operation seals the envelope and prints what we call a "Type C" indicia. On Sept. 27th, 1922, the Third Asst. Postmaster General advised this company that their Model "M" meter machine would be acceptable to the government. The first impression from one of these machines that we received was dated, December 12, 1922, and was mailed from their home office under Permit No. 3, using meter No. 6. Since that time a few machines have been placed in other cities. We understand from one of their representatives that the first few machines will be hand made and it will take some time to make the necessary dies and get into production. We will designate these meters with a double MM preceding the number so that they can be distinguished in our check list from the Pitney-Bowes (Postage Meter Co.) machines.



PERMIT MAIL-O-METER MODEL M.

The postmark dies from all Mail-o-meter machines so far have a small dot both to the right and left between the outer and inner circle. This is true of the permit printer impression (Type C) as well as their meter model (Type E). There are also many little distinguishing differences in the indicia (cancellation). The letters and figures are longer. In the abbreviation "No." there is a line underneath the o and the figures "2" on each end of the oval are smaller than in the Postage Meter Co. indicia. Unless some changes are made in their design, they can be easily recognized by our readers.

The Mack Postograph Co., of Los Angeles, Calif., have issued a catalog showing an illustration of their machine with a description. Under date of October 20th, 1922, we received a personal letter

3c Green National
On Original Covers

Some time ago we bought nearly 11,000 3c green on original envelopes —all were used during the years of 1870-71 and 72. All are marked on the Backs by the firm receiving them as to the exact date received.

Our office boy, the manager and the young lady typist have gone over this lot of Covers and have picked out all those with the Red, Purple, Brown and Green Cancellations, also some of the oddest and some of the Railroad Cancellations.

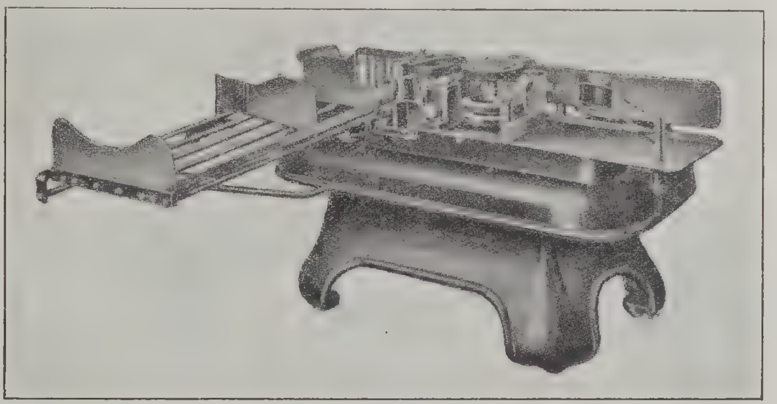
But those remaining on our hands must be sold—they are in our way —we need the room. There is still a wonderful array of Cancellations in Blue and Black—and no end of Michigan Town Cancellations that are now extinct. The specialist will have great sport going over this lot of Covers and to move them quickly we will offer you—Lots of om Mr. L. L. Mack in which he states part, " * * we have avoided publicity a certain extent until we have gotten r manufacturing operations under y." We have not as yet been advised at any of their machines are in use or at it has received recognition from e government.

The Standard Envelope Sealer Mnfg. ., Everett, Mass., have been manufacring for a number of years several models of sealing machines. During 1922, they placed on the market a permit printer and some of their early models used an indicia that we have designated as "Type C-2" for the reason that the lines are straight instead of wavy, as required by the P. O. Dept. In a conversation with one of their representatives early in January of this year, he informed us that their new type of indicia conformed with our Type C. They are not as yet in production on this model and we have to wait for more particulars before giving further details.

Foreign Metered (?) Mail. During the last few months we have noted a number of references in the philatelic press on "Foreign Meters" especially in chronicling varieties which have been sent in. To the best of our knowledge the United States is the only country in which a meter has been used on any class of mail. In the October 21st (1922) issue of the Philatelic Magazine (London) a very interesting article appeared by Douglas Armstrong, under the title of "Stamps of the Future," and it was copied in part in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, page 569 (1922). These are more correctly termed "Postal Franks" and the machines are manufactured by the Universal Postal Frankers, Ltd. "In appearance the machine is not unlike a Cash Register with a slot opening for the insertion of letters, etc., for franking. On the front of the machine is a dial indicator, which can be set to represent varying postage fees and in the top is a visible register representing the value of each impression made by the machine. Inside there is a second recorder for checking purposes, which is set to register franks up to a given amount, and then automatically reverts to zero. This meter is detachable and is sealed and set by the Post Office to furnish postal franks up to the value paid in advance by the user." Although a meter is mentioned in the above description, it is used mainly as a counter and a meter number is not included on the impression that the machine makes on mail matter.

In Germany, another type of impression is used on Third Class Matter, giving the name of the city, with the date and time within a single line postmark. The cancellation includes the words "DEUTSCHES REICH" above and a number beneath denoting the amount of postage in marks. The design of the canceller varies according to the amount of postage. As far as we know these are not used as first class permits in Germany.

On May 13th, 1922, the Pitney-Bowes Postage Meter was authorized for use in Great Britain, and on October 20th of the same year it was authorized for use in Canada. So far we have been advised of only one user outside of the United States and that a representative of the manufacturers in Canada.



THE MACK POSTOGRAPH.

We understand that the Postage Meter Co. base their patents on a meter in combination with a printing mechanism in one assembly, where the Mail-o-meter Company's patents are based on two separate units. With the machines made by the latter company it is not necessary to take the printing mechanism to the postmaster when a meter is to be reset.

TYPES.

There is some confusion in the five types which we illustrated in our last article. Type A was used on an experimental mailing in 1914, by eight different companies, all located in Chicago. We wrote each of these companies, but in the eight years that had elapsed the particulars of these mailings had been forgotten. Covers from these mailings are practically unknown, which goes to prove that current philatelic material should be watched closely and collected while they are in use.

Types B and C are current at the present time. Both are acceptable for mailing on either first or third class mail matter. When they are of the 2c variety, printed in red, fully dated, they are First Class mail permits, but when printed in black, or other colors differing from regular denominational postage colors and without dates, they are nothing more than Third Class Permits. Many of the users of the old style third class permits have changed their design to conform with Type C and are using their old permit number. Any one of three designs can be used for mailing third class matter. This is allowed by the P. O. Dept. and users are not instructed as to which of the three designs they should use, although the majority of postal employees are partial to Type C and recommend this design if consulted. There is a certain amount of interest in all third class permits and specimens are collectible, but in this article and check list we will confine our material to First Class Permits only, as these are of much greater importance. In our own collection we are filing all the five types in their regular order as per our published check list of permits. If there is a sufficient demand for a list of these Third Class Permits we will be glad to either include them in the check list or publish a separate list.

Type D is an obsolete design, discontinued by the P. O. Dept. for its similarity to Type C and to distinguish readily between an ordinary printed indicia and a metered impression. The majority of our correspondents confuse Type C and D and call all Type C meter marks, which is entirely wrong. Every meter mark used in the United States has included with the indicia wording the number of the meter. In Type D this meter number is inserted in a perpendicular position between the postmark and cancellation. Type C can be easily recognized by the absence of a meter number in every case.

Type E was adopted by the P. O. Dept. Dec. 8th, 1921, and all machines installed after that date were equipt with this design. Machines used previous to that date used Type D and the Postage Meter Co. were given a reasonable time to replace old designs with Type E. Some Postage Meter users were not supplied with new dies until late in March, 1922. It is important that all who are interested in mail permits understand conditions effecting Postal Laws and Regulations, the machines used and the designs adopted and why. If we fail to make the matter clear, or there are any subjects not covered, we would be glad to have you write us.

JERSEY STAMP EXPERTS TO EXHIBIT AT LONDON.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and Representative Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey, will both attend the International Philatelic Exhibit in London in May, where they will both exhibit their collections of stamps, which are among the best individual collections in this country.

The International exhibit is an event of paramount interest to philatelists all over the world, and is expected to draw to London the private collections of several of the rulers of Europe.

Representative Ackerman expects to be abroad altogether about six weeks, going first to London to the Philatelic Exhibit, and later spending some time in France, Holland, and other countries on the Continent.

Senator Frelinghuysen will leave Washington immediately after the adjournment of Congress for a trip South on his yacht, the Victoria. Although he will not be accompanied by the President and Mrs. Harding, as was reported some time ago, it is expected that their routes will cross at several points.

Following this cruise in Southern waters, Senator Frelinghuysen will go to London to attend the stamp exhibition. As to his plans after this, nothing definite has been learned as yet.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Herman W. Boers writes us that at the annual election of officers of the Michigan Stamp Club held March 3rd the old officers were all re-elected. H. Preston Hoskins is president, H. J. Kaufmann secretary, and Mr. Boers continues as publicity agent.

—J. C. Berkey, Niagara Falls, N. Y., A. P. S., membership No. 6680, writes us that he has been sick for a year and is recovering slowly. He has been compelled to sell his business and as a result of his illness spends a great deal of his time in bed. He questions whether some of our stamp friends could spare him a few duplicates. We pass the request on to our readers.

—The stamp collectors of Middletown, Ohio, have organized a Junior Philatelic Club. Geppert Marsh is president and Charles Lang, secretary. The promoters of the club expect it to be a live factor in the life of the community.

—The Milwaukee Journal of March 6 contained a very fine illustrated stamp feature dealing with the new stamps and illustrated by some of the old despatch, pony express and postmaster stamps. It makes a fine feature.

—There recently appeared in the Drug and Chemical Markets, published in New York, an article on "Stamp Taxes and the Drug Trade" by Franklin S. Smith. We are holding the article in the expectation that later on we shall be able to print it in the WEEKLY with the usual credit. Mr. Smith is an authority on the subject and a number of articles from his pen have already appeared in our publication. Williams Haines, president of the company which publishes the paper in question, informs us that an article which recently appeared in the WEEKLY was responsible for the one under consideration.

The next discontinuance of subscriptions will concern all subscribers whose wrappers bear the numbers 1676 to 1680 inclusive. Just glance at your wrapper immediately in order to make sure that your subscription is paid up. You have ample time in which to renew and be saved the inconvenience of a discontinuance. Moreover, under our new system we are making no plans for furnishing back numbers and subscribers must not expect that we can supply back numbers when we have made every effort to notify them.

We are satisfied that the system we have inaugurated is the only one under which a newspaper can do business these days, and subscribers must understand that free copies of the WEEKLY will not be sent to those who are in arrears.

U. S. No. 436a
Surface Print, 2c Imperf. Type IV, Die I

This stamp is listed in the 1923 catalogue as No. 436a and the description mentions the offset print as being of types IV, V or VI. Type IV is the rare type, the one that shows the first and second and the fourth and fifth lines in the button joined at top and bottom. The stamp is listed in the new specialized U. S. Catalogue as No. 436 Imperf. Type IV and priced at $2.50, either used or unused.

Being an imperforate stamp, it was issued only on special request to the Post Office Department for imperforate sheets of 400 stamps, and as a result was found only in a very few of the larger cities. There is much history connected with this stamp, and we would like to have time and space to relate it here, but will hold this story for future use. Let us say, however, that the stamp is a much rarer item than catalogue valuation would indicate. Few dealers have the stamp in stock and few have ever had the stamp. It is far more rare than the 5c red ERROR. Being an imperforate variety, it allows the enthusiast a wide field for variety and the demand from this class of collectors helps cut down the available supply.

Our stock is not so large as to worry us about disposing of the same. We have looked into the many bear stories regarding supply on this stamp and find that most of them are genuine New York Exchange Bear and nothing else. The facts seem to be that the stamp is not in the market in quantity and buyers can rest assured that we shall maintain prices we are now making on these stamps.

At the present time we can furnish the collector who wants lines, plates, arrows and center blocks, a full lay out. Our stock of these items is very close and as the stock diminishes on the various pieces we shall be obliged to advance prices.

For the present, we will quote the various pieces that we can offer and we would suggest that you make it snappy and get the pieces you want at these prices.

All of the pieces we offer are with great big sidewalk margins on all sides, the adjoining stamps have been destroyed in so far as philatelic value is concerned.

EDITORIAL.

A friend has shown us a complete set of the 1902 issue, United States, including the special delivery, surcharged specimen, accompanied by a portion of a letter addressed to a senator by the postmaster general of that day, saying that the stamps in question were "from the first stamps printed." The two cent specimen in the set is of the flag design.

The Washington Star of Sunday, March 11th, 1923, presents a picture that is about the best advertisement of the charm of collecting that we have seen for many a day. Under an excellent picture of five gentlemen of impressive appearance is the text: "Stamp Collectors of Congress get together and show their collections. Left to right: Representatives Walter H. Newton of Minnesota, Guy U. Hardy of Colorado, Roy Fitzgerald of Ohio, Frederick W. Dallinger of Massachusetts and Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey." These worthy men are seated at a table examining cards and sheets containing stamps and the philatelic atmosphere is transferred admirably to the plate. We are proud of this evidence of popularity of collecting among men of affairs and the picture is one that should be used effectively in advancing the claims of philately. For publicity work, a reproduction of this striking picture should be distributed broadcast; and permission should be obtained to allow the printing of cards for wide distribution to show that collecting indeed has "class."

From Clarence J. West, chairman of the committee on bibliography of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry, we have received a copy of the Maryland Academy of Sciences Bulletin, for January, 1923, with words of commendation for the philatelic section maintained by the Academy, under the charge of the chairman, Mr. C. Lat. Wilhelm, whose contribution on "The 1913 White and Green Seal Issues of Sonora" is a feature of the publication.

In his column in the Chicago Daily News, Mr. Keith Preston asks "whether Honduras, Nicaragua and Salvador are getting out spring, fall and winter sets of postage stamps as they used to." He asks the question as a "one time stamp collector." You have cut your eye teeth as a collector, Keith, and your question will not fall on unresponsive ears.

Mr. H. M. Hobbins, secretary and treasurer of the Miehle Printing Press and Manufacturing Company of Chicago, is a collector of many years' sfanding and incidentally, we learn from him that the company has been given an order for fifty-eight power plate printing presses to be delivered during the present year to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Washington. The same company supplied the Bureau with fifty presses about two years ago.

How do they get that way? He was showing his album of cancellations on the early U. S. "Here is the 'crusader's cap,'" he said, pointing to a formless blotch of black ink that disfigured a three cent green. "How do you like the 'sehorse' cancellation, on the three cent, 1861?" he asked, indicating an inchoate spatter that looked like the wreck of the Hesperus. "Here's the 'hangman's noose,'" he said, nodding at a representation of a formless fried-cake that Pittsburg Joe would not recognize. "I like the 'wrist-watch' cancellation, on that specimen," he vaunted, fingering a three cent of 1861 that was defaced by a puddle of black ink." "Hold," we cried, the wrist-watch was non est in the '60's. "Yes, and that's why the cancellation is so scarce on that stamp," he answered. The man without imagination is a prosaic creature and he does not fare well in the Garden of the Gods, for instance, when the hopeful guide points out the different animals and such that nature is accused of sculpturing out of the rocks, but some of the cancellation collectors that we have met are possessed of eyes that are out of focus, to put it mildly.

Delving among the earlier issues of Peru, we again have been impressed by what every experienced collector knows and that is that these stamps are worthy of warmer regard than they enjoy generally. There is some difficulty found in distinguishing between the designs, 1858 to 1860 inclusive, which is to be overcome only by some study and comparison. A reader says that he has found how to tell the A6 from the A8 type of the catalogue when, as sometimes happens, the wavy or the zigzag lines are worn away in the spandrels, by a simple little test. In A6, the "o" of Franco is oblong and in A8, it is round, although the difference is not to be seen in ordinary catalogue cuts.

The February supplement to the Postal Guide has some interesting data for the postal student. We find in it, among other interesting notations, a picture of the old postal office seal that recently has been resurrected. A copy of the old seal was discovered, it having survived the housecleaning that succeeded the fire at the national capital in 1836. It shows "the god Mercury riding upon the clouds" while the present seal represents a messenger astride a galloping steed. There has been something akin to a mystery attached to the old postal seal so far as fixing the time when the change to the present design was made officially. We read now that the second legend was adopted "around the years 1835 or 1837" during the administration of Postmaster General Kendall, although it is maintained by several antiquarians that Benjamin Franklin employed pony in action in Revolutionary days.

In the Cosmopolitan for April, Irvin S. Cobb, in "The Eminent Dr. Deeves," arises to a descriptive height when he says that Doctor Deeves "collected degrees as a stamp collector collects stamps; getting one made him covet more." Now, friend Irv's reputation for funny cracks is such that we must admit that his little dab with the philatelic brush is not wholly satisfying. We do not believe that he ever sat in real philatelic councils as it has been a long time since collectors have been content with a single addition and now, they annex the stamps by the dozens, thanks to the prodigality of stamp issuing countries generally.

Mr. Edwin C. Brown, Minneapolis, Minn., favors us with a joke from The American Legion Weekly that he seasons for the philatelic palate: "Try This on Your Wife. What do you think of when you hear the word 'mint?' asked the famous psychologist. 'Money,' exclaimed the New Yorker. 'Julep,' murmured the old Southerner. 'Oh, Gee!' added the stamp fiend."

By actual count, we have received during the past seven days from readers of the WEEKLY, seventeen clippings from newspapers and periodicals mentioning stamps and collecting, ranging in importance down from the account of Mr. Steinway's gift of Philatelic literature to the library of the Collectors Club to the inconsequential item of a few lines.

U. S. POST OFFICES IN CHINA.

By REV. J. DREYER.

On p. 115 col. 3 (middle) a statement is made which is misleading, if not erroneous altogether. The U. S. P. O. at Shanghai, China, was not established "after the Boxer war", but much earlier.

Armstrong's "Stamp Collectors Annual for 1912," p. 25, says "The American postal station at Shanghai was created about 1870, . . ."

In 1900, I received word from the then agent of our Shanghai P. O., that as far as he could trace back locally, the U. S. Postal Agency at Shanghai began to do postal business in 1865. It should be remembered that the official designation has always been "the United States Postal Agency at Shanghai (China)."

During the Boxer War, there existed in China, one officially designated U. S. Military Postal Sta. No. 1, C which was located at Pekin, wi Branch Sta. located at Tongku, miles up the river inside from Port, and a Branch Sta. also at T sin. As a matter of convenience distribution of all incoming and going mail, took place at Tientsin.

THE METROPOLITAN CONSTERNATION - - $1.02
You have perhaps been "stung" once or several times on "over-advertised packets". You may have decided that you would never again buy a "packet". When we recall our collecting days, we can understand just how you feel. We have the utmost sympathy for the skeptic.
We are trying to produce an ensemble which would have appealed to us as collectors. From the nice letters we receive with repeat orders, we judge we have been successful. We have said before and we repeat now that we care a lot more about Good Will and Friendship than we do about dollars. This may sound like "Idealism" or just "Hot-Air", but we have proven it to be "Good Business". It all depends on one's point of view. The Metropolitan Consternation contains 200 vars. of postally used stamps; new, recent, and current issues; provisionals, high values, etc.
The Manhattan Conglomeration is still being produced! 250 vars. used and mint, including 100 vars. of Central and South America. The mystic "M—— C——", $1.02.

FEBRUARY ROLL OF HONOR.

We have been delayed in the presentation of our February report. No one particular contestant has done big work, but all have lent a hand with the result that we are able to present a good report. The Fennell Stamp Co. leads in new subscriptions secured during the month but we take especial pleasure in calling attention to two new contestants, C. A. Stegmann with 17 and the Midwest Stamp Co. with 11. The 9 new subscriptions submitted by Eugene Klein, a busy metropolitan dealer, look good to us. The leaders for February are as follows:—

A CANCELLATION ERROR OF BERMUDA.

By A. V. RICHARDSON.

As mentioned by Mr. Prieth in his article on Bermuda postmarks (MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, 8 July, 1922), Ireland Island is one of the busiest post-offices in Bermuda, ranking next to Hamilton and St. George's. The cancellation number is 3, the latest use that I have seen of the "duplex" obliteration being on a cover dated 10 April, 1895.

Early in 1885, it would seem that the name on the cancelling stamp was lettered "Inland Island" in error. I have an entire postcard, written from Ireland Island on 14 January, 1885, and addressed to Nova Scotia.

It is franked by the ½d brown and 1d rose, cancelled by the date-stamp "INLAND ISLAND, BERMUDA," joined to an upright ellipse of bars containing the numeral "3." The word "INLAND" is so distinct as to preclude the possibility of its being "IRELAND," and it would be interesting to know how long this erroneous duplex mark was in use.

A Rare Provisional Envelope

2c on 3c, Type IV—Des Moines

DIE H on BUFF

Of the circular die envelopes the 3c Die H on buff has always been a rare variety, and but one little lot was ever found. The same variety overprinted 2c is even scarcer, and of the 1600 varieties, only two cities surcharged this envelope. Of interest to the cut square collector as well as those who collect entires. At this late date I have just obtained 15 copies of this variety that I have never had before. They are entire, size 7, Des Moines, 2c on 3c, Die H on buff, and while the 15 last they may be had at $3.50 each, I am told by the party from whom I obtained them that the variety has never been in the hands of a dealer, so it must be rare.

Can furnish all of the other rare as well as common surcharged envelopes. What do you need?

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We canno give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle i edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondent will please be careful to send their matter t the right address.

UNITED STATES.—By the time thes notes reach our readers the Post Offic Department will have issued severa more denominations of the new series o postage stamps. They announce that o Tuesday, March 20, 1923, they will plac on sale at Washington the 12c, 30c, $ and $5. The 12c claret will have a portrait of Grover Cleveland, the 22nd and 24th President of the United States, the 30c sepia, a Buffalo, the $2 blue a beautiful view of the Capitol at Washington, while the $5 will have a head of Liberty within a wreath in blue surrounded by a red border, thus giving us the only bi-colored stamp of the series.

The 12c and 30c will be printed in sheets of 400 which will be issued in panes of 100, the $2 printed from plate 14306, a two hundred subject plate will also be issued in panes of one hundred, while the $5 is printed in sheets of one hundred, the border bearing plate number 14327, the center 14326.

To date we have the new 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 6c, 9c, 10c, 11c, 12c, 15c, 25c, 30c, 50c, $1, $2, $5, Special Delivery, 2c sidewise coil and 2c booklet and in addition up to February 21st plates had been made for the new 4c coil and 1c rotary sheets. In next week's Chronicle I expect to give quite a little interesting information regarding the further denominations to be issued.

Mr. M. S. Woodin sends me a clipping from the Seattle Daily Times of February 17th, stating that one of the new stamps would show a view of Mt. Rainier. Essays of the 20c were made up showing such a view and these were most attractive, but at this time it is not thought that this illustration will be used.

J. O. Moore, Inc., have submitted for my inspection two copies of the 3c type II, 1857, on the well known horizontal laid paper found in the case of the 1c.

Mr. H. B. Frederick has shown me a copy of the new 2c coil stamp on cover, cancelled South Bend, Indiana, January 11, 1923.

Mr. A. E. Owen writes that he has located the new 2c compound perforated,

(2) Changes in color:

(a) Cent denominations—

Stamp.	New Color.	Old Color.
4c	grey	red
6c	red	grey
15c	dark blue	brown

The colors of the ½, 1, 1½, 2, 3, 5, 8, 10, 13, 16, 20, 30 and 50 cent values will remain unchanged.

(b) Dollar denominations—

Instead of the centers being printed in black, they will be printed in colors, as follows:—$1 chocolate, $2 sepia, $5 dark gray green, $10 maroon, $20 blue.

The frames of all except the $20 will retain their present color. The $20 will be printed in maroon instead of, as hitherto, in canary yellow.

By order of the Co-Director General.
Nanking Post Office,
February 7, 1923.

This alters considerably the previous notification. The paragraph about the changes in post cards I have not included. On Nov. 1st, 1922, all the postage rates in China, both for foreign and domestic mail matter, were increased—domestic 1st class from 3 cents to 4 cents, and

WANTED
Bright Young Man
To Learn Selling by Mail

We find that young men who have started little stamp businesses for themselves are the best material for us to develop into business experts. Today we have an opportunity in our Mail Order Department. Three months' preliminery training at the Babson Institute will be required, altho we pay tuition for this course.

Apply to Mr. Preston Bryant, BABSON'S STATISTICAL ORGANIZATION, Wellesley Hills, Mass. Largest Organization of its character in the world. [79&81

· ıbmit herewith two very poor copies · new $.15 dark blue, and while I ·seen several copies of the new $.04 gray, I have not as yet been able to purchase one in Nanking. If you have not already chronicled the $.04 gray by the time this reaches you you may safely do so if you will take my word for having seen the stamp.

DANZIG.—The Economist Stamp Co. report the appearance of a 100 mark Airpost stamp in the design of Scott's AP4 but of much larger size than those heretofore printed in this type. The stamp is perforated and is bright red in color.

DOMINICA.—We have just received from Mr. R. Roberts the beautiful new set of pictorial stamps of this colony. The stamps are of similar design to those previously placed on sale in other West Indian colonies and have two oval panels one on the right showing a profile view of King George and the other one of the early vessels that came to the shores of the colony. The values, colors and watermarks are as follows: ½d green and black, 1d violet and black, 1½d carmine and black, 2d green and black, 2½d orange and black, 3d ultra. and black, 4d deep brown and black, 6d purple and black, 1sh black on emerald, 2sh blue and black on blue, 2s6d carmine and black on blue, all of these being on script watermarked papers; 3sh maroon and black on yellow, old watermark; 4sh carmine and black on emerald, script watermark; 5sh green and black on yellow, old watermark; 1 pound purple and black on red, old watermark. It will be noticed that the 1sh, is the first of this denomination to appear on the new script watermarked paper.

EXTREME EAST REPUBLIC.—Our valued correspondent, Mr. G. M. White, informs us that on Nov. 7th, 1922, being the fifth anniversary of the establishment of the Soviets, the Republican Government at Vladivostock caused the stamps of the current issue to the extent of 200,000 sets, to be overprinted with the dates "1917 7.XI. 1922" in three lines in red on the following values:—

Commemorative Overprint.
2 kop. green.
4 kop. rose.
5 kop. claret.
10 kop. dark blue.

Since Oct. 15th, 1922, when the Japanese evacuated Siberia, the F.E.R. Government at Vladivostock has been taken over by the Soviet Republic of Chita—hence the revolutionary commemoratives.

The Chita stamps and those of the F. E.R. are now used concurrently.

Two new values have been added to the Chita series, as recorded in the Philatelic Magazine for June 17, 1922, viz.:—

4 kop. red and buff.
5 kop. chestnut.

The 7 kop. pale blue is now issued rouletted instead of imperf.

We understand that the overprinted stamps referred to in our last Chronicle were issued in the province of Priamur (q.v).—Philatelic Magazine.

FRANCE OFFICES IN MOROCCO.—The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the current 50c of this country with the surcharge TANGER across the centre in black.

NETHERLANDS.—The Economist Stamp Co. have sent for chronicle the 5c and 10c of the 1898-1899 issue in imperforate condition.

RUHR.—The Metropolitan Stamp Co. report that three values of German stamps have been overprinted for use in this territory. They are 5m orange, of the A27 type, surcharged "100m Rhein—Ruhr—Hilfe" in three lines in black. The 25m, type of Scott's A29, overprinted "500m" and the wording as on the former value and Scott's A32 which has the surcharge "1,000m" and also the same wording, but this value is overprinted in two lines.

TRINIDAD.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us the 4d old watermarked multiple CA, on new yellow paper. Also the 2d postage due on script watermarked paper.

U. S. DEPARTMENTS

To close out these stamps, I offer the following, so long as present stock lasts, at 40% of Scott's prices. All are in good to fine condition. Cash with order, and satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

My stocks of Canada and Cape of Good Hope are almost complete, and my books of Prince Edward, Tonga, Trinidad, Transvaal and Turks contain some nice items at attractive prices.

BRITISH NORTH AMERICA STAMPS

have long been a favorite of mine. I hold quite a private collection of these, and also a very good stock. I solicit want lists in any of these popular stamps.

Also have a fair line of British Colonial stamps used, at about 50% off Scott, and mint at net prices. Many stamps in this line run up to $25 cat.

If you collect stamps, and have from $10 to $1000 to invest in your hobby, I am positive I can serve you. Den curios in great variety, lists 6c. No stamp lists, only sell stamps by approval selections.

AUTHOR'S NOTE.—Referring to the (*) above: (1) Chicago Title & Trust Co. with Hart, Schaffner & Marx is the reason for the confusion with Chicago permits No. 24 and No. 26. (2) D. H. Holmes & Co. used their Third Class Permit No. 35 at first and this was later changed to First Class Permit No. 1. (3) Hutzler Bros. Co. first used Type B as listed here, later they used Type C as included in our first check list. (4) Kansas City Permit No. 251. This is the only instance we have noted of a Third Class Permit having practically the same design as Type E without, of course, a meter number. (5) St. Louis, Permit No. 5. This permit was first used by the Southwestern Distributing Co. (Maher & Britt) agents for the Postage Meter Co. They transferred their permit as well as their machines to the Fouke Fur Co. Later Maher & Britt as well as the Postage Meter Co. mailed under Permit No. 16. (6) Rochester Tel. Co., after using permit No. 2, decided they wanted No. 1, so the Postage Meter Company exchanged with them. (7) The Bell Telephone Co. exchanged their permit with the Federal Reserve Bank, so like others above these two firms used both Permit No. 4 and No. 8.

As this check list is so extended we will not take up the space for separate lists of (1) meters, (2) users. We will later compile a list of meters, giving the movements of each, with the various dates of installation and discontinuance. This will be more valuable to collectors than any list published as it will give the exact length of time of use of the many meters that have been discontinued with original users and will include all obsolete varieties.

Mr. U. S. Stamp Collector

With my vast holdings in old U. S. stamps, I must have something you would like to own, with several hundred picked copies of 5c 1847, and over a hundred of the 10c of that issue, and dozens of 5c, 10c, 12c of the 1851 and 1857 issues, and also many fine copies of 24c, 30c, 90c of 1857, 1861, 1868, 1869 issues, ready to show live buyers. I would like to hear from new prospects. I am getting calls all the time from people who have been advised of my wonderful stock. I have the goods, and I am anxious to sell to real up-to-date men who know stamp values and are willing to pay the market price. Address as usual.[81

Do You Collect Covers ?

if so, I have a very fine bunch of U. S. and B. N. A. Old Issues on Original Covers.

I have gathered these during past 5 or 6 years, making no effort to sell them Now that Scott has a specialized catalog of U. S. showing approximately what stamps are worth on original covers, I am willing to let part of lot go from my private collection, providing customer is willing to pay a decent price for rare items. As everyone knows who has tried to make a collection of old U. S. or B. N. A. on covers fine pieces sell readily at top prices. If you are a live buyer for nice goods in this line, let me hear from you. If on other hand, you are out for bargains or sleepers, nothing doing, as I am not crazy to sell, but will accommodate a few buyers who really appreciate high grade material in this line. 5c, 10c 1847; 5c N. Y. and nearly everything in U. S. from 1851 to 1870, excepting rarities, on covers; with fine lot of B. N. A. items also. Address as usual. [81

N. E. CARTER, ELKHORN, WISCONSIN

ALLEN'S PRECANCEL PARAGRAPHS.

The La Junta, Colo., post-office precancelled 600 of the new 25 cent stamps last December and used them up during the holiday season. They must have made a handsome showing and I regret that I failed to pick up a copy.

One often sees Bismarck, N. D., spelled Bismark but I never dreamed that any precancels existed that way. Today I was very much astonished to run across a 5c perf. 11 in the current U-1 electro spelled Bismark. It is a "darb" of an error. Who else has one?

After flirting around with several varieties of type, Elizabeth, N. J., has now fallen in love with the handsome U-18.

Ottumwa, 2a., has appeared in new grab patterned after the new Lincoln, Nebr., electro.

The 13c Duluth has been out for some time but is a mighty elusive item and will cause some difficulty in completing sets. The 11c and 12c Duluth are quite hard to get.

The 50c from Mishawaka in Type II, Pittsfield, Mass., $1.00 and Hagerstown, Md., 50c, $1.00 and $1.00 double are new ones.

Hannibal comes before Carthage these days. At least in the precancel world, for Carthage, Mo., has just begun to precancel with a U-24 handstamp. We are aware that Hannibal, Mo., has issued precancels for some time past.

Muncie, Ind., finds a demand for high value precancels and we note the 30c up, 50c down, and $1.00 up coming in U-28, which is a handstamp. Also the $1.00 normal is the small type electro—U-14.

Elyria, Ohio, the home of "Elyrian Approvals," is a late addition. The 6c perf. 11 bore the precancellation of a type similar to U-4 to my sight.

Framingham, Mass., are coming inverted on a few values. Among them the 3, 20 and 50 cent stamps.

Flint, Mich., Type II, 15c dbl., Springfield, Ill., Type II 12c inv., Fairbury, Nebr., 3c up and dble. (1 nar., 1 up) are some more uncatalogued items, which are desirable.

Mr. E. M. Geiger, the well known Chicago collector, has shown me a copy of the 1c proprietary, First Issue, precancelled with a printed inscription as follows:—

1865."

It is an interesting specimen and no doubt is of some value to the specialist in these issues.

Mr. Alvin Krause has just run across a Hika, Wis., 5c Pan-American issue. Hika, Wis., in plain caps and black ink reads diag. down in one line. Mr. Krause has also a Ft. Scott, Kans., 30c inv. perf. 12 that is another rare item of which he is fortunate to be the possessor.

Clarmon, Iowa, on the 1c precanceled in very small letters has been brought to my attention by Mr. John W. Grim of Timberville, Va.

Mr. Grim also has shown me the following:—4c Gren Loch, N. J.; 3c Ottawa, Ill.; 2c Lodi, N. J.; 5c Piedmont, W. Va.; 6c Reidsville, W. Va., and 1c Massilon, O.

We have a Schleswig in this country, it being located in Iowa. I recently inspected a copy of the 4c perf. 12, precancelled in bright purple ink: "Schleswig, Iowa," between lines. The inscription read up. Mr. Grim kindly forwarded me the copy for inspection.

Norristown, Pa., is the latest city to adopt the new electro-type, U-18.

The new issue is becoming quite general in use. I have the 5c from Baltimore and 10c from Chicago and Cincinnati in the current types.

Fresno, Cal., 6c and Stockton, Cal., 12c, are two scarce double prints reported by E. T. Munroe of Big Creek, Cal.

Wauwatosa, Wis., is precanceling with a handstamp of the U-21 type. I have the 6, 9, 10, 11 cent, and 6 and 8 cent double print.

I am anxious at all times to hear from fellow collectors with notes of interest. Address me at 521 So. 4th St., Grand Forks, N. Dak.

BOOK REVIEW

We have received from the Metropolitan Stamp Co., 7 W. 42 St., N. Y. City, what is described as a price-list of the postage stamps of Nicaragua, but one cannot peruse its twenty-four pages without feeling that it is deserving of a higher ranking than a mere price-list. True, the stamps of the country are priced, but this feature will make the book of interest to specialists in the stamps of this country. Scott's catalog numbers are used and the completeness of the varieties, as listed by this firm, indicates thoroughness in the preparation of the book. It can, no doubt, be obtained upon application.

BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA AND NYASALAND PROTECTORATE.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

CHAPTER III.

British Central Africa Protectorate Issues.

ISSUE VII.—The term for which the British South Africa Company had agreed to contribute towards the cost of the administration of the territory being near expiration, and other causes, brought Sir Harry Johnston home to England in April, 1894. The time had come when the development of the Protectorate required its administration to be placed on a thoroughly sound basis, and it was necessary for Her Majesty's Government to consider the financial provision requisite for the future maintenance of the Protectorate.

Sir Harry spent the summer and autumn in England making these arrangements, the results of which were that the Civil Service was thenceforth efficiently organised, and the South Africa Company's subsidies were devoted to the administration of the Company's own territory; the direct administration of which was taken over by Sir Harry Johnston in 1895.

The Civil Service of the Protectorate and the Postal Service, Sir Harry tells us, were put on a satisfactory footing. A postage stamp was designed and issued. The design of this is attributed to Sir Harry himself, and it is an adaptation of the heraldic emblems which he designed with the assistance and advice of Sir Albert Wood. The Coat of Arms, which forms the central device, is thus described by their originator:—

"It may be described as a shield sable, with a pile or, and over all a fimbriated cross argent, bearing an inescutcheon gules on which is imprinted the Royal Arms in or. The shield is poised on an outspread map of Africa; supporters, two negroes, one carrying a pick and the other a shovel; crest, a coffee tree in full bearing; motto, 'Light in darkness.' Put in plain language, the shield is intended to illustrate our three colours, black, yellow, and white, with a touch of the English red. Into the sable mass of Africa I have driven a pile (wedge) of Indian yellow. Over all is the white cross, representing, in its best significations, the all-embracing white man. The inescutcheon of English red shows the Arms of the protecting Power. The motto, 'Light in darkness,' was the suggestion of the late Sir Percy Anderson."

Want of funds in 1894 compelled Sir Harry to adopt a rather cheap and inferior issue of stamps. The central device is the Coat of Arms printed all in black on a background of (except in the 1d value, which is all black) coloured lines. A curved white band at the top contains, in letters of the same colour as the frame, BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA, and on a coloured band appear in white letters on a ground of colour the words, POSTAGE & REVENUE. In the values up to 1s the value is expressed in uncoloured figures in a coloured tablet in each of the two lower angles. In the higher values, which are all of the large type, the value is expressed in words in a long coloured tablet extending across the bottom of the stamp.

The stamps were printed by Messrs. De La Rue & Co., of London, on unwatermarked paper, and perforated 14.

The stamps were first announced as issued or expected in the Monthly Journal for June, 1895, and the announcement is confirmed in the issue of the same journal for July, 1896. According to the London Philatelist (IV., 328), the £25 value had not been issued up till late in 1895.

There are eleven denominations in the set, 1d, 2d, 4d, 6d, 1sh, 2s6d, 3sh, 5sh, £1, £10 and £25, all of which were for the double duty of postage and revenue.

It would appear that the new stamps were limited in their use to the Protectorate proper, and that the old B.C.A. stamps were continued in use in the British South Africa Company's territory. Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. received the following letter on this subject from the British South Africa Company:—

"3rd December, 1895.

Dear Sirs,—In reply to your letter of the 29th ultimo, the Company's stamps overprinted 'B.C.A.' will continue in use in the British Central Africa Protectorate until the issue has been exhausted.

Whether this has occurred already or not I cannot say. These stamps, however, will be used in the Company's sphere, outside the British Central Africa Protectorate, and north of the Zambesi, until the Company's new issue is made.

The new stamps of the British Central Africa Protectorate will only be used within the Protectorate.

I am, dear sirs,
Yours faithfully,
(Signed) HERBERT CANNING, Secretary."

ISSUE VIII.—In reference to the issue just described, the following letter was received by Messrs. Whitfield King & Co., in answer to one addressed by them to the Crown Agents for the Colonies:—

"28th November, 1895.

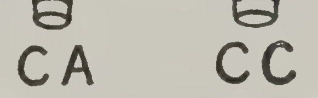
BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA PROTECTORATE.

Gentlemen,—In reply to your letter of the 25th November, I have to state that the new issue of stamps, postcards, and envelopes for the Protectorate of the values mentioned in our letter of the 20th June last, were manufactured by Messrs. De La Rue & Co., under the direct instructions of the Commissioner when he was in England, in the latter part of 1894, and before we became Agents for the Protectorate.

We are not aware whether the new stamps will become a permanent issue, but we have pointed out to the Commissioner the desirability of printing stamps on watermarked paper.

I am, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
(Signed) E. E. BLAKE."

The recommendation referred to in the above letter was duly followed by the authorities, and in or about February, 1896, the stamps described in the previous chapter began to be issued on watermarked paper. The watermark was the Crown CA design for the small sized stamps, values 1d to 1sh, and Crown CC (sideways) for the large stamps, 2s6d to £25. All the values in the previous set are repeated in the watermarked series. The colours are almost identical, except the £1, the frame colour of which was changed from orange-yellow to ultramarine, the only other notable change in shades being a deeper orange for the frame of the 4d.



The stock of unwatermarked stamps remaining in the Protectorate was destroyed after the new issue on watermarked paper had been received.

ISSUE IX.—Want of funds has been given as the reason for the tawdry designs of the 1895 issue, and a grant from the Treasury is responsible for the issue by the local authorities of a series with an improved design in 1897. The new stamps were modelled somewhat upon the same lines as their predecessors, but the central device of the Coat of Arms is on a white, shield-shaped background, which throws it into greater prominence.

The original drawings were prepared by the firm of De La Rue & Co., and were probably submitted on July 13, 1896. We illustrate the drawing in colours of the low value stamps in the accepted design, but it will be noticed that the central device has been slightly reduced in the issued stamp. Even in the issued stamp it is a trifle too large for the opening. A suggested design for the larger stamps (high values) is also illustrated, but the issued large stamps are fashioned on the same lines as the small ones. The colour scheme of the drawing, with the value TWO SHILLINGS (an issued denomination), is lilac for the whole of the stamp except the value tablet, which is green.

The issued stamps have the centre (Arms) in black, and a frame design in colour. A single arched band of colour at the top has the inscription BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA in white elongated sans serif lettering for the high values. The words POSTAGE & REVENUE (on either side of the shield) are in coloured sans serif and serif capitals for low and high values respectively. The value is expressed in the low values by figures of white on a tablet of colour at the base of the shield, and in the high values in words of white lettering on a coloured tablet across the bottom of the stamp.

There are no very prominent variations in shade. The ultramarine colour of the 1d and 2s6d is found in pale and deep shades, and the yellow colour of the £10 is to be found in a pale and deep yellow.

The issue was announced in the London Philatelist, June, 1897 (VI, 168), and it is there stated that on the receipt of the new stamps the remainders of the previous issue were burnt by order of the authorities.

The paper is the same as before watermarked CA and CC, but the CC watermark is upright instead of sideways. The perforation is 14. The denominations were 1d, 2d, 4d, 6d, 1s, 2s, 6d, 3s, 4s, £1 and £10. The 3s stamp was withdrawn in 1899, and a 10s stamp was added to the series in the same year. [Vide 2nd Edition, B.C.A. Postal Guide, 1899].

Corner block, the second stamp being the error PNNEY.

SUE X.—In January, 1898, pending arrival of a fresh supply of the penny ae from London, the authorities had ourse to an overprinted provisional. h 3sh stamp, being now in little use ing to the introduction of an emed revenue stamp for the collection f the hut tax, this denomination was printed in red with the words ONE NY in two lines of Roman capitals. omplete sheet of sixty appears to been overprinted at one impression, there is but one error to note, in h the word PENNY is mis-spelt NEY, this error occurring on the d stamp in the fourth row. The in this overprint shews slight depression of the initial and final letters of the words, and the sticky red ink has resulted in freak double offsets, which result in what appears to be a double surcharge.

560 sheets, or 33,600 stamps, are said to have been overprinted, and in all probability the "PNNEY" error was corrected early in the course of printing, as it is very scarce, and was not known to collectors until some years after its issue. The British Central Africa Gazette of November 12, 1898, states that 33,420 of the stamps were sold, leaving three sheets (180 stamps) not accounted for.

THE LOWER VALUES OF EARLY U. S.

By Warner Bates.

(Address Mr. Bates, 152 Lisbon St., Buffalo, N. Y., if you have anything of interest along the lines of this suggestion.—W. O. W.)

One branch of philately, it seems to me, has been somewhat neglected by the philatelic press. I speak of the art of specialization in the lower values of early U. S. Right away the editors will arise to refute me. Have they not published articles galore on the subject of minor varieties and cancellations on the 3 cent 1851-57, the 3 cent '61, the 2 cent black Jack, the three cent green Washington, the three cent vermilion, etc., etc., etc.? Are there not dozens of books on the subject? I admit it all. Without doubt just as much as has been published regarding these low value stamps issued before 1890, as about any other class of United States Stamps, and probably more. But when I say they have been neglected, I mean relatively.

To my mind the attention given a certain subject by a class magazine should depend upon the proportion of its subscribers who are interested in it. It is my contention that many specialize to some extent at least in one or more of the low value stamps issued by the United States Government and that they would appreciate greatly a weekly forum on the subject. Therefore, I propose to the editor of Mekeel's that he set aside each week one column of that valuable magazine for the free discussion by specialists in early United States of the problems that confront them daily.

Such a department would be of inestimable value. Collectors could describe their latest finds in minor varieties, the relative scarcity of certain varieties and cancellations, ask questions about matters that puzzle them and, in general, cooperate with each other to the benefit of all. In this way every specialist would have something to look forward to in every issue of the magazine, and the information compiled in such a department could be kept and in time would be a storehouse of knowledge on the subject of greater importance than any booklet yet published treating of these issues.

If the editor of Mekeel's agrees with me, he may publish this letter and ask his readers for their co-operation in the work. I am sure it will be cheerfully forthcoming and I, for one, will be glad to help out from time to time. Just to start the ball rolling and illustrate just the kind of a department I mean, I append one or two notes on the subject.

Recently, in going over a lot of the one cent ultramarine, continental and bank note issues, I found two interesting double transfers, description of which follows:—

The stamp in question has a straight edge but is otherwise fine, nicely centered, no defects and with a violet-blue target cancellation.

The large lower left-hand ornament to the left of and above and below the "O" of One is strongly doubled all over and the pearls above it show traces of the shift. Scroll work at bottom enclosing "One" is double, "O" of One is double at right and other letters show trace of shift, especially at the top of the letters. Figure "1" is doubled at the top. Upper scroll enclosing "Cent" is double and shift shows at top of letters of "Cent." Background inside the scrolls enclosing "One 1 Cent" is badly blurred, probably due to the shift.

SYRACUSE STAMP CLUB DINNER.

In the dining hall of the Chamber of Commerce the Syracuse Stamp Club held its fourth annual dinner last evening. The affair was enjoyed by some 50 members and by delegations of stamp lovers from Utica, Oswego and Cortland.

The guest of honor was Dr. John B. Howe, editorial writer of The Herald, who addressed the diners after the close of their feast.

Dr. Howe discussed philately in its various aspects as a hobby, a pastime, an art and a source of practical information regarding the world's geographical and political divisions and its hi since England issued the first po members the speaker told the sto the famous John F. Seybold stam

THE DETROIT BANQUET.

By HERMAN W. BOERS.

The ninth annual banquet of the Michi- n Stamp Club was held Saturday eveng, March 17, in the Wolverine Hotel, etroit, some forty members attending. rig.-Gen. C. A. Coolidge, ex-president the A. P. S., and C. F. Heyerman, esident of the A. P. S., were guests of nor. The menu was excellent, with enty of eats and smokes for all, and as heartily enjoyed.

Pres. E. Preston Hoskins acted as astmaster and delivered the address of elcome. Dr. W. L. Babcock spoke on ndition of stamps and selected the nerican and Continental issues of 70-3. He spoke of the scarcity of ese in blocks and surprised many who ought they were rather plentiful.

C. F. Heyerman gave a general talk th particular reference regarding the cent decision of Congress permitting e illustration of U. S. stamps.

Gen. Coolidge spoke on early collecting Detroit. When he came to the city ere was no society and through his forts the Detroit Philatelic Society was ganized. He congratulated the Michi- n Stamp Club on its membership and nding in philately.

Other speakers were Karl Koslowski, E. Scott, Charles Keller and Wm. F. atcher. The club's poet, C. H. Holden, nd a special poem entitled "Silas Green Greentop." A number of imaginary legrams were read by Pres. Hoskins d caused much fun. J. B. Rood gave vocal selection, assisted by F. Bott at e piano. Congratulations from Adolph nnel were read.

An auction sale conducted by Karl slowski contained many choice stamps d good prices were realized. The comittee in charge was J. E. Scott, C. A. hite and A. Hutchinson. It was a big ccess.

FOREIGN POSTAGE METER STAMPS.

By GUY R. CROUCH.

(Louis G. Barrett sends us this article taken from the "Stamp Lover," calling attention to the fact that the WEEKLY has erroneously stated that the use of these stamps was confined to the United States. Mr. Pike's references to the use of meter stamps in foreign countries has special application to Germany, where permit marks and not meter marks were being used.—W. O. W.)

In May, 1922, the Postmaster-General for the first time sanctioned the use in Great Britain by private firms of franking machines to denote prepayment of postage. Although machines of this kind have been in use in the United States and in New Zealand for over ten years, they are a complete innovation so far as this country is concerned. The makers of the machines hope in time to revolutionise the present methods of prepaying postage, and at least to hasten the return of penny postage, if not to bring about the abolition of the penny stamp!

The authority for the Postmaster-General's action is known as the Inland Post Amendment (No. 25) Warrant, 1922. Under this Warrant a license is granted to the intending user, giving him permission to use the machine under certain conditions, the chief of which are as follows:

1. Officers of the Post Office must set and seal the meter machine at the amount of postage prepaid before it is used, and the keys must be kept at a specified Post Office.
2. Impressions of the stamp must be made only on the actual packet, and not on pieces of paper to be affixed to the packet.
3. The name and address of the user to be printed or embossed on all covers franked.
4. Packets franked to be tied in bundles, each denomination in a separate bundle.
5. Packets franked to be posted by handing them over the counter at a specified Post Office, accompanied by a posting docket in a prescribed form.
6. Packets marked by the machine and posted in any other way will be regarded as unpaid, and surcharged.

Each licence bears an impression from the machine to which it relates.

The machines are not supplied direct to users by the Post Office. They are of two patterns, supplied respectively by the Postage Meters and Machines Co., of 56 Kingsway, London, W.C.2, and Universal Postal Frankers, Ltd., of 346 Strand, London, W.C.2. The former company's machines are made in the United States, and have been in use there for over ten years. In the latter case the machines are British made, and have been successfully used in New Zealand for about the same period.

A description of the Universal Postal Franker, as the latter machine is called, will, no doubt, suffice for both.

This machine will frank and postmark (with date), ready for despatch, from one to forty thousand letters per hour, at the same time automatically metering the exact amount expended in postage. It is provided with six dies of different values, usually ½d, 1d, 1½d, 3d, 6d and 1sh, any denomination desired being brought into operation by a small indicating handle. Simultaneously, a cancellation mark and postmark, showing the district and date of postage, are impressed. The frank-stamps may be operated independently of the cancellation and postmark, which may be subsequently applied as and when desired.

The exact amount of postage expended is automatically indicated and recorded by a meter permanently attached to the interior of the machine, which keeps its accounts so infallibly and accurately that they will be accepted, without question, as "correct" by the Post Office.

A detachable meter (fitted to each machine and automatically synchronising with the meter included in the machine itself) is sealed and set at the district Post Office to such amount as is prepaid by the user. When this amount has been exhausted, the machine automatically locks itself, and cannot be further operated until the meter has been re-set by the Post Office and replaced by the user in the machine.

The machine is at present manufactured in four types:

(1) Hand machine, capacity 1,000-3,000 envelopes per hour.

(2) Electrically driven, capacity 2,000-6,000 per hour.

(3) High-speed, automatic, capacity 15,000-24,000 per hour.

(4) Extra high-speed, capacity 20,000-40,000 per hour.

The machines supplied by the Postage Meters and Machines Co., which are known as the "Pitney-Bowes" Postage Meter Machines, have a separate meter for each denomination, so that the value of the stamps impressed cannot be changed from time to time, as in the case of the "Universal Postal Franker."

The design of the actual frank-stamp impressed by both patterns of machine is substantially the same, having been submitted to, and approved by, the postal authorities. It contains the value in words above, and the words "Postage Paid" below a tablet bearing the name "Great Britain," with the number of the machine in the centre. This is enclosed in a circular frame, outside which the value is repeated in figures in a square frame at each of the four corners. The frank-stamp is always impressed in red ink.

The date stamp varies with the two patterns of machine.

The Pitney-Bowes machine marks have seven short wavy lines on each side of the frank-stamp, with a circular date stamp on the left. This consists of a double circular frame with the date in two lines in the centre and the name of the district office and district initials between the circles. The whole is impressed in red.

The first Pitney-Bowes machine was "set" on the 5th September, 1922. At the time of writing (Jan., 1923) five of these machines are in use in London, viz.:—

No. 1. LONDON, W.C.2—Used by the Postage Meter and Machines Co., Ltd.
No. 2. LONDON, E.C.1—Used by the Prudential Assurance Co., Ltd.
No. 3. KENSINGTON, W.8—Used by Messrs. John Barker & Co., Ltd., Kensington.
No. 4. KENSINGTON, W.8—Used by Messrs. Derry & Toms, Kensington.
No. 5. LONDON, W.1—Used by Messrs. J. Lee, Ltd., 40-41 Conduit St., W.1.

Two further Pitney-Bowes machines are also about to be installed as follows:—

No. 6. By Messrs. Cadbury Bros., Bourneville, Birmingham.
No. 7. By Messrs. J. S. Fry & Sons, Bristol.

No. 1 machine has meters impressing stamps of the ½d, 1½d and 2d values, while Nos. 2-7 have at present only ½d and 1½d meters.

The "Universal Postal Franker" marks are usually impressed in black, and consist of 6 or 7 wavy lines on the left of the frank-stamp (which is in red); the lines are broken on the right to admit the name of the district office and the district initials, with the date between, in three lines. The remainder of the lines may be broken to admit any "slogan" or advertising device desired by the user. Machines of this type have been ordered by Roneo, Ltd., and other well-known firms, who will shortly bring them into use and advertise themselves by means of the postmarks on their correspondence.

At present only one machine of this type is in actual use in London, being that used by the Universal Postal Frankers, Ltd., themselves, and its impressions bear the slogan, "Stop stamping, try franking." This machine is No. 1. A "specimen" mark from machine No. 57 is also illustrated.

The development of the use of these machines will doubtless bring into being a large variety of advertisement and "slogan" postmarks, but to whatever extent they are used by large firms in the future, it will be a very long time before the adhesive is superseded by the "postage meter frank-stamp."

CARL YOUNG, Phila., Pa.

30,000 VARIETIES!

We have just received from Italy a mammouth collection of unusual value—about 30,000 varieties, 98% of which appear to be in good to very fine condition. Particularly strong in 20th Century, many of the war, occupation and new issues being in complete sets, including the rarities. French, British and the ex-German colonies, mostly unused, are also plentiful, while in U. S. the Columbian, Trans-Mississippi issues, etc., are complete. As usual there are several hundred varieties recognized by the Yvert catalogue, but unlisted by Scott, but these will in no way detract from the inherent quality of the collection.

All in all, this collection is an unusually large and a truly magnificent assembling—one which will delight the heart of any philatelist.

In pursuance with our policy, we are offering it intact, — just as received — at a close-to-cost price which will no doubt attract an immediate purchaser. Furthermore, we refuse to accept any order except with an iron-bound agreement that money will be refunded in full if the purchaser is not entirely satisfied.

30,000 Varieties, - - Special Price $2,245.00

N. B. Upon receipt of a substantial deposit, we are ready to submit the collection for inspection to any interested party whose reliability is established. [84

POSTAGE STAMPS OF SOVIET RUSSIA.

By EDWARD E. GOODCHILD.

One of the chief and most cherished Soviet communistic doctrines was that of "free postage." Envelopes in Moscow to various parts of the world are to be found (I have several such specimens in my collection) with the P. C. O. crossed with an I. C. and P. which in the Russian language is R. S. F. S. R. or, as Scott says, may be "Rossiikaya. Sozialisticheskaya. Fedrationaya. Soviets kaya. Respublika," but which in plain and sane English is "Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic," followed with the wording translated into English reads "The people's commissariat of minority Nationalists affairs." This wording is usually found in violet applied by a rubber stamp. Letters dealt with in this manner being sent to the official representatives of the Soviet administration in the country, such letter or letters were intended for delivery.

Evidently this system was found good in theory but not in practice, as very shortly after it was decided by the powers that be at Moscow to make a charge of ten thousand roubles but for registration purposes only.

Even this system was found to be impracticable, so the Russian Soviet officials decided to modify this, like many of their other communistic principles and make a charge for payment of postage.

After going back on their "free postage" declaration many and varied have been the postage stamps emanating from Soviet Russia. The first attempt for the issuing of postage stamps was made about August, 1920. Curious designs were submitted, two of the values bearing portraits of Karl Marz and Lenin, but there is no record of these being issued for postal purposes, possibly due to the fact that the self appointed Czar of all Russians at least had the sense to realise that this would be an affront to the multitudes to whom he had promised a paradise on earth free from the rule of the Autocrat, yet without knowledge of the future under the régime of the untried Democrat.

It was not however until the middle of 1921, that the first series of stamps issued by Soviet authority made their appearance. They were printed at the Moscow mint in July, 1921, and placed on sale at the General Post Office in the same City about the 10th of August, and reported having all been sold in less than three days. These, the first series of Soviet postage stamps, consists of five values. One, two, five, twenty and forty roubles each. The one rouble yellow brown, two rouble brown, both having the design of the scythe, plow and bundle of sheaves. The five rouble blue with hammer and anvil. All three appear in several shades, and on thick and thin papers. The twenty rouble in two distinct shades of blue and on very thin, also wove paper, whilst the forty rouble showing a dragon appeared in two sizes, 37½mm and 38½mm, varying in shades from light to dark slate.

Fifteen days elapsed before further specimens were issued. On August, the 25th, three more values appeared, the 100 rouble orange, same design as the one rouble, the 250 rouble violet with a design of an open book and a Lyre.

Some say that the later is the most symbolical of all Soviet issues, and probably issued in place of that intended with the portrait of Lenin. Last, that of the 1,000 rouble rose, similar in design to the five rouble. All three values appeared in many shades and on various papers.

During the following month of September, the 250 rouble appeared in a rather reddish violet and on a distinctly different paper, same being in thickness identical to the paper used for cigarette purposes. About the same time the 100 rouble made its appearance in a lemon-yellow shade and three more additional values were added. The 200 rouble brown, the 300r green, both of the design as of the one, two and 100 rouble denominations and a 500r blue, similar in design as the five and 1,000r issues.

The 300 rouble green is known showing a double strike on the left outer frame, but is extremely rare thus.

As with all previous issues these later three values appear on various papers and in several shades.

Owing to an increase in postal rates, due to the further shrinkage in the value of the rouble, these last issues were authorised and sold for ten times their face value and served for franking purposes, two thousand, three thousand and five thousand roubles each.

What may be termed the third issue were the commemorative stamps issued on the fourth day of October, 1921, to commemorate the fourth Anniversary of Soviet rule. There are three values, all of one design, in denominations of 100 roubles yellow brown, 250r darkish violet and 1,000r rose. These were followed on the last day of the year of 1921, by a special issue of Charity stamps, these being issued on behalf of the starving people of the Volga. The full set consists of four stamps, but all being of the same face value, viz.:—2,250 roubles each. Two hundred and fifty roubles being for postage and 2,000 for charity. All are imperforate printed on papers of varying thickness and in colours of brown, red and green whilst the fourth is of blue.

A second issue for charity was made this time on the Kerensky sword in the hand type of 1918, this issue being surcharged with P. C. O. crossed with and I. C. and P., 250+250 on the 35k and 100+100 on the 70k, half of the sum derived from the sales being paid to charity and the balance retained for postal charges. There are six varieties, each surcharge being in three different colours. Black, red, and brick on the 35k, and red blue and black on the 70k.

With the coming new year further specimens made their appearance being the one, two, five and twenty roubles surcharged 5,000 roubles and the forty ble surcharged 10,000. All of these charges appear both in red or bl This issue like its predecessors, was s out of commission due to further vance in postal charges. A 7,500 i made its appearance similar in col and design of the 20r, being follo immediately by a 22,500r issue in vi on buff, which in turn was followed a 5,000 and 10,000 new rouble issue, a further surcharge issue of 7,500 on 250r issue in blue and black inks, former being by far the more sca of the two. Specimens of the 5,0 7,500r and the 10,000r values are t found both on watermarked and watermarked papers and the surcha issues of 10,000 on 40r slate also app on both papers.

During the month of April, famine relief stamps were issued whilst they are not repudiated by Soviet authorities, they ordered the of same to be stopped, so what is kn as the Rostov-on-Don issue are pu speculative and may eventually ceas find a home in the catalogue. L quantities of what are known as "famine stamps of Odessa," were a this time placed on sale. The S Government repudiate same and they are common forgeries.

A decree issued during July of guaranteeing delivery of all letters ing postage stamps of the late Czar's gime, led to some of these issues sold at fabulous prices (in Soviet bles) and the old Empire stamps 1909-17 of the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 10 an Kop. and the 1, 3½, 5, 7 and 10 r values both imperf. and perforated menced to be freely used. Each Ko however, being given a franking in Soviet roubles of—kindly hold breath, please—ten thousand roubles A Kopeck was a fiftieth part of a ro

A further use of these issues also made. On the 19th of Au "The day of Philately" there was in the Moscow General Post Offi sale for the benefit of the starving dren under the auspices of Stamp lecting Societies, etc., and the va values of this issue were surcharge C. O. crossed with an I. C. and P 8.22, and all stamps were sold at times their postal value and thus we a one Kopeck of the old régime ing fifty thousand roubles, or to the matter more clear a one cent s was sold for twenty-five thousand lars. It is also reported that the 7k scarcest of this particular surcharge sue, realised seventeen million five dred thousand Soviet roubles, app mately in good honest to goodness lars and cents about "Five bu September did not bring forth any issues or further advance in charges, but rumors were abroad the new commemorative stamps we be issued in October.

True to prediction the promised to commemorate the fifth anniversa Soviet rule made their appearance, 5r orchre and black, 10r brown black, 25r violet and black, 27r ros black, 45r blue and black. Whet was because of the future outlook considered black it is hard to state one will note that this colour was on all the denominations of this likewise the design was the same on value. The design depicts an a naked stonemason having carved a with the usual lettering P. C. O., cr by I. C. and P., followed by the fi 1917—1922 has returned to tne one of the 1922 and with up-raised appears to be commencing to strike at the figure one of the 1922 date. begins to wonder if this is inten or an ominous warning that before are through, Russia under its leaders will be back to the state of zation which existed nineteen hu and twenty two years ago.

About the same time as the comm rative stamp was issued, there was on sale at the General Post Offi Moscow, the highest single value the world has ever known. It i 100,000 ruble surcharged on the issue, and is to be found both o d thick papers: This, strange to say, as followed almost immediately by a rther surcharge issue of 20r on the k, Imperial issue and 40r on the 15k. oth have a five point star surcharge in dition to the value with the usual P. O. C. and P., one letter in each corner the star.

A motor car, aeroplane, train and eamship were the designs used on a t of Charity Stamps issued towards e close of the year, depicting the varis methods used in transporting the ail. They are printed in violet and ie, two shades of each. They bear the S. F. S. R. with wording at the botm "For the Hungry." Each stamp as sold for 250,000 rubles, of which nount 50,000 went to charity and the nainder for postal charges.

The 45r of the commemorative issue s further been ornamented with an roplane in red. The 35k issue of 1918, pears with a four lined surcharge and Ukrainian trident is to be found on rious of the Imperial Kopeck issues.

It is somewhat difficult to hazard a ess as to the reason for laying aside the emblems of labour and peace, t if the very latest of the Soviet issues an indication of what is to come, then may expect stamps depicting warchines, etc. A "Red" soldier adorns latest 50 and 100r issue.

How the mighty have fallen! To ote a Chicago daily of a short while o "The Bolsheviki Governors must ngratulate themselves on their success devaluing Russia's money, and the rth of their money seems to be a ry reliable index to the worth of their vernment." Nevertheless such issues ve created world wide interest and bably have done more to discredit viet administration than any other ion of theirs.

Never were stamps of such large demination and varying designs and surarges ever seen before. Original vers bearing such issues have been d up to ridicule throughout the World. ecimens which I have, bear postage the value of tens of millions. Whole eets of stamps, in one instance six nplete sheets on one letter. Envelopes ide from the sheets torn from acunt books, official records, pages from ldrens' school maps. All bear testiony to the failure of a system that s supposed to usher in the millennium, t which, as we know, has brought nothg but misery and starvation to millions our fellow human beings in far off veit Russia.

ROSES AND POSTAGE STAMPS.

Near the village of L'Hay on the outrts of Paris is located the Roserie of Hay, the greatest rose garden in the rld. For over two centuries, a vacan spot for wealthy Parisians, it is w the property of Mme. Gravereaux. e gardens cover about five acres and ntain from eight to ten thousand distct varieties of roses. Twelve great ts show in order the gradual evolun of roses from their earliest exples down to the present date. Those plot number one being identical with roses mentioned in descriptions of uquets of the Roman emperors, those the last plot the very latest developnt of the world's rose growers.

As a finishing touch to his work, M. avereaux established a Rose museum which are collected everything obtnable dealing with roses or inspired their beauty and form—woven fabrics, na, sculptures, paintings, metal work, od carvings, books, etc., and—as you y have guessed—a collection of post stamps showing roses in the designs.

THE HOME OF THE POSTAGE STAMP 510 W. 113TH ST., NEW YORK CITY

BOSTON'S FIRST DAY.

Rare, curious and valuable postage stamps, representing issues of practically every nation, are being shown at the public library, under auspices of the Boston Philatelic Society. The exhibition, which opened yesterday, will continue through Saturday.

In connection with this exhibit is an announcement of interest to stamp collectors that there will be placed on sale at the local post-office today a limited number of the new 12-cent stamps, bearing a portrait of former President Grover Cleveland and issued in honor of his birthday anniversary, which was yesterday. The only other places where these stamps will be on sale are the government philatelic stamp agency, Washington, D. C., and the post-office at Caldwell, N. J., the former President's birthplace.

In the library exhibition are valuable stamps and proofs loaned by the post-office department at Washington and the Smithsonian Institution.

To be seen there also are rare "splits," consisting of bisected 10-cent stamps issued in the United States in 1851 and cut in two because of a stamp shortage at the time. Near this exhibit are, in blocks, very rare Cape of Good Hope triangulars, early Canadas, early Great Britains and Australians.

Stamps used during the various war periods in the United States are displayed. There are also rare stamps from the Orient, and from Europe. The exhibit is one of the most complete of its kind.

Ralph M. Hall gave an illustrated lecture last night in the library lecture hall on "Stamp Collecting as a Hobby." B. W. Allen, vice-president of the Boston Philatelic Society, presided. On the exhibition committee are B. F. Borhek, chairman; W. S. Barker, D. F. Kelliher, C. B. K. Nevin, R. N. Hall, F. E. Atwood, Hollis Webster, Clifton A. Howes, A. W. Dunning and C. Raymond Weills. —Boston Herald, March 20.

BEDFORD, PENN. PRECANCELS.

By W. E. BEAM.

The warning to precancel collectors conveyed in Mr. Fred W. Allen's "Some Precancel Notes" found in your issue of Feb. 24, 1923, calling attention to certain issues of a number of places, should be taken seriously by collectors.

I visited the Bedford, Pa., post-office several days ago and inquired for 6, 16 and 24c Aeros and 1, 2 and 5c Pilgrim stamps and was informed by the senior clerk that they never had any of these stamps at any time.

That being the case, any of these stamps that are offered for sale precanceled Bedford, Pa., are fakes or were canceled to order for some dealer thru connivance with a clerk in the office, which puts them in the same class with fakes.

I collected precancels for years and while not active in that line at present, am still interested enough to dislike seeing collectors imposed upon.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The Philadelphia Stamp Co. is sending out the catalog of the second part of the Craighead collection which will be sold at auction April 11. So many auction catalogs come to our desk that we do not make it a practise to note them. The conditions under which the Craighead collection is being sold makes this sale of more than ordinary interest and we take pleasure in commending the catalog to all collectors and to those especially interested in France and Portugal and their colonies. There are also three hundred lots of a general character. The entire proceeds of the sale of the collection will go to the new Atlantic City Hospital.

—The S. Grossman Co. of New York advises us that they have purchased the entire stock of Max Beck, 430 E. 70th St., New York. This is in addition to other large purchases and they have been forced to remove to larger quarters in order to house the increased stock. The firm will use space in the WEEKLY regularly.

—A new advertising cancellation reaches us from Ypsilanti, Mich. It reads:—"100th Anniversary Ypsilanti, July 1-4, 1923."

—On account of the remarkable and ever increasing growth of the A. P. S. sales department J. E. Guest, the superintendent, has now rented an office in the Wilson Bldg. at Dallas, Texas, from which department society matters will be handled.

—We are advised by Craig P. Smith, 450 E. 22 St., Portland, Ore., that a stamp club is being formed in that city. Interested parties will kindly confer with him.

—Elmer F. Smith, Carthage, Ill., informs us that he can get no replies to letters addressed to George W. Bierce, Cleveland, O. In fact, his place of business in that city has been vacated for some eight weeks.

—John B. Vale, Box 22, Omaha, Neb., reports unanswered letters addressed E. C. Johnson, Oak Lawn, R. I.

—"Ad in your number 1679, page 136, column 4, Netherlands ad., the price of No. 2 should have been 50 cents not $2.50."—EL PASO STAMP CO., EL PASO, TEX.

We have looked up the original copy and find the mistake was our printer's. We publish this correction with pleasure and regret the mistake made.

—"I think you will agree that an I. W. W. publication is a most unlikely place to look for an article dealing with philately, but the enclosed clipping from a recent issue of the Industrial Worker shows that the hobby is no respecter of classes when it comes to seizing someone in its goodly grip. Furthermore, the article was welcomed by the paper in question, and called forth much favorable comment. The editorial note has brought me, the author of the article, a number of stamps from all parts of the world, among them being two Russian covers, one of which has two and one-half sheets of the 7,500 ruble stamps affixed, and the other bearing 12 stamps of the 250 ruble value overprinted 100,000 rubles, making the postage paid amount to one million two hundred thousand rubles. The article also has been the means of renewing correspondence with several old friends from whom I had not heard in ten years, one of these writing me that has four of the 15 cent Lincoln black stamps which he will split with me as soon as he returns home from a trip. The article is forwarded in the hope that at least a part of it may prove to be of sufficient interest to find its way into the columns of your publication."—WALKER C. SMITH. We regret that we do not have sufficient space to reprint in the WEEKLY the article referred to. It was entitled "Postage Stamps and Progress" and covered in very fine form the characteristic features of various recent issues.

—A new stamp society has been organized in St. Petersburg, Fla. Albert E. Newman is president and W. A. Bogert, secretary-treasurer.

EDITORIAL.

We acknowledge the receipt of many messages commendatory of the action of Congress in passing the stamp illustration bill; and the disposition is to give credit to all the persons who for so many years pressed on towards their goal, taking such means as were at hand to attain their end. It is safe to say that Washington has done something that collectors will remember with satisfaction; and already the philatelic fruit recently ripened there is beginning to drop, as a hard-fisted old collector says that the city has so endeared itself to him that he will attend his first philatelic convention there this summer.

Collectors find themselves wondering at times what percentage of a stamp issue really consists of collectible specimens, in the end. For instance, all badly-centered stamps must be eliminated, for sake of argument, as well as all stamps that become torn or badly canceled in their performance of postal duty; and several other considerations probably enter into the calculations. In a price list received from Mr. Theodore Siddall, in which he offers "far eastern" stamps at wholesale, we find the following figures flanking his prices on certain of the U. S. stamps surcharged Philippines of the 1903-4 set. Based on catalogue quotations, the prices named in the list seem high, but after the following foot-note is read, a different angle presents itself: "The entire issue of 4c yellow brown was less than 700 collectible varieties; of the 4c brown, about 1,000; 3c and 6c about 2,000 each; the balance were so badly perforated no collector would have them."

An experienced collector: "If you care to do your readers a favor tell them about the desirability of the 1870 to 1879 issues of United States in first-rate condition. Many of the older collectors to whom these stamps have a familiar or common look will be surprised at the scarcity of fine copies and as for superb pieces, catalogue price is too cheap for them, judged by the infrequency with which they are met. In my long stamp life nothing has impressed me more than the elusive qualities of certain of these stamps in the shape specified and I pass my conclusions on, wishing to share the results of my hunt."

SCOTT STAMP AND COIN COMPANY
AUCTION DEPARTMENT
33 West 44th Street NEW YORK, N. Y.

Here is a letter from a gentleman well-known in the world of letters, whose sentiments we make haste to share with readers: "I was much amused and to an extent impressed by your defense of philately from the profanations of the writer, George, and I think that the attacks of the thoughtless, ranging down from this great writer to the penny-a-liner will not shake our sense of security so long as you are at the bridge. It is my belief that some of the shafts that are aimed at stamp collectors are the consequence of the somewhat ancient belief that it is quite the thing to laugh at stamp collecting. This species of ridicule, begun in the past when stamp collecting was without rhyme or reason, speaking comparatively, has been handed down until the narrow mind takes it for granted and places stamp collecting as an object for irony or mirth. Some persons are so constituted that philately can have no appeal for them; and with these folks we have no quarrel, so long as they do not transcend the bounds of legitimate argument. The man of mind who through ignorance alone belittles collecting and goes to the length of opposing it on broad grounds is the one who should be scotched, as you say. We who really relish philately feel that it is an art and we know that the least that may be said against it is what Goethe has said about all arts, except Greek art, and that is, for it, we must make some allowance'."

We congratulate the Garfield Perry Stamp Club of Cleveland, Ohio, which will celebrate its thirty-third anniversary by a banquet and exhibit, at the Hotel Cleveland, on March 24th, 1923. Cleveland has reason to feel that it has done well in maintaining an active local organization for so many years and in having dominated philatelic interests in its city. The history of any old organization, philatelic or otherwise, affords a theme for speculation. Periods of prosperity reach their climax only to be succeeded by seasons of comparative quietude and the test of loyalty to the purpose for which the society was organized is found through the passage of years. The old stamp club has our respect as we know what varying progress it makes; and the mere fact of existence after many years is a tribute to the firm convictions of the founders. The Cleveland collectors may with propriety pat each other on the back at their banquet.

We thank a friend for a worn copy of the "Album for Postage and other Stamps, American and Foreign," published by D. Appleton & Company, in 1863. All the stamps are removed from the pages but the album is intact so far as the text is concerned. At different times in the past, we have mentioned the Appleton album of 1863 as the earliest example of a printed album of pretensions that was issued from an American press and we have reviewed the work several times. It is claimed that this Appleton album was not the one that blazed the way, however, and that it was antedated by one that saw the light almost a year before the Appletons made their entry into the philatelic domain. The album under notice has not attained the dignity of stamp cuts but maps and national flags in color, not to mention statistics and descriptions of the different stamps, make it a substantial production. The fact that there are seven varieties of the three cent United States envelopes that are collectible leads the editor of the album to italicize the information.

It has been suggested that it would be fitting for the national stamp organization to prepare a series of lectures under expert editorship on stamp collecting suitable for outside audiences. It is reasonable to suppose that addresses that have been written with a due sense of philatelic proportion would be smoother than those dashed off by speakers who do not have the time or inclination to formulate their messages carefully. Arrangements could be made for the circulation of the "lectures" among those who are in a position to speak before business and other organizations; and philatelists could know that their pursuit would then be presented in a proper setting. The demand by clubs, covering the widest variety of interests, for persons to talk at noon-day and other meetings is so great that it would not be difficult to obtain dates when the philatelic doctrine could be expounded. Philatelists dare not lag behind other classes in announcing their articles of faith to the multitude that passes by, if their attention is not arrested, and so we are in favor of the working out of the plan that has been proposed.

THE BOSTON EXHIBIT.

In the Boston Sunday Globe of March 18, appeared an article illustrating and describing a stamp collection, which is the property of the City of Boston. For over fifteen years it has been in the custody of the librarian of the Public Library. It was the property of Miss Harriet F. Warren, who died October 26, 1904, and in her will bequeathed her "valuable collection of postage stamps" to the Public Library of the City of Boston upon condition that it be kept intact and be called "The Harriet F. Warren Collection."

The executors of the estate delivered the collection Feb. 18, 1907. It is contained in two volumes bound in full leather and consists of about 7,500 varieties covering all the countries of the world. It is principally a 19th century collection. This collection is of special interest in view of the exhibition held by the Boston Philatelic Society in the exhibition rooms of the Boston Public Library during the week of March 19. The U. S. Government co-operated with an exhibit of proofs and as well authorized the use of a special canc

LATIN LEGENDS ON STAMPS.

By Dr. Waldemar Kloss, Hyattsville, Md.

It may be well to observe that the legends of British colonial stamps are not indited by any administrative board of the respective colonies; they are concocted in London by the Foreign Office. Thus, they may not exactly express a sentiment characteristic of the colonial mind, but rather inculcate that joy of belonging to the Great British Empire which the central government wants to be conspicuous throughout all its component parts. Here I refer to the legends of Barbados and Jamaica.

The same point of view appears in the legend of the 2 cent peace stamp of British Honduras, 1921: "Sub umbra floreo," "I flourish in the shade" (of the British Empire).

The coat of arms of Canada which takes cognizance of the individual units of the Dominion, bears the significant legend "Parva sub ingenti," i.e., "Little things under the mighty one."

By the way, this clever motto which might some day slip in upon a stamp is taken from Virgil's Georgics, bk II, 17-19: "Pullulat ab radice aliis densissima silva ut cerasis ulmisque, etiam Parnassia laurus. Parva sub ingenti matris se subjicit umbra," English. "With other trees a dense undergrowth sprouts from the parent root, as with the cherries and elms; the laurel of Parnassus, too, springs up a tiny plant beneath its mother's mighty shade."

The motto of Grenada, "Clarior e tenebris," English "Brighter through darkness," has a truly poetical and classical ring. It is, therefore, really surprising that it cannot be traced from Latin literature, although hundreds of closely approaching lines may be found in Virgil, Lucretius, Ovid and Manilius. This nobly suggestive motto is incorporated in the coats of arms of many British families, especially those whose name indicates any reference to light, as for instance, Lightbody. There are also variations as "clarior ex obscuris" and "clarior e flammis." In the latter case is involved an allusion to the fabulous bird phenix. The design of the Grenada stamp exhibits in the center a ship "night enwrapped." The white sails shine brighter, due to the contrast effect of surrounding darkness. The arrestive mysterious beauty of this motto has provided moralists of the sublime type with an occasion for many an edifying page.

Somewhat related in sentiment is the legend of the stamps wherewith the Canton of Geneva greeted the civilized world in 1843: "Post tenebras lux," i.e. "Light after darkness."

The 30 cent stamp of Newfoundland, 1897, which shows the marginal inscription "Fishermen bringing gifts to Britannia," bears on the ribbon under the feet of the symbolical center-group the words "Haec tibi dona fero;" English, "These gifts I bring to thee."

Reminiscent of the exacerbation during the World War are the peace stamps of Bahama, with the sarcastic legend "Commercia, piratis expulsis restituta," i.e., "Commerce restored by the expulsion of the pirates." The classical allusion refers to the war against the pirates ended by Pompeius Magnus, 67 B. C.

Who can tell me what North Borneo [redacted] figures of Peace and Justice; the legend, of course, reads: "Pax et justitia." The legend of a series of Reunion "Praeter omnes angulus ridet" is literally taken from Horace's ode to his friend Septimus II, 6, where he harps on the beauties and charms of Tibur and Tarent: "Ille terrarum mihi praeter omnes angulus ridet;" English, "This corner of the world delights me more than all others."

Petulant, indeed, is the motto which adorns the Fiume (d'Annunzio) series of 1920. "Hic manebimus optime," i.e., "We can do nothing better than stay here." One stamp of the commemorative series has as center-piece a gushing spring with the legend "Indeficienter," that is, unceasingly.

Bavaria in 1920 surprised the philatelic world with a Madonna and Bambino series, bearing the marginal inscription "Patrona Bavariae." Hungary in the same year followed suit with a corresponding series inscribed "Patrona Hungariae (patroness of Hungary).

The Belgian Charity stamp of 1910 introduces the warrior saint Martin, who with his sword divides his cloak in order to clothe with one half of it an almost naked beggar. The stamp displays the pertinent word "Caritas." Our readers recognize here that virtue which begins at home and as a rule remains there.

It is probably a unique phenomenon in the annals of philately when the religious sentiment finds a harbor also on the gummed reverse of the stamp. This is the case with the Portuguese commemorative issue of 1895, devoted to the patron saint of Lisbon, Saint Anthony of Padua. The saint is represented in various scenes which all redound to his glory as a thaumaturgus. On the reverse of the stamps of the series there appears in pale blue diamond script the following reading: "Centenario de Santo Antonio, MCXCV. MDCCCXCV, O lingua benedicta quae Dominum semper benedixisti et alios benedicere docuisti, nunc perspicue cernitur, quanti meriti fueris apud Deum, S. Bonaventura." The date of the celebration, June 13, is not the anniversary of the birth but of the death of the saint. In the liturgical language of the Roman Missal "natalitia," literally anniversary of the birthday means day of death, to wit, the day when the blessed one was "born into the Kingdom of Heaven." Anthony of Padua was born, August 15th, 1195, and died June 13, 1231. He was canonized in 1232. The inhabitants of Padua erected to his memory a magnificent temple where his relics were transferred in 1263, in presence of Saint Bonaventura, then minister general of the Friars Minor to which order Saint Anthony belonged. When the vault in which for 30 years his body had reposed was opened, the flesh was found reduced to dust, but the tongue, as the Catholic encylopaedia asseverates was "uninjured, fresh and of a lively red color." Saint Bonaventura, upon beholding this wonder, took the tongue affectionately in his hand and exclaimed the pious words mentioned above as forming the substance of the inscription on the reverse, English, "O blessed tongue that always praised the Lord and made others bless him, now it is evident what a great merit thou hast before God."

The plebiscite stamps which the Allied Commission issued for Marienwerder, Province of Western Prussia, are inscribed "Populi voluntas," i.e., "the will of the people."

On some stamps of the Free City of Danzig, we read: "Nec temere, nec timide," that is "Neither rashly nor timidly."

The Serbian death head stamps of 1904 are a philatelic curiosity. The legend of the ribbon under the two portraits (whose inversion is supposed to reveal the terribly mutilated head of the murdered King Alexander) reads: "Spes mihi prima Deus," i.e. "My first hope is God." We are surprised to find here a Latin legend, as the Servians employ the Slavic alphabet.

The silver jubilee of King Karol of Rumania, in 1906, was philatelically commemorated by a series of fine portrait stamps. Their motto "Nil sine Deo," "Nothing without God," is again an illustration of the tendency the mottoes of national coats of arms show for finding their way upon stamps.

Everbody will guess that the initials V. R. I., found on some stamps, stand for Victoria Regina Imperatrix. They are never seen on British stamps proper, as the imperial appellation constitutionally applies only to the Empire and not the United Kingdom.

Baffling, however, are the initials C. R., which adorn the Fijian stamps of 1871. Guessing will here help but little, therefore I at once give away the secret; these cryptic letters signify "Cacobau Rex." This cannibal monarch in a long and bloody career had consumed as many of his rebellious subjects as Bismarck boasted of having drained champagne bottles, to wit, ca. 10,000. When in the year 1874 he was forced to resign, he naively admonished the British Government to treat his beloved ex-subjects with the same tender solicitude which he always felt for them.

But enough of Cacobau and enough of these "legendary" musings.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—The Post Office Department placed on sale on Tuesday, March 20, 1923, the 12c, the 30c, the $2 and the $5 of the new series of postage stamps. The 12c purplish brown was sold at Caldwell, N. J., the birthplace of Grover Cleveland, whose portrait appears on the denomination, also in Boston where a philatelic exhibition is in progress. The 30c sepia, the $2 blue and the $5 red and blue along with the 12c were placed on sale at Washington, D. C., as well as at the Philatelic Stamp Agency.

The 12c purplish brown shows a side face of Grover Cleveland facing the right, an unusually fine likeness of the Ex-President, with border similar to the other low denominations. Only one plate, namely 14404, was completed in time for the first run. The stamp is from a four hundred subject plate.

The 30c sepia, an unusually attractive value, shows an American buffalo. The very simplicity of the design adds to its appearance. I do not recall any other United States stamp in just this shade. This stamp like the 12c is from a four hundred subject plate but the long side is horizontal. One plate of this value, No. 14436, was completed for the first day issue.

The $2 in blue, with long dimension horizontal, depicts the Capitol and will no doubt be ranked as one of the most attractive stamps of the series. This is from a two hundred subject plate bearing number 14326.

The $5 is the same shape and size as the $2. The central design is America from a photograph of replica of statue surmounting the United States Capitol. The head, which resembles Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, within a wreath, is in blue surrounded by a red border. This is from a hundred subject plate, the border having number 14327 and the center 14326. Plate numbers appear once in each color at the top only and to the right of the top arrow in blue we have "$5.00."

On the first day the Philatelic Stamp Agent sold stamps to the value of $7,726.77, which will more than pay for the dies, plates, etc. As usual first sheets were signed by the Director of the Bureau Mr. L. A. Hill, the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. Warren Irving Glover and the new Postmaster General, Hon. H. S. New added his initials.

The Department expects to issue very shortly the four remaining values, the 7c McKinley, the 8c Grant, the 14c Indian and the 20c. As originally announced the 20c was to show Yosemite but the proof submitted did not prove attractive and it was decided to show some other western scene. A design was made up showing Mount Ranier which was very beautiful, but it was later decided to show Golden Gate. The Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco has furnished a photograph which is being used for the purpose. A proof of the new 14c did not show up very well in the announced color of apple green so that this stamp will be printed in some other color, possibly blue. This means that the 20c which was to have been blue will be some other shade, possibly magenta. It is hoped that all of the remaining values can be issued at one time during the next month. They will be all placed on sale the first day in Washington, while it is expected that the 7c will see light at the birthplace of William McKinley, the 8c at Grant's birthplace and the Golden Gate 20c in San Francisco.

We may also have very shortly a 12c linen envelope for registered mail, similar to such envelopes that have been furnished in England for years. There has been quite a little demand for this stationery and it is likely that the Department will meet the demand. It will be in the same color as the postage stamp and will show some portrait, possibly Andrew Jackson.

The Third Assistant Postmaster General under date of March 20th cabled to London reserving space at the forthcoming International Philatelic Exhibition for a United States Government Exhibition. This will consist of a framed exhibit of the late issues, including the series that is going out, the new series, the airplane varieties and similar stamps that are still in the hands of the Department. It is hoped that this along with the Exhibit that was sent to the Brazilian Exhibition will be back in time for the American Philatelic Society convention in Washington during August.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA.—Mr. Louis Kugelman informs us that he has received the 100h in the type of the 1920 design in vermilion on yellow paper. He also adds that the 200h and 300h will soon be placed on sale in new colors.

FIJI.—The ¼d and the ½d have been issued on the script watermarked paper. Mr. R. Roberts submits copies for chronicle.

GILBERT & ELLICE ISLANDS.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the ½d green with script watermark.

IRELAND.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts a copy of the 1d stamp in the Map type. The color is rose.

NETHERLANDS.—In reference to th values of imperforate stamps, 5c 10c noted in our last issue, Dr. Is Tuholske sends us a letter received one of his correspondents calling tion to these stamps and adding th formation that these were issued d a strike at the printing works of Ens & Sons where the current Dutch st are produced. The strike was soon and the next day the stamps were drawn.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—Mr. M. P. F writing under date of March the fir ports that designs for a new perm issue of postage stamps for Newfo land have been approved by the Mi of Posts and are now in the han the printers, Messrs. Whitehead M & Co., London, England. The set consist of twelve denominations the face value of which will be in the n borhood of $1 and it is expected will be placed on sale early in April. the exception of the 3c, all the st will show views of the principal t and places in Newfoundland. Th which by the way is the domestic rate, will show the "Bomber" or "F ing Newfoundlander," a life size stat bronze presented to the city of St. J by Sir Edgar Bowring and erect Bowring Park in 1922.

TURKEY.—The Economist Stamp has shown us three values of a ne sign. In the centre are the usual cent and star and in the upper co are the same ornaments in a sm size. The figure of value is in the l left corner. The values are, 4½pi 5pi violet and 7½pi light blue.

A NOTABLE ARTICLE.

The Boston Evening Transcrip Saturday, March 17, contains a fe story by Hubert Lyman Clark ent "The Stamp of Women in Phil Society." It occupies two-thirds page of this prominent Boston paper is evidently a part of the publicity paign promoted in connection wit philatelic exhibition of the B. P. the Boston Public Library. The a is illustrated with several stamps p ing women, and in the center of article is a striking design showing stamps of all nations surmounted b design used upon the letterhead of local organization. It is a fine piec work upon the part of Dr. Clark an Boston Society and will mean muc promoting local interest in stamps.

ESTERN PHIL. ASS'N'S ANNUAL

By CYRIL C. LOTZ.

he Western Philatelic Association, oldest collectors' club in the San ncisco Bay Region, held its Ninth ual Banquet on the evening of March Interesting talks were given by Dr. n F. Killeen, of San Francisco, Past idents, J. A. Stites and A. W. Chap- n. Other speakers were Arthur L. n, E. S. Page, K. M. Macabee, C. C. z and Wm. G. Wilson.

n auction of twenty-five lots was l, Cyril C. Lotz being the auction nager and Harry E. Gray the auc- eer. A grab bag was another feat- of the evening. A particularly que stunt was pulled in printing the nus as a surcharge on a block of nty-five of the 45 heller Austrian vspaper stamps. President E. S. kwell presided as toastmaster of the ning.

he officers of the Association are: S. Blackwell, Pres.; E. S. Page, -pres.; Cyril C. Lotz, sec.; E. A. ksecker, Treas.; William C. Wilson, n.; C. W. Graham, Sales and Mgr. Meetings are held the second n fourth Thursdays of each month at Assembly Room in the Bacon Bldg., land, Calif., at 8 o'clock, P. M. Vis- s are especially welcome.

1,500 French Colonies

A fine assortment of 1,500 all different French Colonies only (no France), with minor varieties excluded. About 75% of the stamps are mint, and the condition is superb throughout. Both old and new issues are well represented, as are also occupation stamps such as Cameroons, Niger Territory, Togo; Red Cross and Charity stamps; the hard-to-get "large" stamps from Obock, Somali Coast; 1912 provisional issues, etc., etc. Some of the sets are complete through the 1 franc and 5 franc values. An excellent little collection for any collector who is weak in French Colonials—and hard to beat for real value.

COLLECTING FOR INVESTMENT.

Hedjaz.—Owing to the difficulty in obtaining the stamps of this Protectorate, they are all priced high in the catalogue, but recently there seems to be more of them about. I should say that the Roul. 20 (1916-17) issue is a good deal scarcer than the Roul. 13 issue which followed it. The overprinted sets, Dec., 1921, and Jan., 1922, are getting scarcer, particularly the former. The current issue is still hard to get at a reasonable price, especially the higher values. I should also think that the Postage Due stamps are all far commoner than their price would indicate, compared with the other issues.

Hong Kong, 1912-21.—The majority of this issue, being obsolete, has already risen in value, but the 50c emerald surface is a fairly scarce stamp, and will rise further. As in the case of China, the high values used fetch better prices on the Continent, where a large number of them go.

1921-22. Script C A.—All were originally issued in old colours, but the 8c has already been changed and is fairly scarce in grey already. Although more plentiful used it was not current long enough for this to have much effect on its value. The other low values may be issued in different colours, but though these are fairly plentiful used, I do not think this will have a great deal of effect on the value of the mint copies.

India, 1911-22.—The whole of this issue is so plentiful used that they are not at all likely to rise in value. The lower values are the only ones likely to be changed, and these are all very common.

Jamaica, 1912-19.—All this issue is obsolete and getting scarcer, the best of the set being the 5s. With regard to the coloured papers, I should say that the 4d on lemon was easily the scarcest.

1920-21. Pictorial.—Are all obsolete and appreciating, but even so the 1½d seems quite as plentiful as the current one. They are all rather more plentiful used than mint, and the 3s and 10s seem to be the best of the lot.

1921-22. Script C A.—All are current except the 6d King George, which should prove quite a nice stamp.

Leeward Is., 1912-22.—The majority are already obsolete and getting scarcer. The 4d has only recently been issued and, presumably, further printings will be on Script paper. It should therefore be obtained before it becomes obsolete. Of the others the 2s was in use for only a short time and should prove a good stamp in time. It can still be bought very reasonably. In the coloured papers we have the rarity, 3d white back, one of the best of all the white backs, and considerably underpriced in nearly all catalogues—the publishers generally having none to sell. The 1s, white back, though not so good as the 3d, is also a very scarce stamp, but the 5s, white back, is comparatively common. Of the others, the 1s on olive is a scarce stamp.

1921-22. Script C A.—Such values as have appeared are all in the old colours. The 1d, red, is already obsolete and getting scarcer—the 1d blue-purple, being now current—and it seems quite likely that the other low values will be changed ere long.

Malta, 1914-22.—The whole of this issue is getting scarcer, though rather more plentiful used than mint. The 3d is quite a good little stamp, but the best of the issue is undoubtedly the 10s which is a rarity, only quite a small number being printed. The 1s, emerald, is another good stamp, and though not quite so good, the 1s, emerald surface, is quite scarce.

1921-22. Script C A.—In issue for quite a short time this set should prove quite good, particularly the 6d and 2s.

1922. Self-Government. Old C A and C C.—By far the best of these is the 2s. Only a small printing was made, and although already scarce will get scarcer. The 2½d also had a short life, but I believe large quantities are held in Malta and elsewhere by speculators, and it is not likely to go up much in price for the present. The 10s C C is also quite a good stamp, but is not so scarce as the 2s.

Script C A.—All had quite a short life, particularly the 6d, and should get scarcer before very long.

1922. New Design.—Have been issued in new colours, and the only stamp of note is the hideous 4d. This was withdrawn from issue almost as soon as it was put on sale, and was immediately rushed up in price. However, it was put on sale again almost at once—I understand in a different shade—and the price fell to normal, but I should say that it might easily be withdrawn again in view of its unsuitable colour, as indeed might the whole set.

Mauritius, 1913-22.—There is little of note here except the coloured papers. The 25c, white back, is a good stamp. The 1r, on emerald surface, and the 10r, on the same paper, are the best of their respective values, particularly the latter. The 50c is hardly ever seen, and should prove very scarce as it is expected on Script paper shortly.

1921-22. Script C A.—Numerous colour changes are taking place, so the whole of these should be secured without delay. The 12c, grey, is already obsolete and scarce, and as it would seem that the number printed was considerably smaller than usual, it should also be obtained quickly, as a further rise would appear inevitable.

Mesopotamia, 1918-20.—With the exception of the ¼a the whole of this issue is fairly plentiful. The 10r may, however, prove fairly good mint, but all values are commoner used than mint, especially the 10rs.

1921. Script C A.—As a new issue is expected before long these may well prove quite nice. Even now I should say that they are scarcer than the previous issue.

Montserrat, 1914.—This 5s is already a really scarce stamp and should get scarcer.

1916-22.—None of this set is particularly common, and all should prove fairly good as they become obsolete, particularly the 3d, on new yellow, and the 4d, which have only just been issued.

1922. Script C A.—To date have only appeared in the old colours, so I suppose the usual changes may be expected.

Morocco Agencies.—The scarcity of all these issues appears to me sufficiently indicated by the catalogue, so I will not waste space in repetition. The only comment I have to make is that the 6p on 5s, Waterlow, exists on very pale rose, and is very scarce thus.

Nauru, 1916.—A new issue is shortly expected, so that blanks should be filled in time. The high values (2s 6d, 5s, 10s) are quite scarce—as indicated by the catalogue—but copies can sometimes be obtained at nominal prices.

Newfoundland, 1911.—Quite a nice set which is not very often seen. The 8c, aniline, is far commoner than the other shade though reversed in most catalogues.

1919.—The 6c and 8c, which are obsolete, are the best of this set.

1920. Provisionals.—Though never very plentiful or cheap these seem to be fairly stationary in value.

Air Post, Hawker's.—Beyond the reach of most collectors.

Alcock.—Very uncommon used, but fairly plentiful, though not cheap, mint.

Halifax.—The letters sent by this mail took some months on the way owing to the machine breaking down. They seem to be more plentiful used than mint, though they are fairly expensive.

New Hebrides, 1911-12.—These stamps were never very plentiful, and as they are now appearing on Script paper should be got without delay. The issues in French currency, which are scarcer than the above, should rightly be collected with them, as they are used together.

1920. Provisionals.—Are getting scarcer fairly rapidly, the only ones at all plentiful being the 5c and 10c, on New Caledonia, and the best, except of course the errors of watermark, is easily the 50 on 40c.

1921. Script C A.—The 1d and 2d being in old colours will, I suppose, be changed.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Circular.

With One Million Dollars in Cash

I could handle all kinds of stamps, perhaps 40,000 varieties, but as my capital is not so great, I have to content myself with a fine stock of old U. S. postage and revenue, and British North America postage stamps.

I have ample capital to take care of these lines in good shape, so if you want anything in U. S. or B. N. A. let me see that want list. I have several shilling stamps of N. S., also of N. B. and all the lesser values in considerable quantities.

It only costs two cents to get acquainted. If you are seriously thinking of obtaining stamps that are a real investment, let me hear from you soon.

THE MANAGING EDITOR

JAMAICA 3d, 4d, 6d, PICTORIALS.

By H. COOKE.

The Three-Penny stamp was issued on April 7th, 1921, on white paper, watermarked old type CA multiple upright. The design is treated in traverse rectangular style, printed in one sheet from an engraved plate of 80 subjects, i.e., 8 by 10, perforated 14 single line.

The central portion of the design is printed in deep green, and depicts the landing of Columbus at Jamaica, said to have been on May 3rd, 1494. The spot is claimed by some to have been S. Anne's Bay, by others Dry Harbour, but as the two points are relatively close to each other, and there are the remains of a very old Spanish settlement at a place called Seville, which is between the two disputed points, the point of actual landing may have been this; in any case it is not philatelically important. In 1503, when on his fourth and last voyage, Columbus was forced through illness to spend twelve months in the same vicinity, and thus began the Spanish colonisation of the island. Their administration may not be dealt with here, but it will be of interest to note that under their rule the indigenous Arawak Indian disappeared, and under the British occupation has not been known, and until the appearance of the current 1d stamp, were only noted as supporters to the arms of the colony.

The centre, described, is set in a frame printed in blue, which varies to ultramarine. At the top, and forming partial border, is a row of ten pineapples, at both ends of this is a shield on which is a white circle in which is printed the value "3d," the shields being supported by crossed branches of laurel. Between these, "Jamaica" is printed in white block letters, and immediately below, "Postage Revenue," in white letters of varying size arranged in a curved to conform to the top of the vignette. The sides are made up of ornamental panels giving the effect of a moulding, and immediately below the vignette are the words and figures, "Jamaica discovered by Columbus 1494" in small white letters and figures, below this is another partial border of twelve pineapples, the moulding of the sides being extended to embrace the corners. The official description of the stamp appears in the Gazette of April 7th, 1921, as follows:—

"Stamp Office, Kingston,
6th April, 1921.

The following is a description of a 3d adhesive stamp to be used for postage and revenue purposes.

This stamp will be put into circulation on 8th April, 1921.

The design of the stamp represents the landing of Columbus on the Island on its discovery.

The denomination 3d is shown on a shield (with laurel leaves beneath) in the left and right corners at the top.

Between the denomination is printed
Jamaica
Postage Revenue

Above the word Jamaica is a row of pineapples. At the bottom are the words and figures JAMAICA DISCOVERED BY COLUMBUS 1494, and under these words there is another row of pineapples. The border of the stamp is blue and the centre green.

C. C. MANTON,
Deputy Stamp Commissioner."

The Four-Penny stamp was issued on January 21st, 1921, printed from an engraved plate of 80 subjects, i.e., 10 x 8, on white paper watermarked old type CA multiple upright, perforated 14 comb. The design is treated in upright rectangular style, the format being smaller than the last of the series, and of the same size as the 2d, and principally depicts the Cathedral at Spanish Town. A brief history of this building is as follows:—

With the decline of the first Spanish city, that of Seville, situated on the North, near the present St. Anne's Bay the "Villa de la Vega" or City of the Plains, was founded about 1523. The Spanish name "Villa de la Vaga" was corrupted by the English to "St. Jago de la Vega" or St. James of the Plains, and later to "Spanish Town." The application of "St. Jago de la Vega" was probably due to the fact that the Spaniards usually referred to the island as "Santiago," and their records invariably were written "island of Santiago called Jamaica."

In the days of Columbus, the Church and State were far more closely related than they are now, and such an adventure as his, as well as the colonisation of the island, of necessity required the blessing and probably the active co-operation of the Church, so it is reasonably certain that a mission existed from the time of the occupation, but we do know that the Spanish King, in January 1515, wrote his ambassador at Rome expressing his desire to found an Abbacy at Jamaica, nominated one of his chaplains for the post and begged the Pope to create it. His desire must have been granted, as we learn that in March, 1522, he wrote to the Pope reporting the death of Sancho de Matienzo, "Abbot of Jamaica" and nominated his successor; again, in September, 1526, the King wrote the Governor of the island stating that Peter Martir, "Abbot of the island" had represented that Pedro de Mazuelo, Island Treasurer, was using the Indians contracted for and engaged on the building of the Church, for other purposes, and delaying the work; he commanded that this interference with the work must cease at once. The earliest records indicate that the site was occupied by a wooden Church building as early as 1523, apparently extended and improved as is suggested in the preceding paragraph, and completed about 1530. This building seems to have stood until 1655, when the town was captured by the British under Admirals Penn and Venables, and the Church and a monastery were seriously damaged by the "fanatic soldiery." The Church was restored, as the records report its complete destruction by a terrible hurricane in 1712. The present building was erected in 1714, and is therefore probably the oldest, and certainly one of the oldest of British Colonial Cathedrals, although it did not attain Cathedral status until 1843, when Her late Majesty, Queen Victoria, so appointed it by letters patent dated November 28th of that year. Its furnishings bear out its antiquity, as it possesses altar plate in pure silver dating from 1769, among which is a flagon dated 1777, but inscribed as re-fashioned from the old plate of 1685, the maker's name is signified by the letters S.W., and are apparently identical with similar initials which exist on a pair of candlesticks in Trinity College, Oxford, dated 1759. Some very fine pieces of statuary within its walls carry great British names, one of the best being a monument to Thomas, Earl of Effingham, Baron Howard and his wife Catherine, by Bacon. Another is to Elizabeth Mary, Countess of Elgin and Kincardine, by Sir John Steell, noted in Edinburgh for his statues of Sir Walter Scott and the late Prince Consort, and in New York for his colossal figure of Burns. It is enough to mention these two, but there are many other fine pieces by both these and other famed sculptors.

The view of the Cathedral which appears on this stamp, shows the tower which was added in 1817, and forms a vignette which is printed in deep sepia set in a frame of green, the w giving a very pleasing effect, so that stamp is sometimes described as handsomest of the series. At the the figures of value appear at left right in colour on white tablets set deeply shaded squares, between are words "Postage Revenue" in small w letters, below which is "Jamaica" in he white block type set in a slight curv conform to the vignette. At left right are side panels on which are sh bunches of oranges, at bottom the fig of value again appear as above, with words "Spanish Town Cathedral" tween in small white letters. A vari which is constant, exists; it is No. enumerating across the sheet from to right. The figures of value in upper corners of this specimen, show stop in positions usually used when w ing or printing the term 4d. At the it appears beside the d, thus 4d-, and the right below the d, thus 4d, o on this specimen and in the upper c ners only, are the values printed in t manner, on all others the value is prin without period.

We have made this statement a number of times and feel compelled to again call the attention of our readers to this matter.

colours, but on the new script paper, was noted as on sale at the Cross Roads P. O. on December 5th, 1921, but the official record deals with its appearance when first issued on the old paper only, and appears in the Gazette of January 20th, 1921:

"Stamp Office, Kingston,
17th January, 1921.

The following is a description of a FOUR-PENNY adhesive stamp to be used for postage and revenue purposes. This stamp will be put into circulation on January 21st, 1921. The design of the stamp is represented by a view of the Spanish Town Cathedral.

The denomination 4d is shown on white labels at the four corners.

At the top of the design are the words:

Jamaica

and at the bottom are the worls:

Spanish Town Cathedral

To the left and right of the design hang bunches of Oranges.

The colour of the border of the design is green, and the colour of the design is brown.

C. C. Manton,
Deputy Stamp Commissioner."

The Six-Penny stamp of the series should have been issued in June, 1921, but has not yet appeared. A printing was made from an approved design, and an initial supply of 362,400 was sent out to the colony from England, arriving there in May, 1921, but when examined for issue in June, the printing was found not to be satisfactory; and the subject of the design, "The Abolition of Slavery" was considered to be of a possible inflammatory nature, because of certain conditions then existing in the island; and for these reasons the issue was suppressed, the entire stock in the island being destroyed by burning in July. Not long after, and probably due to the pernicious system adopted by the Crown Agents of hawking Colonial stamps to dealers in England, the stamp was reported from London as issued there. The matter was at once made the subject of energetic protest to the local Government by the Jamaica Philatelic Society, and is now believed to be under investigation. A second and smaller supply of the stamps was received in October and has apparently been held pending the result of this enquiry, and if it be affirmed that the stamps were sold by the Crown Agents, it would seem that the local government will have no option but to place the present stock in the island on sale there.

In order to provide a stamp of this denomination, the Georgian 6d of November 8th, 1922, was re-issued on the new Script paper about October 21st, 1921, and is still in use (March, 1922).

The suppressed 6d Pictorial, has not been officially recorded, but it is possible to describe it as follows:—

Printed from an engraved plate of 40 subjects, i.e., 5 x 8 in one sheet on white paper watermarked Script CA multiple to the right, perforated 14 comb. The stamp is of "maximum size," its area is exactly that of the 1½d Contingent, and it will be noted that the plate is composed of the same number of subjects arranged in the same way, while the watermark suggests that paper intended for the 1½d was used, as although all the other pictorials were first issued on the old paper, the 3d and 5sh as late as April, 1921, the paper for the 1½d contingent was changed to Script as early as February of the same year. The design is treated in transverse rectangular style, and the vignette is a copy of a lithograph in the Picture Gallery in the Museum at Kingston. This lithograph is by R. Cartwright, of 1, Warwick Place, Bedford Row, London, and depicts the scene in the square at Spanish Town on August 1st, 1838, when the Governor, Sir Lionel Smith, read the Declaration of Freedom from Slavery to about 8,000 people assembled there. The picture shows the Rodney Memorial, also seen on the 2sh stamp, in the background; King's House, also seen on the 2d stamp, appears at the left, with the Governor, the Bishop, and the Rev. J. M. Phillippo on the steps, the first with the document in his hands. The Parliament Building is seen at the right, the assembled crowd in the foreground, and a flag staff bearing the Royal Standard is at the right centre. The whole vignette is printed in Indian red, and is set in a frame of blue-gray, the effect is not pleasing. The design of the frame is far from ornate, simply lines, panels, and a scroll or two. At the top is the word "Jamaica" in heavy White block type, with scrolls on both sides, at the corners the value 6d appears in colour on the white bosses of shields supported by crossed branches of laurel. At the left is the word "Postage" in small white letters reading up on a coloured panel imposed on a scroll, with lines above and below. At the right is the word "Revenue," reading down, printed and set similarly to "Postage." At the bottom on a narrow coloured panel are the words and figures "Abolition of Slavery, 1st Aug. 1838" in small white characters, below which is another scroll and lines.

It is currently reported that another design has been prepared and approved for a stamp of this value to complete the Pictorial series. Rumour states that the vignette is a picture of the harbour and town of Port Royal, set in a nautical frame, on which anchors and ropes are prominent.

The shilling stamp was issued on December 10th, 1920, printed from an engraved plate of 60 subjects, i. e., 12x5, in one sheet on white paper watermarked old type CA multiple upright, perforated 14 single line. This get up of the sheet is somewhat unusual, as instead of being as nearly square as possible, it is really a narrow rectangle in shape. The format is upright rectangular, and the size is about that of the 2½d. The vignette depicts the statue of the late Queen Victoria, which was erected at the southern entrance of what was the Parade Gardens in Kingston, and is intended to commemorate the Diamond Jubilee of that Monarch, celebrated in 1897. It is a replica of a statue erected in the hall of the Colonial Office at Singapore, by Edward Geflowski, exhibitor at the Royal Academy from 1867-1872, in commemoration of the Jubilee of 1887. A plaster cast may be seen in the Imperial Institute, London.

In 1914, on the occasion of a visit to the island of Her Highness Princess Marie Louise of Schleswig-Holstein, a granddaughter of the late Queen, and at the request of the Municipality of Kingston, Her Highness on February 4th, performed the ceremony in the shadow of the Queen's statue of re-naming the Gardens, Victoria Park.

The statue is not at all imposing, for as may be gathered from the foregoing, it was intended for an interior position, in addition it is mounted on a base which was originally erected for the statue of Sir Charles Metcalfe, a figure at least three or four times the size of this, and the statue thereby loses much of its beauty, dwarfed as it is by the base.

The central portion of the design of the stamp consists of the statue described with a background of foliage from the trees in the park, and is printed in orange. The frame is printed in a deeper shade of orange, in which there is a suggestion of red, and shows at the top the word "Jamaica" in heavy white letters of block type on a lined ground, the corners are marked by a curved line, within which the lines are deeply shaded. Immediately below, in smaller white letters, are the words "Postage Revenue." At the sides are panels showing fully grown and bearing cocoanut palms; at the bottom corners are white shields on which are colored ovals and on these the value 1s is shown in heavy white characters. Between are the words "Queen Victoria of Jamaica Lady Supreme" in two lines, the first line being made up of title and name in larger type than the rest.

The stamp appeared at the Cross Roads P. O. on the new paper on November 4th, 1921, but there is no official record of the change of paper, the official record deals only with its first appearance on the old paper, and is taken from the Gazette of December 9th, 1920:

"Stamp Office, Kingston.
6th December, 1920.

The following is a description of a 1sh adhesive stamp to be used for postage and revenue purposes.

This stamp will be put into circulation on Friday, 10th December, 1920.

The design of the stamp is denoted by a Statue of Queen Victoria.

At the top of the design is printed:

Jamaica
Postage Revenue

The denomination 1sh is shown on an oval in each corner at the bottom. Between the denominations are the words:

Queen Victoria of Jamaica Lady Supreme.

On each side of the design is a cocoanut palm.

The colour of the stamp is orange.

C. C. MANTON,
Deputy Stamp Commissioner."

THE STAMP LAW AS PASSED.

An Act To allow the printing and publishing of illustrations of foreign postage and revenue stamps from defaced plates.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That nothing in sections 161, 172, and 220 of the Act entitled "An Act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States," approved March 4, 1909 (Thirty-fifth Statutes at Large, at pages 1118, 1121, and 1132), shall be construed to forbid or prevent the printing or publishing of illustrations in black and white of foreign postage or revenue stamps from plates so defaced as to indicate that the illustrations are not adapted or intended for use as stamps, or to prevent or forbid the making of necessary plates therefor for use in philatelic or historical articles, books, journals, or albums, or the circulars of legitimate publishers or dealers in such stamps, books, journals, or albums. Nothing in said sections shall be construed to forbid or prevent similar illustrations, in black and white only, in philatelic or historical articles, books, journals, albums, or the circulars of legitimate publishers or dealers in such stamps, books, journals, albums, or the circulars, of such portion of the border of a stamp of the United States as may be necessary to show minor differences in the stamp so illustrated, but all such illustrations shall be at least four times as large as the portion of the original United States stamp so illustrated.

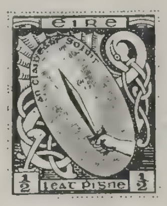
Approved, March 3, 1923.

THE NEW IRISH DESIGN.

By W. WARD.

A very prominent philatelist said to me a few days ago that he considered one of the most charming features about stamp collecting was to know the origin and cause of a stamp design, its artist, and the correct definition of its features—artistic, symbolic, or heraldic.

Through the courtesy of Mr. J. J. O'Reilly, of 8 Westmoreland Street, Dublin, I am enabled to present readers with the new design for the forthcoming ½d, 3d, 6d, and 1s Free State stamps, and an explanation of the, at first sight, somewhat alarming character of the design.



As already published, Mr. O'Reilly, a well known Irish artist, was successful in the recent competition for an all-Irish design for the new series of stamps, with an ancient Gaelic device, the Sword of Light (An Claidheamh Soluis).

The sword is an emblem of Progress and Learning, and is very effectively shown grasped in a hand upon an elliptical shield, or medallion, which lies diagonally across the stamp, cleaving the background, which is composed of a Celtic ornament executed in the manner of the Book of Kells.

The chief figure in this design is an interlaced Dragon, or Serpent, suggestive of debasement, and which, with its solid ground, forms a most noticeable contrast to the radiant Sword of Light. The country's name, "éire," on an ornamental riband, appears at the top.

It is a unique and interesting stamp, quite different from any hackneyed design known to collectors, and, when it actually appears, the new printing process, as at present employed for the "Map" stamps, will give a much better appearance to the design than at first appears in mere black and white.

The Post Office Department is making every endeavour to issue the new Celtic Cross design on Saturday next, March 17th, in commemoration of the 1,500th anniversary of the Patron Saints Missions and first teachings of Christianity in Ireland and Western Great Britain (A. D. 423). The first value will probably be the 3d, though, of course, the design will also apear on the new 10d stamp.—Stamp Collecting.

THE NEW SERIES OF U. S. STAMPS.

By T. C. STEPHENS.

Now that the new series of U. S. postage stamps is pretty well under way the writer has wondered how favorably the new designs are being received by those who take an interest in such things. Very few comments have been seen in print, so that the writer has no idea as to how the trend of opinion is going.

It appears that the series is to consist of three designs, with the central figure varying with the denomination. The design designated as No. 706 includes the denominations from one cent to fourteen cents; design No. 708 includes the fifteen and twenty cent stamps; and the values of twenty-five cents and higher are in a horizontal design, No. 707.

The writer believes that these three designs are pleasing, and all that might be desired from an artistic viewpoint. The numerals are larger than in previous issues, an improvement to be commended. We are glad to see variety in the portraits again established; this must also have a practical advantage. The portraits on the one and two cent stamps are still taken from the busts, but the heads are enlarged sufficiently to exclude from the picture the rather unattractive statuesque portion of the bust.

Of the stamps thus far issued in the 706 design the 3-cent may be selected as approaching nearest to perfection. This is attributed to two factors, viz., the color of the ink and the absence of the background in the oval. In no other stamp, so far issued, do the features of the face show so clearly as in the portrait of Lincoln. The portrait in the 5-cent stamp is faulty in the last particular, in spite of the clear background. It is probable that all of the portrait stamps, perhaps excepting the one-cent and two-cent, would be improved with a white, instead of a colored, background. But it seems a pity that the facial features on the 5-cent stamp are so clouded and obscure.

The color of the 9-cent stamp is pale and sickly; that of the 6-cent is not much better, bringing out the details even less distinctly; so far as color is concerned the 10-cent stamp is an utter failure. Postal clerks will be able to recognize the 10-cent stamp readily because the shade of yellow is quite different from any other stamp of the series. It is probably very difficult to find a shade of yellow which will show the details of the engraving on white paper. The 11-cent stamp is one of the best of the series, because the color brings out the design clearly.

The 15-cent stamp is unique and pleasing. The 50-cent and one dollar stamps are too much alike in color and design. In both cases the central figure is a building with tall pillars, either one of which is a beautiful picture; but when arranged in a series the sameness is noticeable.

SOMETHING MORE THAN A FAD.

A good many people outside of the ranks of philately doubtless regard stamp collecting as a rather frivolous fad. It may be an eye opener to them to learn from a recent metropolitan development that a pretty extensive literature has been built up around stamp collecting. This development is a gift recently presented to the New York Collectors Club by a wealthy member. It comprises a whole library of stamp publications, namely, 1,200 bound volumes and some 30,000 copies of periodicals—all relating to philately, or stamp collecting. It represents the life-long accumulations of an Austrian collector.

Considering that the first postage stamp, the English one-penny, was issued less than seventy-five years ago, philately has made great headway as a pursuit, a pastime, an occupation, a study or an art—whichever title one chooses to apply to it—if we may judge from the size of it bibliography. Yet there are several philatelic libraries in existence larger than that described above.

But nothing in the whole range of philatelic literature is more interesting than a comparison of the price catalogues of stamps for collections through a long series of years. The tremendous increase in the value of stamps that dealers sold for a few pennies thirty or forty years ago is a real romance of philately—almost as great a romance as many a "find" of rare old stamps in that ancient trunk in the garret.

The size of the philatelic libraries is fairly good proof that stamp collecting has attained the triple distinction of a science, an art and an investment. A stamp collection the value of which surpasses the $100,000 mark is no longer regarded as a sensational discovery. Within the past five years single used stamps have brought at auction o vate sale, sums varying from $10,0 $40,000.

Fad does not seem the word to to a pursuit which has been the t for a voluminous literature, the piv an extensive business covering large cities, and an object of keen est to a growing brotherhood of of intellect and men of means.—Sy Herald.

NEWFOUNDLAND PICTORIALS, 1923.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

In the Saturday Night (St. John's) of May 6, 1922, in an article headed "Timely Tips for the Minister of Posts," admitting that it was highly desirable to increase the Post Office revenue, but protesting against the proposed tax on newspapers and periodicals, then being considered in the House, the suggestion is made that "if a new set of stamps is issued, a handsome revenue will be brought into the P. O. Dept. without taxing newspapers."

"At present we have no regular issue. The Caribou set was a war issue, and we don't want to be constantly reminded of that ghastly period in our history. Then again, several denominations of this set are sold out, and one cannot buy a complete set except at a greatly increased price. The issuing of a new set will bring in many thousands of dollars from outside the Colony, in addition to those bought by the general public. There are millions of stamp collectors all over the world, and these must be supplied with new sets as they are issued. Granted then that a new issue is desirable, the question arises what will be the design?

"A study of the stamps of Newfoundland will show that we have had quite a variety. First we had the emblematic design consisting of the rose, the shamrock, and the thistle, the three-in-one set; then the good Queen Victoria, as bride, mother, and widow; also her consort; Albert Edward as Prince of Wales, and later as King Edward. Our present sovereign and Queen Mary appear as Duke and Duchess of York. In the Coronation series we had a regular picture gallery of the reigning Royal Family. In the Cabot series were pictured Sebastian Cabot and Henry VII, and our various industries—fishing, mining, lumbering, etc. In the Guy series we had various scenes in connection with the establishing of Britain's first colony. Nor have we forgotten the mainstays of our island home,—the cod, the seal, and also the Newfoundland dog. Lastly, we have the Caribou war set.

"If we were asked to suggest designs for a new series, we would unhesitatingly say, advertise the country, its scenery, its salmon pools and rivers, its beautiful rugged coast line, and its magnificent bays and inland scenery. Let every stamp picture a beauty spot, and our stamps will not only be a joy to every collector, but they will be the means of bringing many tourists and travelers to our shores.

"Then we should have an aeroplane issue of two or three denominations. In spite of almost unsurmountable difficulties, Major Cotton has clearly demonstrated that winter air mails are quite feasible. They are bound to come sooner or later, and the system should be inaugurated now. Nothing is gained by the delay. In this connection, ex-Postmaster General Robinson, during his all too brief tenure of office, foresaw that there was a possibility of an air mail service of some kind being established here, and had proofs submitted by a London firm, which reached him before he vacated the office. The designs are exceedingly appropriate and well executed. One or more of these should be ordered at once. The day they are put on sale the revenue will be increased accordingly."

In November, 1919, the Cashion government of Newfoundland fell, and R. A. Squires became Premier. In forming his cabinet, a new Department was created, that of Posts and Telegraphs, with W. W. Halfyard (Colonial Secretary, 1918-19, under the Lloyd government), at its head. Previously, the Post Office Department had been under the jurisdiction of the Colonial Secretary, and political upheavals had not affected the position of the Postmaster-General.

Immediately the new appointment was officially gazetted, Dr. J. Alex. Robinson, who became Postmaster-General on Sept. 1, 1916, resigned (December 6, 1919), refusing to continue on as Deputy Minister of Posts and Telegraphs. Mr. G. W. LeMessurier acted as Deputy until his appointment was confirmed in the following year.

Had Dr. Robinson continued in office, the Caribou series would have been replaced during 1920. They had served the purpose for which they had been issued, and their size, from the start, had been considered inconvenient for use on receipts, etc. But by the new administration nothing definite was done until April, 1922, when they began to look around for suitable designs. The aid of local photographers and artists was solicited, but little success attended their efforts. Then it was suggested that advertising might bring some response, and in the St. John's papers of July 19, 1922, the following appeared:—

> "(Royal Arms)
> NOTICE
> The Post Office Department proposes to issue a new series of stamps, and the Minister of Posts would be pleased to receive suggestions for twelve designs.
> W. W. HALFYARD, > Minister of Posts and Telegraphs."
> Jy 19, 1922. 1—i.

Several hundred suggestions were received, some letters even coming from the States. Many of these were not practical, but the officials were very much pleased with the response and the interest shown. The majority of the suggestions called for a pictorial series, embodying coast and inland scenery, the varied industries of the island, etc. A series of designs submitted by Mr. A. G. Gibbs, of Ayre & Sons, Ltd., a large mail order house of St. John's, received the approval of the authorities, and these were sent, about the end of October, 1922, to Whitehead, Morris & Co., Ltd., London, and two months later, proofs were received. In these the frame details had been considerably simplified, and other changes made to bring into greater prominence the central features. The idea was to get away from elaborate frames which so detracted from the effectiveness of the Coronation series. Other changes were made by the authorities, and the approved proofs were returned to London, by the steamer Sachem, sailing from St. John's, February 18, 1923.

The face value of the series will not run as high as for the Caribou series, but some new lower values will be introduced, as there is now need for 9c and 11c stamps, for the combined Empire, and foreign, letter and registration rates, respectively.

The stamps will be line engraved and printed from steel plates, by Whitehead, Morris & Co., Ltd., who have held the stamp printing contract since 1910. Several other stamp printing concerns, among them being American Bank Note Co. of New York, quoted prices which were most attractive to the authorities, but for many reasons, no change was made, although Whitehead, Morris & Co. were instructed to leave nothing undone to insure the best of results, in both the engraving and the printing of the stamps.

NEW IRISH STAMPS.

By ROSS O'SHAUGHNESSY.

(Under date of Mar. 11.)

Have been in Ireland for some weeks past and yesterday I had an interview with the Free State Postmaster-General, Mr. Walsh and got lots of information about Irish stamps. I saw a complete sheet of the new halfpenny "Sword of Light" design, the color is pale green and unsatisfactory so it will not be issued in that color, but a darker green. This will cause some delay in the appearance of the ½d. Also saw a complete sheet of the 3d dull blue new design "Celtic Cross" and a shamrock in each of the four corners. This stamp will be placed on sale on March 17th, for St. Patrick's Day. Had a long tour through South Ireland, it is very hard to get stamps there, on account of the P. O.'s being raided by Irregulars so often only a few shillings worth of stamps are kept in stock in all the smaller offices. Toured all over the European Continent and had a good time and several philatelic experiences.

NEWS ITEMS FROM MR. LEVE.

A. Atlas Leve of Syracuse, N. Y., sends us a cover bearing the old 3c green with Kalamazoo, Mich., postmark. The letter was returned from St. Louis with the notation "Have your mail matter addressed to street and number." This is probably a very good use of a marking now quite familiar to us.

Mr. Leve also has a letter dated Sept. 16, 1844. It is a single sheet folded in the form of an envelope, sealed with wax, and the only cancellation stamp upon it reads "U. S. Express Mail," in blue.

The annual banquet of the Syracuse Stamp Club recently held in the Chamber of Commerce is made the subject of a very fine rotogravure in a recent number of a local paper. At this dinner Dr. John B. Howe was the guest of honor, and other guests were present from Utica, Oswego and Portland.

Special Notice

We are going to Stop Advertising of Stamps For Sale. We have so many inquiries and orders awaiting our attention that it will keep us busy for the next thirty days. We have worked overtime night after night trying to keep ahead, but have made no particular headway. We must stop letters of apology to those who are patiently waiting to get their orders filled. We expect to catch up and have all orders taken care of by May 1st. During May, June, July and August we will go over our immense accumulation of Stamps and Covers, unused Blocks, etc. Will get them systematically and properly arranged and will be in a position by September 1st to handle quickly any requests for Stamps we may have in stock. We have been favored with an unusual amount of patronage for a firm so little known, and, thanks to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY Ads, we have been instrumental in filling numerous vacancies in the collections of many well known Philatelists with rare items that were practically unobtainable from other sources.

Our stock is now (owing to lack of time) in a very disarranged condition, and we kindly ask everyone to refrain from ordering or sending us any inquiries or orders for stamps until after September 1st, at which time we will be able to take care of all orders and inquiries. We want to thank the hundreds of Customers who have been so patient with us within the last past five months, and also the many customers who have taken advantage of the Bargain Offerings we have been advertising in MEKEEL'S. It has been a very profitable season for us, and we are more than pleased with the amount of business derived from our Ads.

Stamps Wanted

We find that we are short on some particular U. S. stamps. We will want them in quantities, and starting with next week's issue, we will advertise to purchase such stamps, blocks or sheets that we need. If you have anything extremely rare in U. S. stamps to sell, in fine to Superb condition, you better let us know about it now, as you will find us willing and ready to pay top notch prices for anything really desirable in Rare old U. S. stamps.

In the issue of March 3rd our ad
els. 'If you need any blocks of the im-ten cents (10c) per block.'

Ve intended our ad to read sixteen s (16c) per block. We are not posily sure that our copy did read (16c) again it might have looked like ten s (10c). Now we have no com-nts to make in this particular case s: proved a bonanza. We have to date ld over 600 30c orders for one block each and each person ordering never w it was an error. All orders for n 2 to 5 blocks were taken care of nentioning the error and sending one k of each kind and remitting bale due on orders for from 10 to 100 ks of each. We of course had to e an apology and return money order heck. The later orders came mostly n dealers. Three dealers ordered 100 ks of each kind. Some sent money rs or checks stating they considered e would be returned as it was ap-ntly an error. At any rate we are sed it has happened as it gives us

We have recently acquired the

on U. S. stamps formed by Mr. Olin H. Clark, Secretary of the Collectors' Club of Hartford, Conn. The collection includes many thousands of copies of 3c '61's and 3c Bank Notes bearing rare and curious cancellations, There are also several hundred covers, including a set of nearly one hundred Waterbury cancellations on cover, which formerly belonged to Dr. Anderson, for many years one of the Yale faculty.

As rapidly as possible we shall mount the collection in grades according to condition and general desirability. We will be glad to send approval selections to those sending satisfactory references and indicating whether they wish only superb items or items interesting for their cancellations with less regard to the condition of the stamps.

From a nice bundle bearing 3c '61, the stamps cancelled with PAID in an oblong frame on cover bearing in addition a red Boston postmark.

ENVELOPE COLLECTING.

By H. CLAY REED.

Allow me to heartily endorse Mr. Walter M. Greenwood's complaint in your February 24 issue about the neglect of U. S. envelopes in the catalogs. The latter lists all kinds of minor varieties, minute differences in recut dies, almost indistinguishable under the glass, and even mistakes in printing, when the commonest of the die varieties of recent envelopes are practically unnoticed.

It seems to me that at least the specialized catalog should recognize the major die varieties. The earlier issues are fairly well described, but the 20th century are absolutely "passed up." The collecting of revalues, for example, should give envelopes quite a boost, but with nothing but the major "types" (so-called) listed, it must strike the eye of a blind man that something is wrong—for example, these two envelopes—III, 5 Cleveland and III, 11 Frisco, both go down in Scott's as "type III." Instead of simply type III in Scott's, there should be type III with 11 subheads. This takes up space, but it would put envelopes a little closer to the "place in the sun", that they should have.

There are only a comparatively small number of envelope collectors, but they are enthusiastic. Mr. Ward has helped revalue collecting by listing the entire varieties as they come out. Why not do the same thing for the cement circular dies?

Envelopes are an exhilarating pastime for both the millionaire and the poor man—there are plenty of the scarce ones for the former and a large enough general run for the latter.

I believe if MEKEEL'S would take the lead in devoting space to the chronicle of new envelope issues, to start with, and follow it up with articles on various subjects, that you could blaze the way to a revival of interest in stamped paper issues.

You did a mighty good thing for the revalued postcards? Why not do the same thing for the 2 on 3 cent envelopes?

There are 48 distinct dies. The majority of the different varieties in these envelopes have already been found and assembled. What we need now is a résumé of the whole issue—articles on each, with illustrations of each type. Who'll do it? I am sure every envelope collector will be glad to turn in and help.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited, as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—C. L. Chalfant sends us an article from the Bristow, Okla., Daily Record that is quoted with proper credit to the WEEKLY. Stamp collectors should realize that local papers are very glad to use matter from the WEEKLY and we shall be pleased to see specimens of work of this kind.

—A new advertising cancellation reaches us as follows:—"Los Angeles Historical Revue Exposition, July 1923."

—Albert C. Gakenheimer, 2501 W. Baltimore St., Baltimore, Md., informs us that he can secure no replies to letters addressed to Perry D. Dye Jr. and wishes to know whether others are similarly situated. W. G. Watt, M.D., South Deerfield, Mass., makes a similar request concerning M. D. Olmstead of Concord, N. H.

—We are informed by Bright & Son that their ABC Catalogue for foreign countries (non-European) will be ready in April. Price postfree 85c. We shall in due season publish a large announcement of the catalog's pending appearance, and later shall have a review of the book in question.

—Frank A. Goldsmith has shown us a new advertising cancellation from Cincinnati:—"Community Chest Campaign April 14 to 25, 1923."

—H. C. Kendall, 27 So. 13 St., Minneapolis, Minn., writes us a letter that deserves more than passing consideration. He is a longtime subscriber to the WEEKLY but has recently become somewhat helpless through a paralyzed arm. His name will be recognized as one who has dealt in stamps in years gone by, and he is now desirous of disposing of an accumulation of years. We are interested enough in him to give this notice the widest publicity possible.

—Van's Variety Store, 267 Notre Dame Ave., Winnipeg, Man., informs us that they can get no replies to letters addressed to Miss Helen Pfersdorf, 58 New Chambers St., N. Y. City, and would be very glad to hear from parties similarly situated.

—We learn that Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Kissinger are to sail early in May for England; there they are to attend the Philatelic Congress at London.

—Dealers are warned to be on their guard against a party pretending that his name is Vallancey and that he is a nephew or relative of F. H. Vallancey, the publisher of Stamp Collecting. If the party in question can be located the information should be sent immediately to this office.

—The Boston Philatelic Society issued a very fine catalogue of the postage stamp exhibition held at the Boston Public Library, March 19 to 24. The introduction to the catalog was written by C. A. Howes and it makes a very readable article. The catalog of exh covers in a very comprehensive ma the thirty-one different displays. A of members of the Society is given a generous amount of advertising sprinkled through its 36 pages.

—Percy M. Mann informs us tha will leave New York, April 28, on S. S. Albania for London, where he visit the Stamp Exhibition.

—There is a letter at this office Walter M. Greenwood. Can any furnish his address? Mr. Severn at Chicago office would like the addres one Philip Brockman, who had a not the issue of March 3, about reve stamps.

—"Have you noticed the pronour philatelic flavor, (Brisbane would c sider it a taint) of the Blue Book ma zine for April? In "Free Lances Diplomacy," page 73, there is an insti tive reference to the Ferrary collect "His Majesty the King," by Ellis Pa Butler, is an unusual type of story that only a stamp collector (and many of them) would be able to for the unusual line of reasoning by wh the missing man was found. There also a passing reference to coin stamp collecting in one of the ot stories."—F. H. PARNELL.

PORTUGUESE INDIA

We are breaking up a wonderful collection of Port. India, singles, pairs, blocks, covers, unused and used, mostly native issues, all very fine, unless otherwise stated. We would like to get in correspondence with interested collectors.

Following we give some examples of the stamps contained in the collection; please note that of the greater part of the stamps only one copy is on hand in the condition as advertised, therefore order quickly—money refunded if not satisfied.

MR. ADUTT AT CANTERBURY.

At the monthly meeting held on February 21 in the Reference Library, Beaney Institute, Canterbury (Eng.), a most interesing display of the stamps of "The Confederate States of America" was given by Mr. A. Léon Adutt, J.P., President of the Isle of Thanet Philatelic Society and a Member of the Royal Society, London. The visitor, who is an honorary member, was welcomed by a large attendance of members, Mr. A. Brownscombe, Vice-President, being in the chair. Mr. Léon Adutt may be described as one of the keenest philatelists of the present day. His collection of the stamps of the U.S.A. is said to be the most complete that has been formed on this side of the Atlantic; and is the result of much diligent search and travel in Europe.

Attending the sale recently held in Paris, at which the stamps of the late M. Ferrary were sold by auction, Mr. Adutt was enabled to add many fine items to his collection. These were included in the display and were examined with very great interest. Few stamps stir one's imagination as those of the Confederate States, recalling as they do that bitter struggle of kith against kin—the war between North and South in 1861. In the early days of the war the Southern postmasters found much difficulty in carrying on their work. Stamps there were none, some made their own circular handstamp; but with the help of newspaper printing offices stamps were hastily improvised, for many towns and districts, each with their own peculiar design.

In one instance, a specimen of which was shown, the small coloured labels of Messrs. Colman & Law, booksellers and druggists, of Gonzales, Texas, were used as stamps, and these are now of considerable rarity. Of the later general issues there was a very fine show, the majority being on entire envelope. It would need a volume to describe this wonderful collection in detail, numbering, as it does, some thousands of specimens, but collectors can form an opinion as to its interest if we enumerate a few items shewn which have not hitherto been recorded in the philatelic press: One full pane of 200 stamps of the 10 cents Confederate States, 1863, showing eight re-entries, printed by Messrs. Archer, the words "and Daly" being erased from the plate inscription; two panes of 100 each 10 cents Confederate States, printed by Keatinge & Ball, Columbia; one pane of 100 U.S.A. 1 cent blue of September, 1861, with full margins and plate number; a re-constructed sheet of ten stamps of the Baltimore 1851 (Horseman type); a block of four unused 5 cents 1847 and a fine mint specimen 24 cent U.S.A. general issue 1861 ("Première Gravure"). On the motion of the chairman a very cordial vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Adutt, who, in reply, said he enjoyed his visits to the Canterbury Society, and would certainly take pleasure in again visiting the society.—Canterbury Gazette.

U. S. Surface Print, Die I IMPERF
Scott's No. 436a, Type IV

Next to the 5c 1902 imperf., this is the rarest 20th Century U. S. imperf. It is a much rarer stamp than the 5c red errors, altho catalog value does not so indicate. Yet how many collectors or dealers have this stamp. The only advertised offers are for plain blocks of four, which are being priced at from six to ten dollars the block. We have never seen anything but plain blocks advertised by other dealers. Regardless of what anyone may tell you, we do not believe that other dealers have this item in stock. Try to buy it elsewhere and then order from us while our small supply lasts, for when our stock is sold, you will not be able to duplicate the stamps at our prices.

We offer singles, pairs, blocks, plate number and all line varieties at prices lower than have ever been made on these stamps. At the A. P. S. Convention sale in Springfield last August, a plain block of four sold at $10; a center line block at $31; the four arrow blocks at $25, and the four plate number blocks of six at $41.

The bulk of all these stamps that have been in the market were found by one man, who traded us his entire stock on such terms that we are able to cut prices far below what has been asked for these stamps, and we are doing this in the hope of cleaning up the stock in a hurry. Of some of the items offered below, we can fill but ten orders, while of the plain blocks we can supply over 100 buyers. We want to raise some ready cash, and as soon as we have taken care of this matter, the price on the few stamps that we will have left will be advanced.

HONESTY IN ADVERTISING.

We have done much in cleaning up the advertising columns of the WEEKLY but it seems necessary to go a little further. Will advertisers in the future please refrain from questionable matter of which the following are samples:—

Sold for $2.98, but worth $5.00.
Sold for $2.98, former price $5.00.
Sold for $2.98, actual value $5.00.
Sold for $2.98, Tom Jones asks $5.00.

In other words let your reputation as a dealer, plus your price, sell your stock without resorting to tricky advertising.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

One of the concomitants of a new stamp issue is the wave of rumors attending proposed changes or alterations of certain of the specimens. A postal clerk has said that there was an impending change in the twenty-five cent stamp as it showed the Falls from the Canadian side but according to an article in the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune several weeks ago, entitled "Nation's History in Stamps," it is said: "Postal officials, however, declare that the view is of the American Falls and presents its slightly confusing resemblance to the Canadian Falls because the view is shown as seen from Goat Island. The apparent curve evident in the picture on the 25-cent stamp is a result of the meticulous care on the part of the engraver to bring out every detail in the view." No confirmatory details of possible alterations in the background of some of the stamps are at hand, it may be said here.

A correspondent writes: "Why are you so ungrateful as to destroy the creatures of your own making? I remember with what gusto you were wont to dwell upon that remarkable special cancellation, the 'flying jack-ass' and I charge that you with your talk of it, as well as of the 'skull-and-cross-bones,' etc., are responsible to much of the latter-day interest in the odd markings utilized by the ingenious and sometimes humorous P.M.'s of a by-gone day. Do not seek to cast aspersions on the character of my beautiful full-moon cancellation on a three cent, 1861, which even though it does not impress the unimaginative collector as being anything more than a none too round blotch of black is to me a well-spring of joy. But my piece supreme is what I call my 'Lalla Rookh' cancellation which resembles a parallelogram nicely restricted at the middle. I have named this marking after the lady who starred as P. T. Barnum's ten thousand dollar beauty in my golden days of boyhood. It is true that the unfeeling eye discerns nothing but an unbeauteous smudge and I am told that my eye for beauty is myopic but at least I have a soul-vision that sees through the petty antagonisms of jealous collecting brethren." Our friend who signs himself, "Count de Mocha," should not be disturbed; and time will tell whether he is not our once-famous philatelic friend Count Lapp de Booz, who abreast of the times, has quite sensibly changed his name.

That Babson advertisement is well worth consideration. When a highly systematized business organization of a character that rests upon the efficiency and accuracy of its units announces its faith in a philatelic training, as affording a good basis for development in its own highly specialized field, the compliment to stamps becomes unqualified. We believe that the stamp business affords an opportunity for commercial experience that is practical and in some cases, profitable. Under the natural order of things, a percentage of collectors, young and old, will enter into the stamp trade and since they will have their fling, why not try to help along the young dealer in order that he may be protected from improper methods. To hark back to the Babson ad, it is enough to say that we derive much satisfaction from its words, especially as we are assuming that the Babson people are not running blanket ads covering other subjects, in the way that philately has been singled out.

We have heard again from Mr. Ross O'Shaughnessy on his travels and this time he writes from Dublin under date of Feb. 27, 1923, that he is "learning all about the provisional issues." In this second budget from Ireland, Mr. O'Shaughnessy says that philatelically speaking, Ireland is rapidly coming from relative obscurity to a place in the sun. We can easily understand that the Irish provisionals and permanent issues have stimulated interest in stamps on the island.

The receipt from Mr. F. G. Browne of a colored postmark that came to him on a letter from a western point has stirred us to get the latest governmental regulations applying to the subject; and the following copy of an order dated January 11, 1923, has been received from the Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General: "Postmasters are cautioned against purchasing money-order and miscellaneous rubber and steel stamps from firms or corporations advertising through the medium of circular letters or magazines. Section 541, paragraph 3, of the Postal Laws and Regulations for 1913 reads as follows: 'Postmasters shall not use any postmarking stamps but those furnished by the Post Office Department.' All postmarking and stock stamps are under contract, and will be furnished to any post-office entitled to same provided requisition is properly made on this bureau. Specially made stamps should not be purchased in open market unless authority has first been granted by the Post Office Department." While nothing is said about the use of colored inks for postmarking, we have traced down to the '70's the injunction: "The cancellation must be effected by the use of black printing-ink whenever that material can be obtained; and where it cannot, the operation should be performed by making several heavy crosses or parallel lines upon each stamp with a pen dipped in good black writing-ink." While the postmark in color is slowly disappearing on our letters, yet it is employed by some of the remote offices and we surmise that the department allows some latitude in the interpretation of its rules in this regard.

How many of our readers secured copies of the new twelve cent stamp which was "placed on sale March 20, 1923, at the post-office at Caldwell, N. J., the birthplace of former President Cleveland, and at the post-office at Boston, Mass." We are pleased to find that the department is responsive to the sentiment as carried by the Roosevelt, Hayes, Lincoln and Cleveland stamps, in so appropriately timing their issue.

A correspondent is anxious to learn particulars regarding the "early method of handling correspondence from the United States to Mexico." The question is a broad one but we suppose that as Lower California is a part of Mexico, letters from the United States were carried to the accepted exchange post-office and thence despatched to the destinations. The only notice that we have found is the following sentence that appears on an old postal notice issued by the department: "Correspondence for the states of Sonora, Sinaloa, Jalisco, and Durango and the Territory of Lower California is expeditiously forwarded via Tucson, Ariz." If any peculiar circumstances entered into the handling of the class of mail cited by our correspondent we should be pleased to know of it. In this connection we remember having had a number of early covers addressed from Mexico to the United States on which the postage was paid by the U.S. stamps; and one of these covers which went into the Worthington collection, we believe, bore a ten cent of 1851.

ADUTT'S U. S. COMING HERE.

We are informed that the U. S. collection of A. Leon Adutt of Margate, England, has been purchased by a U. S. collector and is on its way to this country. To say that we are surprised is expressing it mildly. We do not know who has purchased the collection, and must await more light on the subject. Mr. Adutt informs us that the collection is mounte in fourteen volumes, but he has retaine the Confederate sections, which will b exhibited in May. We have just re ceived a few additional photograph taken just before the collection lef England.

THE METROPOLITAN CONSTERNATION - - $1.02

Last Monday was a big day for the firm, the President, the Manager, our corps of office assistants, together with all the people all the employment agencies in town sent us—produced "M. C's." We started early and we worked late putting up just one-half the number of "M. C's." which were ordered on Monday's mail! Still the orders pour in and still we fill orders for The Metropolitan Consternation, but we are filled with consternation when we view the orders to be filled.

We cannot repeat too often that The Consternation of today is very different from that of a few weeks ago. New high values are included today which had not been seen then, and stamps common enough then are all gone. We guarantee the value and we put in the best things we can in each and every "M. C." (200 vars.)

Still we receive orders for The Manhattan Conglomeration, 250 vars., including 100 C. and So. Americans. Yes, we are still making them, and they are good ones, too. Each "M. C." costs $1.02. We'll fill each order in its turn and as fast as we can. Better get in line now and you'll come again later. Which will you have first?

THE HOME OF THE POSTAGE STAMP 510 W. 113TH ST., NEW YORK CITY

PHILATELIC NOTES FROM FRANCE.

By LOWELL J. RAGATZ.

A large collection of "Specimen" stamps, said to have been purchased of a South American governmental official, has been placed on sale in one of the smaller Parisian stamp shops. The collection consists of some 8,000 varieties, chiefly twentieth century, and all in mint condition. The British colonial high values make particularly attractive buys. I secured the United States issues among other things.

A small lot of the French stamps of 1906-1907 surcharged "S.P.—du M.—Bordeaux" for use in the Montenegran post-office in that city during three weeks in 1916 have come on the market. Values from 5 centimes to 1 franc were so surcharged, with a rubber stamp, and but limited quantities were issued. Two return labels for use in the same office were issued, and specimens of these are now available.

Sheets of the provisional Chamber of Commerce of Amiens 10 centimes green stamp of 1909 have made their appearance in a number of the local stamp shops. They all came from a small lot recently disposed of by the original holder. These stamps were issued as a result of a postal strike and were used within the city limits only from the 13th to the 16th of May. They were printed in small sheets, and perforated 11½, and contain one tête-bêche error per sheet.

Reproductions of the Mauritius Post-Office stamps are being offered by one dealer at 10 francs a pair. They are very similar to those given away as subscription premiums by an American dealer some years ago.

Counterfeit Thessaly stamps unused, cancelled, and "used" on cover have been noted in the windows of a number of dealers catering to children. The remainders were sold in 1906 but have long since been absorbed.

Some time ago I spoke of two stamps, one an early European issue and the other a popular, low-priced United States emission, which were being heavily invested in by a group of American collectors in anticipation of rises in price. The market has now been quite well combed and there is no longer any reason why the stamps should not be named. They are Spain number 1 and the 3 cent of 1869.

The gentlemen interested do not wish their names to be known, but it can be stated that they acquired their present very large holdings during the course of two years, using some dozen purchasers in Europe and the United States. Thus far no inkling of the absorption of these stamps seems to have gotten out in Europe, but the well-guarded secret appears to have leaked out in the States for I note three dealers have suddenly commenced buying Spain number 1.

One wholesale stock I recently looked over contained more than 100 sets of the 1911 Abyssinia provisional surcharges, each set philatelically used on cover. The envelopes which were unaddressed and unsealed bore the return card of a French railway. There was another lot, almost as large, of split provisionals, cancellations neatly applied over cut. They were philatelically used also, of course.

A weird lot of 1904 Hayti counterfeits is being disposed of at the bourse. All come from a common source. The wholesaler supplying them usually makes his appearance Sunday mornings. His wares include all the stamps in the series perforated and imperforate, both in normal colours, perforated and imperforate in wrong colours, perforated and imperforate with inverted centres in normal colours, and the same in wrong colours. As if these atrocities were not enough, there is an ample variety of double prints normal and inverted in normal and wrong colours, specimens printed on both sides, and what not else. These doubtless come from the same press which turned out the lot of such "rare errors" of exactly the same nature offered by a dealer in the States some time ago. Here at least they are sold at only a few centimes each.

The price of the 26 colonial surcharges set continues to rise. The current quotation is 5 francs the set.

To date 104 French colonial stamps have appeared in the new colours. In attempting to secure some sets of dues in the old colours I found that the supply of most varieties of these had been exhausted and that requisitions were being filled with stamps in the new colours.

French dealers occupy ground floors more commonly than do dealers in the States, as rentals in Paris are but a fraction of those at home. Extensive window displays are therefore the rule. These are changed very frequently, sometimes as often as once a week. A specialty of some shops is "the bargain of the day," a good stamp offered at a fourth or a fifth of catalogue. Other regularly found features are large cards of stamps at a sou or two a copy, and sheets of damaged stamps at enormous discounts.

FIRST DAY COVERS

In years to come the new series used on the day of issue will be in much demand, and when it is remembered that not a great many are sent out, it will command a fair premium. I still have a few left on the entire cover canceled on the first day that I offer as follows:—

1,500 French Colonies

A fine assortment of 1,500 all different French Colonies only (no France), with minor varieties excluded. About 75% of the stamps are mint, and the condition is superb throughout. Both old and new issues are well represented, as are also occupation stamps such as Cameroons, Niger Territory, Togo; Red Cross and Charity stamps; the hard-to-get "large" stamps from Obock, Somali Coast; 1912 provisional issues, etc., etc. Some of the sets are complete through the 1 franc and 5 franc values. An excellent little collection for any collector who is weak in French Colonials—and hard to beat for real value.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In my Chronicle of last week I overlooked mentioning that the new design 1c and 2c in an unperforated condition, in sheets of four hundred were available at the Philatelic Stamp Agency on March 20th. They have also obtained a supply of the new 2c sidewise coils but these are now on sale at most of the large offices throughout the country.

Mr. Standish Prescott kindly sends two newspaper clippings from Orange, N. J., relative to the sale of the 12c Cleveland on the first day, March 20th, at the Caldwell, N. J., office. It seems that they received but 3,000 stamps and one or two parties would have willingly purchased the entire supply. Postmaster Joseph A. Brady however distributed his stock in small lots to all comers so no one was disappointed. The Postmaster is also to be commended for the clear light cancellations that were applied generally to the first day covers.

The Boston Postmaster received 10,000 of the Cleveland stamps, placed on sale in that city on the first day as a courtesy in view of the Philatelic Exhibition. Those covers that were distributed from that office on the first day mostly received the interesting philatelic postmark now being used in that city. Some covers, however, dropped in the mail boxes, received the normal Boston postmark.

In my Chronicle for March 17th mention was made of a double transfer in the case of the 2c stamp, which by the way should have been listed as the 26th and not the 25th stamp in the sheet. Since writing the original notes I have seen the stamp in question and would advise that it is not a double transfer, hence not a plate variety, but has the appearance as being such due to an extra line or so caused by the sheet coming in contact with the plate a second time.

The new 2c is to be found in several shades and we wish to thank Prof. James Lewis Howe for several used copies showing the differences. I have seen no marked difference in any of the other values as yet. Now that several of the denominations are being distributed generally we may look for some unusual shades.

We wish to extend our thanks to Messrs. John H. Feeman, E. W. Murray, E. B. Sterling, L. R. Sanders, Otto F. Henker and R. Samuels for clippings and notes of interest.

AUSTRIA.—The annual Charity series this year is to show views of the most important cities of Austria. Philatelists would not need the evidence of their daily paper to tell them that financial matters are improving here, for this is shown by the fact that no new high value stamps have been issued for some time, the 2,000 krone being the highest. Germany has now got to 2,000 marks stamps, and is likely soon to beat the Austrian record. Whether she will compete with Russia in the long run, who can say?—Gibbons' Monthly Circular.

BAHAMAS.—Mr. G. J. De Gregory sends us an official notice fixing the rate for letters carried by air by the seaplane "Governor Cordeaux" from Nassau to Miami (Florida) at 3d per ounce. Letters have to be marked "Air Mail" and posted in the Air Mail Box at the G.P.O. Our correspondent suggests that current stamps of Bahamas may be overprinted locally with a seaplane device, for use in connection with this service. The 5s King George, Script, has arrived in the island, but was not on sale when our informant wrote.—Gibbons' Monthly Circular.

BULGARIA.—Our special correspondent in Sofia, Mr. Peter Beron, informs us that, as a result of the theft from the Sofia Branch of the National Bank of quantities of the Bourchier commemorative stamps to the value of 214,500 levas, the entire set was demonetized as from February 16th last.

We also learn that the new 1, 2 and 3 levas Postage Dues are at present valid for prepaying purposes, on inland correspondence only.

As a mark of mourning for the recent destruction by fire of the National Theatre in Sofia, a new set of stamps is to be issued shortly.—Stamp Collecting.

GERMANY.—The Economist Stamp Co. send us copies of the following new issues: 25mks brown, in the type of Scott's A29, 30mks violet brown and gold, in the design of A30 and 40mks light green in the same type. Also the 1,000mks grey, in the type of A31.

Mr. Albert C. Gakenheimer advises that he has received the 20mk in violet in the A30 design.

LATVIA.—Mr. Karl Koslowski advises us that No. 102 is now perforated 10¼x11½, No. 107 the same and No. 1 11½x10½.

MEMEL.—Mr. George H. Jaeger sen

thuanian stamps (in the currency Lit d cents). Up to date I received the llowing 3 values on genuine registered vers: 25 Mark on 5 cent blue, perfrated. 100 Mark on 25 cent red, perfrated. 400 Mark on 1 Lit brown, rforated. Surcharge 4 lines, black: 'laipėda—(Memel)—25—Markes."

It is probably that these stamps are the ginning of the Lithuanian Memel mps. It seems that the prosperity of t Memel stamps does not cease.

The sale of these latest Provisories csed an enormous throng before the stage offices at Memel, only a few rsons had the fortune to acquire some smps.

ARAGUAY.—There seems to be some dbt regarding the status of the Red Css stamp which several journals have ned lately. At the best it has more of a peculative than a charitable character, wile according to some reports it is aolutely unauthorised.

ater. A reader writes that most of tse stamps were sold in Buenos Aires. A few sold at the post-offices out of derence to the objects for which the stmps were ostensibly issued were canced by favour, but the stamps have no fnking value whatever.

wo correspondents tell us that No. 2 ("Habilitado, 1918, 5 cents" on 1c gy) is bogus, and that the Government he officially announced this and are tring to trace the author. This stamp suld therefore be deleted from the calogue.—Gibbons' Monthly Circular.

ORTUGAL.—Mr. J. N. Marsden tells us th the following are to be issued: 5c sea, 15c black, 25c dark rose, 40c chocoa, 75c magenta, and $1.50 slate, and th the colours of the 20c, 60c and $1 w be changed to dark green, red, and dk blue respectively. As already reced, the flight of the Portuguese avtors to South America will be commemorated by the issue of a long special series, which will only be available for postage on March 30th and 31st and on April 1st, their use to be obligatory on those dates. Mr. Marsden suggests that a single permanent stamp would have had more value for propaganda purposes than a full issue of such limited currency. The above mentioned changes in the Ceres type are due to altered rates of postage and to the necessity for conforming to U. P. U. regulations.—Gibbons' Monthly Circular.

RUSSIA (Bolshevik Govt.)—Mr. L. M. Sharp shows us the 100r red, helmeted soldier type, perforated 14 instead of imperf., as at first issued. The examples kindly submitted comprise seven, used on an envelope from Russia, postmarked February 15th, 1923.—Stamp Collecting.

SOVIET-RUSSIA.—Mr. George H. Jaeger informs us that the 20rbl on 70k, Czar stamp, has been issued imperforate. Also that a new value has been added to the set of three stamps picturing the bust of a red army soldier, the new value being the 70rbl lilac.

SOUTH WEST AFRICA.—This territory (formerly German South West Africa) has now been provided with a separate issue of postage stamps. These consist of the current issue of the South African Union overprinted in English and in Dutch on alternate stamps in the sheet, so that there are two sets, of the denominations of ½d, 1d, 2d, 3d, 4d, 6d, 1s, 1s3d, 2s6d, 5s, 10s and £1.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

SWITZERLAND.—The Economist Stamp Co. call our attention to a series of airmail stamps that have just been issued. They are of three types, the first two values picturing a aeroplane flying, the next two picturing the pilot of the machine and the last two show a bi-plane in action. The stamps are oblong in shape and are of the following values and colors: 15c red and yellow green, 25c deep blue, 35c brown, 40c violet, 45c rose and dark blue and 50c red and grey.

PHILATELIC LIBRARY GIVEN THE NEW YORK COLLECTORS CLUB

Through the generosity of Theodore E. Steinway, the Collectors Club of this city has just received one of the largest and most valuable philatelic libraries in the world. It includes practically everything that was published in all languages on philately in the nineteenth century, comprising nearly 1,200 volumes and about 30,000 periodicals with many society publications and early price lists of postage stamps. The library represents virtually the life work of a prominent Austrian, Judge Victor Suppantschitsch.

The library has just been placed in the rooms of the Collectors Club at 120 West Forty-ninth Street, and a few days ago the deed of gift was signed by the trustees who will hold Mr. Steinway's gift in trust for the club. Mr. Steinway is one of the trustees and others who signed were John N. Luff, President of the club; Secretary J. Brace Chittenden; Alfred F. Lichtenstein and Julius C. Morgenthau. Mr. Steinway has been an active member of the club for many years and his collection of postage stamps ranks among the noteworthy ones in this country.

While there are a few philatelic libraries larger than the present one, that of Lord Crawford in England being regarded as the most complete in the world, this Austrian collection is the most comprehensive in the postage stamp history of the nineteenth century. Among the volumes there are 550 in the English language, 208 being published in the United States and Canada, 429 in the German language, 139 in French, 19 in Spanish, 17 in Italian, 14 in Dutch. and 12 in other languages. Of the large number of periodicals more than 13,000 are in English, the United States and Canada being represented by 9,318, in the German language there are 7,324, in French 4,115 and in Spanish 890.

Judge Suppantschitsch was born in Austria in 1838. He was the son of a prosperous merchant, was graduated from the University of Vienna, attained a high place in his profession, becoming Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Austrian Empire and later President of the Senate. He died in 1918. He became interested in postage stamps as early as 1863, in which year the first German philatelic journal was published at Leipsic. Complete copies of this as well as of other early philatelic journals, now very scarce, are in the library.

The Austrian Judge was not content with being a mere collector of postage stamps. He was a keen student of philately, and in 1870 his first contributions to stamp journals began. He wrote for practically all of the leading European publications. In 1892 he began his greatest work, a bibliography of German philatelic literature, which was issued in sixteen parts and was published in complete form in 1892. In this work he accomplished for German philatelic literature what Bacon and Lord Crawford did for English philately in 1911.—N. Y. Times.

OUR REVIEW.

A copy of The Canadian Precancelled Postage Stamp Catalogue, 1923, has been received from the compiler, Mr. Frank S. Thompson of Winnipeg and we find that twenty pages, double column, are required for the stamps from first to last. Mr. Thompson divides his stamps into general issues and city issues; and the total number of stamps listed of both kinds is 1,081. The general issues of the stamps, 1889 to 1903 inclusive have the bar cancellations, characteristic of Canada's earlier precancelled stamps, the city names having appeared first on the 1905 issue. The "Introductory Note" fully explains the history of precancellation in Canada and its information seems to cover the subject adequately. Mr. Thompson speaks of the earlier articles on Canadian precancelled stamps by investigators and he gives the authors due credit. Evidently the prices attached to the different stamps are based on fair calculations and it might be added that they range down from several dollars to as many cents. We think that the first edition of this work is one that will find a hearty welcome among those interested in precanceled stamps; and the number of collectors of the kind is no mean one, we know. The book is attractively printed and well illustrated. The Philatelic Publishing Company, Winnipeg, Canada: price fifty cents.

A good many moons ago, we received No. 1 of Studies in Philately, published by P. L. Pemberton, London, and in one of those lapses past accounting for, the admirable treatise has been unacknowledged for all this time. The book under belated attention is "The Stamps of Norway in the 20mm Type (1885-93)" by Dr. Justus Anderssen, translated from the Nordisk Filatelistisk Tidsskrift, by Benjamin Goodfellow, F. R. P. S. L. It is to be said here that this volume is the first of a series of handbooks that will attend to the more serious side of philately. The Norway book is an intensive study of the stamps issued from 1882 to 1893 inclusive, "comprising the ore values, 'with unshaded posthorn'." It is evident that Dr. Anderssen has fully mastered his subject and that his conclusions may be accepted as final is evident. He has handled a mass of detail in a scientific manner and for the student of differences as shown in these stamps, the book will prove a boon. Moreover, seven pages of beautiful plates accompany the book, picturing the plate and type differences, and they assist the text wonderfully in describing the variations. The stamps of Norway generally are popular and while they are studied most closely in their own country, we know that there are not a few collectors elsewhere who are anxious for enlightenment on the subject of the details of the interesting stamps. The appearance of this work is favorable and its general merits are such that it should have received a generous reception. P. L. Pemberton, 151, Strand, W. C. 2, London, England. Price three shillings, six pence.

30,000 VARIETIES!

We have just received from Italy a mammouth collection of unusual value—about 30,000 varieties, 98% of which appear to be in good to very fine condition. Particularly strong in 20th Century, many of the war, occupation and new issues being in complete sets, including the rarities. French, British and the ex-German colonies, mostly unused, are also plentiful, while in U. S. the Columbian, Trans-Mississippi issues, etc., are complete. As usual there are several hundred varieties recognized by the Yvert catalogue, but unlisted by Scott, but these will in no way detract from the inherent quality of the collection.

All in all, this collection is an unusually large and a truly magnificent assembling—one which will delight the heart of any philatelist.

In pursuance with our policy, we are offering it intact, — just as received — at a close-to-cost price which will no doubt attract an immediate purchaser. Furthermore, we refuse to accept any order except with an iron-bound agreement that money will be refunded in full if the purchaser is not entirely satisfied.

30,000 Varieties, - - Special Price $2,245.00

N. B. Upon receipt of a substantial deposit, we are ready to submit the collection for inspection to any interested party whose reliability is established. [84

U. S STAMPS HELD FOR $250 DU

Put in Class of Goods That Are Ma factured Here and Then Reimportec

A collection of United States stam envelopes, formerly owned by a fore collector, is being held at the Cust House awaiting the decision of an app made to the Treasury Department Washington by J. M. Bartels of Nassau Street against the imposition $250 duty. The stamps were purcha in Europe last Summer by Mr. Bart who is a well-known dealer, and wh they were sent to this country he ente their value at $1,000. On the importat of foreign stamps there is no duty, Mr. Bartels said yesterday that he surprised when he was informed on arrival of the stamped envelope coll tion last December that it was subj to 25 per cent duty.

"I discovered that the duty was posed," explained Mr. Bartels, "un the section which provides that go manufactured in the United States reimported are subject to 25 per c duty. This law was enacted soon af the close of the war to protect Americ manufacturer from the reimportation quantities of American goods sent Europe for war needs but which, due the sudden ending of the conflict, w no longer required there and could sent back here and sold at a low pri As United States stamped envelopes w clearly manufactured here, they tech cally came under this general rule. seems obviously wrong, as there v evidently no intention to tax Americ postage stamps on their re-entry her —N. MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

NO. DAKOTA PRECANCELS.

Mandan, just across the Missouri River from our state capitol, blossomed out Xmas, 1919, with handstamped precancels in plain letters similar to Universal I. These are only used during the holiday seasons and are rare. The 1c to 15c values have been used with the exception of the 13c, but I have never met with any save a pair of the 5c.

Minot is the third largest city in the state and at the rate it is growing, will pass Grand Forks before 1930. The post-office there has been using precancelled stamps for quite a few years and several firms use small quantities at different seasons. They are really scarce, being seldom encountered even in this state. Bushnell lists all that I have ever seen with the exception of the 1c, 6c, 9c perf. 11 and 3c Victory. I have seen but one copy of this stamp. The overprint was rather blurred, but recognizable. I might say that it is impossible to purchase privately without a permit, precancels at the Minot P. O.

In the heart of the lignite fields is Mohall, a town of 651 souls, according to the last census. The P. O. there has the distinction of being the only office in the state so far, to precancel the elusive 13c. The holiday season is the only time precancels are used. I have seen all that Bushnell lists except the 11c perf. 10 and can add the 5c red ink, and 20c perf. 11. All are rare except the 1c and even this is rather scarce. The box roller has been used extensively to precancel the 1c. These are used on advertising matter by several concerns but are practically valueless, for box roller precancels are not worthy of notice.

Mott, a small town located in the center of the Bad Lands region, was one of the first towns in the state to use precancels. Since 1913 the post-office there has used them during the Xmas seasons only. Bushnell's catalog prices reflect their true rarity, although I am inclined to think his valuation of the 2c, 8c, 10c somewhat low. Few have come my way and I often wonder where they all go to. A 30c perf. 12 once netted me $1.10 at one of Dr. Hennan's Auctions. Mott precancels are mighty good property to hold on to.

Wahpeton is another town having little use for precancels outside of the Xmas seasons. Although it has a population of 3,000 it does not loom up as a commercial center. The perf. 10 issue was precancelled in limited numbers but the perf. 11 stamps are more plentiful. Bushnell lists only the 3c surface. I have seen the 1c to 12c, 15c, 20c, 30c, 50c and 1c, 2c, 3c, dues reading up and down. Also the Documentaries were used in 1921. 1c, 3c, 5c, 10c nor., 2c double and 4c inv. have been noted. The 4c, 5c and 10c were precancelled by favor for there was no need of such high denominations.

Wales is not listed by Bushnell but should be, for that post-office gave precancels a trial in 1919. A very handsome type was used, viz.: Wales, N. Dak. in handsome medium-sized caps between thick black bars. The 6c and 10c are all that have ever come to my attention. A pair of the 6c were discovered in a lot sent me by Mr. Frank Johnson, formerly, of Fargo, N. D. Not realizing their rarity, I sold the pair to Mr. C. W. Sacks of Columbus, Ohio, for fifty cents. Who ever owns the pair today is fortunate. The 10c was listed by Mr. Silas Weatherby in one of his Phizzle Auctions, and I would be interested to hear from the party who now possesses it. If any other "Wales" are in existence, I would appreciate the particulars very much.

Williston precancels are in use the year around by the P. O. but are generally pretty hard to pick up. Bushnell's prices on the perf. 10 issue are about 50% too high. The perf. 11 issue is represented by the same denominations as the perf. 10 and are found in both purple and black inks.

The 3c Victory was legitimately precancelled and used during the regular course of business. The reading down variety should be priced at about $2.00 instead of .75 as I have heard of only one copy. It was in the W. E. Cullers collection sold to Mr. Wm. Field.

I have never seen type I and know nothing about. it.

In conclusion, I wish to say that I shall welcome any further information on the issues of this state, or I shall gladly try to be of assistance to any desiring further information.—Precancel Gazette.

HISTORY FROM POSTAGE STAMPS.

By CHARLES G. WILSON.

The stamps of Mexico issue of 1866 portraying Maximilian I, Emperor of Mexico, are a souvenir of a royal adventure which ended in deepest tragedy.

In 1862, Napoleon III of France, the adventurer king, ambitious for power and feeling bound by his name and position to gain for France something it did not possess made the financial misdemeanors of Mexico an excuse for invasion and sent there a strong French army. His real purpose was to overthrow the native republican Government and place on the throne as a vassal prince Ferdinand Joseph Maximilian, Hapsburg prince and brother to the Austrian Emperor Franz Joseph.

This was accomplished and in 1864, Maximilian with Empress Carlotta, daughter of Leopold of Belgium, landed and took up the reigns of Government.

But with the overthrow of the Confederacy, in 1865, the United States demanded that Napoleon withdraw his army from Mexico. Unable to defy the large veteran army of the United States, Napoleon recalled his troops.

As the French detachments fell back to the coast, the revolutionary army, under the deposed president Juarez, pressed on to the capital.

On May 15, 1867, Maximilian was captured at Queretaro. He was tried for treason and other charges and on June 19, 1867, was executed by a firing squad, meeting his end with kingly fortitude.

The next discontinuance of subscriptions will concern all subscribers whose wrappers bear the numbers 1676 to 1680 inclusive. Just glance at your wrapper immediately in order to make sure that your subscription is paid up. You have ample time in which to renew and be saved the inconvenience of a discontinuance. Moreover, under our new system we are making no plans for furnishing back numbers and subscribers must not expect that we can supply back numbers when we have made every effort to notify them.

We are satisfied that the system we have inaugurated is the only one under which a newspaper can do business these days, and subscribers must understand that free copies of the WEEKLY will not be sent to those who are in arrears.

THE MANAGING EDITOR

PHILIPPINE JOTTINGS.

By J. H. VALE.

So many of my customers have asked me to supply them as soon as possible with copies of the current 12 and 26 centavo stamps perforated 10 and 11 on the old watermarked paper, that I believe my reasons for believing that such do not exist will be of general interest to all collectors of Philippine stamps.

The 12 centavo value was primarily printed for use in the payment of telegraph charges, the Government operating the telegraph lines in conjunction with the postal service. Charges were paid by affixing postage stamps to the face of the message, and as the charge for "Rush" messages between a great many different points was 12 centavos a word, it was found simplest to use one 12c stamp on such messages for every word in the message. The practice of using stamps for prepayment of telegraph charges was discontinued some time before stamps perforated 10 appeared in the Philippines, and consequently the Government having stocked up well in advance and having no further need for this value, did not see fit to order them at the time the perf. 10 and 11 and the unwatermarked paper were in use.

The 26 centavo is a combination stamp for payment of registration fee (16 centavos) and foreign postage rate of 10 centavos. Very few indeed of these are met with in the Philippines, and in fact I bought used copies much cheaper in Hongkong than in the Philippines, they having been used by Chinese in forwarding mail to China. I believe the Philippine Government has large quantities on hand.

About fifteen months ago through the courtesy of the Manila postal authorities, I personally went through their entire stock of 12c and 26c stamps in an effort to locate some of the perf. 10 and 11, but without success.

I do not believe that it is possible to obtain complete sets of Philippine stamps outside of the main office at Manila. I received from my correspondent a few days ago (latter half of March) a consignment of all values, but in apologizing for his delay he stated that the only values on sale at his local post-office, (which is a provincial capital), were the 2, 4, 6, 10, 16 and 20c, and had to wait until he went to Manila in order to get complete sets, with the possible exception of the post-offices at Cebu and Iloilo. I believe this lack of complete distribution will be found to exist all through the archipelago. Incidentally the consignment just received contained supplies of the 12c and 26c, Nos. 266 and 269.

For the above reasons I have arranged my own collection without leaving room for the 12c and 26c perf. 10 and 11 on watermarked paper.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S NEW ISSUE.

By ARCHIBALD G. GIBB.

Amongst Philatelists the stamps of the British Colonies have always been in high favor, and those of Newfoundland are perhaps the most popular.

This may be due to the fact that Newfoundland is Great Britain's oldest Colony; or it may be that the various handsome sets of stamps issued by "Ye Ancient Colonie" are favorites with collectors.

The first of the "special" sets to be issued was "The Cabot Issue" in 1897 to commemorate the 400th Anniversary of the discovery of Newfoundland by John Cabot.

In this set, some of the industries of the Colony are portrayed, such as fishing, mining and lumbering, all of which were produced from actual photographs. Then in 1908 came the "Guy Issue," commemorating the landing of the intrepid John Guy at Cupids, and establishing the first permanent Colony. Most of the scenes depicted on this set are connected with this historical event.

Three years later came the "Royal Family" or "Coronation" issue, to celebrate the accession to the throne of George V and Queen Mary.

In 1916 the popular "Caribou Set" was issued. Eight of these stamps are inscribed with the names of places overseas where the Royal Newfoundland Regiment helped to make history. The remaining four bear the significant word "Ubique" (Everywhere). These denominations were dedicated to our Naval Reserve, who took a prominent part in the mine-sweeping operations in the North Sea and elsewhere. For six years the "Caribou" set has been in use, and as it was ostensibly a War issue, the Postal Authorities have been for sometime considering the issuing of an entirely new set, more especially as several denominations of the "Caribou" set were sold out.

After much deliberation the Minister of Posts (Mr. Halfyard) advertised for suggestions and designs for a new set, and received many replies, including some from Canada and the United States.

Finally, it was decided that a "Pictorial" set would be the most appropriate. There are many "beauty spots" in Newfoundland, and it was thought that through the medium of the Postage Stamp some of the interesting features of the Colony would get publicity.

A selection was subsequently made, which together with suggestions for borders etc., were sent to Whitehead, Morris & Co., of London, England for reproduction.

The proofs of these designs have recently been received and approved of, and MEKEEL'S WEEKLY is now in a position to give details of the entire new issue which is expected to be ready in May or June.

In the regular issue there are 14 stamps as follows:—

Tor's Cove, one of the nearby "beauty spots," is situated about 26 miles from St. John's, on the Trepassey Branch. It lies amid the most beautiful surroundings, and is a favorite haunt of anglers and holiday-makers.

Trinity Bay abounds in picturesque scenery, not unlike that of the fiords of Norway. Many well-stocked trout streams and lakes in the vicinity.

This handsome memorial of the Great War was presented to the people of Newfoundland by Sir Edgar Bowring. It is erected on a high elevation, commanding a magnificent view of Bowring Park, and the beautiful Waterford Valley. The statue is a grim reminder of the tragic years of 1914 to 1918.

Enthusiastic tourists have pronounced Bowring Park to be the "most beautiful natural park on the American Continent," and, while this may possibly be an exaggeration, still there are good grounds for the assertion.

Situated as it is within easy walking distance of the City, Bowring Park is one of the most popular resorts, not only of the citizens themselves, but of the hundreds of tourists who visit here every Summer.

Well-kept paths and driveways, bordered with vari-colored flowers and luxuriant shrubbery, intersect the lovely natural avenues of shade trees; rustic benches are plentifully placed in inviting positions, and winding their way throughout the groves and glades are the twin branches of the rippling Waterford River, with its abundance of falls, cascades and pools, and its many romantic rustic bridges—the whole making a scene of unsurpassed sylvan beauty. In one of the branches of the river are two excellent swimming pools, where the youth of both sexes can enjoy themselves in this health-giving natatorial sport.

To the tourist and the sportsman the Humber River Valley affords a panorama of scenes of sublime grandeur. Majestic hills, covered with spruce, ash, birch and maple; noble rivers and lakes teeming with trout and salmon, and beautiful vistas of forest and stream, where great herds of caribou roam, almost unmolested. The views on the 4c, 6c, 10c, 11c and 15c represent only a few of the many attractive scenes in this locality.

This Summer will see many changes in the Valley of the Humber, which is probably the richest lumbering and mining region in Newfoundland.

For long centuries these treasures have lain dormant, but now, the onward march of civilization has invaded this vast territory, and the quiet solitude of the forests will soon resound with the hum of industry.

Operations on a gigantic scale have already commenced, and by the time our "Pictorial Set" of stamps has reached the public, the great work will be in full swing. Millions of dollars annually will be spent in developing the Humber Valley, and thousands of men employed.

The natural beauties of the Valley are, however, unalterable, and will continue in the future as in the past, "a scene of beauty and a joy forever."

Some parts of the Newfoundland Coast are studded with massive rocks, many of them of fantastic formation. The Coast near Trinity has numerous interesting features of this kind.

A romantic, typical fishing village within thirty minutes' walk of the City. With its landlocked "Gut," almost encircled by storm-scarred cliffs, it is an ideal setting for the scenario of a movie picture.

Photographs of caribou have frequently been taken on the "Barrens" (as the upland moors are called), but rarely has the man with the camera been able to catch them crossing a Lake.

Bay of Islands, as its name indicates abounds in Islands, and the scenery in and around the Bay, is amongst the most magnificent in Newfoundland. Towering hills fringe the bay, some of them of formidable proportions. Mount Moriah is about 1,500 feet high, the almost perpendicular cliffs rising right out the sea. The waters in the bay are of great depth, and as blue as the Mediterranean.

About 80 miles from St. John's by rail, lies the picturesque village of Placentia, the ancient French capital, until the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713.

Here can be seen many relics of the old days when France had a footing in the Colony.

The scenery in and around Placentia Bay is of unsurpassed grandeur, and in the vicinity are some of the best trout and salmon pools on the South Coast.

Topsail, the "Brighton of Newfoundland" is situated on Conception Bay, twelve miles distant from the Capital. It is one of the prettiest of our suburban villages, and the favorite beach place of the city folk, who flock there in the Summer for the sea-bathing, and the many other attractions in and around the village.

In addition to the above there are two stamps for the AERIAL SERVICE.

10c Black and Green. View of Harbor and Aeroplane over Narrows.

15c Black and Brown. Vickers-Vimy Aeroplane at Quidi Vidi, prior to First Direct Atlantic Flight.

A picture of the famous Vickers-Vimy Aeroplane which made the historic First Direct Flight over the Western Ocean in 1919. Capt. Alcock and Lieut. Brown left Lester's Field at 1.43 P. M. local time on June 14th, 1919, and arrived at Clifden, Ireland, 16 hours later. Lunching at Lester's Farm, they breakfasted in Ireland.

Near this same spot at Quidi Vidi, the U. S. Dirigible C.5 arrived from Montauk Point on May 15th,1919. Later she burst her moorings, and went off over the narrows "on her own" and was lost.

HELP WANTED:

Since acquiring the Olin H. Clark collection of cancellations we have had the good fortune to secure what is probably the largest collection of cancellations in existence. Also two or three smaller lots. The number of requests for selections is so great we must have assistance in mounting, classifying, pricing. We can make an attractive proposition to someone who is qualified to handle a large share of this work. A young married man not averse to living in a small town preferred. All communications confidential, of course. In writing or telegraphing please state experience and salary required.

EARLY LOW VALUES SPECIALIZED.

By WARNER BATES.

Now that the editor has kindly consented to devote space in the WEEKLY to open discussion on the lower values of early U. S., it is surely up to collectors to contribute material enough to make it a worthwhile department of the magazine. My own efforts at the present are merely with the idea of keeping the column going until time enough has elapsed for the first contributions to come in. I know from my own correspondence with several collectors of cancellations and minor varieties that any one who specializes at all in these stamps has information that will be helpful to the other fellow and will add to the store of printed information on this subject. It is up to you to pass it along.

Some of the prices realized on postmarks and cancellations from the collection of Mr. F. O. Selianoff, sold in a recent auction at San Francisco are of interest as helping to establish values that the new Specialized Catalogue does not deal with.

A Kicking Mule, Port Townsend, Wash., 3-cent green, 1882, sold for $3.50 and one on the 2-cent brown, '83 for $2.00. Four U. S. monograms in circle brought from 70 to 90 cents. An Indian's head and a man's head on 3-cent 1873 each brought $1.30. A Masonic emblem on the 3-cent 1861 brought $1.40.

An entire cover, 3 cent '61 envelope with the 3-cent stamp of 1861, both cancelled Wells Fargo & Co., Stockton, June 3, sold for $3.25. I remember a friend of mine told me not long ago that once he had a dozen or more of these covers with the Wells Fargo cancellation and that he peddled them out at a convention for ten and fifteen cents each.

Paid in circle with six lines in black on 3 cent 1857 and red postmark, Boston, Ms., on cover went at $1.70. A lady's shoe on the three cent green got $3.50 and a man's shoe on the 3 cent 1871, the same price. I have a man's shoe on the 6 cent 1879 that for some time I thought was just a blotch of ink. The shoe is upside down on the stamp and quite clean-cut when the stamp is inverted. It pays to examine an odd cancellation from every angle. A pumpkin and postmark, Beverly, Mass., on the 3 cent '61 was knocked down at $1.10. Perhaps Mr. Wylie will be able to locate a few of these in his home town.

A three ring target and Mystic Bridge, Ct., in blue on the 3 cent 1871 on cover sold for $2.75.

A 5 in circle and postmark West?, N. H., on the 3 cent rose, 1861 brought $1.10.

The last quotation brings up what to me is a most interesting question—that of the legitimacy of the large figures 5 or 10 in circles, and occasionally without circles, as "Paid" cancellations. The figures that I refer to are the ones that were used back in the forties before the first issue of United States stamps and are not to be confused with the station numbers or post-office clerk numbers used in large cities during the '70s and '80s. These latter usually have horizontal or vertical lines above and below the figures, while the figures themselves are comparatively small. Of course, these latter figures come in a variety of fancy forms, some in wreaths, others in two and three-ring targets and some fanciful ones without any ornamentation, but in no case that I know of are they likely to be confused with the types of large 5's and 10's used to mark envelopes paid before stamps were printed.

Now the use of these large figures was undoubtedly to indicate that 5 or 10 cents had been paid as postage, regardless of whether or not the word "Paid" was added. A year ago I had no hesitancy in paying a dealer either 50 or 75 cents (I have forgotten which) for one of these 10's on the 3 cent '61 (grilled), and now I note that practically the same thing, plus a town cancellation, brings $1.10 at auction.

Inasmuch as the use of these "paid" figure cancellations on stamps indicates that a few of the small town post-offices had the cancelling stamps left over from the forties, it seems to me that the later the date of the stamp bearing such cancellation, the more rare it would be. I was therefore delighted last summer in making a search and seizure pilgrimage through western New York to dig up half a dozen or more of these cancellations on the 3 cent 1873, 3 cent 1879 and 2 cent brown, 1882. They were postmarked from three very small towns, all near together.

Having some duplicates and wishing to find out something about the market for this particular cancellation, I placed two or three with a New York dealer to sell at auction as one lot, or any way he wished. He informed me that they were not paid cancellations and that he could not handle them as every lot in his auction had to bring $2.50 or more to make it profitable. Another dealer took the lot but I note by his catalogue that he has marked them as questionable "Paids." Mind you, these are all on cover and will check up absolutely with the same figures on covers used before stamps.

In my humble opinion, dealers are overlooking a good bet in not informing themselves better on the items that are valuable to the specialist. A number of the dealers who hold auctions rarely list any of the 1870 to 1888 issues under the 7 cent when it is dead certain that good, specialized lots of the cheaper stamps would bring many bids and good prices. Perhaps I am wrong, but I know that I have no trouble whatever in getting prices I think are right for these cheaper stamps of which I have duplicates, when I put them before those who are interested. And I, like many other collectors, scan through the pages of one auction catalogue after another and not finding anything worth bidding on in the lower values of early U. S., throw the list away.

It is true that many of the auctions now carry some fine lots of the 3 cent '51-57 and occasionally of the 3 cent '61 but beyond that they rarely have anything save for a scattered lot of cancellations here and there.

BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA AND NYASALAND PROTECTORATE.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

(Coutinued from Page 171)

ISSUE XI.—The next provisional stamp is of particular interest owing to the unusual method of its production. The consignment of low value stamps, which was expected from London, had gone astray on the way, and the stocks of both the provisional 1d on 3s and the regular 1d stamps had given out.

Under date, March 11th, 1898, the Acting Postmaster-General, Mr. J. T. Gosling, issued the following:—

POST OFFICE NOTICE.

"Whereas it is enacted by the Post Office Acts that the Postmaster-General should have the option of requiring the payment of postage to be made either in money, or by the use of postage stamps, and whereas Her Majesty's Acting Commissioner and Consul-General has approved of the temporary exercise of this right of choice, Notice is Hereby given that on and from this date the public will be required to make payment in money for the postage of all correspondence addressed to places within the British Central Africa Protectorate for which penny stamps would ordinarily be used. Provided always that stamps already in the possession of any person shall be accepted in payment of postal charges, and may be affixed to letters in the ordinary way.

During the time that this arrangement remains in force all unstamped internal correspondence, liable to a charge of one penny, should be brought to the Post Office counter, and payments made in cash.

Postmasters will affix a token to all letters so presented as an indication that the postal charges thereon have been paid.

These tokens are issued for the purpose of Departmental administration, and are not for sale to the public: they will be used only for internal correspondence.

By order,
(Signed) J. T. GOSLING,
Acting Postmaster-General.
GENERAL POST OFFICE, ZOMBA,
March 11th, 1898."

The circumstances which led to the exercise of the Postmaster-General's option are detailed in a circular addressed by that official to the stamp trade:—

"GENERAL POST OFFICE, ZOMBA,
BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA PROTECTORATE.
March 23rd, 1898.

Gentlemen,—

I have the honour to transmit the following information with reference to a case of stamps of the Protectorate that has disappeared whilst en route from London to this place. The case was last seen at Chinde, on or about the 25th of January, when it was stowed on board a barge, in the river Zambesi.

It afterwards disappeared, and, although it is stated to have been lost overboard, there is no satisfactory evidence that this was so.

The stamps enclosed were of the 1d, 2d, 4d, 6d, 1sh, 2s6d and 4sh issues.

I shall be obliged if, in the event of your learning of suspiciously large transactions in B.C.A. stamps of these values, you will kindly communicate with the Crown Agents for the Colonies, Downing Street, London, and also with me direct.

I have the honour to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
J. T. GOSLING,
Acting Postmaster-General."

The tokens referred to in the Post Office Notice consisted of adhesive labels, printed in two colours, the centre consisting of the embossed penny cheque stamp in red, and the frame being composed of ordinary printer's rules, and the words INTERNAL above the red centre and POSTAGE below, the rules and INTERNAL POSTAGE inscriptions being in blue.

The type and rules for the frame were set up in two rows of fifteen spaces, making thirty stamps to the sheet. Mr. B. W. H. Poole, in his study of this issue (West End Philatelist, IV, 52) states that—

"The lines between the stamps, both vertically and horizontally, are double, but there is only a single line at the top of the stamps in the upper row, and at the base of the stamps in the vertical row."

The opinion that was expressed in the first edition of this book that there were at least two settings of the frame and type has proved to be correct. Mr E. D. Bacon gives the principal differences in the two settings in the "Monthly Report of the Herts Philatelic Society." In Setting I the letter P of POSTAGE is 5mm from the frame-line at the left side, and the vertical frame-lines are continued across the two horizontal lines that divide the rows of stamps.

In Setting II the letter P is only 2mm from the left frame-line, and the vertical frame-lines do not cross the two horizontal lines.

Stamps of the first setting appear t be rarer than those of the second; a cop exists used on cover postmarked "Zomba Mr.12.98", which early date fixes th order of the settings. The inverted centre error is of the first setting. There are probably other variations in the firs setting (of which no complete shee appears to have been found) as on copy of the stamp has been reported combining the distinguishing features of both settings as recorded by Mr. Bacon. Thi variety, used on part of envelope, an also postmarked "Zomba Mr.12.98", ha the vertical frame-lines continued beyond the corners, while the letter P o POSTAGE is only 2mm from the lef frame-line.

The centres were embossed one at a time, the design of the embossed part consisting of a representation of the coffee tree from the Arms of the Protectorate, and the words ONE PENNY below it, and BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA PROTECTORATE extending round the sides and top.

The method of embossing the centre gave rise to a number of more or less interesting errors. We know of the stamps with centre inverted, with centre doubly embossed, with centre missing, and with two centres to three frames

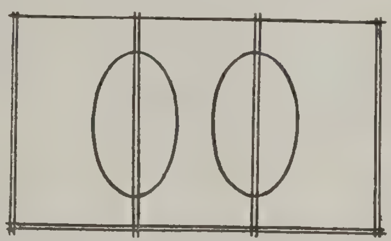
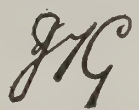
(the centre being struck across the vertical frame lines thus) :—



It has been said that only one sheet was printed with inverted centre. Such statements must generally be taken with some reservation, but we have every reason to believe that more than one sheet has got on the market. A sheet of which we have had information had the top row with centre inverted, and the bottom row with centre missing.



At first, as a safeguard against the illicit imitation of the stamps they were initialled on the back by the Acting Postmaster-General, Mr. J. T. Gosling. The initialling appears to have been chiefly with the letters J. T. G., but sometimes J. G. alone appear. The first 16 sheets, or 480 stamps, are understood to have been initialled, after which a novel scheme of secret marking was introduced.

A set of numbers and letters was set up in ordinary type, and impressed without ink on the back of the sheet, so that each stamp got a number and a combination of letters impressed with uninked type on the back.

Mr. Poole, in his article already quoted, has reconstructed a sheet by means of the uninked impressions on the back, and we quote his notes on the matter:—

"So far as the figures are concerned, the arrangement is quite systematic, the stamps in the top row being numbered 1 to 15, from right to left, while those in the lower row are numbered 16 to 30, also from right to left. The letters that accompany the numbers appear to be quite unintelligible, though they might have had some significance to the officials at the time the stamps were issued. In some cases the figures are above the letters, in others the letters are over the numbers; and in four stamps on the sheet they are side by side. I have reconstructed the plate, and find the combinations of letters and figures on the thirty stamps are as follows:—

15	141	13	12	XA	10	9	F	7	6	F	4	3	2G	1
K		D	WX	11	Z	C	8	H	P	5	M	X	·	F
30	XQ	28	27	Z	25	24A	23	S	21	T	Z19	Q	E	16
S	29	FA	B	26	J		N	22	WP	20		18	17	FY

The letters and figures are not, as a rule, in line above each other, as shown in the diagram. Usually, one is to the left of the stamp, and the other to the right."

Lord Crawford has kindly shewn us a double sheet of these stamps (Setting II), one sheet being printed on the top half of one side of the paper, and the other sheet on the lower half of the reverse side. The rules are identical in both sheets, and both have the uninked type impressions.

The date of the first issue of these stamps or tokens is probably March 11, 1898, the stamps being imperforate. They were later (? June) perforated, the gauge of the perforation being 12.

We have it on the authority of the British Central Africa Gazette that 23,901 of the tokens were used in accounting for the postage paid in cash at the different Post Offices in accordance with the Post Office notice quoted under Issue XI. In the beginning of November, 1898, a fresh supply of the regular stamps having been received, the use of the tokens was abandoned. The missing consignment of stamps ultimately turned up early in 1899, and saved the necessity of guarding against their misuse by any further overprinting or other form of provisional.

ISSUE XII.—Late in 1900 the colours of the 1d, 4d and 6d stamps of the regular type were changed, the centre being printed in violet in each case, the frame of the 1d being carmine-rose, of the 4d olive-green, and of the 6d brown. The paper remained the same, "Crown CA," and the perforation 14.

ISSUE XIII.—A series of ten values of King's head stamps made its appearance in 1903, being chronicled in the Monthly Circular for September of that year. The stamps are all bicoloured, the five low values, 1d, 2d, 4d, 6d and 1sh being of the usual small size and watermarked Crown CA, the five higher values, 2s6d, 4sh, 10sh, £1 and £10 being of the larger size and watermarked Crown CC. They are all perforated 14. About April, 1907, the 1d and 6d stamps appeared on the new surfaced paper watermarked Multiple Crown CA.

HONESTY IN ADVERTISING.

We have done much in cleaning up the advertising columns of the WEEKLY but it seems necessary to go a little further. Will advertisers in the future please refrain from questionable matter of which the following are samples:—

Sold for $2.98, but worth $5.00.
Sold for $2.98, former price $5.00.
Sold for $2.98, actual value $5.00.
Sold for $2.98, Tom Jones asks $5.00.

In other words let your reputation as a dealer, plus your price, sell your stock without resorting to tricky advertising.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

When collectors concern themselves not alone about stamps but also about the surroundings of stamps, we know then that interest in philately is at high tide. The post-office department is considered a barometer of trade and when there is an increase in postal business, it is argued that there is a betterment in conditions nationally. Just at present our readers are seemingly more regardful of all the tangents of philately, as affecting the general weal of collecting than usual. From the letters that have been received from readers, we could easily fill several columns by quotations, this week; and while this activity may be accounted for by a number of auxiliary influences, yet the basis for it is to be credited to a widening and deepening interest in the collecting of stamps. Noteworthy auction sales, interesting new issues, the seasonable spurt at this time of year, the passing by congress of the U. S. stamp illustration bill, the great London exhibition in May, 1923, are adventitious aids to the swing but nevertheless, all the signs are grounded in the flourishing soil of philately.

In the course of a letter, a correspondent submits a few figures to show that some of the blame for loss attaching to the Neurope stamps is not fairly alleged. He says that about twenty per cent. of the total price paid for all, practically, of the new issues bought at the prices as they prevailed at first is a liberal allowance to place to depreciation. While there have been outstanding examples of shrinkage of values yet there is something to be said of stamps that have held their own or more. However, the contention of our correspondent is that the European issues have sounded the death-knell of general collecting, if his case is to be considered typical. With a keen liking for all stamps, our reader has pursued his collecting course but he finds that it is now beyond reason to collect all stamp issues, much as he dislikes to curtail his range. He is adjusting his collection in order that he may relieve it of an overload which he attributes mostly to the prolific product of the new European countries. In our opinion, the general collector is finding his task too great and it is apparent that this fine type of collector is a diminishing factor in philately.

Now that stamp collecting is a world pursuit, it has lost some of its provincial aspects and while the older collectors naturally have a bit of sentiment for the good old days of collecting, it is advisable that they trim their sails so as to get the favoring winds that prevail at present. The spread of philatelic doctrine strengthens the market for stamps and we know that the collector who wants to sell all or some of his stamps is always present. No question is asked oftener than that bearing upon the liquidation of stamps held by the collector. As collecting grows, the matter of marketability becomes of greater importance and here is room for systematic work that in the end will give the collector who backs up his belief in stamps by his dollars, an assurance of a return within fairly definite lines, when he has to sell. Happily, the collector gains in experience as he adds stamps to his album and he gets an idea of how to dispose of his stamps through the process of acquiring them, but even so, we have heard some tall tales of unprofitable realization that have a tendency to discourage the collector who sells, expecting to take up stamps again. The underlying necessity for the free selling of stamps at auction, to the dealer, through the sales department of a society and in all other ways is demand; and that demand dare not remain a stationary one. In order to stimulate demand, it is incumbent upon us to make new collectors by the score, and right here, we have the critics who pretend to think that we are over-capitalizing stamp collecting in a public sense. The one certain way in which to add to the ranks of collectors is through newspaper and periodical references to philately and any one who has had an experience in advertising knows that every time mention is made of stamp collecting in the general press, a few seeds are scattered that will develop in more or less time.

In the "Adventures of Doctor Doolittle," in the New York Tribune, the instalment in the issue of March 18th, is a regular parade of stamps. Hugh Lofting, who writes and illustrates this history of the Doctor's "peculiar life at home and his astounding experiences in foreign lands," devotes the chapter in question to a fanciful review of the stamp situation as developed in far-off countries. The section that Mr. H. E. Deats sends us is well worth reading as a genial satire; and we give a sentence or two to loan point to the remark. It is said: "Now, the people of West Africa have curious tastes in dress. They love bright things. And some Fantippo dandy started the idea of using up old stamps off letters by making suits of clothes out of them. They looked very showy and smart and a suit of this kind made of stamps became a valuable possession among the natives." Mr. Lofting knows a thing or two about stamps, we need not add.

A number of readers have sent us the advertisement of a Swiss dealer that appeared in some of the big dailies; and it would be interesting to know just what results were obtained through this expensive advertising. We regard advertising of this kind as having great possibilities but it becomes a question whether the enormous circulation that is had is not rather too diluted in a philatelic sense to make it generally effective. If there was any certainty that general newspaper advertising would pay proportionately, stamp ads would be a feature of the newspapers throughout the land.

Our European correspondent, Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, writes that he has left Paris for a visit to Belgium, Luxemburg, Switzerland and Liechtenstein. He expects to return to Paris by the end of April and to be in England for the stamp congress.

We thank Mr. Joseph B. Parker of Regina for copies of the first official size envelopes that Canada has issued of the one, two and three cents denominations. From various sources we have received samples of the Stamp Exhibition at the Royal Horticultural Hall, May 14-26, 1923, with airplane as a feature of the design.

THE HOME YIELDS TO SKEPTICS!
UNEXPECTED VICTORY of Minority Startles World—N. Y. Firm Makes Announcement
New York, April 12th. The Home of the Postage Stamp, 510 W. 113th St., N. Y. C., made a startling announcement today to the stellar reporter of THE WEEKLY. During the interview the Manager spoke of the remarkable success of the "M. C's." and displayed piles of orders and testimonials. The big surprise came when the Skeptics were mentioned. Mr. Wells said, "In order to conquer them we are discontinuing "The Manhattan Conglomeration and The Metropolitan Consternation! We announce THE MEPHISTOPHELEAN COMBINATION, The 'M. C.' of the Skeptic. 250 vars. for $1.02. We are including new issues, provisionals, high values, Central & South Am. Over 200 will be postally used and about 180 will be New and Current Issues. Some fine mint sets and some good British Colonials. All the best of former 'M. C's.', plenty of good things to attract 'repeat orders'. It is by far the best 'M. C.' yet. That's all today—Make the best of your scoop!"
THE MEPHISTOPHELEAN COMBINATION - 250 Vars. Used and Mint $1.02

THE EAGLE AUCTION

(More than ordinary interest will be taken in the sale of the Clarence H. Eagle collection to be held by J. C. Morgenthau & Co., April 4 and 5, and 9 and 10. This story appeared in the New York "Times" of April 1, and we believe it to be of enough general interest to reprint.—W. O. W.)

What is considered the finest lot of United States postage stamps to be auctioned since the dispersal of the great Worthington collection six years ago will be sold this week by J. C. Morgenthau at the Collectors Club, 120 West Forty-ninth Street. It comprises a portion of the Clarence H. Eagle collection, and, while lacking the exceptional rarities of the Worthington collection, is remarkably complete in the early issues, including practically all of the 1, 3, 5 and 10 cent varieties from 1851 through the sixties, and an unusually fine lot of pairs and blocks of four, many of them lightly canceled. Several of these are unique specimens.

For more than forty years Mr. Eagle was one of the leading philatelists in this country. He died at his home in Sands Point, Long Island, last December, and the collection is being sold for his estate. Its value has been estimated at $50,000 to $75,000. In a tribute to Mr. Eagle in the sale announcement, H. D. Watson, representing the executors, says:

"Mr. Eagle was among those who valued stamps not alone as paper of financial worth but as representative of the messages sent in and of the history of a bygone day. That he had more than a kindly feeling for his fellow-philatelists is evidenced when he stated to the writer that the gradual accumulation of this fine collection had given him such keen enjoyment that he believed it was his duty to have the collection sold, thereby giving to his fellow-collectors the same opportunity to enjoy these specimens that he had during his collecting days."

TO BE SOLD ON FOUR DAYS.

The coming sale represents only a part of the Eagle collection. The sale will begin on Wednesday and continue on April 5, 9 and 10. Another portion will be sold a few weeks later by Mr. Morgenthau, and on May 3 to 5 still another portion will be auctioned by J. M. Bartels, including a fine canceled copy of the 2-cent Pan-American issue with the inverted centre and an unused copy of the inverted 24-cent aeroplane stamp, from the sheet obtained by Colonel E. H. R. Green. These stamps are valued at $700. Colonel Green still has the largest number of these error specimens.

Mr. Eagle was an indefatigable collector of all stamps issued by the United States Government, and at one time had been credited with having the best collection of United States revenue stamps in the world. Before his death he sold a large portion of his revenue specimens. Those that he retained will be sold by Percy G. Doane. In his will Mr. Eagle left to the Congressional Library twenty-five volumes of proofs of early revenue stamps, the finest collection of this kind in existence. The Government lacked copies of most of them. Comparatively few copies of any of these proofs are in existence, and they are greatly in demand by revenue stamp collectors. Among them is a fine proof of the $1,000 stamp, 1871 issue, which was never put in use. Despite this fact, the proof copy readily sells for $100.

MANY CURIOSITIES IN LOT.

Among the curiosities in the Eagle collection to be sold this week are four bisected copies of early United States stamps used for postage at one-half the value of the regular stamp. The earliest is a diagonal half of the 10-cent black, 1847, on the original envelope with the cancellation, "Potomac Steamboat, Oct. 30." Of the 1851 issue there are two copies of the 12-cent stamp, cut diagonally to pay 6 cents postage, one being on an envelope mailed in Sacramento and the other showing a San Francisco cancellation. In the 1869 issue there is a vertical half of the 2-cent brown serving as a 1-cent on a cover from Mongaup, N. Y., to Maine. The value of this oddity is placed at $125, while the other three are quoted at $200.

The most valuable stamp or piece in the collection is a block of four of the 10-cent stamps of the first Government issue, 1847. They are canceled in blue. This block is a great rarity and was formerly in the Worthington collection. It is valued at $1,500, showing the extra value philatelists place on blocks of stamps. The value of a single copy is $25. Another rare block, which is said to be unique, comprises four 90-cent stamps of the 1857 issue on part of the original envelope sent from Washington to Hongkong. Of the rare 1861 first issue there is a splendid block of four of the 10-cent green, unused, valued at $750, and a fine unused copy of the 5-cent value from the Edgar collection, quoted at $600. All of the National and Continental Bank Note engraved issues from 1870, with many of the rare grills, are represented in excellent copies of all values and many choice used and unused blocks.

TEXAS ASS'N TO CONVENE APRIL 21.

The Texas Philatelic Ass'n will hold its 27th annual meeting in Austin, Apr. 21 for the purpose of reorganizing its by-laws to conform to a state society in every sense of the word. It being a state holiday, it is hoped that every philatelist in Texas will attend, regardless whether they are members or not. There will be a peppy business meeting, an auction, a public exhibit, an auto ride through the city and over the Mt. Bonnel Scenic Highway, and ending with a banquet at the Driskill Hotel.

A number of prominent collectors have signified their intentions of exhibiting some real stamps. Among them are E. W. Heusinger of San Antonio, who will show his wonderful collection of U. S.; Fred Green of Fort Sam Houston, rare Confederate Provisionals; A. M. Krug of Brenham and O. R. Bertram of Austin, U. S. precancels; G. W. Coryell of Boerne, Brtiish Colonial Shilling values; A. H. Schumacher of Houston, U. S. 1857 10c, and a host of others.

It is especially urged that all collectors notify the President of Austin Collectors' Club, H. C. Naschke, of their intention of attending. Address Box 332, Austin, Texas. Anyone wishing to stay over the next day will be entertained by local collectors. The meeting and exhibit will be held at the Austin Chamber of Commerce.

$1 MORTGAGE, IMPERFORATE
The $1 Mortgage, Scott's No. 3872, lists at $3.00 perforated and at $1.75 imperforate. It has always been a scarce stamp in either condition, especially when fine. I can help you to fill that space by supplying a superb, lightly cancelled copy of the imperforate variety with boardwalk margins on all four sides at $1.00.
These are extra fine copies and look as if they were cut apart to please the stamp collector. Finer copies are impossible, and I doubt if a dollar bill will buy them after this small lot is gone.
Can furnish most of those hard-to-get little green Wine stamps in mint condition, but remember Scott is away off on some of his prices.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. E. N. Costales of the Scott Stamp & Coin Company has shown me several copies of the new design 2c rotary perforated 11 horizontally and imperforate vertically and thereby hangs a tale. It seems that when a small supply of the new 2c compound perforated 11 x 10 rotary stamps made from the coil waste reached New York the latter part of February, one of the branch offices received a supply perforated 11 horizontally and without vertical perforation. They had difficulty in selling them and having no idea of their philatelic value the young lady at the window in order to facilitate their sale took it upon herself to separate them by scissors. Scott later learned of them, sent around to obtain the supply and found exactly six single copies left. These match up making pairs and they have such margins that there can be no doubt as to what they are.

These varieties occurred because some of the imperforate coil waste became mixed with that waste which had received the vertical 10 coil perforation. When they were run through the regular machine to receive the 11 horizontal perforation this imperforate waste was made into a part-perforated variety.

Mr. Benj. Cadbury calls our attention to the new back cover found on the 25c booklet. We also note that the Department still mentions Shanghai as a destination for which domestic rates prevail, and we imagine they will soon change this.

Through the courtesy of Mr. L. A. Hill, Director of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, we are enabled to bring our plate number list up to March 28, 1923.

It will be noted that in the above list we have our first 12c Cleveland plates and the first four 30c Buffalo plates. It is odd that no new 1c booklet plates have been made but they no doubt have on hand a good number of the former design and will continue to pack the new 2c with the old 1c where combination booklets are made. A plate for a new 1c coil or for a 2c endwise coil have not as yet been made.

The cracked plate variety of the 3c 1851 is a well known stamp but Mr. Eugene Klein has just shown me a horizontal strip of three wherein the left stamp has a vertical crack through the entire stamp while the subject on the right end has a crack extending from the bottom half way through the stamp. We were not of the opinion that this plate had two cracks. The strip is postmarked "New York, Aug. 4" in black within a circle.

We wish to thank Messrs. S. E. Knox, Wm. N. Taylor, Karl M. Sherman, J. H. Houston and Joseph C. Finch for notes of interest.

One of the last acts of the former Postmaster General, Hubert Work, was to issue, under date of February 28, 1923, order number 8758, effective April 1st, amending the Postal Laws and Regulations. This refers to charges for registration which heretofore has amounted to 10c in addition to regular postage which covered loss up to $50. Under the new regulations a letter may be insured up to $100 for the payment of an additional 10c, this to be paid in postage stamps to be affixed to the letter. Section 879 now reads:—The registry fees on both domestic and foreign mail shall be at the following rates and in addition to the regular postage, both of which shall be paid by stamps affixed, viz.: For domestic articles of the first class, indemnified for $50 or less, 10 cents; for over $50 and not to exceed $100, 20 cents. For domestic articles of the second class, for which no indemnity is provided, and for domestic articles of any class without intrinsic value for which indemnity will not be allowed, 10 cents. For domestic articles of the third class indemnified for not exceeding $25, 10 cents. For domestic fourth class (parcel post) articles, sealed and prepaid at the first class rate of postage, the same as first class mail. For all articles of whatever class addressed to foreign countries, 10 cents. Provision is made for making mention of the value of the registered article on the registered receipt but no mention of the increased value will show upon the cover although the payment of the double registration fee will indicate the increased value.

EGYPT.—In each sheet of 1 millieme of the current issue there exists one error, the two dots being omitted from the Arabic inscription at the right of the stamp.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

IRELAND.—We have just received from Mr. R. Roberts a copy of the new 3d ultra in the allegorical design with watermark multiple monogram as before. The centre is in the shape of a cross with "Eire" in the middle of the stamp. In each corner is the shamrock and at the base the figure of value in ea lower corner with words of value b tween.

Mr. Roberts also reports the appea ance of the ½d, three line overpri printed in rolls by Messrs. Harrison Sons.

ITALY, Offices In Turkey. — M Joseph V. K. Wells has shown us t 1 lira stamp with the overprint "7½ astre" in red in two lines.

LATVIA.—Mr. J. V. K. Wells advis that the new design of stamps with t word "Santimo" has appeared in t 10s red and 20s blue.

MALAY STATES.—Mr. R. Roberts ports the 20c lilac and black on scri watermark paper.

MEMEL.—Mr. J. V. K. Wells h shown us a copy of a 100m red in a ne design. In the centre usual design a at the top the figures of value. Bel are the letters "Klaipeda" in a curv frame with the name of the country the same shaped frame at the base.

NETHERLANDS.—Mr. W. T. Wils submits four values of a new issue th appeared about the first of March. T 1c grey and 2c red are of the same ty while the 2½c green shows the pos horn with "Nederland" at the top. T 4c blue is a diamond shaped design wi the figure of value in the centre.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—F. F. Wills ve kindly sends us the 3c brown caribou, a rich brown. The shade is very dar It is a very handsome stamp, the lin of the engraving standing out in marked manner.

PERSIA.—Mr. Joseph V. K. Wells cal our attention to the 10ch of the type A32 which is overprinted "Contro 1922" with native characters at eac side of the date. The surcharge is two lines in black. Mr. Wells also ad that he has seen the same surcharged the 1ch, 9ch and 1kr values.

PERU.—Mr. J. V. K. Wells submi for chronicle the 8c red brown and blac of the 1917-18 issue with the surcharg "CINCO Centavos 5 1923" in black an in four lines.

POLAND.—Mr. Oscar G. Whiting ad vises that he has received a new 500 stamp of violet color and printed o very thin paper, perf. 12½. Also a 100

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited, as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—C. Lat. Wilhelm disclaims the honor bestowed upon him in the WEEKLY of March 24 of being the author of the paper on Sonora stamps referred to. The paper was written by Major Hamilton, who last fall was awarded a diploma by the Academy for research work as shown in the exhibit of the Sonora issues.

—W. H. M.—We note your desire that we publish a list of U. S. Postal Cards issued during the past ten years. Will some one of our readers kindly comply with the request? Perhaps Mr. Ward will help us out.

—"Thanks to you for the editorial comment on the early issues of Peru. I had at the time an approval selection of this country and was debating whether or not to take a stamp priced at one dollar, which stamp, to me, was No. 9. After reading the comment on this stamp I looked at the copy on the sheet, and, sure enough the "O" in Franco was oblong!"—DONALD D. MULL.

—The fourth anniversary of the Philatelic Section of the Maryland Academy of Sciences, Baltimore, was held Friday, March 23, at the Academy. There was a special auction and a banquet. The regular spring public exhibit of the Section will be held May 19, from 3 to 10 p. m. Open to all.

—"March 24, 1923, under the heading 'Ruhr' you advise three new issues, which, according to the Metropolitan Stamp Co., are for use in the occupied regions of Germany. Such, however, is not the case. I received a cover from Heidelberg, Germany (outside the above area) with the three stamps in question. My correspondent informs me that these stamps are charity stamps, the face value to be applied to regular postage, the surcharged value to be used in conjunction with other funds, which are being collected by voluntary contributions, for charitable purposes in the occupied territory. He also informs me that the French authorities are suppressing the sale of these stamps in the occupied territory."—CHAS. L. WIDMAN.

PHILATELY IN NEW ZEALAND.

By "ROULETTE."

One cannot help but admire the efforts of New Zealand stamp collectors in promoting our hobby in the Dominion. With a comparatively small population, Societies are gradually cropping up in the various centres, and it is gratifying to learn that the senior Society, the Philatelic Society of New Zealand, has now a total of over 758 members.

There were people who deplored the idea of New Zealand breaking away from Australia in the matter of a Stamp Exhibition and Congress, but collectors in New Zealand have their own way of doing things, and doing them well, and maybe feel their energetic efforts have not so far been appreciated to their due extent. It must also not be forgotten that New Zealand is a thousand miles from Australia, and it is an expensive matter for her stamp collectors to go to the Commonwealth in order to attend stamp exhibitions and congresses; therefore it is quite natural and just that the Dominion should go "pat."

A little more encouragement from the philatelic press in the Mother Country regarding the progress of philately in New Zealand would not be amiss. We know the stamps of Ao-Tea-Roa have a "good hearing," but more broadcasting of what our brothers of the Antipodes are doing on behalf of philately would create a closer bond of friendship, and mayhap produce useful results from the experience they have gained to the advancement of philately.

The efforts of the New Zealand Stamp Journal (brought to an end through the outbreak of War) in fostering philately in the Dominion, have been ably revived in the New Zealand Stamp Collector, which has consistently endeavoured to put before the philatelic world the progress of stamp collecting in that country. The N. Z. S. C. is doing excellent work alone, not only in gathering in recruits for the Societies, but in the publication, in its pages, of articles more particularly referring to the stamps of the Dominion and the numerous islands of the Pacific; while the proprietors also have already successfully produced several good philatelic works written by New Zealanders.

We should watch New Zealand, and nurse her. The J.P.S. started young, and the result has amazed even the most sanguine people. The simile may be drawn regarding New Zealand, and to prophesy a rapid advance in the science of philately by this Dominion is not to be depreciated.—S. C. Fortnightly.

HISTORY FROM POSTAGE STAMPS.

By CHARLES G. WILSON.

The history of Liberia, which has long been a prolific source of picturesque animal stamps ever a joy to the heart of the juvenile collector, is a history that is of special interest to Americans.

The State of Liberia owes its origin to the efforts of the National Colonization Society of America organized in 1816 to colonize in Africa the free negroes in the United States. From a small settlement at Cape Mesurado in 1821 the colony grew in spite of trials, and many vicissitudes, until in 1847 Liberia was proclaimed and recognized an independent Republic. Prosperity for the Republic quickly followed; churches and schools in great numbers were founded, a regular postal system introduced, newspapers established and slavery abolished in the neighboring native states. In 1909 President Roosevelt appointed a commission to investigate the general status of affairs in Liberia. The result of this investigation was the announcement that the United States acting in harmony with Great Britain, France, and Germany, would thenceforth supervise military, financial, boundary and agricultural questions in the negro Republic.

The Liberian constitution is framed after that of the United States. The executive authority is vested in a President and Vice-President (elected for 4 years) and the Council of 6 members. The legislative power rests with a Congress of 2 houses—the Senate (8 members), and the House of Representatives (14 members).

The capital of the country is named Monrovia after President Monroe of the United States.

30,000 VARIETIES!

We have just received from Italy a mammouth collection of unusual value—about 30,000 varieties, 98% of which appear to be in good to very fine condition. Particularly strong in 20th Century, many of the war, occupation and new issues being in complete sets, including the rarities. French, British and the ex-German colonies, mostly unused, are also plentiful, while in U. S. the Columbian, Trans-Mississippi issues, etc., are complete. As usual there are several hundred varieties recognized by the Yvert catalogue, but unlisted by Scott, but these will in no way detract from the inherent quality of the collection.

All in all, this collection is an unusually large and a truly magnificent assembling—one which will delight the heart of any philatelist.

In pursuance with our policy, we are offering it intact,—just as received—at a close-to-cost price which will no doubt attract an immediate purchaser. Furthermore, we refuse to accept any order except with an iron-bound agreement that money will be refunded in full if the purchaser is not entirely satisfied.

30,000 Varieties, - - Special Price $2,245.00

N. B. Upon receipt of a substantial deposit, we are ready to submit the collection for inspection to any interested party whose reliability is established. [84

MARCH SUBSCRIPTIONS.

It pleases us very much this month to announce that all but seven of those whose names are displayed below have sent in additional subscriptions during the past month. This is an indication of how general an interest is taken in pushing the WEEKLY for new subscriptions. The list of those who have sent in ten or more is a very imposing one, and there are several who sent in nine but did not quite qualify for the special mention given those who secured ten or over. The Hussman Co. of St. Louis, turning in thirty-seven subscriptions, with a total of 143, is close upon the heels of the Fennell Co., with 159. Among the newcomers mention should be made of the Buckey Stamp Co., whose total of 20 includes 14 sent in during March. The leaders for March are as follows:—

THE PRECANCEL DEPARTMENT.

Edited by FREDERICK W. ALLEN, 521 So. 4 St., Grand Forks, N. D.

New Issue Survey.—The new stamps are quite generally being precancelled. The 25c denomination is proving popular. Among the first cities to precancel it are the following: Akron, O., Bridgeport, Conn., Great Falls, Mont., Grennell, Ia., La Junta, Colo., McCook, Nebr., Kansas City, Mo., Rochester, Minn., St. Louis, Mo., Sanger, Calif., Terre Haute, Ind., Toledo, Ohio, and Torrington, Conn. On the 10c stamp Chicago, Cincinnati, Detroit, Lincoln, Nebr., New York, and Milwaukee take the lead. Baltimore, Chicago and New York first precanceled the 5c Roosevelt. The 3c has been reported from but one town. Mr. R. Edward Sharp, of Atlanta, Ga., states that Hickory, N. C., has precanceled this stamp, as well as the 10c Monroe. Toledo, O., and Flint, Mich., are out on the 2c, and also Chicago, New York and others. Chicago and New York are precanceling the horizontal and vertical 2c coils.

Atoman, Kans.—Sec. John L. Parker of the I.P.C., shows me a 6c 1902 from this town. The type is similar to U—8 but the letters have caps. I believe it is a unique item.

Boonville, N. Y.—This city has been using an electrotype similar to Brooklyn, for some time. Mr. Robt. Hess called it to my attention.

Branford, Conn.—I am the recipient of a 2c precancel, which was kindly sent in by Mr. J. R. Vichols. Branford stepped into the fold Xmas 1922 and employed a handstamped type, which makes a very tidy looking precancel.

Cincinnati, O.—The 10 cent perf. 11 with the U—3 type should be scarce as the new issue stamp superseded it very shortly after it appeared.

Clinton, Mo.—Mr. Chas. Whitaker, Sr., informs me that Clinton uses all values precanceled with a handstamp. There is a very special use for them, as they pay the postage on cardboard cartons containing baby chicks. There are several large chicken hatcheries which ship an immense number of baby chicks weekly. I guess if we want to locate a nice lot of Clinton precancels, we had better ramble out to the country.

Connersville, Ind. — Type somewhat like Poughkeepsie, N. Y. I have seen nearly all values up to 50c and also the Special Delivery.

Des Moines, Ia.—The 13 cent is now coming in both Type V and Type VII. Type VII makes a pretty showing with its three line inscription and heavy bars.

Fort Madison, Ia.—The 7, 9, 11, 15 and 20 have been noted so it may be presumed that all values from 1 to 20 cent save perhaps the 13c, are being used. Outside of the 1c and 2c they are quite scarce.

Lawrence, Kans.—This town is coming on all values from 1 to 30c in a type similiar to U—15.

Lincoln, Nebr.—As a new type came into use shortly before the 10 cent Monroe was precanceled, the 10 cent Franklin in this type is going to be a good stamp to hold on to. The 5c Pilgrim has appeared in the current type or U—18 as it is classified by Bushnell.

Newark, N. Y.—Mr. John L. Parker reports the 2, 4, 5, 8, 10, 20, 30, 50 cent and 15 cent double. They are many times scarcer than those of Newark, N. J.

Newmans Grove, Nebr.—I have seen all values from this little Nebraska town, except the 5 cent. Also the Special Delivery. The type U—6 shows up well and seems to have been carefully applied for nothing but normals have been noticed.

Newton, Kans.—The $1.00 precanceled in the regular type but with red ink is a new one. Perhaps the red ink shows up better, anyhow it makes a more attractive precancel.

Providence, R. I.—For many years any inverts coming from Providence were accounted as rare, and they were. Lately, however, they have become more plentiful and I have seen a number, among which are the 1, 2, 5, 6, 9, 10 and 20 cent.

Portsmouth, Ohio.—Mr. N. J. Keely reports the 4, 7, 8, 11, 20, 50, $1.00 normal and 50 inverted. I have seen most of the other values.

Sidney, Ohio.—Another new town, which is using precancels throughout the year. The 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10 and 12 have so far been brought to my attention.

Waterbury, Conn.—Waterbury is using the same type of electro as Lincoln, Nebr. Most values have appeared and they will improve the looks of any album.

Yakima, Wash.—Mr. E. J. Newcomer reports that Yakima used precancels for the first time Xmas 1922. The type used was plain caps without lines, all values from 1 to 50 cent, except the 13, were canceled.

Conclusion.—I wish to thank Messrs. F. H. Parnell, A. S. Chandler, J. A. Johnson, E. S. Ward, Julius Kurtz, Joseph Peter and others for their cooperation. Any notes of interest will be appreciated and acknowledged.

1,500 French Colonies

A fine assortment of 1,500 all different French Colonies only (no France), with minor varieties excluded. About 75% of the stamps are mint, and the condition is superb throughout. Both old and new issues are well represented, as are also occupation stamps such as Cameroons, Niger Territory, Togo; Red Cross and Charity stamps; the hard-to-get "large" stamps from Obock, Somali Coast; 1912 provisional issues, etc., etc. Some of the sets are complete through the 1 franc and 5 franc values. An excellent little collection for any collector who is weak in French Colonials—and hard to beat for real value.

"FINDS."

By D. R. Heath.

Occasionally one reads of the experiences philatelically of some "old timer" that makes us of these days a least bit "green with envy"—as we are told of how they bought this and that rarity of today for a few cents each, and it is only in the last week I read of buying 5c 1847's for 15c. (However, this was years ago.)

Not being an "old timer" I think my experience is rather a unique one and possibly will bear relating. During the years of 1908-09-10, I became acquainted with a lady in St. Louis, Mo., whose "business" was that of a stamp broker; buying mail order house, etc., receipts of stamps, and in turn doing mailing for firms in that city, also selling them stamps. She, by buying at a discount, and charging a certain rate for stamping the thousands of envelopes sent her, made quite a nice little business.

When I first knew her and was permitted to go through her "stock" of stamps, I could not find anything unusual, but she got accustomed to watching out for anything odd, such as folded ends, shades, etc., and I managed to make my time worth while, by stopping in occasionally and getting whatever she had put aside for me to look over—incidentally I might say that I got a pair of the 10c coil (No. 330B) in this manner, and it was nobody's fault but my own that I did not get more, as I handled almost the entire coil; the only one ever sent to St. Louis.

However it remained for the spring of 1910 to bring out what I think was my most interesting "find." It happened that I was in her office one morning, and upon my leaving, not having found anything of value to me, was hardly outside the door, when she called me back, stating she had run across an odd-looking stamp, in a lot she had received from the "St. Louis Post Dispatch" a few days before, and not being able to use it had put it in her pocketbook. You can only imagine my surprise when she laid out an unused New York 5c stamp, and asked me whether I wanted it! I told her that I really did not feel able to judge what it was worth and pay her accordingly, even if it did have a slight tear, and of course was almost overcome when I was told that I could have it for what she had paid for it—face value. Needless to say, I,—well, I still have it.

More than the fact that today stamps of that period are getting better and better, and the peculiar position I hold of having purchased it at the price I did, is that Mr. O. S. Hart, who I think had more stamps of that issue in his possession than any other collector (something like 469 of them, I think he said); told me that out of all these, he only had two unused copies.

HARRY B. MASON IN PRINT.

The Washington (D. C.) Times-Herald of Sunday, April 1, contained an interview with Harry B. Mason of that city. It is evidently introductory to a publicity campaign about to be waged in connection with the A. P. S. convention to be held in Washington during the five days beginning August 13. Attention is called to the fact that the Shoreham Hotel will be the headquarters, and a feature of the great event will be an auction sale of thousands of dollars worth of rare stamps. The clipping gives Mr. Mason credit for having persuaded last year's convention to make Washington the 1923 meeting-place.

IRISH POSTMARKS.

By Michael F. O'Donnell.

Publicity has, from time to time, been given to the Provisional issues and varieties of the Irish Free State stamps, and collectors, no doubt, are very grateful for this valuable information. It is regretted, however, that collectors of Irish Postmarks are so reticent in the interests of this fascinating hobby. Is it through want of knowledge of the language?

There are, I understand, six electrically driven machines installed in the Dublin area—three at the head sorting office in Parnell Square, and one each at Ballsbridge, James Street, and Rathmines. And since the advent of Mr. J. J. Walsh, the first Irish Postmaster General under the Provisional Government, events have moved rapidly, notwithstanding the hamperings in its administration of the Irish Postal Service. It may be truly said that no government department has done more than the Irish Postal Service to foster and promote the study of the Irish language. Hence we see telegraph forms and postal orders printed in Irish. So too may pillar boxes and mail vans be seen bearing Irish inscriptions. We see also daily changes in our Irish postmarks. The "Bally—" and "Kill—" of yesterday become the "Baile—" (Town) and "Cill—" (Church) of today.

Want of knowledge of the Irish language should not be an impediment to collectors, for invaluable information may be derived from two small books entitled "Post Sheanchas" (Postal Guide) published in Dublin. These books may be had through the Publishers' Dublin Agent, Maire ni Raghallaigh, 87 Upper Dorset Street, Dublin, They embrace hundreds of Irish Post-towns, and are divided into

and Part 2, Irish-English (published at 2s/6d).

These books will prove of great assistance to collectors, and are the most comprehensive works of the kind published.

A pleasant and inexpensive hobby now awaits collectors who should chronicle any changes coming under this notice.

THE DISPERSAL OF THE EAGLE COLLECTION.

By J. M. BARTELS.

Mr. Clarence H. Eagle, whose death occurred shortly after Christmas, was a collector of U. S. for many years. During the earlier period of his activity in stamps he was a specialist in U. S. Revenues and accumulated the finest collection of these ever assembled. It was complete in all the inverts and had about everything in pairs, blocks and strips that was ever known to exist. It included also Match and Medicine stamps equally complete. Several sections of this wonderful collection were sold and broken up years ago. He had kept his perforated issues in blocks and strips and these will be sold at auction shortly by Percy G. Doane. The unique collection of Revenue Proofs filling twenty-five volumes was bequeathed to the Library of Congress and has also been accepted.

In later years Mr. Eagle devoted his attention almost entirely to the Postal Issues of the U. S. and it is the sale of this wonderful collection which is now attracting nation-wide attention. Mr. H. D. Watson, representing his executors, has paid the following tribute to his friend in turning over the collection for sale at auction to Mr. J. C. Morgenthau:—

"This offering comprises the collection of the late Clarence H. Eagle of New York City, and many of the items are familiar to our philatelists as most of the pieces have been on exhibition both at the Collectors Club and elsewhere. It was one of Mr. Eagle's characteristics that he was always willing to serve the members of our fraternity either by showing his stamps, or to give information in regard to matters that continually arise in the science of Philately. He was a close student of the subject and his ability to grasp its smallest details seems almost a gift that few of us have the patience to develop. He was among those that value stamps not alone as paper of financial worth but as representative of the messages sent in and of the history of a by-gone day. That he had more than a kindly feeling for his fellow Philatelists is evidenced when he stated to the writer that the gradual accumulation of this fine collection had given him such keen enjoyment that he believed it was his duty to have the collection sold, thereby giving to his fellow collectors the same opportunity to enjoy these specimens that he had during his collecting days. In time to come we trust that those into whose hands these specimens will fall will keep him in memory among the leaders in our beloved pursuit who have gone on before."

The first four sessions of the sale were held by Mr. Morgenthau April 4, 5, 9 and 10. They comprised stamps on covers and U. S. general issues to about 1890. The strong feature of the collection is the wonderful lot of blocks, strips and pairs, not only unused but also in used condition. In used blocks we are sure this collection had no rival. Due to the extreme rarity of many of the latter in any condition this collection contained numerous pieces which only exist with defects. The wisdom of this method of collecting was however proven by the excellent prices realized at the sale.

The first session consisted of 448 lots on original covers. Among the most important items were the following: New York, two pairs and one cover, one stamp creased, $250; 1851, 5c, very fine, $97; 12c, diagonal half used as 6c, $115; 1857, 30c, very fine, $67; pair of same, $172.50; 1861, 5c buff, block of four, three stamps damaged, $117.50; 1869, 24c, pair and single on one cover, $112; 30c on cover with 12c to Hong Kong, $160. The floor bidding at this session which realized $5,981.90 was especially heavy as 73% of the lots were knocked down to those personally present, while the percentage in value must have exceeded 90%.

The second session was the most interesting of the series as it contained issues 1845 to 1861 not on cover. There were in all 480 lots, which drew a splendid attendance of around fifty, a decided exception in New York. Nearly all prominent specialists were there in person; several of them had come a long distance. The session reached a handsome total of $14,803.90, with again

New Dollar Cover Bundles

Last fall I advertised these cover bundles without describing their contents, and I asked MEKEEL'S readers to take a chance on them. Fifty or more placed confidence in me and my bundles and not one bundle came back as unsatisfactory. Is that proof?

The 1923 bundles contain from five to fifteen United States original covers, mostly of issues prior to 1890. Quite different from the old bundles.

The fourth session of the first Morgenthau Sale of the Eagle Collection comprise issues 1870 and later, again very strong in blocks and odd pieces, but not so many of high priced items.

The J. M. Bartels Co. will sell on May 3 and 5 the issues 1890 to date, practically complete in blocks, though the inverted Pan-Americans and 24c Aeroplane are represented by single copies. Issues 1890 and 1895 are complete in imperf. blocks, also the perf. issues incl. all $2 and $5 stamps, many also used. In this sale the early issues are fairly strong in scarce cancellations, also in covers and rare Telegraph stamps.

No fewer than five different concerns are selling sections of the Eagle Collection of U. S. We have not learned the contents of the other two. J. C. Morgenthau & Co. also sell the highly specialized collection of the 1869 issue, the Departments and Newspaper stamps, which include many fine blocks.

A POEM OF PRAISE.

The following lines appeared in a London paper on the first day of penny postage:—

Hail, joyous day! The Postage Bill Brings blessings great and many;
And, best of all, say what we will,
  It only costs a penny.

From John o' Groats to Eng-land's end,
  From Norfolk to Kilkenny,
A letter now may reach a friend,
  And only cost a penny.

The dying miser writes—"Dear son,
  My days will not be many."
The youth exclaims—"God's will be done!
  This news is worth a penny."

Dame Nature will her right pursue;
  Fond Jack woo smiling Jenny;
A note brimful of love—if true,
  Is surely worth a penny.

Hurrah! Hurrah! May Rowland Hill
  Ne'er want "the ready penny;"
To him we owe the Postage Bill,
  And blessing great and many.

HISTORY FROM POSTAGE STAMPS.

By Charles G. Wilson.

The stamps of British India of the regular issues of 1881-98 surcharged "C.E.F." (Chinese Expeditionary Force) are a souvenir of the Boxer War of 1900.

The organization known popularly as Boxers was in the beginning a patriotic volunteer militia intended for the country's defence against foreign aggression. At first it had the favor of well-meaning Chinamen but it soon became controlled by fanatics whose motto was "Exterminate the foreigners." Prompted by the Empress Dowager the Boxers began a series of outrages against all foreigners in the Flowery Kingdom. A reign of terror broke out in Pekin and the foreign Legations were besieged. On June 20th the German Ambassador Baron Von Ketteler was murdered in the streets of the Capital.

An allied army was assembled in Taku for the relief of the foreign diplomatic corps, who for two months, gathered in the British Legation, had endured the horrors of a siege entirely cut off from communication with the outside world. The relief force of 18,000 men composed of Japanese, Russians, English, French and Americans reached Pekin and raised the siege of the Legations on the 14th of August.

An indemnity of $333,000,000 was levied against China by the Allies on account of the depredations of the Boxers. In this connection it is interesting to note that during the administration of President Roosevelt the share of this money which fell to the United States was returned to China with the provision that it be used to establish a fund for the education of young Chinamen in American Universities.

BRITISH CENTRAL AFRICA AND NYASALAND PROTECTORATE.

By Fred. J. Melville.

Chapter IV.

Nyasaland Protectorate Issue.

Issue XIV.—By an Order in Council of July 6, 1907, published in the London Gazette, September 3, 1907, the designation of the territory previously known as the British Central Africa Protectorate was changed to that of Nyasaland Protectorate, and a new Constitution was established and came into force on October 21, 1907. The change of name led to a change of stamps, and a new series commenced to make its appearance about July, 1908. It is a King's head series, but of the more ornate pattern recently adopted for the De La Rue printings of various Colonial Stamps, and bears the new title of the territory "Nyasaland Protectorate." The values are, ½d, 1d, 3d, 4d, 6d, 1sh, 2s6d, 4sh, 10sh, £1 and £10. The 1sh is on single Crown CA paper, the ½d and 1d on unsurfaced Multiple CA paper, and all the rest are on surfaced Multiple CA paper, perforated 14. The 4d is recorded with inverted watermark. The earliest known postmark is Zomba, July 20.

The stamps of the values ½d to 1sh are printed in sheets of 120 in two panes of 60 stamps each (ten rows of six), the high values, 2s6d to £10, in sheets of sixty in five rows of twelve stamps.

The duty-plate of the half-penny stamp exhibits some small imperfections producing a variety of coloured dots in the lower end of the uncoloured label bearing the word POSTAGE at the left.

Issue XV.—In 1913 the first stamps of the Georgian issue for the Protectorate appeared, on April 1. They were in the same style of head plates to fit the duty plates which had been used during the late reign. The values issued then were the ½d, 1d, 2½d, 4d, 6d, 1s, 2s6d, 4s, 10s, £1 and £10. A 3d denomination was added in 1914, and a 2d value in 1915. The shades of the colours of the lower denominations in particular varied considerably during the war period, the ½d green was produced in a bright shade in 1916, a blue-green in 1918, and a deep green in 1919. The 1d originally a rose-red, was printed in scarlet in 1916, and has since reverted to more nearly the original colour. The 2d has lately been printed in a darker shade of grey than its original colour; the 2½d ranges from a dull to a bright-blue; the 4d has been printed in slightly different shades on yellow and on lemon coloured paper. The paper is watermarked multiple Crown over CA, but the 4d is known on lemon without watermark.

Issue XVI.—At the time of writing the halfpenny and sixpence stamps of the Georgian series have been printed on the new paper introduced in 1920 for the stamps printed to the order of the Crown Agents for the Colonies. This is a multiple Crown over CA, but with the initials in a flowing Script style, instead of Roman, and with an improved Crown device.

Chapter V.

Nyasaland Field Force.

The outbreak of war in 1914 involved the Nyasaland Protectorate in hostilities with German East Africa, and the Nyasaland Field Force, commanded by Major General (now Sir) E. Northey, co-operated with other British and Allied forces in the conquest of the late German colony. Major-General Northey applied to the Governor of the Protectorate, Sir George Smith, for stamps to be used by members of the force on registered letters, parcels, etc., and it was originally suggested that the stamps of the Nyasaland Protectorate should be overprinted for the purpose with the initials "N.F.F." for Nyasaland Field Force. Either by accident or on account of shortage of type, the overprint was abbreviated to "N.F." and this was applied to a quantity of sheets of the ½d, 1d, 3d, 4d and 1s stamps.

The overprint was applied in black, in a setting of sixty repetitions, arranged to conform to the panes of sixty stamps; the printing was carried out at the office of the Government Printer at Zomba, and although carefully done a few minor varieties, and one error, occurred. The minor varieties, with the positions in which they occur in the setting are:—

Small stop after "N"—No. 1 in pane.

No stop after "F"—No. 35 in pane.

No serif to left of "N"—No. 55 in pane.

Early in 1919 some Portuguese Nyassa stamps were postmarked with the "Nyasaland F.F.2" field post chop and were said to be issued in that form for the use of the British Imperial Forces stationed at Mtengula, a Portuguese port on Lake Nyassa. Such stamps cannot be regarded as stamps of the Nyasaland Field Force, and the circumstance of their production in 207 level sets of twelve values is probably sufficient evidence of their entirely fanciful character. The values in the sets were the 2½, 5, 10, 20, 25, 50, 75, 100, 200, 300, 400 and 500 reis.

CHAPTFR VI.
Forgeries.

Early in 1919 Mr. T. Allen detected among some stamps offered him from Italy clever forgeries of the £1 and £10 of Issue IX (1897). The counterfeits are of a very deceptive character, being printed on watermarked paper, which has evidently been obtained by cleaning off the design from some common British Colonial fiscal stamp.

The chief differences remarkable in the forgeries are as detailed by Mr. Allen:

Paper.—This has a very transparent appearance in the forgeries. This is evidently caused by the cleaning off of the other design; apparently some substance has been removed from the paper in the cleaning process. The paper has a very "greasy" feel, as compared with the genuine stamps.

Perforation.—The perforation in the genuine stamps gauges 14; in the forgeries, 15. Collectors are warned not to rely too much on this test, however, as it was probably an oversight on the part of the forger in selecting a fiscal stamp perforated 15 instead of 14.

Postmarks.—Those on the three forgeries examined by Mr. Allen were all different. He states "they are absurd and utterly wrong, as such postmarks do not exist."

Colour.—The forgeries are in an entirely different shade from the genuine stamps.

Background.—The white background around the Arms in the centre of the stamp should be perfectly white, whereas in the forgeries the background has a dirty grey appearance. This may be due to the inability of the forger to remove all the colouring of the previous design.

Shading.—The lines of shading in the corner angles of the forgeries are coarse and blurred. In the genuine stamps the lines of shading are extremely fine, clear and well-defined. The same remarks apply to the lines of shading in the scrolls on the left and right of the shield.

CHAPTER VII.
Postmarks.

There is considerable confusion over the cancelling marks seen on the stamps under review in this handbook. There can be little doubt also that the cancellations intended for postal purposes and those intended for fiscal use were at times used indiscriminately, and this has given rise to the supposition that some of the long fiscal stamps overprinted B. C.A. on the British South Africa company's issues were used postally. We quote some correspondence on this point from which it is clear that where (as doubtless was the case in several districts) the Postmaster and Revenue Officer was one and the same individual, it was an easy mistake to use the tax cancellation in lieu of the postal one, and vice versa.

The first two letters were addressed to Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. by the Postmaster-General.

"Nov. 13th, 1896.

SIRS:—I have the honour to inform you, in reply to your inquiry of yesterday, that none of the Revenue stamps of British Central Africa were ever used postally.

The one you sent me has been taken off an expired license, and has been improperly obliterated.

There is a special stamp issued to cancel Revenue stamps, and in addition Revenue officers are instructed to write the date across the stamp.

In the case in question the Revenue officer at Port Herald is also Postmaster, and the mistake has thus arisen.

I return the stamp sent for me to see.

I have the honour to be, sirs,
Your obedient Servant,
(Signed) J. E. McMASTER,
Postmaster-General, B.C.A."

"BRUSSELS,
December 19th, 1896.

SIRS:—I have the honour to enclose for your perusal a letter from the Postmaster of Port Herald, B.C. Africa, with reference to the Revenue stamps of that Protectorate.

You will note that the said Revenue stamps were never used postally, and that the cancellation with the postal postmark was, as I expected, a mistake on the part of the Posmaster, who, as collector of Revenue of the same district, was supplied with two sets of obliterators, one for postal and one for the Revenue purposes, and in error used the postal obliteration for the Revenue purposes.

I have the honour to be, sirs,
Your obedient servant,
(Signed) J. E. McMASTER,
Postmaster-General, B.C.A."

Copy of letter from Postmaster of Port Herald enclosed in above:—

"SURBITON,
December 18th, 1896.

SIR:—In reply to your letter of the 14th inst., I have the honour to inform you that those long Revenue stamps you mention were never used postally, and the reason the date-stamp appears on them was that, having a large number of the papers to issue one day, it saved time, as it did away with the necessity of writing in the date in ink on the tax stamps.

I have the honour to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,
(Signed) H. GALT,
Postmaster, Port Herald.
The Postmaster-General,
B. C. Africa."

The usual hut tax cancellation appears to have consisted of a large circle with the words British Central Africa within, conforming to the circumference of the circle, and the town name either across the centre or at the bottom between the beginning of "British" and the end of "Africa." This cancellation is found both dated and undated in black, in violet, and in light blue. In some cases the date is in the type, and in some cases, is written in after the cancelling st has been impressed. The cancellat of this class that have come under notice have emanated from the foll ing places:—

Ruo, Blantyre, Milanui, Zomba, I Bay, West Shire, Johnston, Karo Port Herald.

A similar large circular mark is scribed "Her Britannic Majesty's (sular Court Blantyre. Director of (toms—[Date]—British Central Afri This, of course, is not a postal canc tion.

The small size marks which may be ta generally to be the postal obliterat are in a variety of forms—oval, circ and the familiar "squared circle" t There are small, oval-shaped marks c posed of thick lines with the ce broken by a rectangular piercing (taining numerals, of which we have or had reported numbers 563, 833, 854, 855, 860, 863, 871, 872, and (?) As these numeral marks are mostly the old British South Africa Compa stamps overprinted B.C.A., we proached the Secretary as to whe there was any key to the use of t numeral cancellations, but no such is known. There is also a series of marks in a circular type with thin b pierced in the centre with a circle (taining letters B, K, H, etc. These w in use from the very first issue.

THE P. O AND THE EXHIBITION.

By the RIGHT HON. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN, P.C., M.P., (Late H.M. Postmaster-General,) Honorary President of the London International Stamp Exhibition, 1923.

It was with pleasure and interest that I accepted the invitation to become Honorary President of the London International Stamp Exhibition which is being organised by the Junior Philatelic Society for next May.

Although not a philatelist, I recognise that the Post Office has no more trusty friend and servitor than the postage stamp, which has fulfilled its useful duties for over eighty years. It was the introduction of the stamp, with its convenience to the public in prepaying postage, and the removal of the tedious and costly process of collecting postal charges on delivery, that made uniform Penny Postage possible in 1840. That was the beginning of the greatness of the British Post Office, on which the postal services of the world have since been modelled.

My respect for the postage stamp may not equal the devotion of the philatelist to his treasures. But it enables me to appreciate the variety and interest there is in collecting these tokens, which I look forward to seeing represented in the forthcoming Exhibition.

I am assured that the study of stamps leads philatelists to a considerable knowledge of the working of the postal services. That is all to the good, for a fuller understanding of the working of the Post Office on the part of the public conduces to the greater efficiency of its services.

No doubt in its great variety of stamps, rare and otherwise, the Exhibition will provide some interesting studies in the art of stamp designing and printing in many countries. It will also afford some useful comparisons, artistic and technical, between the different processes of manufacture. This will naturally be of interest to my Department, which spends over £100,000 a year in the manufacture of our stamps, and which also has charge of the manufacture of the stamps for British India.

It is thus not inappropriate that as Postmaster-General I should take a deep interest in the Exhibition, and in doing so I am only following the example of many of my predecessors in office who have been associated in the past with the Junior Philatelic Society's Exhibitions.

I sincerely hope that it will be a great success.—Philatelic Magazine.

VARIATIONS DUE TO SLIPPAGE

By L. G. BARRETT and F. G. FLOYD

While engaged in making drawings to illustrate Mr. Randall's article on the surcharged postal cards that appeared in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, Mr. Barrett was considerably disturbed to discover certain discrepancies in the surcharge impressions. These postal cards were surcharged in many of the larger cities of the U. S., from dies supplied by the postal authorities, no two of which were alike although all were of one design and several were almost identical. Mr. Randall obtained his stock of the several varieties of cards direct from the postmasters of the various cities and Mr. Barrett made the drawings from these cards. Instead of furnishing the draftsman one specimen card of each type, the whole stock was sent so that Mr. Barrett had before him for study, several specimens of each type. In going through these seeking for perfect copies for illustration, it was noticed that cards from certain cities, coming from the same post-office and supposedly alike, were not, in fact, identical. This discovery led to considerable argument and discussion between us as to the possible cause.

The surcharging was done on regular cancelling machines by means of special surcharging dies. Two types of machine were in use, known as the International and Universal. It was found that the variations noticed occurred only in offices using the Universal machine. In this one cards are fed in and conveyed to a position directly in front of a rapidly revolving die, where they receive the surcharge impression. Our various theories and speculations culminated eventually in a correspondence with Mr. A. H. Pitney, one of the inventors of the Universal machines, who graciously permits Mr. Floyd to print his letter which follows.

"Mr. F. G. FLOYD,
West Roxbury, Mass.
Dear Sir:

Replying to your inquiry of recent date would state that the discrepancy you have observed and described in the size and shape of the different characters in the printing die, is due to a variation in the speed of the letter or card passing through the machine.

While the machines are originally designed so that the forward speed of the mail and the peripheral speed of the die are the same, the constant wear and reduction size of the rubber feed rollers or possibly too much friction on the separator roll, revolving in an opposite direction, in order to allow the passage of only one piece of mail at a time, has the tendency of reducing the forward speed of the letter or card; whereas the die itself revolves, when released by the clutch mechanism, at a constant rate of speed. It must, therefore, be apparent, that if the die revolves at a speed in excess of the forward speed of the letter or card, the imprint shows a slight elongation due to the slippage or difference in speed at the point of contact.

A. H. PITNEY."

THE WASHINGTON AGENCY

By courtesy WM. E. BRIGHAM.

It is not generally known that Postmaster General New has a pet post office of his own. This pet is the Departmental Philatelic Agency, occupying quarters in the Washington City Post Office Building. Its function is to supply stamps to collectors.

Receipts at the agency for the first quarter of 1923, ending March 31, amounted to $41,000. This equals the amount of revenue reported during the previous quarter by a number of first-class post offices, including, Danville, East St. Louis and Moline, Illinois, Burlington, Iowa and Richmond, Ind. It almost equals receipts for the same quarter at LaFayette and Elkhart, Indiana, Hagerstown, Maryland and Joplin, Missouri.

The Philatelic Agency, however, has a great advantage over these post offices, since its receipts are all profit, coming, as they do, from stamp collectors who do not use the stamps for the purpose for which they were originally intended, but paste them in collection books.

EARLY FOREIGN PACKETS AT 1-5 CATALOGUE

OUR U. S. AND BRITISH COLONIAL PACKETS HAVE MET WITH SUCH UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION THAT WE HAVE DECIDED TO MAKE A SIMILAR OFFER IN GENERAL FOREIGN PACKETS, AT THE RATE OF

$100. Catalog value for $20.00
$500. Catalog value for $100.00
$1000. Catalog value for $200.00
$5000. Catalog value for $1000.00
$10000. Catalog value for $2000.00

These Packets contain only 19th Century Issues, No Duplicates, and no stamp under $1, all in good average condition. This is an excellent opportunity to acquire the scarcer stamps at a fraction of their value. Most of our packets have been bought by dealers who seem to have no difficulty in getting a good profit on them.

OUR BEST GUARANTEE—We will immediately refund your money on any of these packets, if for any reason you are not entirely satisfied—YOU ARE THE ONLY JUDGE.

EDITORIAL.

We are assured of an American representation at the London International Stamp Exhibition, at Horticultural Hall, in May, as we are told that here and there collectors are planning to attend this great event. The activities of those who have worked to make the exhibition a success are reaching their culmination and we are confident that the exhibition will be the most momentous one ever dedicated to philately. Universal rejoicing will follow the consummation of the plans that have been worked out so well; and we know that an increase of interest in philately on the part of the public will be one of the results of the exhibition.

It is apparent from reports that come to us that the regulations regarding the importation of stamps from abroad are not wholly understood, at all the ports of entry. Protests are made at the manner in which some cases are handled and at the arbitrary action of operatives. Now, Mr. J. M. Bartels gives us his experience with the ruling of the New York custom house that American stamps are taxable when once sent out of the country and then returned here, under the section that goods manufactured in the United States and reimported are subject to a duty of 25%. There is a tendency for some of the port collectors to become rather more exacting than formerly but usually after due explanation, the stamp importer can make his position understood. When the dealer feels that he has not been given consideration, he should refer his case to the customs head, who, we should say, will give ear to honest complaints and use his authority according to reason.

Some time ago, we noticed in the Australian Stamp Journal a serious warning to stamp "producers" on the score of the great number of new stamps that is issued with all too little justification. Our friend does not hesitate to deplore the coming of the host of British colonials following the introduction of a new watermark and says pointedly that if a change in watermark was considered advisable, the alterations in the design of the stamps should have been accomplished at the same time. We do not suppose that there will ever be any unanimity of opinion on the subject of new issues as generally speaking there are two camps, those in one of which profess to feel that the more new issues the merrier while the opposing element say they are coming in such number as to blanket interest.

"Will you give me a line to say that I have just met the old-fashioned collector who irrigates his fore-finger and using it as a magnet, brings the stamp off the flat surface to within the line of vision?" asks a willing helper. Certainly, although we think that we have paid our disrespects to this survivor of the "tongless" age, on a former occasion.

A stamp crank was beguiled into going on the stage in response to the persuasive invitation of the magician, Thurston, at one of his performances, recently; and he was put through a course of sprouts that seemed harrowing to him, judging from the way in which the victim clutched at his heart, to all appearances. After the ordeal was over and he found his way back to his seat, his friend asked why he had held his hand constantly in the region of his breast-pocket, whereupon he said that he was afraid that with his magic, Thurston would extract a particularly fine approval book that he had in his pocket, especially as it popped into his mind when he got on the stage that he had heard that the great Thurston was interested in stamps.

Even our dulled eye can see the lambent flames of genius that play around the column conducted by Keith Preston in the Chicago Daily News. We'll crown Keith with a Dunlap, if he will betake himself to Dunlap's store on Michigan Avenue and ask Frank Taylor, the boss, to charge it to us. We know that Keith Preston is the sextuple shooter of snappy syntax as well as a pillar of philately, past and prospective for does he not clip our recent rhapsody based on a philatelic question propounded by him in the column and print it in heavy type in the Chicago Daily News, with the head, as provided by our hero, "We Qualify as Collector"? Little remains to be told: we did not send in the clipping.

Our references to the need of making the market more definite and accessible so far as the collector who wishes to sell his stamps is concerned have not passed unnoticed. A few suggestions have come from readers that if they could be carried out would broaden the selling chances of the collector but in the main, all observations are based on improving the outlets now available, such as the auction mart, the sales departments of established societies, the dealers and what one correspondent calls the "local collecting field." The experience of this reader is given: "I have found on two occasions that an advertisement in your paper addressed to buyers in my city or vicinity has had effect; and I have disposed of collections that I was compelled to convert into money to fair advantage to what are best described as collector-dealers. I could show the collection to possible buyers who called but outside of several cities, I do not think that my plan would be feasible."

A correspondent says that he finds even the latest gazetteers failures in locating some of the newer stamp-issuing countries and he wants to know what we are going to do about it. We agree with the complainant but we are hopeful enough to think that if he will take the time to ferret around, he will meet with success. We have an idea that "Koweit," for instance, one of the latest aspirants with its set of overprinted British Indian stamps is not treated with elaboration in the reference books even though it is a sultanate at the head of the Persian Gulf. On this general subject, we find a playful little skit in the Spanish paper, La Gaceta Sportiva of Barcelona on Aguera that runs something as follows: "Where is Aguera was a question that has been asked for several years and to settle the inquiry: it is the name of one of the many shores of Western Africa and because of the great volume of correspondence of its inhabitants, who are Moorish and picturesque, and who pass the day and the greater part of the night in reading the Koran and writing to the paternal Spanish government (they ought to write their letters to the moon) in their anxiety for civil protection, it was thought to endow them with what they most needed, a handsome series of postage stamps." So the stamps arrived at the quiet beach of Aguera one fine day in 1920, the set ranging from one centimo to ten pesetas, and it is suggested that this last stamp be used in writing to the moon. Then, in a short time came the second set as numerous or more so than the preceding "in order to meet the needs of the Agueran correspondents." Civilization follows the postage stamp, we verily believe, and now there is scarcely any country so poor that there are not stamp collectors to do it reverence.

A PHILATELIC TALE.

The following was written by Pres. Hoskins of the Michigan Stamp Club and it will prove of interest to our Detroit collectors who are acquainted with the various actors in this little story:—

Two philatelists, Scott and Bott, were recently discovered Holden hands, on the Beach. They showed their Powers as sprinters by making a Quick Tripp up the Hill, through the Park, without Askin any questions. Bott made a Sharp turn and slipped into the Meyer. His White duck pants soon became a dirty Brown, and his face turned Greene with envy, at seeing Scott, who was quite a Walker, Cumming(s) toward him with a young lady, whose would indicate that she would not ma soul. On reaching Bott, Scott him this Riddle: If two Boers twelve dollars, how much is a to Jungwirth?

THE MEPHISTOPHELEAN COMBINATION - - $1.02
Introducing—Yellow Jacket, the only philatelic cat alive! For fourteen years Y. J. has shown an interest in stamps. He has had an inspiring tho sometimes disturbing influence upon the firm. He often inspects and distributes "M. C.'s". When we spread The Mephistophelean Combination before him, he sniffed carefully and began to purr. When Y. J. approves of a packet you may be sure that it has quality AND quantity. Y. J. is a cat too long in the service to be fooled. He may be relied upon to guard the standards of quality (new issues, provisionals, high values, etc.) and the quantity (250 vars.) as faithfully as the feline of Tut-ankh-amen guarded his collection. Y. J. doesn't know how much Scott's cat will value The Mephistophelean Combination at, but he is willing to bet the remainder of his nine lives that The Mephistophelean Combination is the BEST "M. C." yet. YOU WILL LIKE THIS "M. C."

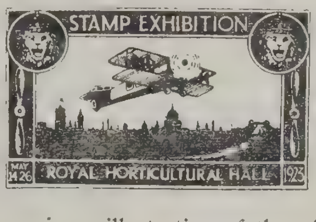
STAMP EXHIBITION LABEL.



Above is an illustration of the advertising label that is being used in connection with the London stamp exhibition to be held in May.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—C. H. Issler, 21 Dover St., Worcester, Mass., can secure no replies to letters addressed to I. W. Risdon, West Somerville, Mass., and R. R. Thiele, Tacoma, Wash. He would like to hear from others who are similarly situated and information as to correct addresses will be appreciated.

—J. C. Matthews, Olympia, Wash., would like the address of one Ronald C. Briggs, supposed to reside at 16 Paulsen Ave., Buffalo, N. Y. Letter is returned "No such street".

—A. A. Wasserscheid has shown us a new advertising cancellation from New York City as follows:—"National Merchandise Fair July 23—August 3, Grand Central Palace". This cancellation has also been shown us by Robert Besthoff.

—We have been shown a new advertising cancellation from New York by Frank Ruehl. It reads: — "National Merchandise Fair, July 23—Aug. 3, Grand Central Palace."

—Jules E. T. Ehlers sends us a Georgetown, Texas, cancellation which reads: — "1873 Golden Jubilee 1923, Southwestern University". This cancellation will advertise the home-coming of the University next June when the institution will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its founding at Georgetown.

—Geppert Marsh contributes a good publicity article to a local daily in Middletown, Ohio, dealing with the collecting interest of Charles R. Forster, a local mail carrier. The article gives an interesting story of Mr. Forster's collection and of his interest in the Junior Philatelic Club. Publicity matter of this kind is good for any community.

—The advertising of Maxwell Krause this week does not tell the full story. The truth is that Mr. Krause has found it necessary to pass through a surgical operation. It is not considered of a serious nature but will keep him confined for a month or more. The WEEKLY and its many readers will wish Mr. Krause a speedy recovery and return to the desk.

— "Collectors buying early U. S. stamps with fancy postmarks should exercise the greatest caution and make it a practice of only buying from reliable houses in this country where they can get an adjustment if a postmark is proven bogus, as the country is being flooded with early U. S. stuff that has all been doctored up."—GEO. G. HIATT.

THE LEADER.

By A. H. PIKE, 80 Grant St., Buffalo, N. Y.

(We heartily commend this project to every booster for Philately wherever located.—W. O. W.)

No matter whether you live in a one-horse town or a twin-six city, you know men who are leaders in religion, politics, music, civic pride, and other local affairs. What makes them leaders?—personality and enthusiasm. They make these things a hobby and put their mind and energies to developing ideas and carrying them out.

Years ago only a few would believe that some day we would have woman's suffrage and prohibition, but the advocates of these measures kept everlastingly at work and they accomplished what the majority considered the impossible. You have first got to believe and have faith. Know that you are right and then keep everlastingly at it.

Every worthy project needs a leader, a man who is not afraid. Philately should have a leader in every town, a man who knows its pleasures and who can preach and teach it. An all around good fellow, a good mixer, a good friend and companion. National publicity for philately is a good thing, but first let's take care of those that are already converted. Personal contact and fellowship with other hobby men will go a long way to prevent the many converts who are back-sliding.

I am not the only one who would like to see this local leadership idea worked out for it will benefit philately in general as well as all collectors individually. If you are the only stamp collector in your town consider your self appointed as a committee of one. In towns where there is more than one, get together at the first opportunity and talk it over. Where there is a local club, take it up at the first meeting. Have the meeting open for discussion and study carefully the qualifications of every local stamp collector you know. Pick out the most progressive man you have, and one that you are willing to guarantee as to honesty. Map out some sort of a local campaign either through the newspaper or other publicity so as to reach any other collectors that might reside in the locality. Arrange for a meeting place on a given night, or preferably have your committee chairman keep "open house." At least have a permanent address.

This permanent address is one of the main features both for local work and outside help. Your "leader" should get acquainted with the outside world, especially with philatelic journals, and dealers, so as to receive regularly auction catalogs and price lists. Publishers of philatelic periodicals have a right to think that all stamp men should subscribe but as this would mean an expenditure of upwards of a $100. it is too much to expect of all of us. However, a fund could be raised depending on the number of local collectors sufficient to subscribe to the leading journals and these could be passed around.

Thousands of collectors are through with their stamp journals after reading them once and with a little co-operation among "leaders" these could be exchanged and each town could soon boast a local philatelic library at little or no expense. There are many other ideas that could be incorporated in these local organizations after they are once started.

I would suggest first a central clearing house for ideas as well as organization work. Suppose we nominate some one to look after this work at least until such time that its own momentum will carry it on. If you are in sympathy with this movement, write A. H. Pike, 80 Grant St., Buffalo, N. Y. If there is sufficient interest I promise to push this work to the limit. As soon as a reasonable number of "leaders" are appointed I will publish a directory containing (1) the names and addresses of leaders arranged by cities, (2) names and addresses of stamp dealers, (3) names and addresses of stamp periodicals, (4) list of philatelic hand books with price of those available, (5) some general information.

These directories will be circulated to all dealers, publishers and "leaders" in each town. From our point of view this is a wonderful opportunity for the right kind of publicity, co-operation and good fellowship. Further suggestions are wanted and will be appreciated. It may look as though we are trying to get some cheap advertising for ourselves but the fact that MEKEEL'S WEEKLY is publishing this should dispel all doubts from your mind. There is no way that we could make any money out of this idea, in fact, we can already see that it will cost us some real jack as well as take considerable of our time.

Philately has gained a reputation of putting things off, neglecting opportunities and waking up to propositions when it is too late. Let us see if this holds true in all cases.

United States Revenue
$1 MORTGAGE, IMPERFORATE

The $1 Mortgage, Scott's No. 3872, lists at $3.00 perforated and at $1.75 imperforate. It has always been a scarce stamp in either condition, especially when fine. I can help you to fill that space by supplying a superb, lightly cancelled copy of the imperforate variety with boardwalk margins on all four sides at $1.00.

These are extra fine copies and look as if they were cut apart to please the stamp collector. Finer copies are impossible, and I doubt if a dollar bill will buy them after this small lot is gone.

Can furnish most of those hard-to-get little green Wine stamps in mint condition, but remember Scott is away off on some of his prices.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—During the latter part of February last there was issued in New York City the 2c of the new design from the rotary press, perforated 11 x 10. This was made from the vertically perforated coil waste. Mr. Arthur E. Owen now reports the rotary 2c perforated 11 x 11 from the imperforate coil waste. The plate numbers noticed so far are No. 14123 to 14126 inclusive and 14133. These stamps are issued in panes of one hundred and also in panes of seventy.

Under date of April 5th the Post Office Department notified postmasters throughout the country that there were available approximately 700,000 low back and 1,500,000 high back No. 5, 2c amber envelopes that were in stock when the manufacture of this variety was discontinued. These are of the "first quality" which is somewhat heavier weight than the present standard quality although they can be supplied at the same price. No mention is made of the other denominations on similar paper, although it is possible some few are still available.

The J. C. Morgenthau Co., during the early part of April sold at auction a part of the unusual collection and accumulation of United States stamps gotten together by the late Mr. Clarence H. Eagle. As Mr. Eagle collected for many years, a great many of his pieces were not in the finest of condition, but some unusual items were among his holdings. This collection is possibly the largest U. S. collection that has come upon the market by means of the auction, since the Worthington sale in August, 1917. As the first four sections totalled nearly two thousand lots, it would be impossible to mention even all of the important items.

A block of six of the 5c 1851 on part cover damaged and repaired brought $150.00; a block of four off cover, two very fine, and two badly cut into went to a New York dealer at $210.00. A block of the 5c buff on cover although the cancellation did not cover both the stamps and the cover, sold at $117.50. Two stamps of this block were very fine and the other two damaged. A horizontal pair of the 24c 1869, together with a single, stamps very fine and cancelled in blue sold at $112.00, while a single of the 30c on cover to Hong Kong along with the 12c sold at $160.00. A 5c New York on blue in fine condition which was described as a re-print with faked signature sold at $101.00. The block of 5c 1847 with the lower left stamp badly damaged went to the Middle West at $255.00. The block of the 10c cancelled in blue with two of the stamps cut into went to New England at $650.00. A proof block of 16 of the latter stamp on India surcharged "specimen," possibly unique, went to New Jersey at $105.00. A block of eight of the 1c 1851, showing recuts as well as an inverted transfer although the latter was not described, sold at $320.00. Strips of the 5c 1851 in varying condition sold from $77.50 up to $270.00. A used block of the 10c 1851 went to the Middle West at $137.50, while a similar block of the 12c brought $325.00. A unique block of eight of the 10c 1857 used showing complete scrolls in the bottom row, started at $30.00 and was knocked down at $320.00. A unique block of four, straight edge on two sides of the 90c 1857 cancelled in Washington sold at $320.00. The 3c August in blocks seems to be selling lower at every auction, and the one in this sale changed hands at $57.50. A block of the 3c pink sold at $140.00, a magnificent block of the 90c of the same issue sold at $305.00. Fine single copies of the embossed series brought catalogue and more while blocks reached fancy heights. The bank note issues brought high prices especially when in fine condition. I note a single of the 90c grill cataloguing $40.00 sold at $67.00. I overlooked mentioning the '69 series and among these there were three wonderful pieces, a block of nine used of the 15c went to New England at $320.00; a block of four of the 24c used went to the same party at $205.00 while a very fine block of the 90c used changed hands at $340.00. It may be noted in passing practically 85% of the above sale went to buyers on the floor.

We wish to thank Messrs. E. B. Sterling, William N. Taylor and William Forster for notes of interest.

BELGIUM.—Mr. Henry Hooreman has shown us another value of the new parcel post set. This time it is the 1fr 10c orange.

BRITISH HONDURAS.—Mr. R. Roberts sends for chronicle the 2c brown in the Nyasaland type and the 2c black and 4c black postage due stamps. All are script watermarked.

CHINA.—Mr. F. G. Young writing under date of March 15th advises as follows:

"I am rather slow in getting this novelty to you and perhaps you have seen it before. The history is something like this: shortly after the proposed change in postal rates was announced a bulletin was posted in all of the offices listing numerous changes which were to be made in the current stamps, of the junk, reaper, and "pailou" (archway) type, also stating that a quantity of the three-cent stamp was to be surcharged for use as a two-cent value. After the new rates were withdrawn (temporarily?) no one expected this surcharge as there was no possible occasion for it, but on March 1st or thereabout it showed up in the Shanghai office. Of the other new items and changes the only ones which have taken effect are the following:

The four-cent stamp previously c mine is now grey, and is printed fr a new die—the new design has the sa general appearance as the old but can instantly distinguished. This stamp ing in the same color and general sign as the six-cent, there will doubtl be another change soon—probably in color of the six.

The fifteen cent value, withdrawn t or more years ago (then brown) is n in blue and likewise from a new with exactly the same remarks ap cable—instantly distinguishable, but same general design.

The poster gave notice that the pr ent black center of all of the high va stamps is to be changed to some col on a recent visit to the bureau in king I saw all of the dollar stamps process of printing with the new colo center, so we shall doubtless have th soon.

The new colors are: $1, ochre and $2, blue and ?; $5, carmine and $10, green and ?; $20, yellow and ?

GERMANY.—J. L. Riedel sends us s eral items of information concerni new German stamps. For the benefit the victims of the French occupation the Ruhr district a set of three Char stamps has been issued, as follows:
5m+100m yellow, blacksmith; 25m
500m brown, reaper; and 20m+1,00 blue, plowman. Up to one million co plete sets will be issued. The 5m star blacksmith type has not yet been issu without surcharge.

Two Charity stamps have been issu for Danzig, 50m+20m brick red a 100m+30m mauve. The design sho an old man bending over with han resting upon his cane. In the bac ground are the buildings of a city.

In the small numeral type, values
100, 200, 300, 400 and 500 marks ha been issued, and in the large numer type oblong shape has appeared t
3,000m brown. Some new official stam are also noted. They are 20m da blue on rose, 50m violet and 100m ca mine. Large numerals are shown in t center of the stamp with Dienstmar across the bottom.

We have received from Mr.
Roberts the 10mk ultramarine in t
Reapers type and also the 100mk viol in the new disc type. Both are wate marked chicken wire.

LUXEMBURG.—Mr. Henry Hoorema advises that the 10fr black has been i sued. The stamp is line engraved an printed in sheets of 50, 5 x 10.

He also advises that the 1c and 4c the 1906-8 series has been surcharge
"5" with two short horizontal lines o literating the former values. Bot overprints are in black.

STAMP NEWS FROM ALL QUARTERS

Keneta on Hawaiian stamps means cents, Elua Keneta signifies 2c.

Small signals in an auction sale are responsible for large prices on stamps.

It is a terrible jolt to be told that you have a counterfeit stamp in your collection.

Being unable to accomplish wonders in collecting rare stamps makes some men sore.

Before the war stamp collecting was a hobby. It has now become an acute form of investment.

In the Alps there is a letter box 10,000 feet above sea level, from which a daily collection is made.

The St. Vincent, 1 shilling green, surcharged "One Penny" were all sold to local speculators the day of issue.

It is now claimed that up to the present time there are seventy-eight aero mail stamps acknowledged by Governments.

The letters "O.B." on Philippines stamps no doubt have mystified many collectors, but represent "Official Business."

Why not fill in all the cheap issues now and let them grow in value in your collection instead of in the dealers' stock books?

A corpulent stamp collector when asked by a young flapper what made the Tower of Pisa lean? answered—"If I knew I would try it myself."

While there are no reprints from Salvador, Guatemala, or Nicaragua, it seems strange that there are a few of the early issues of Ecuador.

Don't be a miser—dispose of your duplicate stamps. An advertisement in the Postage Stamp will relieve you and make your friends happy.

The first memorial stamps ever issued were those of Great Britain, issued in 1887 to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Queen Victoria's reign.

A picture post-card, posted at Peterborough in 1903, has just been delivered at Spalding, having taken twenty years to travel twenty miles.

Haughty Lady (who has just purchased a stamp) "Must I put it on myself?"

Post Office Clerk (very politely) "Not necessarily, madam; it will probably accomplish its purpose if you put it on the letter."

When the issue of the Quebec Tercentenary Issue was on sale it was a great success, the sale reaching the grand total of thirty million stamps, aggregating some $600,000. The new issue has done much to popularise stamp collecting in Canada.

The printing of advertisements on the backs of the New Zealand stamps, 1892 issue, was begun in 1893 and discontinued in 1894. The plan was adopted to raise revenue for the government, and was in no wise a philatelic expedient on the part of the authorities.

Heligoland is the name of two small islands in the North Sea, opposite and between the mouths of the Elbe and Weser rivers and twenty-eight miles from the nearest point on the German coast. The islands, formerly one, have become separated by the action of the sea, by a distance of a quarter of a mile, but are commonly regarded as a single island.—Postage Stamp.

PRECANCELS.

By H. S. DICKEY.

The reason some collectors sometimes get discouraged in collecting precancels is because they start to cover the whole U. S. at one shot and they get strung out over too big a territory; now I collect all the different states; but I collect in a systematic manner, by taking a group of states, just like we studied geography, i.e., the central states comprise one group, the eastern states another, the southern states the third group and the western states the fourth group. Of course after I have gotten all of any one group together that a person can reasonably expect to get within a reasonable period of time, I change over and start in on my next group and in this manner I have the pleasure of some new states to turn to all the time. Of course, if I can pick up any odds and ends of other states I do so and simply hold them in reserve till I start mounting up those states later on.

A person can make a very interesting collection of either Chicago, Ill., or New York, N. Y., at a very little expense and have a dandy time doing it, too. Other cities, such as Boston and San Francisco, are equally interesting, so you have a choice of a single city from any one of your four groups of states if you do not care to cover anything else.

If the beginners would try my suggestions on either single cities or a group of states they will find the game unusually interesting and fascinating and they will also learn a lot about the different U. S. issues precancelled.

Even if I didn't collect precancels as a precancel collector, I would still want a few representative sets of the different U. S. issues, such as 1898, 1902, 1910, 1912, 1918 and the new 1923 U. S. set in my collection, just to show how the sets look precancelled. I would also want one set of the parcel posts and one of the Jamestown and other exposition issues precancelled as I consider no U. S. collection complete without sets of its precancelled issues.

Sometime this year will be the biggest stamp boom since 1869, why? Because the 1923 set of U. S. stamps comes nearer being a pictorial issue like the '69 than any stamps we've had since then, their size and their artistic beauty being very much in their favor; and as soon as they come into general use collectors will go wild over them; any one who isn't a precancel collector now probably will be before this year is over, because the 1923 U. S. set will start and cause more interest to be taken in U. S. stamp collecting than any issue we've had since 1869, unless it were the 1893 Columbian issue which caused a boom at that time. —Philatelic West.

THEODORE THE GOOD.

By Charles G. Wilson.

With the new issue of United States stamps there appears for the first time the portrait of Theodore Roosevelt. The Post Office Department has placed him on the 5 Cent denomination because that stamp will be used constantly on foreign mail and they feel no worthier representative of America could be found than Theodore Roosevelt; none that could inspire more respect both for himself and for the United States.

The Department has chosen wisely, for where is there to be found a finer American, a finer citizen of any country, a finer type of manhood?

Had Theodore Roosevelt lived some thousand years ago in the so-called Age of Chivalry he would have been a Knight Errant and would have worn the golden spurs and the mail armor of his calling. In the more prosaic days of his time Roosevelt did not wear armor, nor did he wear the golden spurs, but never has there lived a man who both in his actions and characteristics was more truly a Knight Errant. Like Galahad of old he was "Sans peur et sans reproche." His motto, "Aggressive fighting for the right is the noblest sport the world affords;" his sword, the "Big Stick;" his lance, "Truth." Thus armed he fought relentlessly for the right, for the weak, the oppressed, the wronged.

And now that he is gone his portrait will still inspire among the people of all countries the respect, the homage, the adulation, that did his words and works in life.

"KENNY."

By Edwin B. Hill, Ysleta, Texas.

For L. S. K.

The doors of the big bank had just been unlocked by George, the negro porter. The corridors were empty, except for one figure. The tellers and the cashiers were behind their desks and in their cages, awaiting the rush of customers. The man in the corridor spotted the first comer. They grinned at each other.

"'Lo, Ken," said the customer.

"How come?" said the man designated as Ken.

"Here!" said the first comer, as he sagged into the soft caress of a waiting chair.

The two began a conference.

Samuel Kenny, of medium height and of medium age, was an assistant cashier in what was facetiously known as the Whited Sepulchre, otherwise the Fifth National Bank. The tombstone marble of the newly decorated bank had appealed little to "Ken," as he was familiarly known "in the street." He did not like it.

"Seems to be a sort of 'hark from the tomb' effect about it all,—cold and calm as the deposit vaults in the basement," he told the board. The board did not like criticism. Kenny seemed to certain members lacking in that sense of dignity so becoming to a banker, and so hateful to 99 per cent. of the bank's customers.

Old Hell's-Fire Hughes was one of the best haters the bank had. He was also its best customer, and Kenny's best friend. He was a large man. He chewed his cigars, especially when he wanted to think. And thinking and H. F. were not always compatible, you may be sure. H. F., freely translated, meant Henry Frederick, but the propensity old H. F. had for prefacing nearly every sentence with "Hell's-Fire" had fixed the cognomen beyond erasure.

The conference was ending.

"How's the c'lection, Ken?" asked H. F., as he genially poked Kenny in the midriff.

"Fine! Got a twenty revenue off that last draft you refused!" Kenny shot back.

H. F. looked blank. Then his laugh disturbed the vice-president, who was trying to look the dignity of his position, and failing ignobly. He simply couldn't be made to look dignified, with a misplaced eyebrow adorning his upper lip, and a pair of nose-glasses he doesn't need to set it off. He was all of that in the beginning. H. F. drifted.

An elderly woman took Kenny's attention, next. He steered her safely over to the man with the misplacements, and began talking to a boy who acted in the capacity of messenger.

The woman came back, looked Kenny over gravely, and said:

"H. F. told me to come to you. I wanted to open an account here. I have $480,000 in cash I wanted to transf That"—the woman sniffed audibly—"sa 'he'd look into the matter,' and referr me back to you."

"Did you tell him you wished to d posit that sum?" asked Kenny, with chill creeping up his back. One of F.'s friends to be snubbed like that!

The woman's face broke into a smi Nothing seemed to feaze her, and h appreciation of the situation seemed have its sense of humor.

"No, I didn't like his manners—or h lack of them—and I told him I want to put four-eighty into the savings. H turned me back to you. You see, M Kenny, I'm a cattle woman, and H. and I are in on some good deals. Fa is, H. F. is my husband, and what F. says goes with me, an' it goes a lo way."

"What did H. F. say?" asked Kenn innocently.

The cow-lady chuckled. Then s laughed until Kenny laughed with her.

"I bet he did," said Kenny.

"He sure did!" said the cow-woma

"And now I'm going over to depo that four-eighty in my savings. Y and the $480,000 in the commercial."

Kenny walked over to the saving te er's cell.

"Mrs. Hughes wishes to open a sa ings account," announced Kenny.

The teller smiled genially at Kenn "Yes, Mr. Kenny. Glad to have h make us her friends," he said.

"Young man, you'll need 'em befo you get through with this whited se ulchre!" shot back the cow-lady. T teller choked. Kenny grinned at him.

"How come? Name seems appr priate, Harry."

They turned away, and went to t "H" window.

"Mrs. Hughes wishes to transfer h account," said Kenny.

The teller looked expectant.

"From my left stocking to the rig bank," added Mrs. Hughes, smiling "You, Ken, look at the pictures on t wall!"

Kenny proceeded to look. The r was the proverbial cow-choking bra The teller counted it.

"There is $480,000 here," he said.

"Guess I'll make it $500,000 eve said the cow-woman. Kenny discree turned his back, but the cow-wom said it wasn't necessary. She had t money in her belt.

The business, over the cow-wom took Kenny by the lapels of his co and with her face close to his, she sa

"Old Hell's-Fire was right. He to me what to do. I sized 'em up fi grab. He said to look 'em over aft I'd seen you first. They don't he looks,—that bunch of mavericks."

Her eyes twinkled as she gave the u perturbed Kenny a little jerk. "Lay 'em. They'll shoot you in the back. know the breed. Me an' H. F. su will make 'em sick, though."

Kenny went over and sat down in t chair vacated by old H. F. He studi it over. H. F. was sure sore, he kne That mis-placed fool had turned hi down on a trifling loan of $100,000, wi no security. Kenny knew H. F. H knew he didn't make loans without t best of security. Now and then he'd a for a big loan, just to try the boys o It was his little joke. And to think th sap-head had fallen for it.

H. F. came back again.

"Kenny, I just got a five cents 185 unused, o.g., for your collection. Wa to see it?"

Old H. F. fished in his pocket. Ken assured him, with a wave of his han that he was off on stamps during bus ness hours.

Old H. F. roared. The vice-preside again looked his disapproval.

"Sure. Sure 'Sall right. Here s is!" He passed an envelope over Kenny, and slanted over to the disa proving V. P.'s desk. From this va tage-point he grinned at Kenny, as badgered the precise young man fro the walls of Baylor, vintage of '21.

Kenny glanced furtively into the e velope. It was a five cents 1851, mi and the most beautiful bit of colori Kenny had ever seen!

"Got it off a man fer two cows," boomed H. F. from across the room. The vice-president looked annoyed to excess.

Kenny was busy with other customers for the next hour. Then he looked for H. F., but he was gone.

The board of directors were meeting. Old H. F. had bought into the business, as he called it, after his turndown, and sat with them. He was the pet aversion of Mr. Harbuck, late of Baylor, '22.

Wanted—Old U. S. and collections for cash. J.Lamperti, 1331 L.St. N.W., Washington, D.C. [87

Mr. Harbuck was a precise young man. His father and grandfather had been bankers. He inherited the thin lips and small outlook on life left him by his father, and the wealth of his progenitors went into banking accompanied by this tight-locked lack of human feeling.

Old H. F. badgered Harbuck beyond reason. The worm turned.

"It is the sense of this meeting that changes be made in the personnel of this bank," began "Buck," as H. F. insisted on calling him. "There is too much levity, and not enough of the serious in the business." Then he coughed discreetly.

"Meanin'?" Old Hell-fire's voice boomed out.

"Mr. Kenny is not serious enough," began Harbuck.

Old H. F.'s face was purple.

"You poor runt of a she-steer, you—you don't know a man when you see one! Ken! Hell's-fire! Ken collected friends when you were collecting nickels! He! What this bank needs is a dam-site more levity and a dam-site less Baylorin'! Get me? No? Then I'll bust you in three hours!"

Old H. F. jammed his hat on his head, and fled.

Kenny was in the corridor. "How come?" said Kenny, grinning. "H. F., you seem some feverish!"

H. F. spluttered. Then he choked. Then he unfolded his scheme, Kenny listened.

"Don't do it, H. F. It might work!"

"Work? Work?" H. F.'s voice cracked and broke. "It sure will work! Short an' swift!"

The board came forth. But H. F. was gone.

At 2.30 o'clock "Ma" Hughes came in. She presented a check for $98,000, and insisted on taking the cash. Then she retired to the rest-room, and was seen no more. Old H. F. came in ten minutes' later, and withdrew $225,000 in cash. Other cow-men came in, and the run was on. Kenny strove to stop the tide, but he was helpless.

"H. F.'s buyin' mavericks," was the only explanation he could pry out of the close-mouthed cow-men.

At three minutes before three, nine old depositors withdrew—or tried to withdraw—fabulous sums. It was too late to appeal to other banks, and the Fifth National bade fair to blow up.

Kenny perspired freely. He knew there was something on, but he couldn't get the sense of it. Then the doors were closed, and the depositors waited.

"Gentlemen, will you come into the board room?" The aged president appealed to the cow-men. Mrs. Hughes issued forth, and joined them. "I always was strong on funerals," she said audibly, "and this is going to be two of them."

"Gentlemen, you have seen fit to withdraw your accounts with us. I have been friendly to you for many years,—some of your fathers were my friends. I shall be grateful if you will explain."

"You tell him, H. F.," said Mrs. Hughes.

"You see, it's this way," began H. F. "Why, hell's-fire! I understand my friend Kenny is accused of having too great a sense of humor. Sure he kids us, and calls us things we know he don't mean—and some he does. We like him. We like his ways. He's what you might call an asset to any bank. Then comes this here Baylor boy, with his fish-ways and his clammy hand and he gets on our—dispositions. Yes, sir, he gets us all mussed up. We reckon we'll start a bank, and e-lim-i-nate the tombstone effect, and have Kenny run it. Yes, sir! Ken's the bank's best buy. We can't run a bank without him."

The old president looked the men over, a faint smile coming to his face.

"And is that all?" he queried. "Then you'll be glad to know that Mr. Harbuck is returning to the confines of Baylorville, where he plans to start a bank based on new principles."

Old H. F. bit his cigar in twain. "Hell's-fire!" he declared. "Let's buy him a pair of embroidered slippers and a dressing-gown!"

The cow-men roared.

"And, as I'm one o' the board o' directors, let's raise Ken's pay $50 a month, give him a three months' leave, and—and—"

"Send him the rest of that stamp collection you've been ravishing the last two years, H. F., and start new, naked and unashamed."

It was Ma Hughes's suggestion which caused H. F. to choke.

Out in the corridor, Kenny was anxiously awaiting the outcome.

"I hope you're not going back on the bank," said Kenny, all the humor gone from his voice.

"Hell's-fire, no!" H. F.'s voice shook the windows. "We're just doneskinnin' a cat—a pole-cat. An' we sure done a good job of it, Ken, old top!"

"How come?" queried Kenny.

"And we're goin' to New York,—Ma an' me an' you—t' look 'em over—the stamp-dealers. Ma c'lects—and me—and you. They've give you a vacation, an' raised your pay, an' Baylor's startin' a bank an—an' hell's-fire! It's a sad world, full o' sad cow-men."

Old H. F. looked quizzically at Kenny.

"That there stamp you got off that draft, now,"—H. F. began.

Kenny smiled back.

It wasn't never on it," said Kenny. "There wasn't any draft."

"How come?" boomed out H. F. Let's go!"

And they went where the hunting was good.

The next discontinuance of subscriptions will concern all subscribers whose wrappers bear the numbers 1685 to 1688 inclusive. Just glance at your wrapper immediately in order to make sure that your subscription is paid up. You have ample time in which to renew and be saved the inconvenience of a discontinuance. Moreover, under our new system we are making no plans for furnishing back numbers and subscribers must not expect that we can supply back numbers when we have made every effort to notify them.

We are satisfied that the system we have inaugurated is the only one under which a newspaper can do business these days, and subscribers must understand that free copies of the Weekly will not be sent to those who are in arrears.

GOSSIP OF THE MONTH.

By CORNELIUS WRINKLE.

Now We Shan't be Long!—It does not seem a long time to some of us since it was first proposed to hold another international stamp exhibition here in London. Actually it was two years ago, but there has been so much to accomplish in the way of preparation that the time has slipped away rapidly, and here we are within a few weeks of an event to which the philatelic world is looking to eclipse all former exhibitions and to spread the charm and fascination of stamps to thousands who as yet know naught of the joys of the philatelist.

American Government Exhibition.—Every day and in every way the signs and portents of worldwide interest in the exhibition burst upon the band of workers. Yesternight the cables were going again, and the welcome news came through that the United States Government is sending an exhibit. This is a fitting corollary to the magnificent support extended to the exhibition by the leading philatelists and the societies in the United States, and is not less a welcome indication of the high and intelligent recognition of Philately by the Post Office Department at Washington, acting through one of its most brilliant and successful heads, the Hon. W. Irving Glover, Third Assistant Postmaster General.

A Genial Champion.—Interest is already centreing in who will carry off the championships, senior and junior. It is eleven years since these were contested, and they were secured in 1912 by Mr. Sidney Loder and Mr. A. J. Warren (Senior), and by Victor Cazalet, then aged fifteen (Junior). We believe Mr. Warren, the genial specialist in Dutch stamps, is in the running again, but he will probably be up against a more varied and imposing competition than on the last occasion. He is an ideal "Champion," a delightful veteran who beams sunshine wherever he goes, and is a living witness to the fact that Philately is no dull thing, and that it can contribute a good deal to the excellent fun that one can get out of life.

And a Junior One.—The Junior Champion of 1912 has passed beyond the age for the junior section of the competitions. He was only fifteen when he scored the highest award over some very hot competitors of several years' seniority. His exhibit was a specialised collection of Great Britain. He is now Captain Victor Cazalet, and had a fine record during the war, serving as A.D.C. to General Knox, head of the British Military Mission with Admiral Koltchak, and was able to give the British public one of the first authoritative accounts of the details of the assassination of the Tsar and the Imperial Family.

Philatelic Courtesies.—Mr. E. G. Harmer, of Messrs. Harmer, Rooke and Co., Ltd., has very kindly offered to Mrs. H. P. Terry, Hon. Secretary of the J. P. S., his Rolls-Royce for her personal use during the exhibition, and his offer has been accepted by Mrs. Terry with the greatest of pleasure. Mr. F. C. Penney, of Messrs. F. B. Smith, Ltd., has placed his car at the service of the Exhibition Committee for the use of French visitors to the exhibition while in London.

The list of voluntary interpreters who will be at the exhibition to afford facilities and assistance to continental visitors throughout the fortnight comprises numerous names, and covers French, Spanish, Dutch, Flemish, Italian, Swedish and German.

Advertising the Show.—Many splendid sites for advertising purposes have been placed at the disposal of the Exhibition Committee, including prominent positions in the Strand, Holborn, Farringdon Street, South Molton Street, St. Bride Street, etc. No one (unless he be blind) will be able to pass along the "Philatelic Mile" without knowing that there is a stamp exhibition on.

The Puzzle of the Perfs.—Captain Lawrence, whose ratio perforation scale is one of the most notable modern additions to the philatelist's equipment for stamp study, writes very interestingly in this number of The Postage Stamp on the subject of perforations, and many collectors who used to find perforation varieties too perplexing have to thank Captain Lawrence for making the measurement of perforations simple by means of his ingenious invention. Concerning Archer's patent, of which our contributor states there is no trace in the "Patents Journal," his specification is filed away in our library, and is No. 12,340 of 1848, and is headed "Perforating Postage Stamps, Tickets, Labels, etc." This was probably the first mention of postage stamps in the specification of a perforating patent. The history of Archer's trials—and his tribulations as well—is told in several substantial official "blue books" of the early fifties.

Three Pfennig Saxons in Sheets!—Still they come, the wonders of the Ferrary collection. The next portion of the collection will be sold in Paris on April 25th, 26th and 27th, as announced in our advertisement pages this month. An unused 1d Post Office Mauritius is among the items that will achieve a notable, perhaps sensational figure, and also an unused 2d. There are only two unused copies of the 1d known. But the most startling items in the new sale catalogue, after an apparently superb copy of the Western Australia "inverted swan," are the old Germans. We have learned to speak with bated breath of the 3 pfennig Saxony, which some reckon to be a rather over-rated stamp. It figures at from £60 to £90 in Gibbons. Over-rated or not, we never thought to see a sheet of it, yet here it is, an entire sheet of twenty (with defects) in lot 546. And scarcely less astounding is a block of ten of the ½ neu-groschen error, black on pale blue, a stamp Gibbons lists at £125.

There is a tête-bêche 1 kreuzer Bavaria in a block of twelve, and there are Brunswicks, Mecklenburgs, Oldenburgs, Prussians, etc., galore.

The Classic Gems of Victoria.—The newly-elected President of the Royal Philatelic Society, Mr. T. W. Hall, is giving the display at the Junior Philatelic Society's meeting on Saturday next, April 7th, at 3 p. m. His subject is the early issue of Victoria, and it is an occasion that no discriminating philat should miss. The collection is ju

IRISH PROVISIONAL ISSUES.

By MICHAEL F. O'DONNELL.

Twelve months have elapsed since the advent of the first Irish overprinted stamp. But owing to the nation's transition stages, a series of overprints became necessary pending the adoption of its definitive issues—two of which, the 2d and 1½d, have already made their appearance — and more will probably be on sale before this article appears. The reason for this article is to dissipate some of the mists surrounding collectors abroad regarding the Provisional issues, many of whom will find, in their leisure hours, a cheerful recreation, and, if a little expensive, a delightful pastime in adding to their collections.

The signing of the treaty between Great Britain and Ireland in December, 1921, was the forerunner of the Provisional issue of these stamps, and on the 17th February, 1922, appeared a series of the stamps of Great Britain overprinted in Gaelic characters "Rialtas Sealadac na hEireann 1922" (Provisional Government of Ireland 1922). Two distinctive overprints appeared in black type:—

Type I, by Messrs. Dollard, Ltd., Dublin, of the ½d, 1d, 2½d, 3d, 4d, 5d, 9d, 10d, 2s 6d, 5sh and 10sh values and Type II, by Messrs. Alex. Thom & Co., Ltd., Dublin, 1½d, 2d (Die I and II), 6d, and 1sh values.

Type I has no stop after 1922, while Type II appears with stop.

Owing to the indistinct appearance of the overprints on the 2½d, 4d and 9d values, chiefly the first and last mentioned stamps, these values subsequently appeared overprinted in red by Messrs. Dollard, and can be readily recognised from the later overprintings in red by Messrs. Alex. Thom & Co., by the omission of the full stop. These three issues appeared on the 1st April, 1922.

Next came the automatic rolls (480 stamps) of the ½d, 1d, 1½d, and 2d values overprinted by Messrs. Harrison & Sons, London. These stamps were overprinted in black ink, while the overprint measures 17x15 mm., as against 16x14 mm. of the Thom printing.

In July and August, Messrs. Thom & Co., Ltd., carried out the entire overprinting of all values in bronze blue black ink with full stop as heretofore, except the 2s 6d, 5sh and 10sh values which appeared without full stop; while the 2½d, 4d and 9d values appeared with red overprint as above mentioned, i. e., with full stop.

Towards the fall of the year, the 9d stamp of Great Britain was changed from "agate" to "olive green." This change in colour affected the Irish Provisional issue, and this variety, in consequence, appeared early in November, overprinted in red by Messrs. Thom with full stop.

But one of the greatest surprises awaited collectors when the ½d, 1d, 1½d, 2d (Die II) and 1sh values appeared with "The Wide Overprints." This short-lived variety came on sale towards the end of November and early in December, and will, in all probability, prove to be the best of the common varieties, except, of course, the 1½d "Pencf" error, and the ½d and 2d (Die I) inverted overprints, referred to later.

The ratification of the treaty by Great Britain and the adoption of the Irish Constitution on the 6th December, 1922, affected a further change, and the active and vigilant Postmaster General (Mr. J. J. Walsh) proved equal to the occasion. In commemoration of the inception of the Irish Free State the 2d (Map of Ireland) permanent issue was on sale to the general public, on the 6th December, 1922, and pending the unavoidable delay occasioned by the issue of the permanent series of all values, the "Saorstat" overprint had to be resorted to, viz.:—"Saorstat Eireann 1922" (Irish Free State 1922), as the Provisional overprint was no longer applicable.

The 2d stamp of this series, the first to issue, came on sale on the 12th December, while the 4d, the last to issue, was on sale to the general public on the 20th January, 1923.

The Irish Free State Government having installed machinery in their own government offices are, at present, busily engaged on the permanent issues which will, for all times, supersede the provisional and subsequent overprints, to the joy of collectors generally.

Before concluding, perhaps a few words on the inverted overprints may be of interest to your readers, and to collectors particularly. In this connection, I understand, the Postmaster General has stated that only two sheets of the 2d error (Die I) were issued for

THE MODERN CATALOG.

By EDWARD E. GOODCHILD.

(We are publishing this article but in so doing would suggest that in the future our correspondents file their suggestions directly with the catalog makers. We have again and again stated that present day catalogs are and must necessarily be to a certain degree house organs or price lists with varying discounts. We do not expect to see a catalog that will give perfect satisfaction either in varieties listed or prices quoted.—W. O. W.)

A student of stamp values soon discovers that a superb specimen will oftentimes fetch a far greater value than that quoted in the catalogue. Further, some stamps quoted at a few cents each, can be bought by the pound for the same price. And after a little more study and comparison of catalogues one will discover a striking difference in the values placed on stamps by the respective dealers. One dealer will also favor a certain variety of a country and another will ignore it entirely.

As an instance take the case of Canada. In the Stanley Gibbons catalogue of 1923, we find 335 varieties quoted. In Scott's 225 only.

Gibbons catalogues the 2c hair or guide line of the King George issue at a figure equal to six dollars, whilst Scott's ignore the very existence of such a specimen.

Any student of Canada knows how difficult this variety is to procure, especially unused, and the very fact that it originated through being printed from an unfinished plate justifies its catalogue rank and much of its value.

On the other hand we find Scott's placing a value of two cents on the ordinary three-cent present issue, which are still being run off by the millions, whilst the War Tax are only quoted at one cent.

I remember another variety, one which I possessed and sold for a sum in the three figures. The five-penny "Ser .. et" for "Serriet" of the 1903-4 Jamaica issue. Scott's mentions the fact that such exists. Gibbons sets it out as a variety, but does not attempt to price it; yet I am absolutely confident that there are less of such in existence, than say the 12d Canadian black.

Not only in the varieties quoted and prices given, do I consider the modern catalogue at fault, but also in the make-up and compiling of same, especially with the ever-increasing new issues and the age of specializing.

Criticism, however, should be constructive, and it is my belief that the best interests of philately will be served if the dealers bear in mind that after all is said and done, it is the public at large who ultimately decide upon stamp values. Further, the issuing of catalogues on the loose-leaf system, whereby one can purchase the sheets of all or any particular country he may be interested in, and thus save the expense of unnecessary binding and buying other matter not required. At the end of each year it would only be necessary for the publishers to issue one or more pages of each and every country which had new issues during the preceding year, and thus again a considerable saving would be effected as the cost of reprinting all previous matter would be done away with.

The last, but not the least, of necessary improvements in the catalogues is that of condition. In all the high values at least the basis of value should be quoted according to condition. Such as superb, fine and fair. By such a method we would begin to rid the fallacy of the inexperienced collector that any and all varieties can be procured at fifty off catalogue, irrespective of condition.

DODGING POSTAGE IN GERMANY NEW ECONOMY TRICK.

BERLIN, April 16.—Dodging the payment of postage is becoming one of the great pastimes in Germany, and the federal postal authorities are hot on the trail of business firms and others who have inaugurated their own special mail delivered services. The first victim pounced upon by the post-office department sleuths was Lord Mayor Boess of Berlin.

It was found that Berlin's municipal administration had organized its own corps of letter carriers in order to do away with the buying of postage stamps. Informal complaints that this violated the postal regulations failed to move the city officials and the case was taken to court.

With the lord mayor on one side and the postmaster general on the other, this fight has resolved itself into a battle much the same as the contests in the old days between the federal barnos and the heads of minor states. Two of the city's leading counselors, as well as Lord Mayor Boess, were summoned to answer for the alleged breach of regulations, but the highest local court decided against the postal department. Now there is talk of bringing the case before a federal judge on the grounds that constitutional rights are involved.

Pending further action against the Berlin officials the postmaster general is directing his attention to a large number of commercial establishments which are suspected of carrying out the same practices. It is declared the government is losing billions of marks annually thru evasion of stamp windows by various concerns.—Newspaper.

ARTHUR SHISLER AND JOHN FRY.

It is with great pleasure that we add the names of Arthur H. Shisler and John Fry to the roll of honor in connection with five-year renewals of subscriptions to the WEEKLY. THE CELTIC CROSS STAMP.

By W. Ward.

It has been known for some time past that the Provisional Government had selected as one of the designs for the new stamps one submitted by Miss Lily Williams, of Ranelagh, embodying a Celtic Cross. An early illustration of this design when first submitted, appeared, with others, in the Freeman's Journal.

Though intended for issue in December, various causes rendered it impossible to get the stamps out, and hence their issue has been interrupted.

In the meantime it was brought to the notice of the Postmaster-General (Mr. J. J. Walsh) that if one of the new stamps could be issued on St. Patrick's Day the occasion would have more than a single significance. It would be not merely another milestone in Irish history, but would commemorate no less an event than the 1,500th anniversary of St. Patrick's first missions of Christianity in these Western European Islands, which, unlike some patron saints, is not bound up merely in tradition, but has true historical value.

An Overseas Greeting.

It was also pointed out that this symbol would go out as a very unmistakable greeting, not only to Irishmen in all parts of the world (the new stamp to be issued on St. Patrick's Day is the 3d value—the foreign postage rate), but would be received by Christians of all sects and nations who know the story of the great Apostle who converted our ancestors from paganism, and, needless to say, the first announcement that the postal authorities were using every endeavour to so celebrate the day has been received with all favour in the philatelic world—which does not always view commemorative issues in an exultant light!

Origin of the Design.

The decision to use the Celtic Cross design of Miss Williams's well-chosen arrangement was a happy one, since it is purely of Gaelic character. Further, it has a very significant origin as a stamp, being adopted from the design of one of the two Sinn Fein labels that were first brought out in 1908. These labels, which were sold at ¼d each to assist funds for the National movement, were, as is well known, shortly afterwards prohibited by the British authorities, but nevertheless were surreptitiously used by postal clerks on letters for delivery in Ireland, and to obvious Irish addressees abroad, when the possibility of a direct mail bag presented itself. In very few cases were these labels postmarked, and, of course, they bore no postal value—thus being inadmissible from a purely philatelic point of view. Still they are of interest and worthy of inclusion in a collection of Irish stamps.

Values of the Series.

The adopted design needs little description, and its charming arrangement of the symbolical Cross, with neat inclusion of the shamrocks, will withstand the most critical scrutiny. There will be another value (the 10d) issued later in this design.

The other values of the new series include the already issued Map stamps (1d, 1½d, and 2d), the Sword of Light (described in the Freeman's Journal of February 28th last), and Miss Millicent Girling's Arms of the Four Provinces (2½d, 4d, and 9d). Later the higher values (2s6d, 5s, and 10s) will be issued, which are now under preparation by Professor Atkinson, and will embody views of the Bank of Ireland on College Green, the old Post Office, and the Customs House.

The Last Provisional Stamp.

Unheralded, a still further addition to the long list of the Provisional stamps has made its appearance in the 2d British stamp overprinted "Saorstat Eireann, 1922," in rolls. These stamps have been temporarily printed by the roll makers (Messrs, Harrison & Sons, Limited, London) to meet a demand for stamps in rolls, pending the installing of machinery for this purpose at the Castle. These rolls are only on sale at head offices, and they are not sold in less quantity than made up (480 or 500 stamps).

A very important variety in the "Saorstat" overprints has been brought to my notice by a correspondent—showing where in certain printings of the ½d and 1d values the accent on the final "a" and the last "t" of "Saorstat" had been damaged, and had not been printed in in the inscription.

An Error Emphasised.

The error was noticed, however, and the printers had impressed in by hand the missing accent and letter. These are quite noticeable—as a type letter has been used, the accent is in various positions, and the hand-stamped impression had been added by a grey-black ink, whereas the regular overprint is in bronze-blue. Thus, the printers in endeavouring to prevent "an error" have further emphasised their mistake!—Freeman's Journal.

ST LOUIS STAMP COLLECTORS' SOCIETY.

Henry Lacks, secretary of the St. Louis Society, informs us that Hon. Richard Barthold, former congressman from the St. Louis District, is now a member of the local society. Mr. Lacks also sends us the following clipping, which will prove of interest:—

Approximately 100,000 stamps collected from all parts of the world, were distributed to juvenile collectors at the Public Library, yesterday afternoon, by the St. Louis Stamp Collectors Society, of which W. D. Helman is president.

The distribution was preceded by a short address by Henry A. Diamant, former president of the society, in which he stated that there were nearly 50,000 adult stamp collectors in the United States, some of whom own collections valued at $100,000. The collections of some of the 10,000 local collectors are worth in excess of $25,000, he said. Diamant placed the size of a fairly representative collection at 1,000,000 stamps.

He placed 10 marked stamps among the collection distributed, for which he announced he would pay $5 each to the juvenile collectors returning them to him. A comparatively orderly "scramble" followed, in which caps and pockets were stuffed to capacity. No girls attended. Diamant announced that outdoor meetings in local parks at which collectors could buy, sell, and compare stamps, were planned for the summer.

AGAIN THE PONY EXPRESS.

Editorial Boston Herald.

Next September the Pony Express will cover again the long trail from the Missouri river to the Pacific slope. A fortnight ago the Daughters of the American Revolution, Sacramento and San Francisco Bay chapters, put up a tablet on a building in Second street, Sacramento, to mark the terminus of the famous ride. A committee headed by former Senator Phelan is making elaborate plans for the Pony Express revival. California at the same time will celebrate the 75th anniversary of the discovery of gold by James Marshall. Reno, Nevada, will hold a joint Mark Twain and Bret Harte celebration. Cities along the eastern end of the route will share in the festivities. The best riders from the cattle ranges and the cavalry detachments at the army posts, mounted on horses best suited for the work, will undertake to duplicate the spectacular feats of the hardy riders of the early sixties.

"A clean-limbed, hardy little nankeen colored pony, carrying a broad saddle, with wooden stirrups and big flappers, to guard against mud," with bags hanging from each side and lettered "Overland Pony Express," started east from Sacramento on April 3, 1860. His rider wore a complete buckskin suit with hair on the outside to shed rain; he carried two Colt's six-shooters, and an 18-inch knife. His precious cargo consisted of about eighty letters, written on the thinnest of tissue paper, and each charged with a fee of $5. Exactly on the instant assigned Harry Hoff was off. He covered the first twenty miles in fifty-nine minutes, his entire run of fifty-five miles over rough country in two hours and forty-nine minutes. With the loss of but a fraction of a minute a new rider took the mail at the relay station and was away at top speed. Thus, across the present states of California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, and Kansas, to St. Joseph, Missouri, terminus of the Hannibal and Missouri Railroad, over the shortest practicable route, covering a stretch of 1980 miles, those riders brought the mail.

At the same hour on April 3, 1860, Johnny Frey started westward from "St. Joe." He carried the mail just in by special train and the telegrams which had been wired for California delivery. Eight days later the last westbound rider raced into the midst of a throng comprising about the entire population of Sacramento which had ridden several miles out of town to welcome the express. Did he stop to greet these welcomers? He did not. Under whip and spur he kept his California mustang going at top speed. After him came "the whole cavalcade, shouting and cheering, some waving banners, many bareheaded, riding at breakneck speed, coming in through J street, looking like a band of wild Comanches on the plains." Conspicuous among them was Charles Crocker, later to become known as one of the founders and the actual builder of the Central Pacific Railroad.

From April, 1860, to October 27, 1861, when the telegraph spanned the continent, the Pony Express was operated. To do its work there were required 500 horses, 200 stations, 100 riders. A full cargo was fifteen pounds, or 200 letters, at a charge for carriage of $1,000. Later, rates were reduced to about a fifth the original amount. The service was semi-weekly. The riders ranked high among the heroes of the time. They had to be under 135 pounds in weight. They took a pledge against profanity, drunkenness, cruelty to their animals, ungentlemanly conduct. They must run from Indians; their job was to carry the mail. Nearly all were very young men. Buffalo Bill was in his teens, yet he made the longest continuous ride, 384 miles, with stops only for food and fresh horses. The regular rides varied in length from sixty to 200 miles. The work was arduous and dangerous. Hostile Indians often had to be distanced. Desert sandstorms sometimes blinded both horse and rider.

But those adventurous westerners did carry the mail and in spite of all obstacles, they almost invariably delivered it on time. Each rider used several horses; on arrival at a transfer station he found a fresh horse ready saddled in the middle of the trail headed onward, and to vault from one saddle into the other, and shift the mail pouches required but a few seconds. The fastest time ever made was seven days and seventeen hours, in March, 1861, and the precious freight was the inaugural of President Lincoln. Pony Bob Haslam is said to have made the fastest single ride, 120 miles in eight hours and ten minutes; it was he, also, who carried the news of Lincoln's ele tion up the Platte valley in 1860. It claimed that the Pony Express save

METROPOLITAN STAMP CO., 7 West 42nd St., New York City.

LOWER VALUES OF EARLY U. S.

By WARNER BATES.

(Address Mr. Bates, 152 Lisbon St., Buffalo, N. Y., if you have anything of interest along the lines of this suggestion.)

I give below a description of an interesting shift on the two-cent brown 1883, Scott's No. 210, that I have in my collection.

Double transfer or shift shows most strongly as a double line crossing the bottom of several letters of "United States" at the top of stamp. The "N" of "United" and "Posta" of "Postage" show traces of the shift in vertical lines here and there. Trace of a double line shows in the white space above the oval top label, this being strongest immediately above the "tes" of "States." There is also a trace of this double line in the white space immediately below "States." At the extreme top of the stamp there is a faint doubling of the top horizontal line of shading, this double line showing mainly on the right half of the stamp.

H. C. FLIERL, Buffalo, N. Y.

W. B. asks:—Has anything ever been printed on the variety we find in some of the stamps of the 1870-79 issues, showing a dot and a faint horizontal line below the design of the stamp? If so, I have missed it, and personally I would like to get through this column some real information on this variety.

Consider this variety on the three-cent green 1870-71, of which I have two copies, both grilled. The dot is just a wee bit below and outside the design at the bottom of the stamp. It is under the letter "H" of "Three." A faint horizontal line runs the length of the design underneath and passes through the dot. There is every indication that this combination of a line and dot served some definite purpose in the engraving or printing of these stamps. What was it? Who will answer?

Have this variety on one or two others of the lower values, 1870-79, and have seen it on the seven-cent vermilion and the 90-cent carmine.

Major C. H. Bonesteel of West Point, N. Y., writes: "Why is no mention made of the shading that appears on the two-cent brown, 1883 (Scott's No. 210) underneath the rectangular frame enclosing the oval portrait which shows so clearly on some stamps and is missing on others?"

Mention may have previously been made of this variety. However, I have never seen reference to it. It is fairly well known by those who have collections of this stamp. But some collectors I have talked with did not seem to know of its existence. Therefore, we will record it here.

In one variety there is a fairly well defined block of shading, a little more than one millimeter deep, directly below the upward-slanting bottom line of the rectangle and directly above "Cents" on the right hand side of the stamp. This appears as a solid block of color, standing out against the horizontal lines of the background. In the same location on the left-hand side of the stamp there is a similar block of shading but not so clearly defined.

In the second variety the horizontal lines of shading at the bottom of the stamp are much deeper and run somewhat together, while the blocks of shading seem to have disappeared entirely. There are in-between examples where the blocks of shading can just be discovered with a strong glass.

Now here is a point for some student of this stamp to clear up for readers of MEKEEL'S. Which is the earlier printing of the two? Is the disappearance of the block of shading under the rectangle due to recutting or wearing of the plate? Somebody please answer.

HISTORY FROM POSTAGE STAMPS.

By CHARLES G. WILSON.

The stamps of the British Crown Colony of Hong-Kong have ever been favorites of the stamp collector. These stamps owe their origin to the Opium War of 1840.

In 1833, England determined upon the opening of China to general English trade, and the opium trade in particular. China was the best market for India's great yearly crop of opium, and the opium habit was becoming very serious through the increasing trade in that commodity. The Chinese Emperor set determinedly about the suppression of the evil. In 1839, Lin Tsihseu, Viceroy of Houkwang, having been appointed by the Emperor as a special commissioner to investigate the opium question, destroyed $10,000,000 worth of opium. Collisions between Chinese and foreigners became frequent and on November 3, 1839, hostilities can be said to have commenced when two British men-of-war fought and worsted twenty-nine Chinese junks at the entrance of the Canton River.

An expeditionary force of 4,000 men arrived from England in June, 1843, which, after a series of battles, conquered China in two years. By the Treaty of Nanking (1842) Hong-Kong was ceded to the conquering power and China opened to British commerce and the unrestricted opium trade.

NEW SO. CAROLINA STAMPS.

COLUMBIA, April 12.—Twenty-seven million stamps, for use in collecting the luxury tax imposed by the last legislature, have been ordered by the South Carolina tax commission, according to a statement by Chairman W. G. Query, who has just returned from New York, where he placed the order with a bank note printing company.

The printing company agreed to use every effort to deliver the stamps by April 25, in order that they may be ready for distribution before May 1, when the law goes into effect, Mr. Query said.

The State revenue stamps are to be in two series, to be known as documentary stamps, and business license stamps. The documentary stamps, which will be required on issues and transfers of stocks and bonds, promissory notes and similar papers, will range in denomination from 2c to 30 dollars, and will come in 12 denominations.

The business license stamps, which will be placed on cigars, cigarettes, smoking tobacco and ammunition, will come in 25 denominations ranging in value from 21-64ths of 1 cent to 30 cents.

The largest quantities of the various denominations ordered, according to Mr. Query were 5,000,000 of each of the one-cent, one and one-fifth cent and two-cent business license stamps, which will be required for cigarettes. Next in quantity came the 42-64ths of one cent stamp, of which 3,000,000 were ordered. This stamp will be affixed to certain popular brands of smoking tobacco, which is sold in cans.

EDITORIAL.

From Mr. Franz O. Selianoff, San Francisco, we have received the specifications of a patent for a loose-leaf binder, that was granted him December 5, 1922. From the text of the abstract, we learn that the new binder is designed to overcome the catching or the binding of the leaves on the rings; and other advantages are cited. We quote from the inventor's letter: "I really owe this invention to my interest of many years in postage stamps and there has never been a practical up-to-date binder until this time. Former binders have been bulky and expensive and hardly suitable to the demands of the average collector."

The Standard Register Company of Dayton, Ohio, employs a stamp rather cleverly for advertising purposes. It sends out a letter beginning: "This is a postage stamp from White Russia. Beautiful, isn't it? In the country where this stamp comes from, there is practically no building going on, but here in the United States," etc., Mr. Jess M. McNeil, who sends in the circular says that it bore "next to reading matter," a 10k. White Russia.

From a letter sent us by Mr. Carl S. Davis of Kansas City, Mo., we take the following paragraph: "As I remember the history of U. S. commemoratives, the 1869 set was the very first commemorative set or issue, in honor of the completion of the first transcontinental railroad, namely the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific System." Mr. Davis writes to inquire into the accuracy of a syndicate story that has had a wide currency in which John Wanamaker was said, to have been the postmaster at the time the first issue of U. S. commemorative stamps appeared. It would be impossible to substantiate the claims of the 1869 set as commemorative stamps. As early as June, 1868, the postmaster general advertised for bids for postage stamps of new design for a term of years, and the designs submitted were examined by a "committee of experts." While it was announced that the series was intended in some manner to "portray the history of the Post Office in the United States," there is no disposition to claim on this slight pretext the honors that might accrue to the first commemorative set. Putting aside the somewhat indefinite claims of the Centennial envelopes in 1876, it is but right to say that the Columbian set was the premier offering of this class in the U. S.

Important Notice

Our attention has been called to the fact that rumors have been circulated throughout the trade to the effect that our 1923 Postage Stamp Catalogue has been completely sold out and no further orders can be filled.

This statement is untrue. We have an ample stock of both styles to meet the requirements of the trade for some months.

One by one, the bulwarks of sentiment, behind which the old-timer takes refuge, are falling to the ground and he may now just as well accept conditions as they are, with a smile. He remembers the time when a collection of four thousand different postage stamps was considered a collecting achievement and contrasts it with the present when that number, which may be bought for a price around twenty-five dollars, is a mere beginning; and he is apt to moralize upon the changing stamp world. A ten thousand variety collection which was such as to entitle its owner to membership in the haut ton of philately not so many years ago, barely competes in value with the twenty thousand variety collection to be had nowadays; and even the twenty-five thousand collection is not beyond the attainment of many collectors of the present. In the '60's, the dealers advertised "many hundreds" of stamps of different kind in stock; and in the '70's, "several thousands" of varieties were advertised as the lode-stone, while in the '80's, it was something to say that "4,000 varieties" were "constantly in stock." The declining value of the stamp unit of a thousand different stamps is a factor, and it is the consequence of the crush of newcomers. We shall content ourselves with saying one thing in favor of new issues and that is, that they have made it possible to obtain a fair representation of stamps at little outlay.

Many collectors remember when stamps were so few in number, comparatively speaking, that almost anything that came to the collector's mill was grist; and when the average collector included many near-stamps in his striving for quantity. So steadily have the stamps come, year after year, that the knell of general collecting is being sounded, and that devoted type of collector who regards the world as his oyster will become extinct, no doubt. We are inclined to lament the passing of this inspiring type of collector, whose abiding love for stamps makes it incumbent upon himself to offer the hospitality of his albums to all issues. It is futile to bewail what may be called the progress of the times by vain lamentations which will not stem the tide of newcomers that are washed up on the philatelic shores by almost every wave. There does not seem to be any way to stop the flood of new issues, as it is imposible to induce collectors to act as a unit in opposing them. The tendency of collectors, generally, is to rate the novelties as sound, fair or shaky and buy them as such. We are under the impression that warnings from philatelic sources to offending countries will have no appreciable effect; and until collectors make the unnecessary issues unprofitable speculations on the part of the countries foisting them on the collecting public, the overload will have to be carried.

If collectors were thoroughly organized through their societies and associations, they could speak with more authority than at present, whenever they thought that their interests were endangered. There has never been that unity of thought and action on the part of collectors that one would think would be characteristic of all those who were interested in a pursuit of the distinctive quality of stamp collecting. However, collectors and dealers are not dominated by any noticeable impulse to work for the common cause and although improvement is noticed through the growth of the collectors' and dealers' organizations, the full influence of philately is not fairly represented by the combinations, as yet. If other professions and movements were content to let their pursuits take their own course, philately would not be a sluggard in this regard, but the truth is that almost any other special line of thought or endeavor has its committees, clans and clubs for the advancement of the interests of the chosen line. Knowing this, it is a source of some chagrin to think that collectors do not present a unified front to the world and particularly that portion of it that would resolve itself into a menace to collecting in any of its phases.

News has come to us from Berlin to the effect that the city has organized a postal service of its own on the profession that it is better equipped to run the post-office efficiently than the national government. Our correspondent does not give any stamp particulars of the venture on the part of the municipality which, it is predicted, will bring forth opposition from the government. Our friend says that the postal affairs in Berlin have been such, that a number of large firms have established private postal systems, something in the manner, we take it, of the old local posts of the German cities.

AIR MAILS, PLYMOUTH TO LONDON.

The Instone Air Line has offered to run an experimental mail service each Friday for one month between Plymouth and London, as an outcome of the proposed scheme for expediting the delivery of ocean mails.

At present steamers from the U. S. A. are due at Southampton on Friday, but since the mails cannot be dealt with unti Saturday they are not available at thei destination until Monday. Moreover, replies miss the outgoing steamer or Sunday.

It is proposed, therefore, that specia air mails, which would be made up i America and landed by steamers calling at Plymouth at 6 a. m. on Friday on thei way to Southampton, should be forwarded by aeroplane and delivered i London, Manchester, and Paris, by p. m. the same day.

These mails could be dealt with during business hours and replies despatched i time to catch the outgoing mail from Southampton on Saturday, or the Sunday mail from Plymouth.

THE MEPHISTOPHELEAN COMBINATION $1.02

We doubt very much whether Satan has 250 varieties of brimstones. At any rate, we are sure that you will like our "M. C." better than the poor devils who have to collect brimstones and pay for them in red hot pennies. Better charter a refrigerator car and ship us $1.02. You'll receive better value for your money and have more real fun than you ever thot possible. Who wants "The M. C." No. 10,001? Even the Skeptics are waking up to the fact that they have been missing something. Satan smiles, Mephistopheles and Y. J. conspire — The Mephistophelean Combination is the result. New Issues, provisionals, high values, British Colonials, are included—a plethora of value—the irresistible "M. C."—$1.02.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited, as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—R. Edward Sharp, president of the One-Man Club, has been honored by being made associate editor of the Philatelic Reporter of Chicago.

—Who can send us the address of Irving S. Newcomb? Remittance came from one of the Boston offices, but no letter accompanied the same.

—A. Atlas Leve, Syracuse, N. Y., would like information as to the address of A. F. Cantrell, supposed to be at 1512 E. 66 St., Chicago, Ill. Letters are unanswered.

—A Trenton subscriber sends us a Newark, N. J., advertising cancellation. It reads:—"Own Your Home Exposition, Armory, May 5-12."

—There is a letter at this office for H. H. Hall.

—A party by the name of Nogel, giving address 11 Morgan St., Somerville, Mass., is using the name of W. O. Wylie as reference. He has no authorization to do so.

—"A new advertising cancellation now in use in Los Angeles, is advertising the Historical Revue and Motion Picture Exposition to be held here July 2 to August 4 inclusive, commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the signing of the Monroe Doctrine. President Harding is to formally open the exposition and representatives of the Latin-American countries are to be present. The Motion Picture studios of Los Angeles are taking charge of the major portion of the exposition. I understand the United States mint is preparing an issue of Monroe half-dollars and I think it would be in order to have a special stamp issued for this Monroe Centennial."—Earl G. De Haven.

—Several days ago I received a letter from a friend in Japan. The envelope appeared as if it had laid in water for some time and only one stamp remained, and that was nearly off. On the back of this envelope was pasted a slip of paper about 3½ by 5 inches, with the following printed on it:—"SEATTLE, WASH.—This mail in transit via S. S. President Grant from Yokohama, was damaged by water in an accident to the seaplane in service between Seattle and Victoria, B. C.—Edgar Battle, Postmaster."—Geo. A. Albrecht.

—"Thinking it might be of interest to the readers of the Weekly, I wish to inform you of the death of one of your old subscribers, namely, Mr. C. B. Allison, Mission Hill, S. D., which occurred March 27th, after a short illness terminating in bronchial pneumonia. Mr. Allison was an ardent collector, his specialty being U. S. issues."—Max Menzel.

—"I have just returned from the hospital after going through a severe operation, and my doctor advises me to take a complete rest for some time. Having been an invalid for the last ten years, dealing in stamps have given me much pleasure, as well as helping me to be independent in a small measure. I regret, therefore, very much that I must give up my business, especially now when results from advertising in the Weekly were coming in better than ever. I would appreciate very much if you could find space in your paper for a short note regarding my illness, as I have been unable to take care of my correspondence, but am doing my best to fill all orders received while away from home. —I. Sonnee" (Sonnee Stamp Co.).

—Leonard J. Flerlage of Norwood, Ohio, sails from New York on May 1st, to attend the International Philatelic Exhibition and J. P. S. Convention in London, May 14 to 26. Mr. Flerlage, who is a Life Member of both the A. P. S. and J. P. S. of London, expects to meet several correspondents of long standing and will spend about eight weeks abroad, visiting Holland, Belgium, France and possibly Switzerland, after the "Big Show" in London.

U. S. SURFACE PRINTS
1918-1920, SCOTT'S NOS. 435-438

One of our most interesting series consists of the offset or surface printed stamps, produced during and immediately after the Great War. They were made to take the place of the engraved issues that could not be turned out fast enough. Produced by a photographic method and should be classed as a War issue.

Can furnishmint blocks of 4 of all, namely, the 1c perf. 11, perf. 12½ and imperf.; the 2c types I, II, III (Scott's IV, V, VI) both perf. 11 and imperf. including the desirable type I imperf.; the 3c type III and IV perf. 11 and the only 3c imperf., type IV. They catalogue $13.34 and I will be glad to furnish a mint block of each at $6.00.

Pairs of the above imperf. and singles of the perforated catalogue $6.17 at $3.00.

DOUBLE PRINTS

The 2c listing $5 can be furnished at $3.50 and the double 3c listing $1.50 at $1.00. Blocks at the same rate.

Get them all at once, then you need not worry about what is lacking.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—On Tuesday, May 1, 1923, the Post Office Department will place on sale at the Philatelic Stamp Agency in Washington the four remaining values of the new series, namely, the 7c, the 8c, the 14c and the 20c. The 7c black, with portrait of William McKinley, the twenty-fifth President of the United States, will also be placed on sale at his birthplace, Canton, Ohio. The 8c will be printed in an olive green and show a portrait of Ulyssess Simpson Grant, leader of the Union forces during the Civil War and seventeenth President of the United States. This will be placed on sale at his birthplace. The 14c showing a portrait of Hollowhorn Bear, a famous Indian chief of recent years, will appear in an indigo blue, instead of an apple green, as at first announced. The 20c crimson will illustrate the Golden Gate at San Francisco and will be sold in that city on the first day. All four denominations will be printed in sheets of four hundred and distributed in panes of one hundred. The three lower values will be upright, while the 20c will have the longer dimension horizontal. Unless they later decide upon a 13c stamp, which is only remotely possible, the completed series will consist of the 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 6c, 7c, 8c, 9c, 10c, 11c, 12c, 14c, 15c, 20c, 25c, 30c, 50c, $1, $2, $5 and Special Delivery, a total of twenty-two stamps with a face value of $10.42.

It will come as news to many to learn that the wonderful collection of United States gotten together by the late Henry Duveen has been sold to Mr. Arthur Hind, at a price said to be around one hundred thousand dollars. At the same time Mr. Hind acquired the famous Mauritius collection, including mint copies of the 1d and 2d Post Office, in addition to his pick from the other Duveen countries. It is understood that with the possible exception of the purchase of the Worthington collection this is the largest single purchase by a collector on record. Rumor has it that it ran around a half million. One of the first questions a non-collector asks after he inquires what you do with the stamps after you get them, is, have you got one of each. At the rate Mr. Hind is going, he will soon be able to say yes, to the latter question. It is certainly pleasing to see these wonderful things pass into the hands of an American collector and we sincerely trust that he captures the grand gold prize at London, which he so rightly deserves.

Mr. Alex. R. Crane kindly sends something new in the way of San Francisco meter permits. We also desire to thank Mr. Frank Schreiner and W. C. Peters for information of interest.

CYPRUS.—Mr. R. Roberts calls our attention to the 30 paras green which has been issued on script watermarked paper.

EGYPT.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the 100m. multiple crescent and star, typograph surcharge Crown, "Kingdom of Egypt" in Arabic. Also following values of the postage dues, watermark multiple crescent and star, lithograph surcharge Crown and "Kingdom of Egypt" in Arabic, 2m scarlet, 4m green and 10m red.

ITALY.—The design of the projected commemoratives foreshadowed on page 297 of our Christmas Number has now been approved. Oblong in format, it will have a representation of Christ and eleven of his disciples, with portraits of seventeenth century personages in the upper corners, the Arms of Italy in the lower left, and the sacred motto, "I H S," etc., in lower right corner. At the top is inscribed "III CENTENARIO DI PROPAGANDA FIDE," at bottom, "Cent. POSTE ITALIANE. 80," at left "Italica Gens," and at right "Patronato romano."

The values expected comprise 20, 30 and 50 centesimi and 1 lira—not 40 and 80c, as mentioned in our forecast. They will be on issue from the 1st to the 31st of May next.—Stamp Collecting.

KOWEIT.—This small Sultanate, at the head of the Persian Gulf, is the latest candidate for philatelic recognition. The Philatelic Journal of India informs us that supplies of current Indian Imperial issues, ranging from ½ anna to 10 rupees ordinary, and from ½a to 15 rupees Service, are being overprinted with the name KOWEIT, for use immediately.

Our contemporary says:—

"A feature of Indian stamps is the large number of overprints which have been applied to them to make them current in other countries. These include the Straits Settlements (1867-1868), Zanzibar and British East Africa (1895-1896), Somaliland (1903-1904), and the Convention States. An addition to this series will shortly be made for Koweit. We are informed by the Inspector-General of Posts and Telegraphs in India that the overprinting is being done in the Press at Calcutta.

"Koweit is a small state in the northwest corner of the Persian Gulf. Its exact political status before the war was a puzzle. It owned nominal allegiance to the Sultan. In practice, the Sheikh of Koweit has always been independent. When Koweit was regarded as the only suitable port for a terminus for the German Baghdad Railway, Turkey attempted to convert its nominal sovereignty into something more actual. The Sheikh sought safety in some kind of relations with the British.

"During the war a British Indian Post Office was opened at Koweit. This was transferred after the war to the Iraq administration, and the Post Office is shown as a sub-office of Basrah, in the current Indian postal guide. This, however, presumably does not connote the suzerainty of Iraq. Indeed, the adoption of overprinted Indian stamps seems to emphasize the independence of Koweit.

"We are unable to say whether, as in the case of Zanzibar, the overprinted stamps are to be followed by a series showing the head of the ruler."—Stamp Collecting.

LIBERIA.—From the March 13th nu ber of The Times we take the followin

"Whatever may be said against the there can be no gainsaying the historic interest and artistic appeal of the m jority of commemorative stamps. A ca in point is a somewhat belated series five denominations marking the cente nial of the landing of the pioneer settle from America on the shores of what now the negro Republic of Liberia. T design common to all values, shows large sailing ship lying off a surf-bou coast, with small boats putting off f the shore. In the sky appears the radia star of hope, the national emblem Liberia. Above the vignette are t words 'Liberia Centennial,' and benea it the inscription, '1822 Pioneers Landi 1922,' together with the value in word The stamps appear to be of German pr duction, and are watermarked with pattern of noughts and crosses and pe forated 13½ x 14."

The denominations and colours are follows:—

1c blue and black.
2c carmine and brown.
5c olive and blue.
10c green and violet.
$1 rose and brown.

HE PRECANCEL DEPARTMENT.

d by FREDERICK W. ALLEN, 521 So. 4 St., Grand Forks, N. D.

ron, Ohio.—In a small job lot I nd a copy of the 1c Type VIII with rmal and inverted strike on it. This rty is probably worth twenty-five Edgewater, Mass.—The earliest re- rd precancels from this town are p on the 1908 issue, but I have be- me a 5c 1902 clearly precanceled DGEWATER, MASS., in two lines tween lines. The type consists of eum sized caps and is not a package . Probably two or three dollars ld be a fair price.

rfield, Ia.—Mr. J. L. Parker re- r the 8, 10, 20 and 50c double prints it oes not state the type.

gus Falls, Minn.—This city is using ndstamp similar to U-3. Bushnell only one type, the U-16 and calls pe I. Type I should be typewriter ption in one line reading diagonally d down. The perf. 12 and perf 10 s bearing this precancellation are rare.

at Falls, Mont.—The U-18a electro now been adopted and is quite an provement over the old precancel. electro will probably supersede the Universal types in prevalence as a g number of postoffices now pre- nd with it and many more are in- ling it. The lighter variety of this is listed by Bushnell as U-18 and all describe the heavier and very r variety as U-18a. Examples of are respectively: Brooklyn, N. Y., d Lincoln, Nebr.

sey City, N. J.—Errors occur on lues and the set can be completed ways, but the double prints are not common. The 5c and 30c double es are the latest which I have noted.

coln, Nebr.—The 7c and 15c have t been precanceled with the U-18a. e 5c Pilgrim was erroneously listed tis type last month. Lincoln has ve precanceled any Victory, Aero- n or Pilgrim stamps.

A interesting variety occurs on the incoln electroplate and a set show- his little oddity is very "nifty" in perance. There is a gap in the top d ottom lines at the left. The "L" ssing from LINCOLN and only t of the "N" of NEB. shows. As I ve seen this on practically all values ours regularly on each plate and is due to faulty type, not insufficient inking. Look over your Lincoln duplicates and see what you can find.

Newburgh, N. Y.—A neat appearing inscription very much like Type I from New York City is coming on all values. I have an 11, 20 and 30 which are very pleasing to the eye.

Montgomery, W. Va.—Evidently an Xmas issue just coming to light. A hand stamp similar to U-4 does the work quite satisfactorily from the collectors' viewpoint.

Reading, Pa.—A rather smudgy looking cancelation from this coal mining center is a new item, which should be listed as Type II. The type reads down and is Bushnell's U-10.

The 20 cent I have is rather hard to make out but I hope all the rest are not precanceled so poorly.

Shelby, Ohio.—The 1 cent is very common but the other values quite scarce. They are all splendid looking in the bright electro U-18. Recently some values have been coming inverted, among them the 6, 10, 12 and 15 cent.

St. Paul, Minn.—Like Lincoln, Nebr., an odd variety may be found to vary the monotony. The two "n"s in Minnesota are gone and in their place is a small blotch. Directly below is a gap in the bar about one-sixth of an inch. Better hunt through your St. Paul duplicates, also, and look for this pleasing variation.

Miscellaneous.—Mr. H. R. Jansen of Topeka, Kas., has a beautiful mint block of 16 seven cent precancels from a certain Kansas city. The noteworthy feature about it is that besides the normal overprint there is another, running diagonally up on the block, making a double strike, 1 normal and 1 diagonally up. Mr. Jansen says it would not be fair to state the name of the postoffice but we can all guess what it is. If printed from an electrotype the block is a very valuable one.

I wish to thank Messrs. C. J. Bauman, C. G. Dills, and Chas. Lynch for notes of interest. Let me again urge you, my fellow precancel collectors, to make use of this department. It is yours and my services are also yours for the asking.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

¶ I regret to announce that I will be unable to attend to correspondence and orders received during the month of May.

¶ During the last week in April I expect to undergo an operation which will confine me to the hospital for four or five weeks.

¶ As I give all correspondence my Personal Attention, it will pay everyone concerned to have all such await my return.

¶ At that time all letters will be answered, all orders filled, and want lists and approval selections attended to, each in the order of its receipt.

¶ My New Issue Service will not be interfered with, but new items received cannot, of course, be sent out or listed until my return.

¶ I trust my many customers will pardon this unavoidable interruption of my service and will send in their orders as usual.

HISTORY FROM POSTAGE STAMPS.

By CHARLES G. WILSON.

On the stamps of four South American Republics are portraits of Simon Bolivar, called the "Liberator," who is the greatest man South America has ever produced. He has been described as the Washington of South America.

Bolivar was born of wealthy and noble parents in Caracas, in 1783. He studied law in Spain and travelled extensively on the Continent. On a visit to the United States, in 1809, he became an ardent enthusiast over republican institutions and returned to his native country resolved to free it from Spanish despotism. He immediately flung himself into that war of liberation, in which he spent the remainder of his life, and ninety per cent of his patrimony. In 1813, at the head of an army, he overthrew the Spaniards in Venezuela and entered Caracas as a conqueror. He was acclaimed the liberator of the country and made absolute dictator of civil and military affairs. In 1819, New Grenada united with Venezuela to form the Republic of Colombia, and Bolivar was named president and given the powers of a dictator. By 1822, he had cleared the new Republic of Royalist troops. The same year he was summoned to help the Peruvians in their struggles for independence, and in 1824 he was made dictator of Peru. The southern part of Peru was made a separate state and named Bolivia after the Liberator, who was chosen its perpetual protector.

Dissatisfaction, jealousy, and conspiracy broke out in Colombia. In 1829, Venezuela separated from the Republic of Colombia. Bolivar's ambitions were denounced and he was forced to resign from the presidency to which he had been confirmed in 1826. He died in San Pedros in 1830, having written shortly before his death a farewell address to the people of Colombia, in which he vindicated his character from the aspersions cast upon it, and complained bitterly of ingratitude.

Four Thousand Varieties

PRICE $22.50

Does your collection contain less than six thousand varieties? Do you ever "exchange" stamps? Have you ever had the ambition to become a dealer? Opportunity knocks! Here is a mounted collection of four thousand all different postage stamps—no telegraphs, revenues, cut-squares or other objectionable material—regularly priced at $30.00—for only $22.50! Just about one-half cent per stamp! For real honest-to-goodness value, this collection has no equal. It contains large numbers of British, French and Portuguese Colonies, lots of attractive South and Central America, as well as sprinkling of picture sets, new issues, etc., from Europe and Central Europe. Out-of-the-way countries such as Cyprus, Chile commemoratives, Bosnia pictorials, Epirus, Congo, German Colonies, Johore, Quelimane, Persia, Ubangi, Sudan, Siam, Soviet Russia, etc., are well represented. For the medium collector anxious to add to his collection at the least possible expense, this packet will mean the saving of many dollars. For the exchanger or small dealer, it represents large profits and a quick turnover. The stamps are mounted by countries in eight large approval books. When priced for sale, they will net about $70.00, which means a catalogue value of at least $140.00. Money cheerfully refunded if you are not well satisfied. Don't delay—order today!

PRICE, $22.50

Ten Thousand Varieties

PRICE $155.00

Here is a collection "de luxe" and one that we can recommend to any collector, as it not only contains a large number of medium-priced stamps of the slippery, hard-to-get type, but also a lot of good ones from British, French and Portuguese Colonies, Europe, etc., cataloguing up to several dollars each. Practically all countries of the world, from the oldest to the newest, are represented, and there are scores of attractive picture stamps, new issues, and other novelties. The collection is also desirable for any dealer with counter trade, as it is neatly mounted in ten large books and needs only to be priced and put on sale. Catalogue value is guaranteed to exceed $750.00. Never before have we been able to offer such out-and-out value in a medium-priced collection—just think of getting 10,000 all different stamps at just about 1½ cents each! Send in your order immediately on our "Money-Back-if-you're-not-satisfied" Guarantee — you will never regret it! SPECIAL PRICE, $155.00

FREE PREMIUM! To convince the most conservative and in order to doubly show our sincerity and desire to prove the excellent value of this collection, we will present to every cash buyer, absolutely free of charge and with our compliments, all of the following: 1 set Trinidad Nos. 81-2-3, lightly cancelled (cat. $30.50), 10,000 Superior Hinges in boxes (value $1.50), 1 Peerless loose-leaf album (value $2.50), as well as a Surprise Package containing a magnifying glass, pocket stock book, stamp tongs and other philatelic articles for your "stamp Den." Send in that order today—YOU CAN'T LOSE!

Twenty Thousand Varieties

PRICE $895.00

Words cannot do justice to the aristocratic and thoroughbred appearance of this excellent assembling, nor to the fineness and quality of the stamps contained therein. It is easy enough to get together 20,000 stamps of a kind, including telegraphs, cut squares, and other unlisted varieties, but it is a different matter to obtain a collection of the same number of standard varieties, all in the pink of condition, and containing a number of the scarcer stamps cataloguing up to $10 or $15 each. We will back the quality of this collection against all comers, and the best proof of our sincerity is our guarantee of "Complete Satisfaction or Money Back." The collection is mounted by countries in twenty ruled books and is ready for immediate transferring into your albums. All countries of the world are represented, 20th century and new issues are quite strong, but the older issues are by no means conspicuous for their absence. All in all, a wonderful buy for the man who has the money to spare if he is assured that the investment and value are there! PRICE $895.00

Portuguese Colonial Collection

SENATOR GODCHARLES ADDS 700 STAMPS TO HIS COLLECTION OF 27,000

"My collection numbered 27,220 varieties at the time I ordered the 1,500 Portuguese Colony collection from you at $67.50. I want to say that in all my dealings I have never made a purchase which was so thoroughly appreciated. The stamps were not only good in quality, but also in character, and I added to my large collection 695 stamps to the value of $248.07, and have 805 varieties with which to make up exchange books. I am indeed pleased!

SEN. F. A. GODCHARLES, Harrisburg, Pa."

A COLLECTION OF 1,500 DIFFERENT STAMPS FROM PORTUGUESE COLONIES ONLY (no Portugal), mounted by countries in three blank books. Most of the stamps are unused and the condition is perfect throughout. Vasco da Gama issues, scarce provisionals, and hard-to-get varieties abound in large numbers. Specially selected for quality, and every stamp is guaranteed genuine. Catalogue value is approximately $325.00. Collectors and dealers all over the country are beginning to realize the popularity and investment value of Portuguese Colonies, many of which are underpriced and destined to become quite scarce within the next few years. This is positively the most exceptional offer we have ever been able to make. Order immediately, as present stock cannot be replaced. SPECIAL NET PRICE, ONLY $67.50

PRICE LISTS AND SPECIAL OFFERS

We issue bi-monthly lists of great value to the progressive dealer or exchanger. Among other items are exceptional offers of small dealers' stocks, special collections and packets, medium and scarce single stamps and sets, attractive wholesale offerings, a varied assortment of hinges, philatelic supplies and printing, including the famous Elbe albums and stock books at special prices (to dealers), etc., etc. In short, each issue is brimful of bargains and surprises. A postal card will put your name on our mailing list. Write us at once!

WHOLESALE APPROVAL SERVICE

For years we have specialized in the sending of wholesale approval selections to reliable parties. The merit of this service, the quality of our offerings, and the promptness and courtesy which is accorded to every customer, has made and established for us an enviable reputation. It is therefore needless for us to go into details, other than to state that from our varied stock we can supply single stamps and sets of all grades and quality—and at prices which are reasonable in the extreme. If you are desirous of proving this to your own satisfaction, simply fill in the form below and return it to us. This does not obligate you in any way, so you can't lose! Please remember that first class commercial references or a cash deposit are absolutely essential:

Bibliography.

The references to the stamps of British Central Africa in philatelic literature are not very numerous, and are, for the most part, simple chronicles of the issues as received by collectors. The issues up to 1895 are dealt with in the Royal Society's "Africa, Part I."

CHICAGO PRECANCELS.

By S. M. Shoemann.

Our hobby presents no more interesting study than the various precancel issues of the great city of Chicago. It is my intention to touch but briefly upon a number of points perhaps referred to by Mr. Smith in his excellent check list, but in which his reference has been too vague to be of benefit to the average collector. I want to encourage my fellow collector to study his stamps, and I shall conclude my remarks by submitting a list of 75 varieties which I have in my collection and which do not appear in Mr. Smith's check list. I have not included Parcel Posts in this list as I have previously reported them in Everybody's.

In Type I, undated, you will find the narrow spacing very rare; also the printing with the first I of Illinois under the first C of Chicago, would also suggest the collection of shades. Have found several specimens where the upper line slopes downward on the right.

In the dated varieties one will find much to study and learn. Take the figures in the dates. There is the medium 4, the full-sized 4, the 4 with the center partly filled, and the 4 with the center completely filled.

There are two distinct types of 5, viz.: the normal and also one with the junction of the horizontal and vertical lines rounded off. In the 6, 8, and 9, there are two types to be encountered; in the 7 there are three distinct varieties. In the 1-2 date I have found three different sized 1's. In the 2-2 date there are four different sized 2's viz.: the normal, first 2 about ¾ the size of the second; first two about ½ the size of the second and the first two a little larger and a different shape from the second. In the figure one I find two varieties, thick and thin. The hyphens come both thick and thin, and in some cases the hyphen is out of position, usually too high. Would suggest that the collector pay attention to the month date position as regards the letters in Chicago, and that he also collect the various shades.

After some investigation, materially assisted by some vertical strips of Chicago dates I have, I have come to the conclusion that in every printing of 100 stamps there appeared but one horizontal strip of 10 of the narrow type, and that is probably the case in the undated Type I as well. That will explain the great scarcity of all the narrow values of Type I.

In Type II on the issues of 1898, 1902-03, 1908 and 1912 we find a great variety of shades which no careful collector should overlook. In the 1898 and 1902-03 issues it is possible to acquire complete sets of each in black and in grey ink. As Type II was first used in the 1898 issue the hair lines and missing line varieties are comparatively scarce, but in all the later issues it is possible to get complete sets as follows: Thick lines, thin lines, upper a hair line, lower a hair line, upper line missing, lower line missing, both lines missing.

I have several stamps with two lines at the top and one at the bottom, or two at top and lower missing. I do not consider a shifted printing collectable, that is, when the sheet is fed into the press in such a manner that the cancellation is either so close to the top or bottom of stamp that the lower or upper line does not appear, but is on the reverse end of the stamp.

The postage dues were all printed in Type II and are a very interesting lo the double strikes being quite scarce.

While the 1908 and 1912 issues aboun in inverts, those of the 1898 and 190 are very rare.

The 1902, 1908 and 1912 issues are als to be found printed in a blue black ink

It is strange how much diversion thes little bits of paper furnish one and ho the attraction grows as the years go b Guess the joy of ownership is one o the biggest factors and next to that per haps, comes seeing results in complete sets.—Precancel Gazette.

SCIENTIFIC PHILATELY.

By C. A. HOWES, F. R. P. S.

(This article appeared as an introduction to the B. P. S. catalog of exhibits issued for the Boston Public Library Exhibition.)

It was nearly 83 years ago that the prototype of the objects which form the subject of the present Exhibition first saw the light. It was the first adhesive postage stamp, and is familiarly and we might say, endearingly known to the world of stamp collectors as the "Penny Black." True, it had a companion in the "Twopence Blue," but this is almost forgotten at times in the popularity of the "First Stamp." It was placed on sale on May 1, 1840, in the London offices only, but its use in the mails was not authorized until the sixth of the same month. Since then the employment of stamps for the prepayment of postage has spread to practically every corner of the globe.

The collecting of stamps as a hobby is somewhat obscure in its beginnings, but there is evidence from English newspapers of 1841 and 1842 that they were being accumulated for decorative and other purposes. It was not until after other countries had begun to imitate Great Britain's example that there were many of them to collect, or that particular interest would be drawn to them for purposes of collection as a hobby. The Empire of Brazil and some of the Cantons of Switzerland were the first to follow Great Britain's lead in 1843, although a private despatch post in New York, run by Alexander M. Grieg, had issued a single stamp on January 1, 1842, for distribution of prepaid letters in that city, as the Government undertook no local deliveries in those days. This was the first of the so-called "Local Stamps."

In 1845 Finland and Russia were added to the list, but it was not until 1847 that the United States Government adopted the scheme, although various postmasters in some of the larger cities, as well as some of the more obscure towns, had been progressive enough to recognize the advantages of prepayment labels and to issue special ones for the convenience of their own offices. These are known as the "Postmaster's Provisionals," and they are most interesting predecessors of our Government issues—which they practically forced upon a somewhat slow-moving Post Office Department. Of these, the "New York" stamp was the most used, while the "Brattleboro" (Vermont) stamp is perhaps, though undeservedly, the most famous.

In the same year the first of the British Colonies to issue stamps was Mauritius, and its "One Penny" and "Two Pence" labels which by mistake, it is said, were inscribed "Post Office," have since become famous in story, if not in song, as "the most valuable stamps known to collectors." Again, their fame is somewhat undeserved, as there are now many stamps of greater rarity—the one-cent, magenta, error of British Guiana, issued in 1856, for instance, of which only one copy was ever found—but even if there are 25 of the famous "Post Office Mauritius" known, they still trade upon their early reputation and are most eagerly sought for, bringing enormous prices when occasionally the opportunity to purchase one is presented.

In 1849 France and a few other countries of Europe issued their first stamps, and the list was considerably increased in 1850. At this time we really begin to hear of stamp collecting as a pursuit, and the late Stanley E. Gibbons of London has stated that he began collecting in 1853 when at school. Another famous collector was J. B. Moens of Brussels, who commenced his collection in 1855, and began the publication in 1863 of a monthly magazine devoted to the hobby, which was issued regularly for 38 years. Between 1860 and 1870 stamp collecting became a quite fashionable mania, and many titled devotees as well as others prominent in various walks of life fell under its spell. The result was a more serious attention to the pursuit, the French collectors especially realizing the value of studying their treasures and classifying them along logical lines. This soon brought order out of more or less chaos and instituted the beginnings of the literature of the subject in the form of catalogues and periodicals.

Collectors soon began to band themselves together into clubs, not only for the purpose of exchanging their duplicates but for the study of their stamps. A club was formed in Paris in 1865 and one in New York in 1867, but neither remained in existence for more than a few months. On April 10, 1869, however, the "Philatelic Society, London," was formed, which is still in existence. Its presidents have been: Sir Daniel Cooper, sometime Governor of New South Wales, Judge Philbrick, the Earl of Kingston, the Prince of Wales (now King George V), and the Earl of Crawford. In 1906, King Edward VII signified his pleasure to become Patron of the Society (now succeeded by H. M. King George V), which has since been known as the "Royal Philatelic Society, London," and whose members are entitled to be called "Fellows" of that society. The national society in our own country, known as the "American Philatelic Society," was organized in September, 1886, and has over 2,000 members, while the local society, under whose auspices this Exhibition is being held, was organized February 18, 1891, and has over 200 members.

With the formation of clubs to study the various stamp issues and the rise of a literature upon the subject, stamp collecting was raised from a mere hobby to a serious pursuit, and as such was laid out upon scientific lines upon which the student could exert his powers of observation and classification. An appropriate name was, therefore, desired for it, since the French term Timbromanie ("stamp mania"), then in popular use, was deemed hardly suitable. Its sister science of coin collecting was already provided with a suitable designation in Numismatics, from the Latin numisma, a coin. But as the ancients, however much they made use of coins, were wholly unfamiliar with postage stamps, the difficulty of a classical derivation for the new nomenclature w obvious. The difficulty was solved, ho ever, in an ingenious manner by a Herpin of Paris in 1864. He describ it as "formed of two Greek word philos, friend, lover, and ateles ( speaking of an object), free, liberat from all charge or impost, franked: su stantive ateleia. Philatelie, therefore, si nifies: love of the study of everythi connected with franking." It may added, in further explanation, that in t early days of the use of postage stam they were said to "free" the letter

J. O. MOORE, Inc., Rheims, N. Y.

"frank" it to its destination, because the stamp showed that charges had been paid and no further fees were to be collected upon it. The word soon found favor in England as Philately, and is now the accepted designation of the scientific pursuit. We may say for the information of the uninitiated that the word is properly pronounced in four syllables, with the accent upon the second: phil-at-e-ly. The adjective is phil-at-el-ic.

While the collecting of stamps may seem in itself a simple pursuit, and the dignifying of it as a science somewhat of a stretch for one's credulity, yet if the doubter will but glance at a letter stamp he may have in his pocket he will observe these points about it: there is a characteristic design, printed in color upon paper, with usually the signs of the method of separation from others printed with it, and generally gum upon the back. In the scientific study termed "philately," it is necessary to consider all the above-mentioned details of a postage stamp. Of the wealth of design that may be found, of its characteristics for any particular country, one has but to look about him at the displays in this Exhibition to learn what is possible in this line. All methods of printed reproduction will be found, and practically all colors and combinations of color. Paper is naturally a very important item, and many experiments and trials are represented in providing suitable stock for the purpose. Easy, and yet not too easy, separation of stamps from their fellows in the printed sheets gives rise to various forms and sizes of perforation or the like; while proper adhesive qualities must be looked after in the gum which renders us independent of the paste-pot.

The study of the above details for purposes of classification is "scientific philately." But it is not necessary to be a scientist to enjoy it as a pastime. There are plenty of collectors who are not so serious minded, who like to stop with the designs of the stamps and consider what lies in them—what they represent, signify and teach us of the land they come from, of its government, people, civilization, language, etc. Here are matters of general educational interest, broadening our knowledge and views at the same time, and giving us a real "hobby" to turn to for recreation. The exhibits which the Boston Philatelic Society has spread before you will present both methods of collecting, and varaious other fancies which may strike the collector as interesting, like the study of postmarks used to cancel the stamps, and the presentation of the entire envelopes with stamps and postmarks thereon, which gives the complete story of its journey through the post.

However, let it not be forgotten that the interest in these little bits of paper lies not wholly in the fact that they present various designs of one kind and another for our delectation or perhaps research; that they illustrate in many ways "the course of human events," as the various war issues of recent years show full well; or that they have inherent points for study in a scientific way. Let us realize that they are the visible sign of a great Postal Reform—of a turning point in the world's history, in fact.

It is difficult for us of today to understand the conditions under which the postal service was carried on before 1840. Postage was seldom prepaid; if it were, the missive had to be taken to a post-office and the postage paid in cash, usually at high rates and depending upon distance, and an account kept by the postmaster. The usual rule was to send letters "collect on delivery," and it can be imagined that even with the small number of letters sent in those days this was a somewhat bothersome transaction. A great amount of work even was done by the post-office for no remuneration at all, as many letters were refused by the addressees, particularly if the amount of postage were large. The problem had been studied by not a few. In England Mr. (afterwards Sir) Rowland Hill, by his indefatigable labors in this behalf, became the great postal reformer, and had the satisfaction of seeing Parliament pass the Uniform Penny Postage Act in 1839. His proposition was for a penny rate for half-ounce letters, regardless of distance, within the United Kingdom. But he realized, of course, that the old system of payment of postage on delivery and the keeping of accounts would be worse than useless under the increased mail that would follow cheap postage. Hence the idea of the prepayment of the penny fee by means of an adhesive label to denote the fact, which Hill proposed in February, 1837. This was the conception of the first postage stamp which, after three years and two months of labor, was born on May 1, 1840. It is safe to say that this was an epoch in civilization, for the impetus of cheap postage, which could be carried out through no other means than the postage stamp, has increased communication by leaps and bounds and thus spread news and knowledge by the written and printed word throughout the confines of the habitable world. Behold in it, then, a great contributor to our civilization!

EUROPEAN NOTES.

By A. Koechlin.

The first of March Switzerland issued a set of aeroplanes, consisting of 6 values, large size stamps, 27 by 40 m., in three different designs:—15c red and yellow; 25c blue, flyer crossing the Alps; 35c brown; 40c violet, head of pilot; 45c red and blue, and 50c gray and red, aeroplane.

These stamps are intended for the airmail service exclusively. They are not available for franking of ordinary mail like the German and other European aeroplanes. The Swiss airmail service has been stopped over winter and will probably be taken up again by the beginning of May.

The 10th of March a new set of official stamps made its appearance. The current issue of Switzerland with black fourlined overprint "S. d. N. Bureau international du travail" (League of Nations. International office of labour). The set consists of 14 values 5c to 10 frs.

The set issued in Sept., 1922, overprinted S. d. N. was destined for both the League of Nations as well as its subdivision, the International office of labour but the latter refused to make use of it. Sir Albert Thomas wanted to show his independency, insisted on having a set for his own exclusive use and succedeed in getting one and not one only confined to the 11 lower values like the S. d. N. but the whole current issue up to 10 frs.

No mint copies are furnished to applicants only cancelled ones bearing the postmarks Geneva I in the upper part, date in the middle and either Société des Nations, Consig. lett. or Exped lett. in the lower part.

Austria has added two more values to the aeroplane series 3000kr and 4800kr.

In the near future the 2d Charity set of 7 values will make its appearance. Views of the important cities of the 7 provinces left to Austria will be shown. Vienna, the capital, Klagenfurt (Carinthia), Graz (Steiermark), Linz (Upper Austria), Innsbruck (Tirol), Bregenz (Vorallberg), Eisenstadt (Burgenland). Austria, the favorite, has slackened the pace. Germany is leading now.

The depreciation of the mark and the steadily increasing postal rates called for additional new values, changes of colours, types and watermarks.

Whether all these changes were really necessary remains an open question.

Of the five mark for instance not fewer than five different stamps have been thrown on the market since the Germania type has been done away with. Large size numeral type, both watermarks, lozenge and network posthorn type, bicoloured and one colour and now again coal miner type reversed design. Rumour goes that this last issue is sold out already. Berlin dealers are offering it at 50 marks apiece. Reprints are not likely to be made as there is virtually no need any more for a 5 mark value, the lowest rate being 20 marks for local mail.

The pfennig values have been called in already, two months ago, and the lower mark values, 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 12, are not sold any more at most of the post-offices. The two last ones were intended especially for foreign mail, but never answered the purpose as the rates had already nearly tripled by the time they were issued. In future the large oblong numeral type will be confined to the 1000 mark values. 1000, 2000 and 3000mks are already issued. 5000 and 10,000 are under press.

For the 100mk values a new type has been selected. The 100mk has already made its appearance. The stamps are small sized ones. Values and mark below in a circle, the spandrels show scale formed ornaments. At the top Deutsches Reich; at the bottom, values in letters.

The lettering is in Gothic characters. Mark in capital letters. Design and lettering white on coloured ground. The colours are the following: 100mk violet, 200mk lilac red, 300mk green, 400mk brown, 500mk brick red.

The bicoloured posthorn type has been changed to one colour. The 30mk a few weeks ago and the 50mk will no doubt follow suit in the near future.

The 5mk coalminer type, the 25mk movertype and the 20mk plowman have been surcharged Rhein - Ruhr - Hilfe, Rhein Ruhr succour. They sell at an advance of 100, 500 and 1000mks respectively. The number of the issue is 10 millions for the 105, 5 millions for the 525 and 1 million for the 1020mk. There seems not to be great demand for the higher values, as the advance is somewhat out of proportion with the franking value. People prefer to send a couple thousand marks to the newspapers and to figure on the list of patriotic donation. The time of issue is not limited as for the Charity stamps (6 and 4, 12 and 8mks). These were used quite freely during the time allotted to them for franking (11 Dez. 22-26 Jan. 23).

To the aeroplanes three new values have been added—10, 25 and 100mks. Wurtemberg adapted the service stamps to the new rates by issuing a surcharged set of 8 values ranging from 5mk on 60pf to 400mks on 3mks.

Of late the ordinance prohibiting the cutting out and using over again of printed stamps on wrappers, postca etc., has been removed. Therefore ters from Germany may turn up fra with combinations of cuts and adhes like we are used to see them onc awhile on Denmark mail.

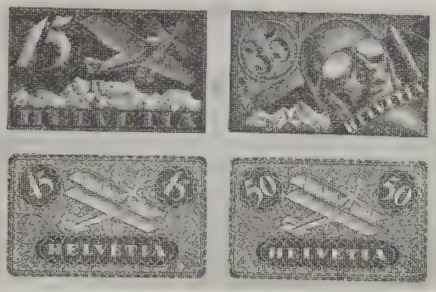
THE NEW SWISS AIR MAIL STAMPS.

We picture herewith the new stamps recently brought to our attention by Mr. A. Koechlin, our Swiss correspondent.



FAKING OF CANCELLATIONS.

By J. W. Sampson.

The crusade that has been started against the repaired stamp evil should have the support of every collector and dealer who has the best interests of philately at heart. And while we are about it, let's co-operate in crushing some of the other "serpents" that are becoming increasingly active in stinging collectors.

Now that odd and curious cancellations are becoming more and more popular, and stamps on the original cover are valued at three to ten times the price of off-cover specimens, the faker is concentrating more of his attention on this rich field and is turning out large quantities of his spurious goods.

Within the last year, most of us who receive consignments from abroad have learned to "watch our step" more carefully than has heretofore been necessary. We have found that the closest scrutiny is necessary to guard against loading up our collections with not only repaired stamps but faked covers and counterfeit cancellations. Some of the faker's work is very cleverly done. Some of it is crude, and need deceive none but the novice. All of it is dangerous to the extent that in adding to the risks of collecting, and submitting some to actual loss through unfortunate purchases, we discourage many whose interest is not strong enough to withstand such adverse influences.

And unfortunately, Middle-Europe is not the only source of these fakes. Right here in our own dooryard covers are being "manufactured' by those who make a business of it, and whose activities seem to be unchecked by the complaints of their victims. Like most counterfeiters, they usually place their goods on the market through somebody who, if pinned down to it, can claim to be ignorant of the character of the offering and innocent of any but the best intentions.

These fakes can be traced to their point of origin, if real effort is made. Their producers are in some cases already definitely known. Yet nothing is being done about it,—no action taken to prevent the continuance of this evil and a steady increase in the output as prices continue to go up and the demand increases. Why not publish a black list, and make the names of the villains so well advertised that the innocent small dealer, who passes on the fakes, can't claim that he "didn't know it was loaded?"

Beyond this, why not get together and take legal action against the fakers, if such a course be practicable? Civil suits for damages might not get us anywhere, but a jail sentence or two would help amazingly in curbing this nuisance.

REMOVE 25% DUTY ON U. S. STAMPS.

Two Collections Were Held Under Law Covering Reimportation.

An important decision affecting the reentry of United States postage stamps into this country has just been made by the Treasury Department at Washington whereby the duty of 25 per cent. hitherto collected on such importations will no longer be demanded. The question was laid before the legal department of the Treasury early in the year by J. Murray Bartels of 116 Nassau Street, who purchased a large collection of unused United States envelope stamps in Europe last Fall. On their arrival here late in December with a declared value of $1,000 Mr. Bartels was notified by the customs authorities that the stamps were subject to a 25 per cent duty under the ruling that American-made goods exported to a foreign country and reimported by a third party were dutiable.

Congressman Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey, who is an enthusiastic philatelist, was asked to intercede in the matter. Mr. Bartels has been waiting for more than four months to get his stamps from the Custom House and he said yesterday that he would make application for them early this week.

A similar case occurred less than a month ago when four volumes of the collection formed by the late Henry J. Duveen were sent to Charles J. Phillips of this city, who has been commissioned to sell the collection, the upset price for the entire collection being put at $1,150,000. With these volumes was a small lot of United States stamps valued at $500 which were being sent over for delivery to another person. The result was that the entire package was held up at the Custom House and the Duveen executors sent a protest to the Treasury Department.—N. Y. Times.

HISTORY FROM POSTAGE STAMPS.

By Charles G. Wilson.

"I saw the wreaths of incense,
Like little ghosts arise
From temples under Fuji,
From Fuji to the skies.
I saw that fairy mountain
I watched it form and fade;
No doubt the gods were singing
When Nippon Isle was made."
(NIPPON, ALFRED NOYES.)

Fujiyama, the celebrated mountain of Japan which appears on the recently issued Japanese stamps, has long been a familiar figure in Japanese art. And it is fitting that it should be immortalized by a stamp issue. About Fujiyama focus the folklore legends of Japan and it has ever been a favorite theme of the poet.

The mountain rises to a height of 12,395 feet from the plain in the Province of Suruga, sixty miles west of Tokyo, and is visible from 14 island provinces far out at sea. It is a volcano with a crater 500 feet deep and 2½ miles in circumference. The last eruption on record began Nov. 24, 1707, and lasted until January 22, 1708.

As the sacred mountain of Japan Fujiyama is yearly visited by thousands of pilgrims from all over the Empire and its slopes are dotted with shrines and temples.

Tradition has it that in the year 285 B. C. Fujiyama rose from the plain in a single night.

EDITORIAL.

In another column, Mr. Malcolm H. Ganser, a member of the American Philatelic Society, writes pertinently on the subject of the bill recently passed by Congress to allow of the illustrating of United States stamps, under restrictions; and the observations that he makes are not unjustifiable, if the context of the bill alone is considered. Others must have had thoughts similar to those so expressively described by Mr. Ganser. To realize that the concession that has been gained from congress is a step of progress, it is necessary to understand how averse the authorities were to granting any favor to the proponents of stamp illustrating; and for a time it seemed as though the government would make it necessary to deface the cuts of foreign stamps, even, in its zeal to protect the postal securities of all nations. It is safe to say that what we have now gained under the bill we will hold and it is a wedge to make a greater opening. When it is seen that under the provisions of the bill no advantage is taken by the unauthorized person seeking to profit at the expense of the government, the reaction will be to the advantage of philatelists. We think that the present bill is an earnest of what may come some day in the future, and when we think of the opposition that had to be overcome before anything worth having could be got, we think that the workers in the cause may pat each other on the back. Perhaps, on sober second thought, there should not be so many bands in the triumphal procession, but a band or two is good to keep up one's spirits. Mr. Ganser's letter is one sweet hoot, to use the expression of the day.

From P. R. Maginn, we have received an inquiry, asking if we have commented on an editorial, "A Scrap of Paper," as given in one of the "Saturday Night Talks," some months ago, in a St. Paul newspaper, in which the writer, Frederick M. Eliot, minister of Unity Church, "strongly criticized stamp collecting in its financial aspect." We remembered having received the clipping and luckily, we find it now. We made no comment on it, and reading it once more, we do not see that there is any occasion to "repel the invader." Mr. Eliot inquires "Isn't there something fundamentally wrong about the whole business?" This is apropos of the sale of the British Guiana stamp in the Ferrari sale; and shows the puzzlement of the writer rather than any active criticism.

SCOTT STAMP AND COIN COMPANY
Auction Department 33 West 44th Street New York, N. Y.

Here is a question somewhat out of the ordinary that comes from a reader in Michigan: "Could you tell me who would be the owner of the stamps in the following circumstances? A owns a farm and sells out to B and moves away leaving a few old letters in the garret of the house on the farm. The farm is unoccupied and C finds letters in the house. A is dead, but has heirs. Whose property would the letters be?" We suppose that B who bought the farm with all its appurtenances, also acquired title to the house with any unconsidered trifles, as the letters left in the garret would be called. However, if C could show how his enterprise and expert knowledge stood him in good stead in discovering the letters and proved their value from a philatelic view-point, he could present a claim of some kind that might be allowed by the arbitrator. We need not say that we are no lawyer as, no doubt, our "opinion" makes the fact self-evident.

One of the questions asked the third assistant postmaster general recently was as follows: "Has the department ever considered the advisability of installing at larger post-offices a meter-cancelling machine for mailing matter without postage stamps affixed, the postage to be paid in cash?" The answer: "Yes. The department has considered this question in the past, but it was not deemed advisable to adopt the procedure."

Our philatelic friend, a well known author writes: "I have just read: 'I would place as accruing from a study of philately, a benefit that I have not heretofore seen placed to its credit, the improvement in health or tone of mind of hypochondriacs, resulting from their being drawn out of themselves by interest in the stamp albums.' Strum that on your spinet. I now know that philately is the pink pill for pale people. I, who ply my trade as a humorist was once a morose, mooning creature and now, thanks to the price that makes them within the reach of all, I can buy set after set of beautiful Neurope, and thus raise my spirits in the thermometer of joy to the boiling point. While in this fine frenzy I can dash off material that makes even the hardened compositor to feel that all's well with the world. I did not realize before why I could grind out the pure, unadulterated stuff so easily after a bout with the new issues but no longer do I grope for an explanation. No wonder that stamp collectors are such funny fellows."

A collector says that he agrees with us that it is well to try to expand the market for stamps when they are held by a collector, but he asks if the seller is not apt to be inclined to expect too much or, in other words, is not willing to "write off" a percentage for the pleasure in collecting. He says that he knows of a case where the collector realized more than he had paid for the stamps, but in speaking of the sale the collector said that if he had valued the time that he had spent on his stamps, over a period of many years, he was a loser. We know that sellers sometimes take a stand such as this, but for all that the broad question of providing improved avenues for stamp disposal by the collector is not affected. We may aim at ideal conditions in this regard even though we may not hit the bull's-eye. The stamp market should be stabilized in order that the difference between "bid" and "asked" prices is not extreme. Philately, in its financial aspect, must be removed from the hazardous class. The end is a worthy one to work for, and we are certain that each year finds a firmer and broader market for the stamps that the collector wants to sell.

There have been some desirable additions to the stamp trade in the persons of new dealers, who bring to their employment business methods of a kind characteristic of today, when responsibility and reputability are demanded for permanent success. Their examples, with those of the established dealers of standing, are having effect and when the best dealers, old and new, will work in unison, the result will be more pronounced. Then the stamp business will not be considered by the public as a venture into an uncharted sea, but will take its place among the pursuits that are not subject to wide fluctuations as to the market. The stamp dealer owes something to the occupation that gives him his livelihood, but we must admit that the dealers do not show the enthusiasm in furtherance of their profession that they should. In time, they will see that they must be more public-spirited and our observations are made in the hope that they may have something to do with hastening the day. While not exactly a sleeping giant, the stamp business is not awake to its possibilities as a regulated pursuit.

CANADIAN PRECANCELS.

By FRANK S. THOMPSON.

(These "Introductory Notes" are found in the new catalog devoted to these stamps and compiled by Mr. Thompson.)

Stamps canncelled before their use to secure postal service, i. e., precancelled were first used at the Ottawa post office in 1888 to facilitate the handling of catalougues and similar printed matter in large quantities. Complete sheets of the 1, 2, 3 and 5-cent denominations of postage stamps then current were cancelled with the local office handstamp, a circle the size of a quarter dollar, with nineteen fine lines, and the center punched out oval shape bearing the figure "1," the cancellation being repeated on each stamp of the sheet. Complete sheets and half sheets of the precancelled stamps were sold to firms of standing, and a record of each sale kept. When mail prepaid by the precancelled stamps was presented at the post office the record was referred to, weight and rate of postage on one of the articles checked, and the mail promptly despatched to its destination without the necessity of cancelling stamps or weighing each individual package.

Other large offices were not long in adopting the idea. At St. John, New Brunswick, the office handstamp, a long shaped oval of fourteen lines with a circle let in containing a bold numeral "1," was used to precancel the 1-cent denomination. Toronto precancelled complete sheets of the 1, 2 and 3-cent values by having several lines ruled with pen and ink across each row of stamps. The stamps precancelled at Ottawa and St. John being so treated with the handstamp ordinarily used on mail, practically the only way to distinguish them from the ordinary variety would be to possess pairs, strips or blocks, so that the cancellation is shown repeated, and not with the dated town's mark. In the case of the Toronto cancellation an undoubted original cover with the stamp affixed could be considered evidence of its precancelled orgin.

The locally prepared precancelled stamps possess an undoubted interest, but as their use was not officially authorized or sanctioned, no attempt has been made to catalogue them.

The first official issue of precancelled stamps, comprising the ½, 1 and 3-cent denominations, was prepared by the Post Office Department and distributed to the larger offices in 1889. Use of the stamps was permitted on newspapers, circulars and catalogues. The stamps were cancelled in whole sheets at one operation on an ordinary printing press, the overprint consisting of a number of bars from one to two mm. wide, extending across each row of stamps. Later, in 1891, the 1-cent appeared precancelled with from one to five lines of single or double dashes. The precancelled stamps issued in 1892 were overprinted with two bars, 1 mm. wide and 11 mm. apart with a wavy line of the same thickness half-way between them. This type of overprint, with several variations, continued in use until 1903. Commencing with 1892, precancelled stamps were permitted to be used on parcels, and several of the higher values were issued precancelled for this purpose, although they appear to have been but little used.

Stamps precancelled with the name of the city and province in which they were to do postal duty first appeareed in 1903, being overprinted in Ottawa from electrotype plates of one hundred subjects. The precancellation of stamps is now usually done locally, the Post Office Department issuing an electroplate upon the contract by the local postmaster, with the local printer being certified by the Postmaster General. The fact that the electroplates are furnished by the Department, together with the requirement that the local post offices keep record of the number of issued precancelled stamps, prevents fraudulent usage. A permit of use must be obtained by any persons or concerns who desire the use of precancelled stamps.

The use of these stamps is permitted on the following postal classes: second class mail, such as newspapers and magazines in large bundles; third-class mail, printed matter such as circulars and catalogues; fourth-class mail, or parcels.

The use of precancelled stamps saves a great deal of time in the post office, for the time consumed in cancelling stamps on package after package, with their respective sizes, shapes and bulks varying greatly, is considerable. Firms accustomed to sending out quantities of circulars and catalogues, and publishers of periodicals find that precancelled stamps insure more prompt delivery, while through their use the large mail-order houses are enabled to deliver mail direct to the railway station, without the necessity of its passing through the local post-office.

Although the Canadian precancelled stamps, or precancels as they are usually called, had attracted the early notice of collectors, serious attention appears to have first been given them by F. Percy Collingwood, who in 1911 compiled for the Stamp Journal a list of the varieties in his collection. In the following year S. M. Schoemann published his pamphlet "A Check List of the Precancelled Postage Stamps of Canada," which contained a classification of types, in addition to an extended list of varieties.

Victor Ruggeri's admirable work "The Canadian Precancelled Stamps" appeared serially in the February, March, April, May and June, 1917, numbers of the Stamp Herald. A second edition of this work in pamphlet form and entitled "The Canadian Precancel Catalog," appeared the following year, edited in collaboration by Victor Ruggeri and Dr. W. I. Mitchell. Supplements to this edition appeared in the Stamp Herald for August, 1918, and January, 1919. Later in 1919 a third edition of the catalog was published. The fourth and fifth editions, edited by the present writer, were published as sections of Bushnell's Precancelled Stamp Catalog for 1920, and 1922 respectively. A supplement to the fifth edition appeared in Bushnell's Magazine for May, 1922.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS of November 25th, 1922, contained an article by W. Ward, entitled, "The First Precancelled Stamps." Notes by J. Harvey Westren in the Precancel Gazette during 1921 and 1922, and the Stamp Herald during 1922, and by the present writer in the Stamp Herald from 1918 to 1920, and the Canadian Stamp Collector from 1920 to date, complete the list of all that has previously been written regarding the Canadian precancelled stamp issues.

UNITED STATES FIRST DAY COVERS

Few things in the way of postage stamps are of more interest than covers used on the first day. At most only a few pass through the office of issue, and as time goes on these become more desirable. Like everything else, as soon as the dealer's supply is exhausted, up goes the price. Of some of the following I have but three, so order early. All used on the first day of issue from the city specified, where they were officially placed on sale by the Department.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—I now learn officially that the new 7c black, portrait of William McKinley, will not be placed on sale in Canton, Ohio, his home, on the first day, May 1st, as was originally intended, but that this stamp will appear at his birthplace, Niles, Trumbull County, Ohio.

The 8c olive showing U. S. Grant, will be placed on sale in Washington and there is a possibility it will be sold at Point Pleasant, Ohio, his birthplace, but this last piece of information is not official as yet.

The 14c indigo, showing Hollowhorn Bear, I am told, will be issued on May 1st at Muskogee, Oklahoma, by reason of the fact that this is the largest Indian settlement in America, and as well as the fact that the model of this stamp was approved by Secretary of Interior, Hubert Work, who was then Postmaster General, and now in charge of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

The 20c crimson, Golden Gate, will first appear on the same day at San Francisco. All values will be obtainable on the first day from the Philatelic Stamp Agent at Washington, D. C.

The postmasters at these several offices have been advised by the department to co-operate with collectors in making special legible cancellations on that date and postmasters will be glad to comply with collectors' requests for first day covers.

The first article in the April issue of the monthly supplement of the Official Postal Guide is entitled "Twenty-One New Faces" and deals with the new series of postage stamps, just issued. They go on to explain that this is the ninth series of designs, but as a matter of fact it is the tenth regular series, as they have omitted mention of the 1870 issue. The article illustrates the printing of one of the first of the new sheets and the good looking young man in the foreground is our energetic Superintendent of the Division of Stamps, Mr. M. L. Eidsness, Jr., who divides honors with the Third Assistant Postmaster General Warren Irving Glover in giving collectors a square deal.

In the same booklet we are informed that the first package ever sent by parcel post in this country, was a feathered fan received by Mrs. Grover Cleveland, wife of the dignitary shown on our new 12c stamp. Government officials in Jamaica dispatched it in 1887, after a new postal treaty had been signed with this country.

They also tell us that suggestions have been made by some business men for the revival of the old postage currency to take the place of uncancelled stamps inclosed in letters in lieu of money. One idea is to make up a money-order book like a stamp book with slips of small denominations. Better still, Mr. Postmaster General, arrange to redeem unused stamps for cash.

As has been the case for some issues, the Supplement is full of humor. We are told of one letter without street number sent to Mr. Andrew Bunn, Pine Street, Baltimore, Md., with the notation in the corner "I don't know the number of Mr. Bunn's house but you will always find his car in front of the door." The mail carrier makes the remark that "That boy thinks Baltimore is in Togoland or Siberia where automobiles are as common as ocean liners on the Mississippi."

January was a record month for the Philatelic Agency. Stamp collectors purchased $13,500 worth of stamps, as compared with $3,800 for January, 1922.

DANZIG.—We have received from Mr. James Van Meyers a copy of a 100m red lilac of oblong shape, which he advises is to be used in connection with "Old Age Pensions." The other value is the 50m and is of carmine shade. Both stamps were discontinued on March 31st last. We understand the 50m is sold at an advance of 20m over the face value and the 100m at an 30m increase.

DENMARK.—Mr. A. E. Pade and the Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the 10o green in the newspaper set with the overprint "Gebyr" at the top and at the bottom in black. Mr. Pade in advising us writes, "I think the stamp ought to be listed under Postage Dues, as it is to be used in payment of special services rendered over the Post Office counters, such as certain receipts, return receipts, etc."

HUNGARY.—Mr. G. Stanley Haines sends the following new items from this country: 10kr brown, 15kr black, 20kr lilac, 25kr orange, all in the type of A13. Also 15kr grey has been issued in the official stamps of the 1921 design. Mr. Haines at the same time sends the 20kr and the 60kr of the 1921 official set with the surcharge "15 Korona 15" and "25 Korona 25" respectively. Both overprints are in red at the base of the stamp.

ITALIAN SOMALILAND.—A new provisional Parcel Post stamp has been created here by overprinting the 50c value of the existing Parcel Post series of Italy with the single word SOMALIA.—Stamp Collecting.

JUGO-SLAVIA.—Denominations of 5 dinar (carmine), 8 dinar (violet), 20 dinar (green), and 30 dinar (orange), in the modified portrait type of 1921—all perf. 12—have followed the 1d, already chronicled.—Stamp Collecting.

LUXEMBURG.—A fresh set of Postage Dues is appearing, the design being exactly the same as for those of 1907, with the difference that the value is now expressed in red instead of black. Mr. Herbert Streatfield kindly submits examples. 1923, March, Postage Due. 1907 type, but with numerals and "cent," or "franc," in red. Perf. 12½. 5c green, 10c green, 20c green, 25c green, 30c green, 50c green, 1fr green.—Stamp Collecting.

Mr. R. Roberts has shown us the 2fr stamp of the type of A14 indigo engraved and they are in sheets of 50, 10 horizontal rows of 5.

MANY NEW STAMP ISSUES.

More Than 2,000 Varieties Listed for 1922 From 161 Countries.

With a new set of postage stamps for Ireland, an ecclesiastical issue in Italy to commemorate the third centenary of founding the congregation for the Propagation of the Faith by Pope Pius X, a series of six airplane stamps for Switzerland, the new issue recently brought out in Spain, in addition to countless others, mostly from European countries, there seems to be no cessation in the wave of postage stamp printing which set in with 1920. That year holds the record for the largest number of new issues in a single year, with 2,806 varieties listed in the Scott Standard Catalogue. In 1921 there was a slight falling off, with 2,207, but 1922 exceeded that number.

The complete record for last year has not been determined, but John N. Luff of the Scott Company has already listed more than 2,000, and his final figures are not complete. During the latter part of 1922 he listed more than 475 hitherto unrecorded issues of 1921, and if only half that number is chronicled during the next few months for issues in 1922, that year will take second place in respect to the number of new stamps.

Kent B. Stiles, in discussing the continued stamp printing wave in Scott's Monthly Journal, states that these stamps came from 161 countries, colonies and dependencies. Eleven issued more than 35 each. Austria heads the list with 74 different varieties. Memel takes second place with 70. Russia ranks third with 62. The other eight are Germany with 61, Italy with 60, Armenia with 49, Danzig with 44, Ireland with 42, Indo-China with 40, and Far Eastern Republic and Hungary tied with 36 each. Egypt, Siberia, Turkey and Guatemala fall just short of the 35-variety-mark. One stamp each has been chronicled for Afghanistan, Bermuda, Costa Rica, China, Dominica, French Soudan, Gibraltar, Honduras, Netherlands, New Caledonia, Niger Territory, North Borneo, Samoa, Spain, Togo and Venezuela.

The average number of varieties for the 161 governments is a fraction more than 12½.

"For the United States, with the Philippines' two stamps not included, eighteen varieties have been listed. These include several of the new series, which appeared late in 1922. This compares with twenty-six varieties in 1920 and twelve in 1921.

"Of the 2,025 varieties thus far chronicled for 1922," says Mr. Stiles, "surcharged stamps comprise 832, or more than 41 per cent. This compares with about 72 per cent. in the record year of 1920, and about 50 per cent. in 1921. These declines—22 per cent. the year before last and 9 per cent. last year—may be interpreted as being indicative of approaching normalcy in international conditions. The nations of the world certainly lacked stability during 1920, with new nations endeavoring to adjust themselves to the scheme of affairs, and that accounted for the appearance of more surcharged postage stamps than had ever before appeared within any twelve months' time.

"Of the 832 surcharged stamps chronicled for 1922, the creating of new values by overprinting was responsible for 396, or nearly one-half. The other surcharges were provided to convert ordinary stamps into occupation, official, postage due, charity, airplane and other types."—N. Y. Times.

HISTORY FROM POSTAGE STAMPS.

By CHARLES G. WILSON.

The portrait of the aborigine which appears on the 1½d stamp of the Victory Issue of New Zealand represents a Maori, one of the native Polynesian inhabitants of that country. These Maoris are the cleanest cut and highest type of all the aboriginal people in the world. When the first missionaries went to New Zealand, not one hundred years ago, the Maoris, in spite of their relatively high type of culture, were among the most cannibalistic of Polynesian peoples. They practised until recently a religion called Hauhauism, which comprised cannibalistic rites and after the advent of the first European settlers this religion encouraged rebellion and warfare against the whites. In their long struggle against the encroachment of the British the Maoris displayed war tactics of such high order as to astonish and win the respect of their opponents. The British were able to conquer but not exterminate this hardy race and today there are Maoris in the New Zealand Parliament (even representing European constituencies). Many of the race have taken easily to the white man's culture, have gone to colleges, and in the cities and towns are to be seen living as do the whites, handsome, well-dressed, and educated.

The primitive Maoris of the back country are noted for their tattooing, their ornamental and decorative art, their epic poetry, legends and mythology. That the ceremonial ways and customs of their fathers are fast passing out was shown at Rotorua when the Maoris gathered to welcome the Prince of Wales on his recent visit to New Zealand. Much of the ceremony was tawdry, unreal and faked because the modern Maori has forgotten the ceremonials of his ancestors.

If you have a good opinion of your collection keep it to yourself—or you might get your eyes opened.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

¶ I regret to announce that I will be unable to attend to correspondence and orders received during the month of May.
¶ During the last week in April I expect to undergo an operation which will confine me to the hospital for four or five weeks.
¶ As I give all correspondence my Personal Attention, it will pay everyone concerned to have all such await my return.
¶ At that time all letters will be answered, all orders filled, and want lists and approval selections attended to, each in the order of its receipt.
¶ My New Issue Service will not be interfered with, but new items received cannot, of course, be sent out or listed until my return.
¶ I trust my many customers will pardon this unavoidable interruption of my service and will send in their orders as usual.
¶ Thanking you all in advance for your continued patronage, [89

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor:

Is it possible that I can't read English? I ask this for the reason that I can see nothing at all to enthuse over in the recent Senate Bill 2703, passed and signed by the President, which is supposed to give the right of illustrating U. S. postage stamps. We don't get a thing according to the way I read it, which is ". . . portions of the border of stamps of the United States when same are enlarged to four times the size of the original stamp." Portions of the border mean mighty little to me. We already have that, vide present catalogue, issues of 1861, 1870-71, 1873, etc. For quite a little while past I have been writing regularly to a couple of congressmen, whom I know personally, with regard to the desire we philatelists have had uppermost in our minds for years, and if the present bill has given us anything worth while I would like to order out the local band and celebrate in real style. Pardon me for objecting to the almost unrestrained enthusiasm which has been given forth by the WEEKLY, as well as other journals, as I cannot see anything to enthuse over. Are we simply "kidding" ourselves or is some one "kidding" us. As it looks to me the law just passed merely legalizes a practice of printing pictures of foreign stamps and parts of U. S. stamps which has been going on in this country for years past, as it has always been a violation of the law to do either. Now as I see it, all of these violations are nullified, if I am wrong, tell me, and until I am shown otherwise, tell the world of Philatelia I am sore. Please publish this, so that we can keep the ball rolling and really get what we want, for my present feeling is that we have been betrayed by those who assumed to be our friends.

Yours truly,
MALCOM H. GANSER,
A. P. S., 4801.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—A new firm, Wheeler & Wheeler of Bicknell, Cal., enters our columns this week with displayed advertising. The firm comes well recommended and we hope our subscribers will give them a hearty welcome.

—A. H. Schumacher, Houston, Texas, has just issued a nice pricelist of United States stamps. It will be mailed to anyone upon request.

—There is a letter at this office for D. C. Trumbull, which may be had upon application.

—"Have just received the New Austrian Airplane stamps, 3000K light brown, 4800K blue. These are of the same type as the 1200 and 2400 latest issue."—A. E. HUSSEY.

—The W. C. Burtes Co., Saratoga Springs, N. Y., has just issued a neat duplicate stock book. It is substantial and handy and is advertised in adlets.

—The Stamp Dealer is a new venture from the Gossip Printery Holton, Kans. It carries upon its surface the earmarks of success and will, we trust, succeed where other papers of this kind have failed. No subscription price—free to any standard dealer.

$1,000,000 STAMP COLLECTION REVEALS MANY A ROMANCE.

The Henry J. Duveen stamp collection, valued at more than $1,000,000, which is now being sold here in sections, has long been known as one of the finest in the world, containing an exceptionally large number of extreme rarities in good condition. Mr. Duveen began to collect stamps in 1892 as a diversion from the business of importing pictures. Up to the time of his death in 1918 he pursued his hobby as eagerly as though the portrait of King or President on a little engraved square of paper were a masterpiece of art. He never parted with one of these treasures except as he occasionally exchanged duplicates for specimens he did not possess.

The only time when Mr. Duveen permitted a representative portion of his great collection to be publicly shown was in the International Stamp Exhibition held in this city in 1913, when he won the grand prize and several gold medals. Philatelists then had the opportunity of seeing the one-penny and two-penny "Post Office" Mauritius, 1847, both in superb unused condition, valued at that time at more than $10,000, and the pair of circular two-cent British Guiana stamps, 1850, on the original envelope mailed in Georgetown. The discovery of these stamps is one of the romances of philately. On hearing of the find Mr. Duveen sent an agent to British Guiana, but they had been sold before his arrival. Eventually he secured them for $7,250. Even this was not a bad investment, for, according to Fred J. Melville, the London expert, a similar pair was sold in 1921 for slightly more than $20,000.

Buyers with more than a million to spend on stamps not being numerous, the collection has been broken up into groups, each country intact. The United States has already been sold—that is, the stamps issued by that eminent philatelist, Uncle Sam. This was one of the most complete sections, containing all of the early issues and rare varieties. These included a superb unused set from 1 to 60 cents, of the scarce August, 1861, issue, which was in use less than a month, as slight changes were made in September, and inverted canceled copies of the 15, 24 and 30 cent values of the 1869 issue. The Scott Standard Catalogue places a value of $1,000 on the 1 cent of the August, 1861, issue; $1,500 for the 12-cent stamp, and $900 for the 90-cent value in unused condition. At the Worthington sale in this city in 1917 a copy of the 12-cent sold for $1,200, while $830 and $875 was paid, respectively, for unused copies of the 1 and 90 cent values. At the same sale a canceled copy of the 30-cent 1869, inverted centre, sold for $1,500, being purchased by Colonel E. H. R. Green.

In addition to these regular Government issues, Mr. Duveen had a choice lot of the early Postmasters' stamps used in some cities prior to the first Federal issue in 1847. Among them are the 5 and 10 cent Baltimore, the 10-cent stamp being on the original envelope. Only two other copies are known. There is also a fine copy of the rare Millbury (Mass.) 5-cent, a 5-cent Providence on the envelope, a fine 5-cent Brattleboro on an envelope addressed to a young lady at Pittsfield, Mass., and the St. Louis 5, 10 and 20 cent values, including a complete sheet with three of the 5's and three of the 10's. The New York 5-cent issues are also well represented. In the provisional Postmaster issues of the Confederate States the collection is very rich.

While the Ferrary collection, recently sold in Paris by the French Government, was more extensive and contained some incomparable rarities, such as the British Guiana stamp which sold for $32,500, the early ship design variety and the only copy known, the Duveen collection is unique among big collections in that it contains no repaired or "faked" specimens.

The most valuable stamp-issuing country represented in the collection is that of the Island of Mauritius. This is the finest collection in the world of these stamps, states Mr. Phillips, and is remarkably strong in "first printings," of which Mr. Duveen purchased all he could find. No stamps have ever been sold for such high prices as these early Mauritius. While the British Guiana stamp which brought more than $32,000 at the Ferrary sale holds the record for a stamp sold at auction. $50,000 is reported to have been paid last year by Arthur Hind, the textile manufacturer of Utica, for an envelope mailed in Mauritius in 1847 with both the 1 and 2 penny values. The stamps are lightly canceled. It is the only envelope known having both values, and the price paid made a new record for these stamps. Mr. Hind also bought the British Guiana stamp, and he has suddenly jumped into the ranks of princely collectors.

Wanted, last edition Scott's 19th two volume album, fine condition, with or without some stamps. R. DASKAM, Chevy Chase, Md.

The stamps are admirably mounted in sixty-three large volumes, and the rarities and varieties of each country are carefully described. The work of arranging and writing up the collection was entrusted by Mr. Duveen to Edward Denny Bacon, the philatelic expert.

The sale is in charge of Charles J. Phillips, formerly head of the firm of Stanley Gibbons of London, the largest postage stamp dealers in the world. He has come to New York to live, bringing a large portion of the Duveen collection with him. His wife is a native of this country.

"I have visited nearly every State in your land," said Mr. Phillips, "and I think I know the country and understand American ways better than many native or resident New Yorkers, some of whom know a little about Europe but have slight personal information about America."—N. Y. Times.

AERO STAMPS OF URUGUAY.

By AUTOLYCUS.

No special stamp was created in connection with the first experimental air post flight, which took place between Montevideo and Salto on August 25th, 1912. Letters carried by the pilot were, however, impressed with a distinctive postmark bearing the legend "CORREO AEREO—SALTO MONTEVIDEO—25 AGOSTO 1912" in three lines.

A temporary air post service between Montevideo and Rocha via Piriapolis was promoted by the Aero Club of Uruguay on March 22nd, 1921, and on this occasion an air post stamp was created by the Ministry of Posts by applying a distinguishing imprint in the form of a miniature aeroplane, with the words "CORREO AERO" beneath, upon 100 sheets of the regular 25 centavos postage stamps, 1900-09, in bronze blue. A single sheet is said to have been overprinted in error, in black, and was sold over the post office counter in the ordinary course. About 300 letters were carried on the outward flight, which, owing to the failure of the pilot to complete his journey, were forwarded from Piriapolis by rail.

On the occasion of another experimental flight from Montevideo to Mercedes, on November 12th, 1921, a second printing of 15,000 aero stamps was made by the Uruguayan Post Office, this time in red. A specimen with inverted overprint is known, used. Subsequently this same stamp was utilised in connection with a spasmodic air mail between Buenos Ayres and Montevideo, which was inaugurated on December 17th, 1921, weekly, on Monday and Saturday, but the flights are very irregular.

A further printing of 15,000 aero stamps in green was brought into use in May, 1922, whilst an additional supply of 8,000 copies with a yellow overprint was ordered, but withheld from circulation owing to the temporary suspension of the Montevideo—Buenos Ayres air mail since the end of May, 1922. It is stated that the plate used for producing these aereo overprints has been destroyed.

AUCTION SUPERB UNUSED GREEC

This offering is a superb collection of 19th century Greece. Mostly of the first type imperforates and mostly unused copies. A number of remarkable pieces of extreme rarity are included. The collection has been 20 years in the making. We offer only the unused stamps with a few copies of choice used ones. The balance of the used stamps will be handled later. Since there are but few used pieces in the sale, you will note that ALL lots are unused unless described with the word "used". Anything not answering description may be returned within 48 hours. To save space we have given first the catalogue number in ( ) followed with a brief description and Scott catalog price. Gibbons prices most of the items much higher.

STAMP EXHIBIT SENT TO LONDON.

A priceless stamp exhibit shown in the above Underwood and Underwood copyrighted picture has been completed by the Bureau of Printing and Engraving at the direction of Postmaster General New and is being sent to London to be shown at the International Stamp Exposition in the Royal Horticultural hall May 14-26. Consisting of various hued stamps to represent the American shield, surrounded by a wreath of blue stamps and a border of ornamental work reproduced from United States notes and bonds, the exhibit has won the praise of President Harding and officials. Assistant Postmaster General Glover is shown pointing to the die proof of the famous 24-cent inverted airplane error valued by collectors at $1,500 each.

EXCHANGING

A great many people write me in the course of a year to inquire whether I will take their duplicates in exchange for stamps they need. My answer is

YES

But, I only handle United States stamps and have no use for anything that is not in really fine condition. Better grade used copies and original covers are particularly needed just now. All lots must be sent to me by registered mail or insured express.

With these points in mind and my guarantee of a reply within twenty-four hours,

VICTORIA.

THE HALF-LENGTHS AND THE TWOPENCE QUEEN ENTHRONED.

By Charles Lathrop Pack, Lakewood, New Jersey.

Accompanied by a bound Agenda or Brief of some 270 pages explaining the Philatelic Research and the catalog. Entered in Class "A", Section 1, Championship, London International Philatelic Exhibition.

This highly specialized collection in nine Oriel volumes presents the results of many years' study and research in the early issues of Victoria.

Beginning with the original steel plate as engraved by Mr. Thomas Ham, the three values of the half-lengths are carried through their successive lithographic printings by the different contractors. An original conceit is a comprehensive exhibit on one page of examples of all the settings of all three values in pairs, in horizontal columns for comparison.

In the onepenny value, the second setting by Thomas Ham has been finally differentiated and its reconstruction completed, a block of four, various strips, and numerous pairs, both horizontal and vertical, contributing to this result.

The composition of the first setting has been largely determined. Noteworthy items of this first setting are two singles and two horizontal pairs, all used, in the extremely rare orange-vermilion shade (Catalog No. 1), this variety being unknown unused. A horizontal strip of five in pale brown, with margins at right and bottom, a block of six in orange-brown and three pairs in the scarce chocolate shade, are other items of interest displayed.

The third setting of the onepenny is shown in a complete reconstruction of the group unused, one very rare item being a horizontal strip of six of an early impression with margins at both ends, thus determining the width of the group. A probably unique item is an unused block of nineteen with margins at both sides and bottom. The early and late impressions, differentiated by the shaded or unshaded veils respectively, in various shades, are fully plated in numerous reconstructions. A used horizontal pair, rouletted 7, is an unusual item.

In the J. S. Campbell and Company's onepenny, a page of unused singles demonstrates the variety and sequence of the shades found in these printings; while the composition of the group is illustrated by platings both used and unused in various shades, of which mention must be made of the very fine orange-red, dull lake, and brick-red assemblies.

An original method of proving the correctness of a group reconstruction, both as to the sequence of horizontal and vertical rows, is shown by a so-called "step-ladder" demonstration by pairs; so that every subject is clearly revealed. Throughout the collection this plan has been followed to assure absolute results.

The later Campbell and Fergusson printings are also fully demonstrated by complete group reconstructions, one in particular, of all unused deep rose singles, being probably unique. Two of the rare retouches are also shown unused, while the unused section reveals others, many of which are chronicled for the first time.

The solution of the "abnormal" compositions for these settings, fully demonstrated by deduction and diagrams, and illustrated by many unusual and rare combinations of types in pairs, strips and blocks, marks an important advance in Philatelic research.

Two covers show "record" dates. For Ham's second setting of the onepenny, "Melbourne, Port Philip, Feb. 12, 1851"; and for J. S. Campbell & Company's onepenny, "Melbourne, Victoria, March 11, 1854".

Of unused twopence stamps there are displayed as selections from the collection the following noteworthy items:

Of the first setting, two very rare singles;

Of the second setting, eight singles and a horizontal pair in various shades; all rare thus;

Of third and fourth settings, blocks of four.

The used twopence show a page of the first setting in various shades and include four horizontal pairs of these rarities.

With the succeeding settings, the results of the latest research work are shown for the first time, the reconstructions of the various groups for the second, third and fourth settings having been successfully solved. In the third setting, two complete groups, in contrasting shades, are exhibited; while in the fourth setting there are three com-

Portuguese Colonies
(MOUNTED)
1000 Varietis for $23.50

Some collectors try to cry down issues of the Portuguese Colonies, but when the matter is sifted down to the bottom, it is generally found that the opposition arises from their inability to beg, buy, exchange, or otherwise acquire a representation of these scarce stamps. How many does YOUR collection contain? Count them over and we wager you'll be disagreeably surprised!

With extreme difficulty, we have managed to secure several "collections de luxe" of 1,000 all different stamps from the Colonies only (no Portugal), and are passing the good fortune on to our clients with the admonition that they buy right now before it is too late. Most of the stamps are mint and particular care has been taken in the selection of fine copies. The most surprising part, however, is the large number of complete sets, provisionals, commemoratives, and scarce stamps cataloguing up to several dollars each which are to be found. The hard-to-get Vasco da Gama issues are also well represented, not to mention scores of pictorials from Nyassa, Mozambique Co., bisected stamps from Macao and Portuguese India, War and Charity issues, etc., etc. Stamps from every single colony are present in parade array and we will guarantee the total catalogue value to exceed $120.00! Our special net price is absurdly low. This offer will not be repeated, so an early order will avoid disappointments!

PRICE ONLY $23.50

(N. B. We also have on hand a few collections of 1,500 all different Portuguese Colonies—extra fine quality—at $67.50 each. Catalogue value will exceed $325.00.)

The Ritchie Cancellations

We have now added the very large accumulation of cancellations made by J. A. Ritchie, well known specialist in this fascinating side-line of philately, to a stock which already held the Olin H. Clark collection and parts of two other fine lots.

The outstanding feature of Mr. Ritchie's stamps is the large percentage of really superb copies, items showing the almost impossible combination of rare cancellations, neatly impressed on perfectly centered stamps of good color. During the 20 years or more Mr. Ritchie studied U. S. cancellations, he examined more than a million copies of the 3c stamps of the issues of 1851, 1857, 1861, 1867, and of the 1c, 2c, 3c, 6c and 10c stamps of the bank note issues. From these he put aside a few hundred for his own collection, and a few thousand for study purposes. All these are carefully classified and form the basis for a really accessible and exhaustive stock of U. S. cancellations.

Students of the various groups are invited to give us a line on what they are seeking; whether the comparatively simple route and rate markings of the '47, '51 and '57 issues, the Patriotic propaganda of the Civil War markings, or the fantastic or locally significant designs of the post-war period before the styles in cancelling marks were regulated by the Post Office Department.

Many of these curious designs are scarce as the rarest of postmasters' provisionals, some of considerable historical significance. The possibility of beautifying a collection with pages of interesting postmarks is only beginning to appeal to the general run of collectors. This is a fine time to begin.

FOR THOSE WHO LIKE TO FIND THEIR OWN, we have more than 100,000 unsorted copies of the 3c greens, 1c blues, and 2c vermilions at 25c per hundred; 2c claret, No. 210, at 20c per hundred.

J. O. MOORE, Inc., Rheims, N. Y.

e platings in separate shades in lilac, scarce red-lilac, and cinnamon.

n other pages, fifteen varieties of the ouches" found in the fourth setting revealed, in singles, pairs and strips, their various positions in the group rmined and illustrated by a diagram. these "retouches", four copies of the ue omitted" variety, in different les, are shown.

ith the twopence there are also two rs with "record" dates, one for the nd setting, postmarked "Fiery Creek, t Phillip, Jan. 27, 1850", and one for third setting, postmarked "———, t Phillip, Aug. 17, 1850".

oteworthy and extremely rare items n the unused portion of the threee section of the collection are three s of the first setting by Thomas n, a wonderful vertical strip of four wide lower margin, and horizontal s of three and four subjects, the lattrip showing on the righthand stamp of the rare "retouches" of this set- In addition, four singles are shown his first setting, as well as four also e much rarer second setting.

am's third setting is represented by mplete reconstruction of the group welve unused, a very rare block of , early impression, a horizontal pair, impression; and five singles in varishades, one of which is the very fine uched Type 6" of the group.

mplete group platings of the unused specimens are shown for both the J. S. Campbell & Company's and Campbell and Fergusson settings of the threepence; while in addition, of the former firm's productions there are horizontal pairs displayed rouletted horizontally only; and perforated 12; both very rare items. Two unused pairs also accompany the Campbell and Fergusson plating, and are of considerable rarity thus.

From the used section of the collection, Ham's first setting of the threepence is shown partially reconstructed, the assembly containing a wonderful block of sixteen (4x4), and an accompanying diagram shows how this block links up with the unused horizontal and vertical strips of four mentioned above.

The second setting by Thomas Ham is also shown partially reconstructed, a horizontal strip of four, and horizontal and vertical pairs being items which have contributed to the progress made in the solution of this problem. No less than eight different examples of the "retouches" of this setting are shown, of which four are in pairs. Some of these have never before been chronicled.

Thomas Ham's third setting for the threepence displays an unusual reconstruction of the group of twelve, utilizing three horizontal strips of four, a block of four and a horizontal pair, which by their relations one to another clearly prove the "repeat" of the group both horizontally and vertically.

Another page displays two covers, one of which bears five shillings of postage, represented by a complete group of twelve, a block of four, a horizontal pair and a cut-to-shape hexagonal sixpence slate-gray, of New South Wales. The cancellation is the "Oval 25" of Victoria, and the destination being Adelaide, South Australia, the receiving postmark is "Adelaide, G. P. O. Aug. 1, 1854." The other item, a piece of cover, bears six stamps in an unsevered L shaped group of four subjects horizontally and three vertically, all cancelled "Oval 12".

Five different examples of "retouches" are shown of this third setting, three in pairs and four as singles. One or two of the varieties have never been chronicled before.

The displayed pages from the J. S. Campbell and Company's printings of the threepence show many examples of the unusual combinations of known types, which were caused by the abnormal compositions used at times by that firm. These varieties are shown in pairs, strips, and blocks, and each is individually explained and described. There is also a reconstruction shown of a normal setting by this firm, employing only specimens from the worn state of the stone, in their typical Prussian blue shade; several pairs and a strip of three being items of merit.

Another plating, using the perforated 12 varieties is also shown, while a page is devoted to numerous rouletted and part-rouletted varieties in singles and pairs, in the latter state quite rare. A "retouch" perforated 12 is also exhibited.

The Campbell and Fergusson threepence is represented by a demonstration of some of the "white" and "colored" line varieties in a partial plating of the group, besides examples of some of the "abnormal" varieties found in this printing. In the main collection these "abnormal compositions" of the Campbell printings are treated quite exhaustively and the problems pertaining to their make-up explained.

The twopence Queen Enthroned is represented by a page of unused specimens of Thomas Ham's engraved types, in singles and a pair. In the lithographed varieties by the two Campbell concerns, the "substituted transfers" of each printing are shown and explained, as well as the TVO variety. In this display seventeen pairs and three strips are seen, besides several singles, illustrating all the known varieties.

Two covers bearing "record" dates are also displayed; one having a Ham engraved stamp, postmarked "Melbourne, Jan. 13, 1853", and the other showing a J. S. Campbell and Company specimen of an early impression, postmarked "Geelong, Jan. 17, 1854".

The bound and illustrated agenda or brief accompanying the collection of half-lengths embodies chapters on early postal history of the colony, shedding much new light on old matters, and explaining in full all points bearing upon the issue. Reconstructions are established and plating-guides given for each. A catalog of the half-lengths and Queen Enthroned issues, based upon these new developments in their study, together with much statistical data, make it a valuable work of reference.

MAY PRICES

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE

I have a good stock of the 19th century issues of these stamps that I desire to turn during May,—everything except the errors. I have decided, therefore, to offer everything at a flat rate of 50% of catalogue for good to fine copies, and to give a further progressive discount according to the net size of orders received, as follows:—

5% off on orders between $20 and $40 net
10% off on orders between $40 and $60 net
15% off on orders between $60 and $90 net
20% off on orders over $90 net.

These prices are good only until June 15; and the special discounts apply only to present stock, and so far as orders can be filled therefrom.

In addition, I have a secondary line of Triangles that I have priced very low, and will be glad to submit on approval against deposit or A1 reference.

I can submit, also, interesting books of Canada, Newfoundland, P. E. I., and a book of Miscellaneous Rarities — priced, according to condition, at attractive figures.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF BELGIUM.

By Bertram W. H. Poole.

PART II. — CHARITY AND RED CROSS STAMPS.

Chapter I.

The Brussels Exhibition Issue.

In 1910 an Exhibition was held in Brussels and advantage was taken of the occasion to issue a special series of stamps, not so much to advertise the Exhibition itself as to assist the funds of the National Anti-Tuberculosis League. Two series of four stamps each were issued and while both series depict the same episode—St. Martin giving half his cloak to a beggar—the designs are very different. In one series, which was designed by Mr. C. Montald, the figure on horseback, the beggars and the background are shown by a series of dots and lines, the whole effect being crude in the extreme. At top are "BELGIQUE" and "BELGIE", in the lower left corner are numerals of value and at lower right is a plain label containing the word "CARITAS" (Charity).

In the other design, the work of Mr. H. Lemaire, St. Martin and his steed and the beggars are shown on a ground of solid color with "BELGIQUE—BELGIE" as well as the date "1910" at the top in uncolored characters. Below the group "CARITAS" is shown in white letters and in the left lower corner is a square containing the numerals of value.

Both designs have the names of their designers in small capitals under the lower frame line and in both series it will be noted that the 10c denominations has no "c" after the numerals of value.

The usual Sunday label completes the stamps of both series, the type of letters used being distinctive for each set.

In April, 1911, all eight values appeared with an overprint of the date "1911" in black and later in the same year they were all overprinted "CHARLEROI" and "1911" in two lines in black. This overprinting was a speculative device to promote further sales.

The stamps had franking power to the extent of the values noted upon them, viz., 1c, 2c, 5c or 10c, but all were sold at a premium, the extra amount thus obtained going to the National charity named above.

Chapter II.

The Antwerp Red Cross Stamps.

On August 28, 1914, the Belgian Stamp Printing Works at Malines were destroyed by the Germans so that when it was desired to issue a special series for the benefit of the Red Cross funds in October their production was entrusted to Mr. Verschueren, an Antwerp printer and lithographer. Two series of different designs were decided on and both were apparently ready at the same time and placed on sale simultaneously. Each series consisted of three values, 5c, 10c and 20c, and they were sold at double face value, half of the proceeds of their sale going to the post-office and hal the Belgian Red Cross Funds.

The design for the stamps of la size shows the Monument to Co
Frederic de Merode, erected at Berch in commemoration of the War of In pendence. Above this central desig
"BELGIQUE", at bottom is "BELGI in the upper corners are numerals being printed in red. The numbers dered were:—

5 centimes,	600,000
10 centimes,	600,000
20 centimes,	75,000

The stamps of small design show

London in the following year, but w head partly to right instead of left, w numerals of value in the right lo corner and Geneva Cross in red in l bottom corner.

The same quantities were ordered for the stamps of larger size and b issues were produced by lithography.

The stamps were printed and first sued at Antwerp during the siege ab
October 2nd. On the 9th of that mo the city capitulated and a large num of the stamps were destroyed as well the lithographic stones. Some of stamps were saved, however, for read in Field's catalogue that "the mainder were issued at Ghent, Brug Ostend, Bar-le-duc, and subsequently the Belgian P. O. at Havre (Franc between Oct. 15th and 23rd, when supply was exhausted".

All six varieties may be found in number of distinct shades and an int esting error of the 5 centimes portr stamp is known without the Cross.

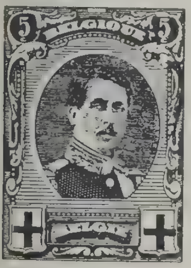
London Printed Red Cross Stamps.

n January 2, 1915, a new set of three Cross stamps was issued, these be- produced in London by Messrs. erlow Bros. and Layton. The de- is the same for all three values and ws in the centre a portrait of King ert similar to that on the portrait ps of the last series, but on a er scale. The frame is an almost t replica of that on the Monument ps of the last series, so that as far he design is concerned the London shows little originality. In fact it the only original feature is the tion of a small "c" under the numer- f value in the upper corners.



e stamps were printed in sheets of divided into four panes of twenty- stamps each, five horizontal rows of with wide margins separating the s. The portrait and crosses are in on all values and one plate or stone d for all three.

ld's catalogue says the stamps were graphed, but judging by the repeti- of small flaws and defects on cor- nding stamps on all four panes, as regards the frames and centers, ems much more probable that the ps were produced by lithography. evident that in producing the stones frames and centers a block of y-five transfers was reproduced times.

lking the stone for portrait and es first, we find the eleventh stamp ch pane provides the well-known ty with broken epaulet, while there everal varieties in the shape of the es. The most prominent of these short left arm to the cross, which s on Nos. 7, 10, 13, 19 and 24 as ds the left-hand cross and on No. regards the right-hand cross.

proof of our contention that the stones were also made up of four r transfers we will point out a few fication marks which are easily viz.:—

5 centimes.

No. 4.—A colored line extends downwards from the top of the shield containing the right-hand cross.

No. 8.—A prominent line of color crosses the body of the "5" in the upper left corner.

No. 21.—A prominent uncolored flaw is shown about the centre of the right-hand frame.

10 centimes.

No. 11—The small "c" in upper left corner is much malformed.

No. 14.—A small colored line projects from left-hand frame.

No. 20.—There is a small colored dot on the second "E" of "BELGIE".

20 centimes.

No. 12.—There is a colored line in the last "E" of "BELGIQUE" and the line above the shield in left lower corner is broken.

No. 14.—Two of the horizontal lines around the portrait medallion are joined by a semi-circular mark at left side.

These stamps were sold at double face value, the additional amount thus obtained going to swell the National Red Cross funds. Altogether 3,000,000 each of the 5c and 10c were printed and 1,000,000 of the 20 centimes. They were all printed on wove unwatermarked paper and the vast majority are perforated 14 by a single line machine. The 5c and 20c were also issued perforated 12, the same values are found perf. 14x12, the 5c is known perf. 12x14, and, finally, the 20c is found perf. 11x12. Curiously enough none of these abnormal perforation varieties are found in connection with the 10 centimes value. No records were apparently made as to the numbers of these except that it is known that there were 8750 of the 20c perf. 12, (though why the odd half sheet we are not told), and it is believed there were approximately 3000 of the 5c perf. 12x14.

THE U. S. ENTRY AT LONDON.

A stamp exhibit, almost priceless from the standpoint of philatelists, has been completed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at the direction of Postmaster General New, and will be sent to London, England, for exhibition at the International Stamp Exposition to be held in the Royal Horticultural Hall from May 14 to 26.

Assistant Postmaster General Glover will accompany the United States' entry and enter it himself at the exposition.

Made up of various hued stamps to represent the American shield which is surrounded by a wreath of blue stamps and a border of lathe and ornamental work reproduced from United States' notes and bonds, the exhibit has won the praise of President Harding to whom it was shown by Postmaster General New at the White House. It is expected to take at least one of the prizes at the exposition.

At the top, in an ornamental frame, is an engraved portrait of President Harding. At the bottom appears a portrait of Postmaster General New, under which is the gold seal of the Post-Office Department with blue ribbon streamers. On the four corners are engravings of the White House, the Post-Office Department, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and the Washington City Post-Office.

The background of the exhibit is made up entirely of the new golden yellow ten-cent Monroe stamps. The other stamps forming the design are inlaid. The national colors in the United States' shield is made by using the ordinary two-cent stamps of the old issue for the red stripes, the background for the white stripes and the new five-cent Roosevelt stamps for the blue field.

The wreath surrounding the shield is formed by a double row of stamps, the outer one composed of the new dark blue 14-cent American Indian and the inner row of the new light blue 11-cent Hayes stamp. Within the circle in an ornamental panel the entire new issue of 1922 stamps appear while the old issue is in a similar panel directly beneath. Surmounting the shield is the spread eagle of the United States with transparent rays shooting forth. In panels on either side above the shield are the commemorative series of one, two, five and ten-cent San Francisco stamps of 1913, and the Tercentenary series of one, two and five, and the three-cent Liberty stamp.

Below the wreath are specimens of the airplane stamps, including a die proof of the famous 24-cent inverted airplane error, valued by collectors at $1,500 each.

EDITORIAL.

Under date of April 27, 1923, the post-office department has issued descriptions of the new 7c, 8c, 14c and 20c postage stamps of the series of 1922-23. We read: "These four new stamps will first be placed on sale May 1, 1923, the 7c at the post-office at Niles, Ohio, the 8c at Washington, D. C., the 14c at Muskogee, Okla., and the 20c at San Francisco, Calif. They will also be placed on sale May 1, 1923, at the philatelic stamp agency, Division of Stamps, Post-Office Department, for the benefit of stamp collectors and dealers. The new 7c, 8c and 20c stamps will not be issued to postmasters until the present supply of the current issue of these denominations is exhausted. Postmasters may draw requisitions for the new 14c stamp after May 1, 1923, but such requisitions will be honored for limited quantities only."

A reader has a criticism to offer on the subject of service at the philatelic agency at Washington. It seems that he wrote for some of the new stamps and notwithstanding that a request was made for well-centered specimens, the invoice included stamps that were a disgrace, so far as centering was concerned. Our correspondent says that he wrote to say that the clerk should have known enough to send centered stamps without being told. It is the understanding of patrons of the agency that one of its offices is to furnish stamps in acceptable condition for collectors and dealers and we hope that the intention to provide stamps in proper condition will not be weakened as time goes on.

Mr. Bertram W. H. Poole, whose contributions to the WEEKLY and whose handbooks in our series have gained him a host of friends, called at the editorial office en route to the London International Stamp Exhibition. We are pleased to know that there will be a fair representation from the United States at the exhibition and congress. The exhibition programme shows that from Monday, May 14th, 1923, to Saturday, May 26th, the time of those in attendance will be most pleasantly engaged. The opening ceremony will be by the Hon. President, the Right Hon. W. Joynson-Hicks, Bart., Postmaster-General. The hours of the exhibition are from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M., and dancing, concerts, lectures, receptions and banquet are some of the features noticed in the well rounded programme.

From a St. Louis newspaper we copy the following obituary notice: "Frederick R. Cornwall, noted patent attorney, died at his home, 5052 Waterman avenue, early yesterday morning in his 51st year. Death followed an illness of seven months. The direct cause was said to be an acute attack of heart disease. Several months ago he went to New Mexico to recuperate. He returned to his home three weeks ago. For a number of years Cornwall had specialized in the legal phase of patent registration and was regarded as an authority in that branch of the law. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. May Rouchelle Cornwall, and six children." Mr. Cornwall died on April 28th and was buried on Monday, April 30th. Thus will the hurrying world read and pass over the philatelic accomplishments of Mr. Cornwall of St. Louis, and indeed, the ever-shifting sands of time have obliterated some of the footprints that Mr. Cornwall impressed so strongly on the philatelic shore and the newer collector with no traditions of the past can know but little of Mr. Cornwall's prowess as a collector. About twenty years ago Mr. Cornwall began to come to the fore as a philatelist and it was not long before he was nationally known through his intensive study of early U. S., Cape of Good Hope, New South Wales, and other countries, particularly British colonies. His collections became an attraction to philatelists visiting St. Louis and on occasion, Mr. Cornwall was an exhibitor at meetings in other cities. After serving on the Board of Vice-Presidents of the American Philatelic Society, Mr. Cornwall was elected president of the A. P. S., and in that position he served efficiently. Through his attendance at many of the conventions, Mr. Cornwall was acquainted with a host of collectors. His trained mind stood him in good stead during his administrations and through his instrumentality, the by-laws were revised to advantage. While Mr. Cornwall's philatelic attainments were of a high standard, he cultivated to the utmost what may be called the social amenities of philately and his spirit of fellowship ran high. He had friends in many cities, and at home he dispensed a rare hospitality. Latterly, we suspect, his failing health, coupled with his progress in business, made it necessary for him to curtail his philatelic activities and some of his stamp possessions were disposed of at auction some years ago. He was forced to absent himself from home and traveled much in the hope of restoring his health and though we heard at different times that his condition was much improved, the hope of permanent relief proved a vain one. The passing of Mr. Cornwall removes from our sphere a brilliant philatelist and a personality that was singularly affable and companionable; and his standing in his business of patent attorney was of the highest. His mind was acute and his ability paramount, and all in all, he was a gentleman who graced all the positions that he filled so well in life. Those who knew Mr. Cornwall will mourn his loss and those who did not will sense that a stanch supporter of philately has passed to his reward.

From Miss Mabel McClenthen we have received a clipping from Appleton's Journal, "a popular weekly back in the 70's," as follows: "Collecting postage stamps, which a few years ago had become almost a mania on the European Continent, has entirely died out. Collections which were once estimated at one thousand dollars can now be purchased for one hundred and less at Stuttgart." Miss McClenthen asks: "Did the gentle art of stamp collecting ever fall as low as this paragraph would indicate? It is hard to believe it." It is true that in the early days of philately, conditions were such at times as to give some color of truth to a paragraph such as quoted, but it may be said fairly that at no period since the founding of collecting did those who were continuously interested in it despair of its survival. A paragraph such as the one printed is characteristic of the viewpoint of the person who was not actively engaged in the pursuit or of the one who had forsworn collecting. Even now, the collector who recants and who no longer is surrounded by the activities of collecting is inclined to ask when once again he establishes contact with a collector if "stamp collecting is not losing its hold?" It is possible that at the time Appleton's used the "filler" in question that the wave of interest was receding but as for having "entirely died out," the stamp press from the early '60's to the present furnishes indisputable proof of the fact that stamp collecting has not seriously faltered in its triumphal march.

DEATH OF VICTOR H. SEITZ.

It is with great regret that we record the passing on of Victor H. Seitz, a well-known banker of Fremont, Nebr. Mr. Seitz was born in Norden, Germany, in 1850 and came to Fremont in 1884. He entered the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank as bookkeeper and was connected with that institution for thirty-six years.

Mr. Seitz was an ardent stamp collector and A. H. Westphal, who writes us concerning this matter, says that he had a few years ago a very large collection, which he sold, but the love of stamps was so great that he could not give up his hobby and at the time of his death was building up a second collection.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—New York has a new advertising cancellation reading as follows:—"Convention June 3-7, Asso. Adv. Clubs World, Atlantic City." Boston is also using a similar one.

—At the Boston Philatelic Society meeting of May 15, thirty lots of good stamps are to be sold at auction.

—Philadelphia sends out a new advertising cancellation reading:"—Visit Post Office Exhibit, Palace of Progress, M 14-26, Commercial Museum".

—L. Meister of Pilsen, Kans., wou like to know the present whereabouts John R. Cserny, formerly of Hammon Ind. Mr. Meister writes that he giv the A. P. S. as reference, but the fa is he has been dropped from membe ship in that organization.

—"I am just recovering from a se ous attack of the flu and pleurisy whi has laid me up for two weeks. The will be a delay in the answering of m due to this fact, and a news item in yo publication to that effect will be apprec ated."—A. M. MCFADDEN.

—We have received a new advertisi label from Indianapolis, but the Augu date is undecipherable. It reads:—"Ci zens' Training Camp, July 27-Aug. For Your Boy."

—George H. Bockoven, Palmyra, Y., can obtain no replies to letters a dressed A. R. Baker, Santa Paula, Cal

—A new cancellation has been show us from Baltimore, Md. It reads "B timore Boys Week, Apr 29-May 5, T Nation's Greatest Asset."

—A very pretentious price list of 1 pages has been received from Bridger Kay, 170 Strand, London, Eng. I completeness, coupled with cost of pr duction, seems to warrant the sma charge, 24c, made for the book.

BILL BECOMES BITTER.

Loce Ahng-hayl-ais,
March 20, 1923, A. P.

Dear Charlie:—

Well, Charlie, here I am a full-fledged member of the Hinge Lickers' Union of America, Local No. 367, in the land of sunkist movie vamps and low-priced oranges.

For a long time I have felt that itching to bust into the colyums of the Weekly again, but attributed it to some of the local insectivora. However, after reading of C. S. T.'s expedition to the oasis of Tia Juana, I said, "Bill, it's not fleas—it's the same old story. You want to write."

I asked Tommy if he picked up any good specimens on his trip, and he said he found some quartz. I knew he collected birds' eggs, but didn't know he saved minerals.

Charlie, this being a stamp dealer is certainly the whale's elbow. If I had known how easy this game was, and how little work we do for our living, I would have been in it before I was out of my cradle. A stamp dealer never does nothing for his dough, Charlie, except answer fool questions of his friends.

In the morning I come down to work and kid the elevator girls, then open the mail, if the janitress hasn't beaten me to it. I throw the orders into the waste basket, and I spend an hour answering questions for guys who bought my book on "How to be a stamp dealer and remain honest." Then I stand at attention while the boss comes in, and we say a few words of silent prayer in the hopes that some customers will come in by mistake.

The office being officially opened, and the day's work started, I count the hinges to see if any got away during the night.

Then, before we are disturbed by any of the local buyers, I get after the approval requests. First I find one from a boy in What Cheer, Iowa, asking for a Junior selection of Bremen, which if I sent him, he couldn't afford to buy 'em, y'know.

Then another kid sends in a nickel and wants a set of 1847 U. S. and if there is any change, to send him a Confederate. Of course, he can only get a damaged one for that money, so if we haven't a damaged one, I have to tear one.

Then I get a big want list from a fellow who has 47,000 varieties and wants all the others—until I send them to him. Then he returns them and says they are pretty, but he has decided not to buy any more stamps until Fourth of July, so I put them back in the 126 stock books from which I painlessly extracted them.

Suddenly we are surprised by the door opening and a suspicious looking individual entering. Thinking it is a customer, I rush over and lock the door, but he confides that he wants to sell us a subscription to an ex-service man's magazine, and another fond hope is blasted.

Next, I amuse myself filling a couple of hundred orders for our new U. S. album. Then I send out three or four hundred approval selections.

By that time I am hungry, so I sneak across the street and grab a Kosher ham sandwich at Bartel's (I get a free one for this advertising tomorrow) then dart madly back to the old desk.

Just as I am nicely settled, making up a book of Native India, a chappie blows in with a want list of one stamp from every country in the Junior album.

Then a man enters with a mysterious package under his arm. I open it carefully, and privately, but it proves to be nothing less than the contents of the old family trunk. Whereupon, we spread on my desk and on the floor the choicest lot of continentals that ever came out of a 25c a 1,000 packet. When I refuse to pay him the $1,000 he wants for the lot, he packs it up and takes it down the street to Southern California's Leading Dealer.

Then a customer comes in with a charming young lady. Shoving our counter book at the customer, I give my attention to the c. y. l., who proceeds to ask "What do people do with these stamps after they get them?" One of the first things I learned in this game is not to answer that question of the uninitiated, so I simply say that they use them to stuff pillows with, and to decorate ash-trays, and, in the case of the late Austrians, to paper the bathroom.

Finding a few minutes of quiet between customers I write to the society members, asking them why the deuce they don't kick in with more business, then I send out some letters to the approval customers, asking whether they think we gave them the selections outright, or are they holding them fora rise in price before buying?

Then the late afternoon rush of regulars begins. The boys who have no place to go until supper time and nothing to spend but a happy hour. They amuse themselves by going through the waste basket for the rare cancellations we have thrown away, the customers' names on the return envelopes; then they read the mail on our desks, pick over the orders we have just filled, go through the wholesale lots we haven't had time to look over, read the invoices to see how little we pay for our stuff, and take liberties with our personal tongs, etc., which would mean sure and sudden death in any other line of business. If they have any time left, they read the Weekly and sit down and order from our competitors on our typewriter.

Having had nothing to do during the day I decide to work at night, so grab a little supper, then come back to the job. In the evening I do the confidential work, like putting thin spots in the good U. S. for the fellows who only buy damaged stamps.

Believe you me, Charlie, this is the life, and if I were you I would cut out running a stamp paper and run a stamp business instead. And if you do, come out to Loce Ahng-hayl-ais, where the sunkist climate curls the Colonials and the hinges. In the words of the immortal barb, "It's a great life if you don't weaken" and "the first hundred years is the hardest."

Give my regards to State Street, and if you see any of the boys tell them to send back our selections so we can see what they look like after all this time.

Bill Bloss.

UNITED STATES FIRST DAY COVERS

Few things in the way of postage stamps are of more interest than covers used on the first day. At most only a few pass through the office of issue, and as time goes on these become more desirable. Like everything else, as soon as the dealer's supply is exhausted, up goes the price. Of some of the following I have but three, so order early. All used on the first day of issue from the city specified, where they were officially placed on sale by the Department

Do You Need Scott No. 67 or 67a?

I picked up 25 copies of above lately which were called seconds, each one has minor defect, they were in cancellation collection, and while none are perfect, they are nice lookers, and bargains at price quoted, which is $9.50 for 67, 11.50 for 67a; both at one time for $20.00. Better fill that space now. This is a very hard stamp to find in superb condition.
Have few damaged N. Y. 5c, good lookers, at $20.00.
Damaged 10c 1847, good looker, at $15.00.
Damaged 90c 1869, not bad, at $15.00.
These are for people who do not demand the finest, or for those with limited amount to invest in their hobby. All other issues slightly imperfect at bargain prices, which do you need? If you want the finest, I have them, too, at full cat. or better, depending on which stamps you are looking for. [88

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—The 1922-23 series of the new United States postage stamps were completed on Tuesday, May 1, 1923, with the placing on sale at Washington, D. C., of the 7c, 8c, 14c and 20c. The issue consists of twenty-one denominations of regular adhesives from 1c to $5, together with a Special Delivery stamp, the set having a face value of $10.42. In addition there may be had at this time the 2c sidewise coil, perforated 10 vertically, the 2c rotary perf. 11x10, the same perf. 11 and the 2c booklet. Sheets of the regular 1c and 2c have also been distributed in an imperforate condition.

The 7c, printed in black, portrays William McKinley with border and surrounding design, similar to the other low denominations of the series. This value was also placed on sale at the birthplace of our Ex-President at Niles, Ohio.

The 8c olive shows a portrait of General U. S. Grant with similar design. This value was sold in Washington only and not at Point Pleasant as at first expected.

The 20c shows a wonderful engraving of Hollowhorn Bear, which however is designated as "American Indian", and this stamp is printed in a rich indigo. This denomination was also placed on sale on the first day at Muskogee, Oklahoma, the location of the largest Indian settlement in America.

The 20c crimson has the long dimension horizontal and shows a beautiful engraving of the Golden Gate. Being printed in crimson the stamp shows up to much better advantage than a design of the Golden Gate on the 10c Panama-Pacific. I now understand that this view was taken from a photograph furnished by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce of the painting by W. A. Coulter, a marine artist of Sausalito, California. A very handsome reproduction of the painting was shown in the Philadelphia Ledger of Sunday, April 29th. This denomination was also placed on sale at San Francisco, Calif., on May 1st.

All four denominations are printed in sheets of four hundred, distributed in panes of one hundred, are printed on unwatermarked paper, perforated 11. The new 7c, 8c and 20c will not be issued to postmasters until the supply of the old series is exhausted, but the new 14c, the first of this denomination that we have ever issued, will be delivered to postmasters in limited quantities, upon requisition, after May 1st.

The Philatelic Stamp Agent has distributed Bulletin No. 7 giving a list of all varieties that they now have on hand for sale to collectors. The list covers two pages and includes the new series, the old series, the 1916 perf. 10, $2 and $5, the Airplane, the Victory and the Pilgrim stamps, the 50c and 75c Parcel Post, the last two Special Deliveries, the Shanghai series, several imperfs., the 1c and 2c old issue perforated 11x10, a number of late coils and quite a few entire envelopes from 1899 to date. They especially ask that nothing be ordered other than the items on the list. They do not supply old issues nor do they make up a stock of obsolete stamps for sale in this manner.

On the first page of the Toledo Blade for Thursday, April 19, 1923, a half column is devoted to the arrest of one A. V. Winter, a commercial printer of that city, who admits having used on circulars that he sent sent out counterfeit 2c stamps. We are told that an unusually good plate from which the stamps were made was confiscated. It is not believed that Winter had confederates, officials state, for everything points to the fact that he worked alone. It seems that Winter had a contract with a local firm to place 40,000 2c stamps on as many envelopes and this caused him to develop the plan to make counterfeit stamps, disposing of the good ones at the regular price.

To quote from the paper, "The product of the plate is the best the inspectors have ever seen. It is absolutely faultless so far as workmanship is concerned, the only defect in the stamp being the inferiority of the paper".

I have seen a copy on the cover cancelled "Toledo, April 19, 2:30 P. M." and must say that the inspectors have poor eyes. While the stamp is far superior in workmanship to the recently discovered New York counterfeit as well as the old Chicago variety it would never confuse a philatelist. The work is done by some photographic method and somewhat resembles the surface prints. It is the same size as the genuine variety, but is perforated 12 instead of 11. The color is correct but the work is heavy, none of the lines standing out very well. The paper is somewhat gray and looks soiled when attached to a white envelope. It is no doubt the finest counterfeit that has yet appeared to defraud the government.

AUSTRIA.—We have received from the Economist Stamp Co. two values of a new design, both showing the portrait of "Wilheim Kratz". They are of oblong shape and the values are 3000kr brown and 4800kr blue.

GERMANY.—Mr. J. L. Riedel and the Economist Stamp Co. have submitted copies of the 10mk and 25mk air mail stamps. They are of the same design as AP3 and the colors are purple magenta and brown and yellow, respectively.

At the same time our correspondents report that the 5m orange in the miner at work type and the 40m green in the reaper type have been issued.

HONDURAS.—The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the 1c brown of the 1920 series with the surcharge "$0.10 Habilatado Vale Diez Cts." in green in four lines and the 2c carmine of the same issue with the overprint "$0. Habilatado Vale Cta Cts." in the sam manner and color as the first mentione LUXEMBURG.—Mr. Henry Hoorema sends us the new 10fr stamp with th surcharge in red for official use.

Mr. Hooreman also advises that a ne 3fr stamp is in preparation reproducin the "Wolfschlucht", or hole in Ech teruach.

MAURITIUS.—We have just receive from Mr. R. Roberts the 25c black an red on new yellow paper with scri watermark.

SOUTH-WEST AFRICA.—Mr. G. W. Reynolds states that the variety "Wes" fo "West" occurs on the second stamp i the bottom row of the 2d Postage Due The same reader shows us a pair of th 2d (not Due), with inverted overprint He states that one sheet has been discovered thus so far.—Gibbons' Monthl List.

THEODORE CHAMPION AT HIS DESK.

This Half Tone Shows the Veteran Paris Dealer In His Beautiful and Commodious Office.

PHILATELY AS A NATIONAL ASSET.

By L. O. Trivett, F. R. P. S. L.

A paper read at the meeting of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, Nov. 30, 1922.

How can it be made so? Only through the interest of those who possess stamps.

In Lutterworth Church, of which Wycliff the reformer was priest, there is a fresco of three kings, who were pointed at by three grinning skeletons, who say, "As you are, we were—as we are, you will be." The moral is—make the most of the opportunities which arise to do good.

The owners of stamp collections who put them away and hide them are doing no good to the state, but are keeping hidden away objects which may be of service to the growing boy, or girl, in fitting them for the strenuous battle of life which they will have to face.

What is a stamp? A little bit of paper on which colour and letters or figures are printed. The lettering or figures on the stamp teaches them the geography of the world, as each stamp represents some State where it is issued.

Thus by interesting the boy or girl in stamps, you teach them geography.

In the figure printed on the stamp, say of Fiji, where negroes in loin clothes sit under a broiling sun, you teach them the temperature, or weather conditions, of the place whence the stamp is issued.

This enables them, if they ultimately go into business, to know that it is no use trying to sell heavy wool textiles to the natives, but light, cheap materials which are suitable for the climatic conditions of that country.

Secondly, by the stamps of Newfoundland the boy or girl learns the products, and by the Columbus stamps of the United States the history of the country issuing them. On each stamp is lettering, or figure, denoting the country from whence it comes and the value of the issue. This is mostly printed in the language of the country. It therefore follows that this is teaching them first of all the language used in the various countries of the world, and also the fiscal or monetary system in use.

If the collector learns these facts, it is a start in the learning first of all of those languages outside Great Britain where trade may be done, and the system of the reckoning up by conversion of the English currency into that of other countries, so that they know the money value at which goods can be sold.

This would be a great national asset, as in the past we have had to depend mainly on foreigners, for first of all doing foreign correspondence, secondly as travellers, and thirdly as agents for British firms, exporting goods overseas, in consequence of the lack of knowledge of our workers of these important subjects, which is essential to an export trade.

By collecting stamps systematically, the boy or girl soon learns that a stamp is unsuitable to place in a collection unless it is perfect, that is not torn or damaged.

Secondly, that if used it is lightly cancelled and not blurred over.

Thirdly, that it is well centered.

Fourthly, that it is not faded.

All these points help to form a knowledge of system, and to build up capacity in the various pursuits of life.

The stamps, say of Cuba, or the Philippines, or of the various European States, show dynastic changes and portray the history of that country by the change of name, or change in character, or portrait on the stamp.

The co-ordinating of, and the putting into an album or on sheets, stamps in sequence of date of issue, teaches the collector the sequence of history, and inculcates the principles of system.

The paper used gives an elementary knowledge to the youthful collector of the principles of the manufacture of the same, whether hand-made or machine-made, and if studied further, the varieties of each class. The colour used on the paper teaches the history of the elementary dye-stuffs, as, for instance, the stamps printed by the aniline dye produced from the residuum of coal tar, and the older method of producing dyes.

This knowledge is of inestimable service to the boy or girl who afterwards goes into an industry where colour is largely used in the dyeing of the goods which are exported.

The postmark on a stamp or envelope teaches them the method of, and the time required for, communicating between the various ports of the world, also the means employed for the transport of the letter in transit from the sender to the recipient.

It teaches the methods employed before the general use of the locomotive engine, when letters were sent mainly by mail coaches to the distributing centres, from whence they were carried by human energy to the recipient. Later to the time when mechanical machines were employed for the quicker transit of letters, both by rail and road transport, and with regard to those overseas ships which take them from the point of embarkation to the point of discharge.

Later we have the aerial post, which shows the mechanical control of the air for the service of man, by the use of aerial transport.

All this education, recapitulated to the brain of the child, gives him in his struggle in life a huge advantage over the unfortunate who has not had that training.

It teaches thrift. A boy or girl who makes a collection of stamps spends some of his or her pocket money on their treasures, and at the same time as they are acquiring knowledge they are forming a valuable asset.

It builds up character and it fits them on the principles of self-reliance, without strenuous aids, to fight the battle as a unit of the British Empire, and it forms an asset in the knowledge of the world, and its requirements, which even though as collectors the boys or girls give away later, or even lose their collections, and even though they may cease entirely to have any further interest in the accumulation of stamps, they can never lose the knowledge acquired, which will remain with them while they live.

To those who can help I would say you hold a talent in your hands simply as a lifeowner. When you are called to account for what you have done in those things which have been handed over to you to use, you can claim by interesting the growing boy or girl, you have helped to make what God has given you of service to your fellow creatures and justify your possession of the same, and you will have the deep satisfaction of knowing that you have sacrificed self for service, for the betterment of the nation, to the advantage of the growing manhood and womanhood, and to your personal satisfaction that you have done your best for the interests of your Motherland.

On finishing my simple paper, I can imagine you will say—it is very easy for Mr. Trivett to tell us all these advantages of philately, but how are we to get in touch with the boy or girl who is to take advantage of the same?

In reply I would give a personal description of what happened three weeks ago in Nottingham.

The Notts Philatelic Society invited boys and girls to come and bring with them any stamps they might possess. A large room was used, and we had a number of the pupils of the Nottingham High School, with a master. We had a lot of the Scouts, both country and to and we had a number of juniors joined up with any organization. long central table with chairs, was f by our visitors, and very soon, as crowd increased, additional tables ha be brought in, until the room was li beehive. The members of the soc walked up and down, had a look at various treasures brought by the chil present. I then gave a few words encouragement, not on the lines of school teacher, or parent, enfor some method, or rule, which must observed, but rather on the lines of "Big Brother". For I love you, and love me, and we love one another, aren't so much like father and son big brothers and little brothers.

The children responded, and w very soon eagerly engaged in compa notes.

Nothing more was said, and it with difficulty we could modify t enthusiasm for their wonderful col tions, in order to give us time to tribute some little packets, of which had ninety, subscribed for by the ge osity of the members of our soci each one getting a packet.

That meeting went on until it had be broken up, and the children home, they being the most loth to In other words they had interested amused one another. They had d more, they had brought into the life the older members of the society a f ing that in associating themselves w the pleasure and pursuits of the yo they had themselves cast off many we This service is supposed to operate tw years of life's journey.

4,000 Varieties
PRICE $22.50

Does your collection contain less than six thousand varieties? Do you ever "exchange" stamps? Have you ever had the ambition to become a dealer? Opportunity knocks! Here is a mounted collection of four thousand all different postage stamps — no telegraphs, revenues, cut-squares or other objectionable material—regularly priced at $30.00—for only $22.50! Just about one-half cent per stamp! For real honest-to-goodness value, this collection has no equal. It contains large numbers of British, French and Portuguese Colonies, lots of attractive South and Central America, as well as sprinkling of picture sets, new issues, etc., from Europe and Central Europe. Out-of-the-way countries such as Cyprus, Chile commemoratives, Bosnia pictorials, Epirus, Congo, German Colonies, Johore, Quelimane, Persia, Ubangi, Sudan, Siam, Soviet Russia, etc., are well represented. For the medium collector anxious to add to his collection at the least possible expense, this packet will mean the saving of many dollars. For the exchanger or small dealer, it represents large profits and a quick turnover. The stamps are mounted by countries in eight large approval books. When priced for sale, they will net about $70.00, which means a catalogue value of at least $140.00. Money cheerfully refunded if you are not well satisfied. Don't delay—order to-day!

PHILADELPHIA STAMP CLUB.

By C. E. BRINTON.

The Fourteenth Anniversary of the Philadelphia Stamp Club was observed by a banquet and exhibition of rare stamps April 26th. Thirty-five members and four visitors were present. After partaking of a very good dinner the President-elect, Mr. W. H. Emmert, gave a short talk. Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr., then introduced Mr. Joseph A. Steinmetz, the principal exhibitor of the evening, who showed those present the great possibilities in mounting stamps and how to get the greatest amount of interest and sentiment tucked into his album. A "centimental" page contained about twenty perfection copies of the U. S. 1869 Lincoln's; another page had enough Cape of Hope's on it to make a good collection in itself. Mr. Steinmetz's "Odd Pages Picked at Random" were heartily enjoyed by all, and recalled the New York exhibition of 1913, when he captured the Visitor's Cup with some "Random Pages". While showing these rarities he commented on the great value of rare postage stamps as investments and compared them with leading commercial securities, and convinced those present that they were a gilt-edged investment, and, if purchased discreetly, superior to almost any bonds on the market today.

Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr., then exhibited his beautifully mounted collection of stamps of the new Irish Free State. This collection was started about February, 1922, and contains everything so far issued, not only in singles, but there were many original covers and blocks. Mr. Eugene Klein remarked that Mr. Ward's collection would sell today for probably four times what it cost originally. Mr. Klein spoke of the proposed stamp exhibition to be held in Philadelphia in 1926, outlining what would be necessary, and stressing the fact that if it was to be a success that it should be started soon. The New York exhibition of 1913 took three years to plan and perfect and it will take that much time for ours. He proposed that the Philadelphia Stamp Club should send to each member reply post cards and ascertain the sentiment.

Among those present were Rear Admiral Harris, Messrs. Joseph A. Steinmetz, Gustave Burger (New York), P. M. Wolsieffer, Fred Liebeck, Eugene Klein, Philip H. Ward, Jr., Percy M. Mann, Carl Young, Alfred Henkels, C. E. Walters, Francis H. Earp, Julius Windner, W. H. Emmert, J. Weer Chew, Prof. Julius Neufeld, Ralph Mercur, Mr. Hoover, of the firm of Davis & Harvey, auctioneers, Billy Lempold, Frank Anselm and many others. Wilmington, Del., Stamp Club was represented by Edgar W. Fielding. Edgar L. Green and Jimmy Whiteside were unable to attend on account of sickness.

All present arose and stood with bowed heads for one minute in silence out of respect for our deceased beloved brother, Robert Craighead.

The menu wrapper was a souvenir from the Craighead collection. This ended one of the very pleasantest anniversaries of the Philadelphia Stamp Club. This organization is in a flourishing condition, with about 125 members, with good prospects of a large increase during the coming year.

A Month Ago We Were Unknown — except out here where orange blossoms and the salty Pacific tang make the air mighty easy to breathe, but—

Today We Are "Sittin' Pretty" and the East is to blame, for now we have more clients east of the mountains than west of them!

THERE'S A GOOD REASON

Several of them, in fact, and here they are:

We have a splendid stock of worthwhile stamps.

We fill each order the hour it is received.

We are human and show it in our dealings, no matter how large or small.

We advertise a penny stamp as readily as a dollar stamp, if we think you need it. Witness China Nos, 196-197 in the list below. They catalogue only six cents, but most of you need them.

Get the point?

SERVICE as well as stamps!

That's what we offer you, and we are going to keep after you until your name is on our lists.

Lots of you ordered "Good Will Assembly A" last week and got a lot more for your money than you are used to. This week we offer:

POLAND: STAMPS OF GERMAN OCCUPATION.

By Douglas B. Armstrong.

The German military occupation of Russian Poland commenced early in 1915, so that by May 1st of that year it was possible to set up a civil postal service, under German control, operating in the occupied district of Bendzin, Czenstockau, Kalisch, Kolo, Konin, Lodz, Pabianice, Sieradz, and Wloclawek with administrative headquarters at Kalisch. Postage stamps for use in this postal territory were provided by apposing the inscription "Russisch Polen" in two lines of Gothic characters on five values of the contemporary series of the German Empire.

Summary.

1914. May 1st. "Russisch Polen" overprinted in two lines of black Gothic type on contemporary postage stamps of German Empire at Imperial Printing Works, Berlin. Wmk. Lozenges. Perf. 14.
3 pfennig brown.
5 pfennig green.
10 pfennig carmine.
20 pfennig ultramarine.
40 pfennig carmine and black.

No major varieties of this overprint have been recorded.

II.—Governor-Generalship of Warsaw.

After the fall of Warsaw and the complete occupation of Northern Poland, the German administration was vested in a Governor-General residing at Warsaw, under whose direction a system of military government was organized.

The form of overprint upon the German postage stamps employed in the postal service under this regime was amended to "Gen. Gouv. Warschau," the first to be issued being the new duties 2½, 7½ and 15 pfg, introduced on August 1st, 1915. The remaining values made their appearance at intervals during 1916-17, continuing in circulation until the end of November, 1918.

Shades apart, there are no varieties of importance in this issue.

1916-17. "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" in two lines of black Gothic type overprinted on contemporary postage stamps of German Empire at Imperial Printing Works, Berlin. Wmk. Lozenges. Perf. 14.
2½ pfg grey, deep grey (1/8/16).
3 pfg brown, yellow-brown (?).
5 pfg green, dark green (Oct. 1917).
7½ pfg orange, red-orange (1/8/16).
10 pfg carmine, rose (April 1917).
15 pfg yellow-brown (1/8/16).
15 pfg violet, deep violet (Dec. 1917).
20 pfg ultramarine, deep blue(Oct. '17).
30 pfg orange and black on buff (May 1917).
40 pfg carmine and black (May 1917).
60 pfg lilac, red-lilac (May 1917).

III.—Courier Service of the X Army.

A public courier service was established in August, 1918, in the territory occupied by the X German Army Corps, with headquarters at Minsk, where at that time no civil postal facilities existed. The Army post served the Polish towns. Type-set stamps with a Russian inscription in two lines were provided in the denominations 30 and 60 pfg, the total printing of each value amounting to 50,000 stamps. The fee for registered letters was 40 pfg and a provisional stamp of that value was improvised by surcharging the 30 pfg.

Summary.

1918. August. Military courier post. Type-set design. Traverse oblong. Russian inscription in two lines signifying "Control Stamp" and value. Ornamental underprint in dark grey. Perf. 11½.
30 pfg, black on white.
40/30 pfg black on white.
60 pfg black on white.

IV.—Essays.

In connection with the projected restoration of the Polish Monarchy under a German ruler in 1918, a series of national postage stamps was prepared in Berlin, after the designs of a Polish artist, bearing the uniform inscription "KROLESTWO POLSKIE" (Polish Kingdom). Proof impressions from the plates of each of the thirteen values were actually struck off at the Imperial Printing Works, Berlin, but the collapse of the German offensive prevented the stamps being placed in circulation. It is noteworthy that certain of these designs were subsequently adopted, with modified inscriptions, for the first general stamp series of the Republic of Poland:—

Summary.

1918. Prepared for use but not issued. Pictorial designs. Lettered "KROLESTWO POLSKIE." Engraved and printed at Imperial Printing Works, Berlin. Imperforate.
3 fenigi brown (Polish Eagle).
5 fenigow green (Polish Eagle).
7½ fenigow violet (Sobieski Memorial).
10 fenigow red (Sobieski Memorial).
15 fenigow dark green (Polish Eagle).
20 fenigow ultramarine (Polish Eagle).
30 fenigow red-orange (Crown and Shield).
40 fenigow dark green (Knight on Horseback).
60 fenigow brown (Ploughman and team).
1 Marki claret (Sobieski Memorial
2 Marki slate (Husbandman . Scythe).
3 Marki purple (St. Batory).
5 Marck rose (Polish Eagle).

SAU STAMP CO.

Nassau St. New York, N. Y.

NEW ZEALAND FIRST TYPE.

By Arthur Newton Pack, Princeton, N. J.

(Entered in Class C, Section 2, British Empire: London Int. Philatelic Exhibition.)

The items from the unused portion of the collection selected for display include the following; the 1d, 2d and 1sh on the white "star" paper; and the two latter values also on blued paper. On the regular blue "no Wmk." paper, numerous copies of all three values are shown. Many shades are represented in the imperforate values on the hard or soft white, "no Wmk." paper, twenty-five specimens being shown.

Fifteen copies on pelure paper, imperf. include all values but the threepence. The 6d black-brown, rouletted 7 on pelure paper; and the 1d orange-vermilion, the 2d pale ultramarine, the 6d black-brown, and the 1sh deep green, perf. 13 at Dunedin are all displayed, many of these being of great rarity. The 2d on thick "no Wmk." paper, perf. 13, is also shown unused.

Of the Auckland prints on "star" paper, those rouletted 7 are represented by thirteen copies, including the 1d in both orange-vermilion and vermilion; the 2d in both deep and pale blue shades; the 3d brown-lilac and the 6d in black-brown, brown and red-brown. The 3d brown-lilac is also shown serrated, a great rarity.

The rarities on "N. Z." paper are well represented, including several copies each in different shades, of the 1d, 2d, 6d and 1sh imperforate; the Dunedin perforated 13's include the extremely rare 1d carmine-vermilion, and the 2d, 6d and 1sh in numerous shades. The 6d with Auckland perf. 12½ and the 1d and 2d rouletted add to the fine display made by these rarities.

The varieties on "star" paper, perforated 13 at Dunedin, include many rarities amongst the twenty-one specimens shown; of these the most notable are, the 1d in both orange-vermilion and carmine-vermilion; the 2d Plate I in numerous shades of blue and including the "worn plate" variety; the 3d brown-lilac; the 6d in its black-brown, brown and red-brown shades; and the 1sh in dull green.

The same series perforated 12½ at Auckland makes a splendid exhibit with forty-three singles, and numerous pairs and blocks. The singles include such rarities as the 2d blue, plate II, retouched; the 3d brown-lilac, and deep mauve; the 4d orange and the 1sh deep green. The pairs include examples of the 1d carmine-vermilion; 2d deep blue, Plate II; the 3d in brown-lilac, also in lilac; and the 1sh in deep green. The blocks include the 1d carmine-vermilion; the 3d lilac; the 4d yellow; and the 1sh yellow-green.

The color changes of 1871 on "star" paper, perforated 12½ show the 2d orange retouched; the 2d vermilion both normal and retouched.

On the "no Wmk." paper, perf. 12½, the 1d brown, the 2d pale vermilion, and the latter value retouched, are shown; while on the "N. Z." paper, perf. 12½, the rare 2d vermilion is seen.

From the used portion of the collection items were selected for display which would not duplicate those selections from the unused portion. Two covers, each bearing the half of a shilling stamp used as 6d are the first noteworthy items shown, these being of great rarity. The collection, however, contains many items of rarity, such as the various used examples of the first issue, of which a pair of the 1d should be mentioned.

A display page devoted to imperforate pairs and strips of the values printed on the hard or soft paper "without wmk." includes the 1d dull orange, 2d pale blue, blue and deep blue shades, and 6d in brown, pale brown and chestnut shades.

A wonderful lot on this same paper, of the rare pin-perf. 10 shows the 1d dull orange; 2d blue; 6d brown; and 1sh blue-green; of the extremely rare serrates; 1d dull orange; 2d blue; 6d brown and also chestnut; and the 1sh blue-green; and the rare roulettes; 1d dull orange; 2d blue; 6d brown, and 1sh blue-green; filling two pages, twenty-six copies in all.

Similarly with the pelure paper, "no wmk." imperforate; the 1d orange-vermilion; the 2d in ultramarine shades; the 6d black-brown, and the 1sh deep green are shown in rare pairs and strips, many in different shades.

H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Ten specimens of the roulettes on pelure paper are displayed, including the 1d orange-vermilion; 6d black-brown, and 1sh deep green; while the very rare perf. 13's, 1d orange-vermilion; 2d in ultramarine shades; 6d black-brown; and 1sh deep green; and the serrates; 6d black-brown and the 1sh deep green make an assembly of rare interest. The last named variety is unlisted.

Of the Auckland printings, on "star" paper, the extremely rare roulettes are all shown; including the 1d orange-vermilion and vermilion shades; the 2d in several shades of blue; the 3d brown-lilac; the 6d in the black-brown, brown, and red-brown shades; and the 1sh in the green, yellow-green and deep green shades. In addition several rare covers are shown bearing some of these rouletted varieties.

Fifteen specimens of the serrates, great rarities, are displayed; including the 1d orange-vermilion; the 2d in both the deep blue and slate-blue shades; the 3d brown-lilac; the 6d in both the black-brown and brown shades and the 1sh yellow-green. Two pages show some of these rare serrates on original covers, as well as an example of the 2d deep blue, pin-perf. 10.

On "N. Z." paper several of the great rarities of the colony are shown; including in the series perforated 13 at Dunedin, the 1d carmine-vermilion; the 2d of Plate II worn, in pale blue; the 6d brown, and the 1sh green; twenty-one copies in all. The Auckland perf. 12½'s include the same four values as with the Dunedin perforation, but the 1d carmine-vermilion perf. 12½ is at present unlisted. Thirteen specimens fill this display, while fifteen of the rouletted varieties, divided amongst the four values brings the display pages to a close.

THE GROWTH OF THE J. P. S.

Mrs. H. P. Terry is happy to be able to announce that the splendid total of 512 new members have been enrolled in the Junior Philatelic Society, London, (of which she is honorary Secretary) during the present season.

In view of the exceptional circumstances of the Exhibition and Congress being held in London, in May, at the close of the active part of the season, the Council of the Society has taken the important step of closing the Register for the season 1922-23, and from this date all new applicants for membership will be accepted for the period from now on to September 30th, of next year (1924). New members enrolling now, or at the Exhibition and Congress will therefore have the exceptional privilege of enjoying membership for 16 months in respect of their first annual subscription.

The Council hopes that this will prove an additional stimulus to all philatelists to join up in the J. P. S. and make the forthcoming Exhibition yield a record harvest of new members for the season 1923-24.

Full particulars and application forms for membership will be sent free on application to Mrs. H. P. Terry, 22, Kempshott Road, Streatham, London, S. W. 16.

URUGUAY DILIGENCIAS.

By CHARLES LATHROP PACK, Lakewood, N. J.

(Entered in Class G, Section 2, Single Issues, Lithographed, London Philatelic Exhibition.

The 60 centavos value is represented by 47 copies, which contrary to the former belief that all of this value were alike, are here shown in comparison with similar 80c and 1r varieties, and thus twenty-four of the positions of the group of thirty-five are now definitely identified.

The rare Type II of the 60c is also shown.

The 80 centavos include the famous "Ferrer" block of fifteen, and a reconstructed portion of that part of the group corresponding to it is presented. There is also the "Pack" block of four of the same value, from the northwest corner of a group. A plating of the balance of the group omitting the "Ferrer" block, and a reconstruction of the entire group are also shown.

The 1 real develops a reconstruction according to Mr. Griebert's solution, and then by comparative analysis and diagram it is shown how his reconstruction is in error as to sixteen positions, and that after the corrections are made, his plating needs five more varieties to fill the composition.

These necessary five varieties are shown, together with a correct assembly of the entire group.

Two items of unusual rarity are singles of the 80c and 1r with genuine postal cancellations, said to be the only ones known. They were both originally on the same cover, and were once in the collection of Senor Vasconcellos, Brazillian minister in 1885.

A total of 323 copies of the Diligencias is displayed in this exhibit.

OUR REVIEW.

We have received the second book of The Philatelic Journal of Great Britain Series of Study in Philately, which is entitled "The Stamps of Norway: I. A Contribution towards the Study of the Issues of 1877-78 (Shaded Posthorn). By Justus Anderssen. II. Plate Variations of the Issues 1894-1909." These studies have been translated from the Nordisk Filatelistisk Tidsskrift, by Benjamin Goodfellow, F. R. P. S. L. A feature of this excellent review of the issues in question is four large plates showing types and other differences in the issues under consideration. A work of this kind is one that deserves a permanent place in philatelic archives as it is certainly an accurate and authoritative review of the two issues of Norway that are inadequately described for specialistic purposes in the ordinary catalogues. Since the stamps of Norway afford a field for serious study that not a few collectors cultivate carefully, the value of an intensive study of the types is manifest. The exhaustive text supplemented by the plates furnishes a wealth of material that will be gladly accepted by the student who somewhat leisurely pursues his work. The book which is well printed will be a welcome addition to the library of all collectors and will be a necessity for those who give particular attention to the engaging issues of Norway that provide problems sufficient number to stimulate the vestigator. The price of the book four shillings and six pence: publish Sefi, Pemberton & Co., Ltd., 12, So Molton Street, London, W. 1, Engla

More Cancellations

In our enthusiasm last week for the rare cancellations on common U. S. stamps, we said nothing about rare cancellations on rare U. S. stamps, such as the '47s, and the higher values of '57, '61, '69 and Bank Note issues. We have them in stock and hope to have them so long as they are on the market.

In foreign stamps we generally have some attractive items in early Great Britain, British North America, Holland, Spain, Belgium, France, Austria, Mexico, and other classics. Some think our prices are very high, but there always are some who prefer two carats of blue to six carats of commercial. At any rate, it does no harm to try, and we are glad to send our best against first class references.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Bright & Son send us their March-April pricelist. It deals particularly with British Colonials in multiple CA and new script CA watermarks. For a copy address 164 Strand, London, England.

—We have received a card from C. S. Watson dated Paris, April 28. He is there attending the latest Ferrari sale.

—A. Bauer, Palmyra, N. J., can get no reply to communications sent J. R. Deshon, 806 13th St., Oakland, Cal.

—The Geo. W. Linn Co. has removed its office down town again, and is now located at 210 Clinton Bldg., Columbus, O. Mr. Linn expects to stock up with a full line of material for counter trade and will prepare this summer for a going business in the fall.

—"The results from my advertising have been most gratifying. Your readers have accorded Old Dominion Approvals a warm reception and I want to take this opportunity to let you know that I am going to be a permanent fixture.—H. C. ARGENBRIGHT.

—We have a welcome word from Maxwell Krause who writes that he has gone through a successful operation and is now on the road to recovery. It will be another ten days before he will be able to attend to routine matters, but by June 1- he expects to be in proper shape to carry on his business. We extend our congratulations and in doing this we are joined by a large circle of our readers.

—Collectors who are interested in the stamps of the Irish Free state, novelties and special bargains in old and recent issues, and stamps used on entire original covers, should write W. T. Wilson, Birmingham, England, for a copy of his April list.

—Elsewhere in this issue will be found the advertisement of L. J. O'Keefe of St. John's, Newfoundland. Mr. O'Keefe specializes in the stamps of Newfoundland and numbers among his customers some of the oldest and best known of U. S. dealers. We recommend him to the favorable consideration of our readers.

—We have received from W. E. Dunlap of San Francisco, a specimen of the new 20c stamp on original cover, bearing postmark on the first day of sale. The post-office, not content with a double cancellation on the face of the envelope has for good measure a third cancellation upon the reverse.

—The National Geographic Magazine for May has just come to hand and in the leading article, which is on Egypt and the recent discoveries, there is a paragraph of interest to stamp collectors who are condition cranks.—J. G. JEWETT.

—Frank A. Goldsmith has shown us the following new advertising cancellations:—"Rutland Vermont Live Stock Exposition, Sept. 3 to 8, 1923" from Rutland, Vt., and "B in Burlington June 10-11-12, 150th Anniversary Celebration" from Burlington, Vt.

—Andrew R. Perry, well and favorably known by the collectors of Providence, R. I., has opened a stamp shop at 107 Westminster St., Providence, and the same will be occupied jointly with the Rhode Island Philatelic Society. This arrangement will doubtless be very satisfactory, as it will give the members of the Society the advantage of headquarters in the heart of the city.

—Oscar Andreen, A. P. S., member for many years (No. 453), of 1512 South St., Lexington, Mo., died April 14th, after a long illness.

—The Stamp Collectors Club "Philatelia" has been organized about two months ago. The society is open for membership to any collector living in Brooklyn, New York City and suburbs. Members meet at 2136 86th, Brooklyn, N. Y., every other Saturday evening. Next meeting is on Saturday, June 2. The entrance fee is $1. only. If interested, please write for particulars. Sec. H. Deeken, 19 Sheridan Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.—Advertisement.

HISTORY FROM POSTAGE STAMPS.

By CHARLES G. WILSON.

Greece has twice issued commemorative sets of stamps for the Olympic Games held in that country in 1896 and 1906. The issue of 1896 was to commemorate the modern restoration of the Olympiads in that year.

The Olympic Games of antiquity from which the modern Games are copied, had their origin in Greece so long ago that the date is unknown, lost in the mists of time. Legend attributes their foundation to Zeus, father of the gods of Hellenic mythology. From 776 B. C. the Greeks reckoned time by Olympiads, which were held from thence on, for over a thousand years, and did much to maintain a Hellenic union and to form a sense of common Greek life.

The games were celebrated every fourth year in the sanctuary of Zeus at Olympia. They were taken part in with the highest conception of true sportsmanship and religious feeling. They were open only to those of Greek descent and free from all impiety, blood-guiltiness or serious breach of the law. The opening day of the festival was given over to religious ceremonial and sacrifices to Zeus and the contestants and judges took a solemn oath that they had fulfilled all the requirements and that they would compete and judge in fairness. The contests consisted of foot races, boxing, wrestling, javelin throwing, discus throwing and jumping.

Horse racing held an important part in the games and though necessarily confined to the wealthy, they were intensely popular and created much excitement. The victorious horses won great fame. Princes had their images struck on coins, poets sang of their speed and endurance and statues were erected in their honor and splendid tombs built for them at death. Indeed, it is known that they were at times buried in the family graves of their owners.

The only prizes given at Olympia were crowns of wild olive from the sacred tree but the victor returned to his native city triumphant in a chariot and he often lived thenceforth at municipal expense.

Are You Interested in EARLY BRITISH COLONIALS?

I am dispersing a choice collection of British Colonials, strong in PERKINS, BACON, ETC., printings, and all stamps in very fine condition. Terms will be found MOST REASONABLE.

Also I have a choice lot of EDWARDIAN and GEORGIAN issues, both MINT and SUPERB USED.

Selections willingly sent on approval to responsible collectors. Reference, please.

STAMPS OF CHINESE TURKESTAN.

Messrs. Chun Foh Ziang and Z. W. Chang have recently written us interesting letters on the subject of the stamps listed by Gibbons under the heading "Chinese P. O.'s in Eastern Turkestan," while an article on the same subject by Mr. James Starr has been published in the American Philatelist. We find, from these sources, that the catalogue list requires amendment in certain particulars, and to the revised list here given we add a few notes on this little known territory drawn mainly from Mr. Starr's interesting notes and the pages of the Statesman's Year Book, that source of so much unacknowledged information.

Sin-Kiang, or the New Dominion, as it is called, consists of Chinese Turkestan, Kulja and Kashgaria, and includes all Chinese dependencies between Mongolia on the north and Tibet on the south. Estimates of the area vary between 550,000 and 708,000 square miles and of population between 1,200,000 and 2,000,000, the population being on the increase. The country as a whole lies some thousands of feet above sea-level, with mountains in the south running up to 20,000 feet. When we add that one river, the Tarim, is 1000 miles long it will be seen that the country is not built on a small scale.

The inhabitants are of various races, known as Turki, mostly Mohammedan and Chinese. The chief towns are Ili (where the Chinese administrators reside), Kashgar, Yarkand, Khotan and Aksu. Until recently the Chinese hold on the country has not been very firm,

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF BELGIUM.

By Bertram W. H. Poole.

Chapter IV.

The Last Red Cross Issue.

On January 15, 1918, the most ambitious of the Red Cross series appeared, the entire set of the stamps of 1915 being overprinted with new values (corresponding to those expressed on the designs of the stamps surcharged) and Geneva Cross in red, the extra impost helping to swell the Red Cross funds. No change was made in the color of the stamps of the portrait design, though the shades were different, but the higher denominations were printed in colors quite distinct from those used for the regular postage series. The catalogues give the color of the overprint as red, but as a matter of fact it is carmine on all except the 1c, 2c, 5c, 15c and 20c, and on these it is vermilion.

The 10 centimes is known with double surcharge, the 1c is listed with smaller numeral "1" and the 5c with small letter "c", but what positions these occupied in the sheets we cannot say.

Reference List.

1918. Stamps of 1915 in modified shades or altered colors overprinted with additional values and Geneva Cross in carmine or vermilion by Waterlow Bros. and Layton, London. No wmk. Perf. 14. The numbers overprinted are shown in parenthesis.

1c+1c orange (400,000).
2c+2c brown (400,000).
5c+5c green (400,000).
10c+10c carmine (400,000).
(a) Double surcharge.
15c+15c violet (200,000).
20c+20c purple-brown (200,000).
25c+25c bright blue (200,000).
35c+35c violet and black (75,000).
40c+40c dull red and black (75,000).
50c+50c turquoise blue and black (75,000).
1fr+1fr greenish slate (75,000).
2fr+2fr deep green (25,000).
5fr+5fr brown (25,000).
10fr+10fr deep blue (25,000).

Chapter V.

The Olympic Games Issue.

This chapter will be found on page 493, Oct. 7, 1922, issue.

Chapter VI.

The Disabled Veterans Stamp.

The Etoile Belge for May 4, 1922, contained the following paragraph in reference to a forthcoming stamp:—

"The Administration of Posts has just introduced an idea which we hasten to warmly commend to our readers. On or about the 25th inst a new postage stamp, 20 centimes, is to be issued, and is to be sold at an extra 20c for the benefit of those disabled in the war. The number printed is strictly limited and collectors should lose no time if they wish for examples.

The stamp has been engraved on steel and printed in America after the style of the beautifully-produced Olympic Games series. It has been designed the well-known artist, M. Anton Ca who has declined any fee in view of worthy cause. The subject of the des is allegorical, depicting a disabled w rior holding the Belgian flag in his ri hand and a sword, surmounted laurel, in his left, standing in respect and admiring attitude before the portr of our beloved sovereign.

This stamp is such a marvelous li piece of work that even non-philateli will probably wish to obtain entire she of it, both because it is a real work art and because of the noble object."

This stamp was engraved and prin by the American Bank Note Compa of New York in sheets of 100 stamps ten rows of ten. The main feature the design is a nude figure of a warr with bandaged head looking at a sm medallion enclosing a profile portrait King Albert. In his left hand the wa rior holds a sword and bunch of lau leaves, while with his right he holds stave from which the Belgian flag suspended. Above his head is "BE GIQUE" and by his right knee "BELGIE", while the inscription at bo tom reads "POUR LES INVALIDE —20c—VOOR DE INVALIEDEN" three lines. In the lower corners a "20" and "C" respectively, while in t background above "BELGIE" is t name of the artist in tiny capitals, vi "ANTO CARTE, 1921". Below the d sign the imprint of the manufacture is shown.

The stamps were sold for 40 centim though only having a franking value 20c, the extra 20c going to the fund f disabled veterans of the Great Wa They continued on sale until Decemb 31, 1922, and will not be good for pos age after January 15, 1923.

1922. Engraved and printed by th American Bank Note Co., New Yor No wmk. Perf 12.

20c+20c brown.

SALE OF THE EAGLE COLLECTION.

SECTION II.

By J. Murray Bartels.

On May 3rd and 5th another instalment of the large specialized U. S. collection of the late Clarence H. Eagle was sold in New York by the J. M. Bartels Co. According to Walter S. Scott he considered the first session the most successful sale he ever held.

The first 344 lots comprised stamps on covers and issues prior to 1890. These were very strong in odd cancellations and more appreciated by out-of-town buyers as the strong attendance on the floor got less than 40% of the lots. The item attracting most attention was an 1857, 3c on cover, canc. PHILADELPHIA, AUG. 29, 1861, "OLD STAMPS NOT RECOGNIZED" across the stamps. It was run to $38 after keen competition. A cover, 1862-66, 2c two strips of three, from Honolulu, one stamp repaired, brought $55. A Confederate envelope, Columbia, S. C. (No. 30), brought $33 (cat. $30.). A similar Raleigh, N. C. (No. 116, cat. $25.), brought $36 and an unpriced Tuscumbia, Ala. (No. 138), $25.25. 1861, 10c (August), red canc., $30.50.

The strong feature of the sale was the wonderful lot of issues 1890 to date, including all the dollar values in blocks of four, and other rarities practically complete. The floor was very active and secured slightly more than half of the lots, including most of the higher priced items, however all five of the inverted centers were sold on orders. Many new records were reached, especially on blocks of four, and a list of some of the principal items will prove of interest. All are unused and o. g., blocks contain four stamps.

$5, postage of $460.80 in $5 stamps, used on one piece	162.00
Special Delivery, 1895 imperf. block	74.00

This section of the Eagle Collection contained 874 lots and realized about $8,100. The floor secured exactly 50% of the total number, while the rest went to outside bidders; the latter percentage being considerably less than is usual at sales by our firm. While many failed to score there were 142 represented by bid lists, who obtained lots in spite of the heavy local attendance.

The next section of the Eagle Collection will be offered by J. C. Morgenthau & Co., on May 15-17 and contains principally the 1869, issue specialized, including many proofs and essay of this issue, furthermore Departments, many in blocks and some Carriers.

Percy G. Doane, will sell about 900 lots of Revenues, mostly in blocks, the end of May, while Kelton & Sloane as well as M. Ohlman later will also sell the remaining portions of this wonderful U. S. Collection, which is undoubtedly the most comprehensive one ever assembled. Others have been stronger in the great rarities but none cover so wide a field, including cancellations and covers as this one. The owner had marked in cypher on nearly every item the price he paid and from whom it had been obtained. This is a very useful habit, especially when such notes are made on the hinges. The date is often also useful.

The New York Times has printed reports of the Eagle Sale each time. In fact, this wide awake and popular daily contains one or more articles or notes on stamps nearly every week.

THE EXHIBITION BANQUET.

The Official Banquet of the London International Stamp Exhibition has been fixed for Thursday, May 17th, in the Grand Hall of the Hotel Cecil, Strand, at 7 for 7.30 P. M.

Many distinguished guests have accepted the invitation of the President and Council to be present, and the gathering will be one of the most brilliant functions in the history of Philately throughout the world.

Mr. Fred. J. Melville will preside, and with Mrs. T. J. Melville will receive the guests from 7 to 7.30.

At this banquet the full awards of the International Jury will be announced, covering all the competitive classes at the Exhibition.

Members of all philatelic societies, visiting philatelists from the provinces and abroad, together with their ladies and friends accompanying will be welcome on this occasion. Ladies are specially invited.

Tickets may be obtained from the Exhibition Secretary, Mr. H. F. Johnson, 44 Fleet Street, E. C. 4. at 10s6d each.

EDITORIAL.

A collector residing in St. Louis has sent us a copy of a letter recently despatched to Third Assistant Postmaster General Glover at Washington, from which we take the liberty of quoting as follows: "The writer has for some time past purchased stamps advertised by the Philatelic Stamp Agency which I understand comes under your supervision. In talking to other U. S. collectors, there does not seem to be any clear idea as to what the Agency furnishes. To further make this matter clear, I have before me your Circular P. S. A. 6. This list gives all the stamps for sale which is satisfactory as far as it goes. However, many collectors especially interested in U. S. stamps want arrow blocks of four, center line blocks and plate number blocks of six, and even center blocks of four, both of perforated and imperforate issues. While I presume that it is the policy of the Agency not to advertise its goods, yet many collectors do not understand that the Agency will furnish these position blocks, and therefore do not order. In other words, they think that they have to buy entire sheets in order to get these position blocks." The writer proceeds to make the suggestion that the Agency announce its willingness to sell position blocks when they are clearly indicated (by sketch if necessary) by the purchaser. The suggestion is an original one and it will be of interest to know if the Agency will accede to it or whether the ratio of blocks to single stamps will be cited as an objection to advertising as aforesaid.

If the reader who protests against our classification of the U. S. set of 1869 as an ordinary issue and not in the category of commemorative has any facts to prove his assertion that the '69 set is the first commemorative issue, we should like to have them. As early as in March, 1868, the designs of three of the values were given through the courtesy of a friend of Mr. J. W. Scott in the postal department, sa follows: 2c, post cart, for city delivery; 3c, steam cars, for inland postage and 12c, steamship for ocean postage. These descriptions were the nearest approach to any commemorative aspect that could be claimed for the issue and they fall short of proving the case in favor of commemoration. We have searched through the contemporary stamp literature of 1868 and early in 1869. That effort was spent to make the stamps distinctive is true and that the Associated Press of that day described the stamps as showing "national designs of pogramatic character," is admitted, but no real basis is afforded for commemorative claims. The designs of the stamps were symbolical, "confined for the most part to the distinctive mission of our American institutions," but were not intended as commemorative.

From a letter received from Mr. Arch. G. Gibb, St. John's, Newfoundland, we learn that the first shipment of the new issue from one cent to fifteen cents will reach St. John's by the end of June and it is presumed that the other denominations will follow shortly after. It will be remembered that Mr. Gibb contributed a detailed description of the stamps of the new issue to a recent number of the WEEKLY.

"Riq," in his coruscating column in the Chicago Post, like his fellow gleaner in the vineyard of verbal quips and quiddities, Keith Preston of the Chicago News, shows that he is no stranger to stamp collecting. In "Riq's" announcement of a "column" university, he bestows a professorship on one of his contributors, W. W. Nefarious, and styles him "Extension Lecturer in Numismatics and Early Spring Philately." That's the boy, "Riq"; and in recognition of your giving warm shoulder to the brand of philately that blooms in the spring, we shall all turn out to the philatelic lectures of the learned Nefarious.

Referring to lectures, we are reminded that in speaking at a community club recently, the editor said that it was all right to have pet ideas but that it was not fair to force them on the other members who might be reluctant to accept them; and with a fine show of earnestness we spouted that if one of the members insisted that because he liked to collect stamps, all the others should, he was a disturbing element. After the little talk was over, one young man said that he was a stamp collector but that he rarely mentioned the fact, he "did not know why." We showed him that he went to the other extreme and that it was only right on proper occasion, that he say that he collected. He had never heard of the WEEKLY, by the way.

From an old friend of A. von Glahn, who with Fred Busse, later mayor of Chicago, published the Philatelic Headlight in 1883-84, at Chicago, we have received an inquiry asking whether Mr. von Glahn has returned to the philatelic fold. We take the following description from the letter of our correspondent: "I well remember my visit to his house on the north side in Chicago a number of years ago (I hate to say how many), when he opened his bureau drawer and showed me all the Allen's locals in sheets."

A reader who has followed our remarks on the marketability of stamp collections speaks a good word for stamps. He says that in a recent break in the stock market, it became necessary for him to keep his "margins" safe by putting all the cash that he could rake and scrape together, in order to protect the securities, in the hands of his broker. He says that he obtained in spot cash from a dealer a sum that represented a higher proportion of the estimated value of the stamp collection than the yield obtained from the sale of his books and pictures. He says that he was perilously near the edge of the financial abyss for some time but that without any question he was "saved by stamps."

A letter from an old collector who signs himself "'95'er" speaks right out from a breast full of indignation. Let him tell his story: "It has been a long time since I have been active, in fact, it was about twenty years ago that I put my old National Stamp Album with spaces only for United States issues, out of harm's way; and only recently I resurrected it. I have got my stamp balance again but what confounds me is that the catalogue dismissed evidently some years ago the ribbed paper varieties of the 1875 issue which at one time received so much attention from collectors. These stamps, one cent to ninety cents, were regarded as especially desirable and that they were fully recognized as collectible is shown by the old catalogues, vide that of 1897, as big type varieties. Columns were written in their favor by investigators, and they who specialized in U. S., paid high prices for some of the values. Some of the stamps were not priced and others were listed at $25. each, and now I read in the current catalogue that these stamps with others 'may be found upon a paper that which shows more or less of the characteristics of a ribbed paper.' This is unfair and what was once admittedly ribbed paper is still ribbed paper." There is more, but we leave it to the imagination, but we remember that many students maintained at the time that the so-called ribbed paper was not the ribbed paper of the paper manufacturer; and they were catalogued in a moment of undue tolerance.

NATION TO EXHIBIT IN BIG SHOW.

Collection Sent on Homeric in Charge of Third Assistant Postmaster General Glover.

W. Irving Glover, Third Assistant Postmaster General, sailed for Europe yesterday on the steamer Homeric carrying with him an exhibit of United States stamps which has been entered for the International Stamp Exhibition to be held in the Royal Horticultural Hall, London, from May 14 to 26. It marks the first time in the history of the United States Government that a set of its postal issues has been sent to a recognized philatelic exhibition. Last year the Government sent a set of sheets of all the old stamp values to the exposition at Brazil, but there was no philatelic meeting there.

The coming exhibition, which has been organized by the Junior Philatelic Society of London, of which Fred J. Melville, the well known stamp expert, is President, is also in the nature of a competition, for which a number of gold medals will be offered for the best collections from various countries, in addition to the Grand Prize for the finest general collection.

The exhibition from the Post Office Department is not entered for any of the competitive medals. So far as known it will be the finest governmental display in the exhibition.

"When the department received an invitation from London to send over a set of its stamps," said Mr. Glover, "Postmaster General New considered it of such significance in the recognition of the Government's interest in philately that he immediately cabled an acceptance. It may be interesting to know that a special request was made to show one of the famous error air-plane stamps, the first 24-cent issue, with the inverted centre, and a die-proof of that rarity has been included. Very few of these stamps got out and they are now valued at more than $1,000 apiece."

The exhibit is in the nature of a large frame designed at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and I consider it the most artistic work of that character done with stamps that has ever been made. It was shown to President Harding a few days ago and he called it an exhibit worthy of a great country.

Frame Contains 1,200 Stamps.

More than 1,200 stamps are included in the frame, the central feature of which is the American shield. At the top, in an ornamental frame, is an engraved portrait of President Harding. At the bottom is a portrait of Postmaster General New, under which is the gold seal of the Post Office Department with blue ribbon streamers. On the four corners are engravings of the White House, the Post Office Department, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and the Washington City Post Office.

The background is composed of the new yellow 10-cent Monroe stamps. The other stamps forming the design are inlaid. The national colors in the United States shield are made by using the ordinary 2-cent stamps of the old issue for the red stripes, the background for the white stripes and the new 5-cent Roosevelt stamps for the blue field. The wreath surrounding the shield is formed by a double row of stamps, the outer composed of the new dark blue 14-cent American Indian and the inner row of the light 11-cent Hayes stamps.

Within the circle, in an ornamental panel, is the entire issue of the new stamps, all imperforate, while the complete issue of the old stamps is in a similar panel directly beneath. Surmounting the shield is the spread eagle of the United States with transparent rays shooting forth. In panels on either side above the shield are the commemorative 1, 2, 5 and 10 cent San Francisco stamps of 1913 and the Tercentenary series of 1, 2 and 5 cent stamps and the 3-cent Liberty stamp. Below the wreath are specimens of the airplane stamps issues, with the die-proof of the inverted centre stamp. The shield is surrounded by a wreath of blue stamps and a border of lathe and ornamental work reproduced from United States notes and bonds.

Will Be Stored in Specie Room.

On the voyage this frame of United States stamps will be stored in the specie room of the Homeric. Mr. Glover is also taking with him as a gift from Postmaster General New to the Postmaster General of Great Britain, Sir William Joynson Hicks, a beautifully engraved leather bound album with proofs on India paper of all of the new stamp values, twenty-two varieties. Years ago proofs of the United States stamps got out of the Post Office Department by various means, but they are now carefully guarded, and even a request from Senator Frelinghuysen for a proof set failed to break the iron-clad rule of the department. Senator Frelinghuysen has sent some of his rare United States stamps to the London Exhibition and they are entered for competition.

Mr. Glover will be the official United States representative at the dinner to be held by the Junior Philatelic Society of London on May 17. Beside the Postmaster General of Great Britain, guests will include Sir Anthony Hope Hawkins, the novelist; Sir William Berry, Sir Bertram Mackennel, the sculptor and the designer of the current British coins and stamps, and representatives of many foreign countries.

During his stay in London Mr. Glover said he would have a conference with the British Postmaster General regarding the proposed increased weight in parcel post packages from 4 pounds and 6 ounces to 11 pounds.—N. Y. Times.

A. E. OWEN ON THE HONOR ROLL.

It is with great pleasure that we add the name of A. E. Owen of Montclair, N. J., to the list of those who have renewed their subscriptions to the WEEKLY for a five-year period. This honor roll is growing to considerable proportions and we appreciate the fine spirit of confidence that is being shown in the continued publication of our paper. Thanks, Mr. Owen.

A SCARCE U. S. REVENUE
1c Mint "STOCK TRANSFER"

Have you ever seen a copy of the 1c "Stock Transfer", Scott's No. 4250? Very few have and I have never seen it offered before. It was possibly overprinted through error, for the tax law calls for payment of 2c tax on each share of stock transferred, hence there is no need of a 1c stamp. As a result, the stamp was little if ever used.

I have a few mint copies with full gum that I offer at $1 each or $4.00 for a fine block of four. Scott lists it, but does not price it, and I doubt if it can be purchased from any dealer in the country. There will be a place for it in the new Scott album.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

United States.—At the time I wrote my last notes I had not as yet seen the new 7c, 8c, 14c and 20c which were placed on sale on May 1st. All of the 7c were from one plate, namely number 14584, while four plates of the other denominations were completed. In the case of the 8c these were 14569 to 14572 inclusive, 14c numbers 14512 to 14515 and of the 20c numbers 14559 to 14562 inclusive. Sheets as usual were autographed by the Postmaster General, the Director of the Bureau and the Third Assistant Postmaster General. This time the Postmaster General signed "H. S. New" instead of simply initials as heretofore.

Five thousand of the 7c were sent to Niles, Ohio, for sale on the first day, twenty thousand of the 14c to Muskogee, Oklahoma, and a like amount of the 20c to San Francisco.

I am now definitely informed that we will shortly have a new 12c linen lined envelope and this will show an embossed portrait of Andrew Jackson, the seventh President of the United States.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing has also started to pre-cancel stamps of the 1c denomination and the first lot has gone to New York. These are printed and cancelled on the rotary press consequently they will be rotary impressions, perforated 10. These stamps are now printed, then cancelled, then gummed and finally perforated. The cancellation is black and somewhat similar to those turned out locally. It is planned to precancel at least this denomination for the 65 largest post-offices in the country.

While in Washington on the first, I had the opportunity of viewing in the office of the Third Assistant Postmaster General the very attractive exhibit which was prepared by the Bureau for exhibition at the forthcoming London philatelic affair. It was described in this column last week and is even more pleasing than the written description would lead one to believe. Mr. Warren Irving Glover, the Third Assistant Postmaster General, was very enthusiastic about it and will accompany it personally to London, sailing on Friday, May 4th, on the steamer Homeric. Nearly a column is devoted to the subject in the New York Times of May 6th.

In the magazine section of the same paper a page is devoted to the Pony Express and a history of its operation. The express is to take horse again on September 9th and ride as they did in the early sixties. The department has been asked to reissue the famous Pony Express stamps but have had to advise that these were not government issues but were the issues of private concerns. Whether they will ask the old companies to reprint their issues I cannot say.

The first session of the Bartels sale of the Eagle stamps was held on May 3rd and covered mainly the issues from 1890-1898 although some few early pieces were present. Fine things generally went at top notch figures and two or three record prices were made. A 3c 1857 on cover cancelled "Old Stamps not recognized" changed hands at $38. Two strips of three of the 2c black, Jackson, used on cover from Honolulu, found a new home at $55. A vertical unused strip of three of the 2c Columbian, imperforate, possibly printers waste, sold at $95. The 4c Columbian error made a new record at $138, while this issue generally went at good figures showing that the 1893 issue that was a drug on the market some years ago are now most desirable property.

Blocks of four of the $2 and $5 mint of 1894 sold at $50 and $66 respectively while the block of the $5 1895, mint, went into your editor's collection at $105. Blocks of this same issue imperforated from 1c to $5 reached a total of $331.50. A pair of the 8c part perf. Omaha which came from the DuPont sale at $50.50 went into a southern collection at $129., a new high record for this variety.

We wish to thank Messrs. T. J. Tyrell, Emile Jost, Henry Hammelman, H. A. Thatcher, Standish Prescott, B. A. French, R. H. Mower and that veteran collector Mr. E. B. Sterling, for information of interest.

Azores.—The Economist Stamp Co. inform us that a 50c orange has been recently issued in the usual design of Portugal with the overprint "Acores."

Dutch East Indies.—Our special Correspondent in the Dutch Indies, Mr. J. O. Cramer, sends us three new definitive high values, taking the place of the corresponding provisionals of last year viz.:—

Surface-printed, portrait type (to right) of 1913-15, Perf. 12½.: 32½c lilac and orange-brown.

Line-engraved, portrait type (to left) of 1913-15, Perf. 12½: 60c blue and 80c orange-brown.

The second colour in the case of the 32½c value is that of the numerals only, which are in the upper right-hand portion, as in the other denominations in the same type.—Stamp Collecting.

Esthonia.—Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. show us: Woman at loom (W. K. Type k), ½ mark orange, imperf. and ½ mark orange, perf. 14.—Stamp C lceting.

Ireland.—Mr. R. Roberts has sent us a copy of the ½d green in tl "Sword of Light" design.

Portugal.—The Economist Stan Co. send us the 5c in olive brown ar the 25c in pale rose in the current typ

Portuguese India. — The Economi Stamp Co. report the following ne items, 4r blue, 1½t olive green and 2½ light blue, all in the type of the 191 issue.

Russia.—We are indebted to Mr. Almar for a copy of the latest sui charges. It is type A55, 200r on 15 red brown and deep blue. Also ther has been issued 30r on 35k red brow and green, type A9, No. 134.

Upper Silesia.—Mr. J. L. Riedel send us the following new values in the cur rent design: 80mk red, 100mk purpl and 200mk tan.

Wurtemberg.—The Economist Stam Co. advise that the 3mk brown officia stamp of the O1 type has been over printed "400 Mark" in blue in tw lines.

at various times in the history of ountry they have been expelled, only turn again.

r. Starr states that the Imperial Re- Service (Ichan) served the country 1877 till the advent of the Re- lc, the provincial authorities sharing cost of its upkeep. Under the Re- c postal work was given over to the ese Post Office, which received from province half the allowance previ- paid to the Ichan.

e stamps issued for use in this vast ory are fortunately not in propor- to its size or importance. Our cata- lists only one type of overprint on urrent stamps of China; but this is correct as two settings exist, the distinguished from the former by hinner characters, and by the fact the uppermost character is exactly ged with those below it instead of placed slightly to the left. The ps overprinted are the Pekin print- and not the London-printed set as catalogue suggests. All values up d including the $1, with the excep- of the later-issued 1½c, and 13c, overprinted with the first type of se inscription while the complete ncluding these two values and the 10 and $20, comes with the second of overprint, the overprint being d on the dollar values in both sets. meaning of the inscription, accord- o Mr. Starr, is "Restricted for use in-Kiang."

th our correspondents point out that 0c of the Postal Jubilee issue, with hinese Turkestan overprint, is rare, Chun Foh Ziang stating that he be- only 2,000 copies were overprinted, is value is little used. Both agree the market price in China is in the bourhood of eight shillings.—Gib- Monthly Circular.

WAR ISSUES.

By Hope Dawlish.

The decision of Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., to list and deal in ex-enemy War Issues opens up a field of collecting of great interest, to which very little attention has been given. Possibly, therefore, the following remarks may be of interest to the readers of the Monthly Circular.

Now first, they are already with us; for the "C.E.F." series was a "War Issue," and so also was the "Alsace Lorraine" issue of Germany which has long been in the catalogues. The raison d'être of such issues is simple. Armies in the field are composed of human beings, who, although they are soldiers, yet have human feelings, and are frequently impelled to write home. There are only two ways of dealing with their letters: either they must go "On service, free," or they must be stamped; and if stamped, then the question arises, with what stamps? Certainly not the stamps of the country in which the army is serving; therefore it must be the national stamps. And then comes the question of paying for them. When an army is in occupation of an enemy territory it has to use the currency of that country; the men are paid a proportion of their pay in that currency because they have to pay for what they buy; theoretically, everything taken from the civil population of the country is paid for. Therefore the national stamps must be surcharged with the currency of the occupied country. This has the further advantage of facilitating the accounts of the Army Post Office. Further, if, as in the late war, several countries are occupied, there must also be included in the surcharge the name of the country where the stamps may be used. Thus, by easy stages, we arrive at the meaning of a "War Issue."

The second point concerns the collector, and the Great War. The numerous German issues—for Belgium, Poland, Roumania, Russia—afford an interesting record of what the enemy did during the terrible years of the war, the story of which is for many already dying away, and for our children is unknown. I am a great believer in the historical value of stamp collecting, and I know of few better ways of inculcating in the minds of the young some of the salient facts of the war. The German issues are fairly familiar; but the Austrian—for Italy, Roumania, Serbia, Montenegro—how many of us can remember the invasions and counter-invasions in Southern Europe? And then there is the invasion of Germany by Belgium. The first issue of Belgian stamps with the surcharge "Allemagne-Duitschland" tells how Belgium came into her own at last. And then that Warsaw issue of Germany, surcharged "Gen. Gouv, Warschaw," which later appeared, when the Germans were driven out of the country with the enemy surcharge struck out and "Poczta Polska" proudly pirnted above it. These, and many other issues, have a whole history of national aspiration behind them. Surely worth preserving, and in this simple manner handing down the story to posterity. There can be no easier way of teaching history, and I am not exaggerating when I say that it would be well if children of collecting age, and indeed of all ages, were encouraged to make a collection of these issues.

The plebiscite issues form another chapter of history, transitory it is true, but of great importance, and they have a special interest because the principle of "postage" is involved in them, which is the same as that of coinage: the stamp, like the coin, bears "the image and superscription" of the Sovereign or the national emblem. But when the Treaty of Versailles dealt with these fragments of old kingdoms, and decreed that their future should be decided by the principle of "self-determination," the sovereignty of the district was in a state of suspense, and, therefore, the plebiscite issues depended for their validity on the Treaty of Versailles, which created the Interallied Commissions in which the government was for the time being vested: hence such surcharges as those on the Marienwerder issues, which remained in circulation until the question "Under which Flag" was decided by the people.

There are many other points of interest in these issues, which the reader, if he takes to collecting them, will find out for himself. If he takes my advice he will start at once to form a special collection, which he may appropriately call "The History of the Great War, and After, Illustrated Philatelically."

On one other point I should, however, like to say a word. It has often been said that these war and other issues to which I have alluded were speculative, their sole reason for issue being to make a little money. Well, a nation which is at war has not time to think of such minor methods of money-making. But the facts of the issues themselves really disprove the suggestion. It must be conceded that once the necessity for stamps is recognized, as it will be now, I feel sure there must be a certain number of different values for postal purposes, to prevent the stocks of lower values running short. But on examining the lists as given in Michel's excellent catalogue, we cannot fail to be surprised how few stamps were really surcharged. The first Belgian issue contained only the 3, 5, 10, 25, 50, 75 centimes, 1 franc, 1.25 and 2.50. The second issue was the same with the addition of 6.25fr., on the 5 mark German, of which I know, as a fact, that the few which were issued were used legitimately, and now are extremely hard to obtain. There were, as I also know, a large stock of the 5 marks on hand, but they were not used in any other issue. One curious point to be noted. The "Etappengebiet" issue, in other words, the issue for the Lines of Communication, of twelve stamps only, were used for the armies invading France, but for some reason were not surcharged "Frankreich;" the only occasion on which the Germans refrained from an assertion of their supremacy over their enemy's country during their occupation.—Gibbons' Monthly Circular.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

¶ I regret to announce that I will be unable to attend to correspondence and orders received during the month of May.
¶ During the last week in April I expect to undergo an operation which will confine me to the hospital for four or five weeks.
¶ As I give all correspondence my Personal Attention, it will pay everyone concerned to have all such await my return.
¶ At that time all letters will be answered, all orders filled, and want lists and approval selections attended to, each in the order of its receipt.
¶ My New Issue Service will not be interfered with, but new items received cannot, of course, be sent out or listed until my return.
¶ I trust my many customers will pardon this unavoidable interruption of my service and will send in their orders as usual.

HIGH SCHOOL LAD EXHIBITS UNIQUE STAMP COLLECTIO

Photo shows Lawrence Gichner, freshman at Central High School, Washington. D. C., with exhibit of stars illustrating characters in Greek mythology. It is a unique collection and a worthy one, and young Gichner has recei d favorable comment from officials of the High School.

DEPICTS "ODYSSEY" IN STAMPS.

The story of the "Odyssey," the poet Homer's recitation of Greek legends and myths, is told in a postage-stamp picture made by Lawrence Gichner of 2415 20th street, a second semester student at Central High School.

The picture, composed of a collection of 30 foreign postage stamps and set in a steel frame, has been put on exhibition in the corridors of Central, and is attracting considerable attention among the student body and visitors.

Gichner conceived the idea of making the unique picture when his class began the study of the Greek legends as told by Homer in his "Odyssey." The boy's hobby is the collection of postage stamps of all lands, and in the hundreds of stamps he has saved he found a sufficient number with engravings to represent the principal characters in the "Odyssey." Atlas, Juno, Apollo, Jason sowing the teeth of the dragon, etc., are represented by the pictures on the stamps. Of course the student has given his own interpretation of the meanings of the miniature postage-stamp pictures, but the Latin and English teachers at the school have described it as a work of art. —Washington Star.

The next discontinuance of subscriptions will concern all subscribers whose wrappers bear the numbers 1685 to 1688 inclusive. Just glance at your wrapper immediately in order to make sure that your subscription is paid up. You have ample time in which to renew and be saved the inconvenience of a discontinuance. Moreover, under our new system we are making no plans for furnishing back numbers and subscribers must not expect that we can supply back numbers when we have made every effort to notify them.

We are satisfied that the system we have inaugurated is the only one under which a newspaper can do business these days, and subscribers must understand that free copies of the WEEKLY will not be sent to those who are in arrears.

Just A Moment Of Your Time Please

I like to deal with busy men, because they are usually good business men. What I want to say is this: I have just arranged a wonderful series of approval cards, of early U. S. from 1847 to 1873, of fancy and beautiful cancelations, priced according to centering, cancellation and rarity, with the help of Scott's new Specialized Catalog of U. S.

If you really like superb material in old U. S. and are willing to pay for selected items, I am ready to talk business.

State requirements and limitations, and furnish satisfactory reference, and I can show you $100 worth or $10,000 worth. Fine lot of Covers, too.

INDIAN HEAD STAMPS TO MUSKOGEE.

Washington, May 5—Muskogee (Okla.) picked by the post-office department as "the representative Indian town of America," will be the first city to receive a supply of the new 14-cent Indian Head postage stamps which will be issued May 1.

The Indian from whose picture the new stamp design was adapted by government engravers was Chief Hollow Horn Bear of the Brule Sioux. He was born in Nebraska and when 16 accompanied a band, led by his father, against the Pawnees on the present site of Genoa, Neb. After joining the Brules in 1868, he participated in a raid on the Union Pacific labor camps. Later, he joined the Crow agency at Rosebud, S. D., as a sub-captain of police and arrested his predecessor, Crow Dog for the murder of Spotted Tail. Five years later he resigned and was appointed second lieutenant under Agent Spencer.

Because of his prowess as an orator, Hollow Horn Bear was chosen by the Indians as their representative when General Crook was sent with a command to Rosebud in 1889 to make an agreement with the red men. In March, 1905, he came to Washington and took part in the Roosevelt inaugural parade. He died here in 1913.

The post-office department says Muskogee was selected as the point of initial distribution because "it is the most representative Indian town of America, being the headquarters of the Five Civilized Tribes."—Oklahoma City News.

MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS.

The new edict that Crown Colonies are no longer to introduce new series or issues of stamps without substantial reasons, such as the death of a sovereign or change of status, has been received with a sigh of relief by the large following of this ever-popular group, modern British Colonials, and we may now look forward to a period of comparative "tranquility." A great many Colonies are provided with well-designed and executed sets, of a higher standard of excellence than has been obtained for a long time, and it is hoped that they will remain current for many years, and once the new watermark has been introduced there should be no more marked varieties of paper for some years.

This breathing space will afford an opportunity for collectors to fill the many gaps in their collections amongst the Colonial issues of the past decade, and which are numerous in most cases, but were difficult to fill as long as there was such a heavy drain on their purses by the plethora of new emissions and varieties.

There is a revolt in some quarters against the splitting of the coloured papers into too many grades. Some have been trying to still further sub-divide Gibbons' classification, but for most collectors this is inadvisable, and some, indeed, only recognise four shades, in the greens for instance, thus:—

(1) Old green paper.
(2) The famous surface-tinted (white back).
(3) Emerald surface.
(4) Emerald throughout.

In some cases it is the 2nd division that is the scarcest, and in others the 3rd, depending of course on the numbers printed, and which, not being published, the prices will arrange themselves according to the demand.

One of the countries greatly in the limelight politically is Irak, and with the new set momentarily expected, the old issue is worth buying at present prices. Roughly speaking; most values are obtainable at ½ face for used copies, and buyers will not go far wrong at these prices. The new set is stated to be an attractive one, and will probably increase the popularity of this country.

Every group has various innings of popularity, and it is quite likely that the despised War Tax stamps, just now obtainable very cheaply, will show an improvement during the next few years, with the possible exception of the commonest varieties, now obtainable wholesale at face value or slightly under. Even these, however, have shown nothing like the depreciation of many Neurope stamps, whose fall was partly brought about by the depreciation of the currency of most continental powers, due largely to unsound finance.

In passing, it may be as well to point out to those who collect the somewhat unpopular group of Portuguese Colonials that the current and recently current sets are worth picking up on a basis of the present value of the escudo stabilised at about 2½d.

Some large remainders of the last printings of the old type Cayman Is., K. G., have recently been coming on the market in mint sheets of most values to the 10/-, and the catalogue prices of some will probably have to be reduced. It appears there was a large stock on hand when the handsome new issue made its appearance, as the genuine postal demand is very slight, and if these had to be used up before the new set made its appearance, years might have elapsed before some appeared. It may be remembered that some years ago a remainder of the 1905 K. Ed. set was also put on the market, but on that occasion in proportion to the face value the amount available was much less, and these were soon absorbed, until at the present time all the values of the 1905, except the 1/-, are as scarce as the previous issue of 1902.

Rhodesia is another country that has been to the fore again. In the Georgian issue there has been a lot of splitting into unnecessary varieties, except for the specialist. For many of the higher values used copies are really less plentiful than mint, although not fetching such high prices. Several of the earlier issues are also appreciating; the 3d duty in the 1898-1908 set has always been scarce used, whilst some of the values of the surcharged set of 1909 are less common than catalogue suggests.

The 2½d Sierra Leone in blue on Script paper seems likely to be scarce, the 3d now being printed in that colour, and the former having only had a short life. The 1½d and 3d of this colony are usually pretty frequent used, but other duties such as the 9d are decidedly scarce and worth more in fine used condition, whilst several other of the now obsolete stamps on old paper are worth picking up at current rates. The 2/-, on old blue paper is appreciating now, and it is curious how consistently good the recent stamps of this Colony have turned out, as exemplified by the Edward sets, where the 1903 issue is still easily the best of this Colony, whilst all values over 1/- of the Universal set of 1910 are becoming quite rare stamps, mint or used.—Philatelic Magazine.

A CORRECTION.

Two errors in our ad May 5th. The Coronation set is listed at $3.25 and we have been selling it at $3.75 and cannot sell for less. In justice to those who bought at $3.75 we feel that something should be said. The 3c on 35c provisional is advertised without price—this should have been 50c.

We don't know who made the errors and we don't care so long as something is said in the paper to make folks feel O.K. We positively will not sell the Coronation set of Newfoundland at $3.25 and we feel that it is well worth $3.75.

Enclosed find adv. for the 19th which will make good these prices.—HOME OF THE POSTAGE STAMP.

HISTORY FROM POSTAGE STAMPS.

By CHAS. G. WILSON.

Many people are unaware of France's colonial possessions in India. That these possessions do exist is attested by several French-Colonial issues for "French Establishments in India." The possessions of France in India comprise the five towns of Pondicherry, Chandernagar, Karikal, Mahe and Yanaon, with a total area of approximately 196 sq. miles and a population in 1909 of 282,379. These small holdings are all that is left to France of that swift growing Indian Empire she was deprived of by the British through the genius of Clive.

The French began the conquest of India when in 1664, during the reign of Louis XIV, and under his royal patronage, the French East India Company was established. This Company was founded under favorable conditions, with almost complete sovereignty over the territory it might acquire and was given all possible protection by the Crown. By taking advantage of the quarrels of the native princes and potentates the French Company greatly extended its holdings until it had built the foundation of a vast empire.

Then in 1745 there began that bitter struggle for ascendancy between the British and the French. In this war the genius of Clive was matched against that of the Frenchmen La Bourdonnais and Dupleix. But victory fell to the Englishman and in 1761 the French capitulated.

THE EARLY STAMPS OF VICTORIA.

By C. A. Howes, F.R.P.S.L.

A sumptuous volume, devoted to the study of the first four stamps issued by the British Colony of Victoria, is just off the press of "Lippincott's" and bears upon its title page the name of that "Prince of Philatelists," Charles Lathrop Pack. In recent years we have become increasingly familiar with monographs upon the stamps of particular countries, or even upon a group of stamps such as the "Cantonal" stamps of Switzerland; but here we have the acme of philatelic research, which has evolved from a single issue so much of interest and detail and value to the historical side of the pursuit that a work of 273 pages is required to set forth the results, which it is acknowledged are not even yet complete.

The stamps under study are the One-, Two- and Threepence values issued January 3, 1850, and known as the "Half-length" series from the figure of the Queen thereon; and the Twopence issued the latter part of December, 1852, and known as the "Queen Enthroned." These were all the production of the engraver, Thomas Ham, of Melbourne, who undertook the contract to furnish the first stamps required by the (then) new Colony. The three "Half-length" values were engraved side by side on steel, and a fine half-tone of a proof from this plate is given as a frontispiece. It seems to have been the original intention of the engraver to construct a plate of twelve subjects for each value; but time was pressing and but three subjects were finished on the plate, one for each value, and these were used for dyes for the making of transfers to prepare lithographic stones for more rapid production by that method.

Now it was this particular fact that made the work under review possible. Had the original intention been carried out we should doubtless have had twelve plate varieties of each value, with probably some retouches when they had become worn, after the manner of the so-called "Sydney Views" of New South Wales, and that would have been all there was to it. But the lithographic reproduction was responsible, as is so often the case, for introducing flaws, etc., in each transfer from the original engraving so that the individual transfers can be recognized and therefore plated.

Some progress in this study of the first issue had already been made when Mr. Pack took it up, and credit should be given the pioneers; but it is evident that without a proper assortment of interlocking strips or pairs, at least, it is next to impossible to locate properly all the varieties of any one setting or determine the number of settings. That a vast amount of material has been gathered for the present study is shown by the fact that 6206 copies of the "Half-lengths" were carefully examined during the work. The splendid results obtained have been due not alone to this fact, but to the patience and philatelic acumen of the investigator. We find that a third (chronologically the second) setting of Mr. Ham's Onepenny has been determined and worked out; that complete platings of his Twopence in a second, a third and a fourth setting have been made, and also of his Threepence in a third setting; while considerable progress has been made toward completing the first setting of his Onepenny and Threepence—a very difficult problem owing to the scarcity of this early material.

When the contract for furnishing stamps passed into other hands in 1853, there were still different settings used for the Onepenny and Threepence by Messrs J. S. Campbell & Co., and their successors, Messrs. Campbell & Fergusson: Mr. Pack has determined the setting and worked out the plating guides for the Onepenny as made up by both firms and that of the Threepence as made up by the first named. Only the Threepence of Messrs. Campbell & Fergusson had been previously determined. But a new complication arose with these settings, as pairs and more kept cropping up with stamps together that could not possibly be found in juxtaposition under any normal arrangement of the transfer groups. These abnormalities were studies with reference to the makeup of the printing stone in various tentative arrangements of the transfer groups until a solution was found that fitted all known cases. The result was that "ab-

UNUSED BLOCKS OF FOUR

The trend of modern collecting seems to be toward blocks. Pages of perfectly centered blocks in the wide range of shades it is possible to obtain cannot be surpassed in beauty.

In value, 20th Century blocks of United States are increasing by leaps and bounds. The top has not yet been approached. It's the outlet for the desire for specialism that cannot be satisfied in early issues by reason of the limited supplies of those issues.

My stock of 20th Century United States in blocks is second to none. Many of the rare ones are of course gone, but even from 1882 on I have a wonderful line.

normal settings" were determined and proved for both the Onepenny and Threepence of the J. S. Campbell printings and the Threepence of the Campbell & Fergusson printings. The solution of these veritable Chinese puzzles is perhaps the outstanding feature of the whole work, as the amount of philatelic study shown, the knowledge of the lithographer's art and method of procedure required, the analytical deductions and synthetic groupings made, and the time, patience and ingenuity put into the investigation could only have been accomplished by a master mind.

Some accident evidently happened to the engraving of the Twopence "Half-length" as the proof reproduction shows, and as this was the most used value at the time, Mr. Ham prepared a steel plate in a new design, the "Queen Enthroned," the stamps making their appearance in December, 1852. This stamp is readily plated as it is provided with check-letters in the lower corners only, after the manner of the first British stamps. When Mr. Ham's successors took the printing contract in 1853 they did not use this plate to print from, but only to make transfers for printing by lithography. The most interesting thing about this stamp, as there is apparently no problem of different "settings" in its makeup, lies in the fact that quite a number of transfers have been discovered in blocks or pairs that are out of their normal position in the sheet. No better explanation has yet been advanced than that defective or damaged subjects on the stone have been erased at times and new transfers substituted which were taken from other portions of the sheet. These "substituted transfers" are most interesting and are found both in the printings of Messrs. J. S. Campbell & Co., and Campbell & Fergusson.

Taken altogether the volume shows a wonderful piece of painstaking work. Not only is it replete with diagrams showing the method of working out the various settings, but it contains thirty half-tone plates of the stamps themselves in enlarged reproductions. Introductory chapters on Political, Statistical and Historical matters connected with this first issue give all the information available to date; the original plate and the settings made from it are described in detail; earlier Victorian specialists and their collections are noted; early dates and covers of historical value are summarized; with illustrations of various cancellations and postmarks; a comparative study of the use and rarity of Mr. Ham's printings is given; and notes on "abnormal transfers" and their causes, and the rouletted and perforated "Half-lengths" precede the detail concerning the "plating."

Special acknowledgment is given Mr. Lewis G. Barrett of Boston for his assistance in the work.

The volume is prepared to accompany the display of the vital part of Mr. Pack's collection of the stamps described at the International Philatelic Exhibition in London in May.

THE GREAT STAMP EXHIBITION.

Postage stamps from more than 500 collectors, including many of the largest private collections in the world, have been sent to London for the International Stamp Exhibition. Never before has such a large and valuable lot of stamps been gathered together; their value is estimated at $5,000,000. More than fifty gold medals will be awarded for the most meritorious collections of various countries and there will also be championship prizes for the finest individual collections.

America will be represented by ten exhibitors, including the United States Government. The Post Office Department has sent over an artistic frame containing more than 1,200 stamps of the new issue, with a complete set of the old issue. This is the first time the Government has officially recognized a philatelic exhibition. Third Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover will be the official representative of this country at the banquet of the Junior Philatelic Society of London, the organizer of the international event.

The finest collection from this country will be shown by Arthur Hind. Philatelic circles here will be disappointed if he does not bring home a championship prize. The chief features in his display will be the stamps of the United States and Mauritius.

Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen has sent over the finest lot of his United States stamps, including many rare postmaster and carrier issues and a fine collection from Switzerland. Representative Ackerman's chief exhibition will be his incomparable collection of the 5 and 10 cent stamps of the first United States issued, 1847.

Alfred H. Lichtenstein has sent a collection of Switzerland issues, including all of the rare cantonal issues and splendid copies of the rare double Geneva. He has specialized for many years on Swiss stamps and his collection is valued at $100,000. It has been entered in the championship class.

Charles Lathrop Pack, President of the American Forestry Association, will exhibit the choicest part of his Victoria collection, including hundreds of varieties of the first issues with the full and three-quarter portrait of Queen Victoria. This collection fills nine volumes. Other exhibitors from this country will be Dr. Carroll Chase, Edward S. Knapp and Captain Arthur Newton Pack. Mr. Luff will show his collection of early Shanghai stamps, said to be the finest in the world.—N. Y. Times.

THE ROMANCE OF POSTAGE STAMPS

By Charles G. Wilson.

> "Is the torrent in spate? He must ford it or swim.
> Has the rain soaked the road? He must climb by the cliff.
> Does the tempest cry 'Halt'? What are tempests to him?
> The service admits not a 'but' or an 'if'.
> While the breath's in his mouth, he must bear without fail,
> In the Name of the Empress, the Overland Mail."
> Rudyard Kipling.

What are postage stamps? The dictionary defines them as being official bits of adhesive paper showing the prepayment of postage fee on mail. The writer of that definition was no real stamp lover. If postage stamps were no more than the definition says them to be, there would be no world-wide army of millions of collectors camping steadily on the trail of the elusive adhesives, spending brain and money in the chase.

Well, what are postage stamps? Postage stamps are illustrations, pictures in a great Book of Romance. A romance of man's conquest over nature and of his struggle up the ladder of progress and civilization.

We collectors are greatly interested, of course, in the technique of stamps, the acquirement of series, the classification of shades, varieties and errors. But the record, the Book of Romance, is the thing.

It is not hard upon a winter's evening, when the hearthfire's crackling and the pipe smoke hanging low in the study, to sit back in the old arm-chair and conjure back the shades of the Kings and Emperors at whose decrees many of the stamps were issued, the ghosts of the humble men unknown who staunchly fought nature on land and sea, in fire and flood, and often gave the most that man can give, life itself, that the mail might go through.

Let us open at random the beloved album—and before us lies the face of a king. And a very royal king he was, too. The stamp is one of Sicily, issued during the reign of King Bomba in 1859, a stamp bearing a portrait of the king. Note the peculiar cancellation in the form of a wreath over the royal head. It came to the notice of Bomba that the postal department, in cancelling these stamps, so besmeared them as to obliterate his features. So he gave forth a decree that his stamps were to be cancelled with two laurel fronds crossing above his brow so that each time a letter was mailed, the king was crowned once more and his tenure of the throne once again brought to the notice of his subjects.

Again at random we turn a page—here is another king. He also brought notoriety upon himself, but notoriety of ill fame. This is King Leopold of the Belgians, who in the Belgian Congo amassed a huge fortune for himself, and the world well remembers the unscrupulous treatment the natives received at the hands of the Crown agents.

Again a king—hats off, for this is Albert of Belgium in morion and trench coat as he looked when he occupied the trenches with the thin blue line of his valiant little army holding back the Germans. A valiant, honorable gentleman—and a democratic, popular king.

There are dozens of crowned heads that look out at us as we thoughtfully turn the pages. Many are now dust but they have left behind romantic memories. Here is Queen Victoria, "the Widow at Windsor, with a hairy gold crown on 'er 'ead"; here her grandson, Edward Albert, Prince of Wales, globe-trotter, hunter, all-round sportsman and blending in his lovable personality the best that aristocracy means with the best democracy gives. Here is Louis Napoleon of the French, parvenue emperor and adventurer extraordinary, nephew of the Great One whose ashes repose under the gilded dome of the Invalides but whose shade still hovers over the battle-flags of France.

Opening our album at the United States collection, we see an insignificant looking stamp bearing the picture of a rider on a galloping horse. It is of private issue of the Pony Express Co. These stamps were used on the letters carried on pony back overland from St. Joe, Mo., to Sacramento, Cal., by Russel, Majors and Waddell Pony Express Co. in 1860. Memory wings us back these many years. It is twilight in a little Kansas prairie town, a huddle of shacks of mud and plank but a link in the chain of empire and a remount station for the pony express. In the gathering dusk a hostler stands in the little dusty street holding a spirited horse bridled and saddled. The express rider is due. Here he will change horses for his next gallop between stations. The restive horse neighs; a group of cowboys stand talking indolently in subdued voices. There are conjectures as to whether the rider will get through, for only yesterday a buffalo-hunter reported the Kiowas out with paint on. Again the remount neighs and a faint drumming of hoofs is heard, becoming stronger and stronger until horse and rider loom up in the dark and the heaving animal lurches to a halt. The rider rolls a "cigareet," passes a few terse remarks about the Kiowa war-party he descried in time and circumvented at 'Dobie Wells, drinks a pint of black coffee (these men have pledged themselves to pass up all liquor) and swings to the back of the remount to whose saddle the pouches have been transferred. "So-long!" and the hoofs go drumming out of town to be lost in the prairie's distance. A few nights later and the rider fails to ride in. A search party goes out and in a few hours they find him, stark and scalped, beside his arrow-riddled horse. A substitute gathers the letters the pilfering savages have scattered and takes them on to the next station. And one more rider is laid to rest in Boot Hill—but the mail goes through.

Now a De Haviland plane drones through the air over the prairies and mountains the express riders traversed. Pneumatic tubes shoot their letter-bearing shells from station to station; trains roar; liners bore through onrushing seas—and the mail goes through.

The romance is still there, the stamps still tell their story of man's romantic conquest of the land, the sea and the sky.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited, as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—From Rocky Ford, Colo., comes a new advertising cancellation. It reads:—"Arkansas Valley Fair, Rocky Ford, Colo., Sept. 4-7, 1923." It reaches us from Chas. J. Bauerle.

—It is with sincere regret that we announce the death of Hugh Dougherty, who has been a steady advertiser in the WEEKLY for some months. No particulars are at hand.

—We have been shown by Frank A. Goldsmith a Barre, Vt., cover with the advertising cancellation:—"Barre Granite Exposition, May 1-Nov. 1, Visit Quarries."

—A new advertising cancellation has been received from Milwaukee. It reads:—"Home Building Exposition Milwaukee June 2 to June 9." The cancellation announcing the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world to be held at Atlantic City is now being used in various cities and the form of the cancellation varies.

—"Enclosed we hand you herewith our check to balance our account. We have three more radio talks left for this season. Mr. Olaf J. Olson, St. Paul, gave a very scholarly talk on the "Educational Side of Stamp Collecting" Wednesday, May 9th, and was listened to by a large following of raido fans—we hope soon they will be stamp collecting fans. To listen to such a talk as Mr. Olson gave cannot help but create an interest in our "Hobby." We hope to be able to give another series of lectures next Fall and believe we will have no trouble in getting the air as the Farmstead advise us that there has been a great deal of enthusiasm shown as to when the talks were coming on. All this helps."—BURT MCCANN CO.

—E. W. Goldhrope of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., sends us a clipping from a local paper giving the particulars of a most successful exhibit and contest of the Y. M. C. A. Stamp Club of that city. J. M. Bartels, the well-known dealer of N. Y. City, made an interesting address on the value of stamp collecting and also exhibited his specialized collection of Holland stamps. Joseph Hoffmann, secretary of the New York Stamp Society, accompanied Mr. Bartels and explained the worthy features of the collection.

—"For years I have used in cleaning dirty stamps a two percent. solution of permanganate of potash, in which stamp is immersed for a few seconds, then washed off in water and placed in a three percent. solution of Citric Acid to take off the deposit of the potash. I have never had any trouble until recently when I attempted to clean a Block of Six of the Three-Cent Blue, U. S. 1869. The color left the stamps and they are a very faint brown yellow. I used the same solution in cleaning copies of the same stamp both before and after my unfortunate experience with no bad results. This particular block of six seemed to lose the blue. Can someone tell me what to do to restore this block?"—FRED V. S. CHAMBERLAIN.

—We have received a new pricelist from the Max F. Bier Co., 1496 Bedford Av., Brooklyn, N. Y. It gives retail prices of packets, single stamps, and stamps in sets. Catalog prices are disregarded to such an extent as to make the list of interest to any of our readers.

—The philatelists of Allentown, Pa., have organized to form the Allentown Philatelic Club. Our first meeting was held on April 19, 1923, with an attendance of ten and with as many more prosp ive members in view. The officers are Pres., Walter Neitz; Sec., Harold Fist; Treas., H. E. Newhard. The secret would like to receive literature a correspond with other clubs.

—Aberdeen, So. Dak., has a n stamp club. The officers are Preside Rev. Wm. Kraushaar; Vice-Preside Charles Hickenbotham, and Secreta Treasurer, J. Frank Nickol. Meeti will be held monthly.

—In the page Handshaw advertisem this week will be found a notice of new book written by Mr. Handshaw a recently placed upon the market. T book has had a large sale but there s remains a sufficient supply to meet a orders that may be received. This bo has been reviewed in the WEEKLY a it is of special interest to the sta collector because of the philatelic atm phere that surrounds it.

SUBSCRIPTION RENEWALS.

Some of our subscribers need to know our rule regarding discontinuances. We discontinue all subscriptions in arrears promptly the second issue of each month. This means that your subscription should be renewed prior to expiration. The expiration number can be ascertained by consulting your wrapper. No free copies of the WEEKLY are sent out and this rule is as fixed as the laws of the M. and P. Our older subscribers understand our rule and the newer subscribers should get acquainted with it.

A. P. S. CONVENTION.

The committee of Washington Philatelists is holding regular meetings and developing the program for the week of August 13-18. Advertising contracts are being distributed for space in the Official Bulletin, the rates being $30 per page, and smaller fractions of a page being as low as $3 for a twelfth of a page. Several members of the committee will personally canvass Philadelphia, New York and Boston for advertisements.

The official hotel being the Shoreham, the various functions will be held there. Reservations are now being made and the rates are from $2.50 for single room and stationary basin to $3 and $4 per day with bath. Rooms with double beds for couples, with bath, from $5 to $6 per day. The Ebbett House has been selected for the overflow and the rates are about the same.

Washington collectors each recently donated stamps catalogued about $2.00, that were auctioned off for the benefit of the committee of arrangements and the success was so great that another such sale will be held soon.

Mr. Mount of the Philatelic Agency of the Post Office Department was the guest of the Philatelic Society at its last meeting and announced that the run of orders was so great that the agency was five hundred orders behind on that day.

He also announced that the sales of the agency almost equalled those of a first-class post-office. A surprising condition existing is the very large number of local people who patronize the agency, but are unknown to the regular collectors of the Philatelic Society.

CARBON TETRACHLORIDE.

By Ernest Kelly.

For some time I have been using a chemical for watermarking stamps which seems to have decided advantages over the benzine commonly used. Perhaps the matter has already been mentioned in your paper, but if not, I believe that it would prove of interest to your readers. The material that I have been using is carbon tetrachloride, a substance which can be secured at almost any drug store. I do not wish to claim originality for the use of this process, as I read about it or heard about it somewhere; but I can give you the results of my experience.

The most serious objection to the use of benzine is its inflammability. This is a decided disadvantage to those who like to puff their pipes while spending an evening over the watermark detector, and to those who have young children around the house. I have also found that a good grade of benzine is not always readily procurable. I have seen gasoline used, but this substance contains some slight traces of oil and is liable to leave the stamp with a greasy film.

Carbon tetrachloride is non-inflammable. Indeed I am told that it is used in some sorts of fire-extinguishers. It is also used in some commercial cleaners, and owing to these qualities it will often improve the appearance of the stamp. It is slightly more expensive, but prices here are only about 40 cents a pint, which are not prohibitive. I must confess that its odor is not the sweetest, but it isn't much worse than benzine, at that. It shows the watermark plainly and dries quickly, leaving the stamp in good condition.

EDITORIAL.

EDITORIAL.

Our mail has been heavy with clippings from newspapers in New York City and elsewhere, telling of the attractions of the London exhibit and its patronage by leading collectors in this country. A list of Americans who have sailed from London to participate in the session is interesting, and in due time we shall have particulars of the exhibit which certainly will be a most successful one. The exhibition has been advertised adequately and the result of this world congress of philatelists will have a most beneficial effect on all philately.

From Miss Marion C. Deane of Seattle, Washington, we have received the following letter: "Did you know that the Prince of Wales has not collected stamps for several years? He now has no collection of his own—so he wrote me last week. I sent His Royal Highness some of the new U. S. issue for his collection and he sent me such a nice letter of appreciation. I did not dream that he would reply and, you may be sure, I am greatly pleased to have such a letter in my possession. The cover is postmarked with the Philatelic Exhibition marking. I am still a shut-in and have made several very good friends through the note in your paper at Christmas time. It was good of you and I appreciate all the many kindnesses shown me in the past."

We are glad to have the opportunity to copy the following tribute to Robert David Craighead, whose death last year saddened philatelists. Recently, the Atlantic City Daily Press printed the following impressive memorial notice under the head, "A Monument That Will Last":—

"On the nineteenth of May Robert David Craighead will have been dead a year. The memorial to his death will be something more than the material presence of tablet or imposing shaft. It will be a perpetual reminder of the departed and yet not be embodied in the usual form of remembrance.

Robert D. Craighead was but eight years old when he began to collect stamps. From that time until his death he never ceased to gather together rare issues of the world until he possessed a collection that was famous among eager seekers for the unusual and the curious. The zest he threw into the hunt for choice stamps did not in the least prevent him from becoming one of the city's leading hotelmen. Rather, it was his hobby that kept him active and enabled him to serve the better. He was a citizen in all senses of the word—a genial, whole-hearted man whose friendship was a thing of value, as the poor can attest.

Now that he is gone, Mrs. Craighead has determined upon a splendid consecration of what constituted her husband's lifework. The stamps will be disposed of at auction sales until they have all been sold, and from the proceeds the eye clinic at the Atlantic City Hospital will be maintained as a memorial to Mr. Craighead, a constant tribute to the deceased and a never failing source of relief to untold numbers of sufferers. It is a fine example of the truth that though one is dead, yet he speaketh. Such a monument is worth more than all the marble shafts and ornate tombs ever constructed."

The following letter has been received by Mr. Shirley Moisant of Kankakee, Illinois, but looking down the vista of years, Mr. Moisant does not recall the writer; and we are unable to say that we can identify the man who now writes from the Ohio Penitentiary at Columbus: "Twenty-five years ago the writer when a boy used to be well acquainted with you thru the mail. We both had the same hobby, Postage Stamps. But twenty-five years make a big change. Today you have a nice business and I am in the Penitentiary. Where one goes up the other comes down—that is the law of average, I guess. Mr. Moisant, I am here not for any serious crime, but because of the fact that I trusted another man too far and my company went broke. I was in the drug jobbing business at Van Wert, Ohio, and our company got into financial difficulties thru too rapid expansion and the gutting of it by a couple of unscrupulous salesmen. Too late I found out the condition and it went to the wall with a lot of paper outstanding and that is a felony in this state; so I am here. In other words, I overdrew my bank account. I am married and have as nice a wife as any man could desire. I have been here nine months and am trying to get a pardon for this offense against the peace and dignity of this great state. My record here is of the best. I need all the good letters I can get to the Governor of this state and the Chairman of the Parole and Pardon Board, Columbus, Ohio, asking my early release. I feel sure that you will for old times' recollection do me this favor and write me a good strong letter. * * * * I have a very nice collection of U. S. and British colonies." The letter is signed, Chas. Adams, Box 511, Serial No. 51118, and is submitted here without prejudice. It is possible that a reader here and there will be impressed by the letter sufficiently to seek further particulars regarding its writer.

It is not our intention to dwell upon the subject of philatelic criminalogy, but an old-timer who remembers John R. Hooper of Canada as a prolific writer for the stamp journals, twenty years or more ago, is still living. Mr. Hooper was tried on the charge of wife-murder and sentenced to be hanged, but subsequently, his sentence was changed to life imprisonment. However, Mr. Hooper's protestations of innocence had a foundation, as we believe that he was pardoned. A hazy recollection of having heard of Mr. Hooper's death is in mind. Incidently, our questioner asks if it would not be a good idea to organize an "old-timers" club, the membership of which would be based on the requirement of at least thirty years' service in philately. The suggestion is all right but we are afraid that the old-timers are not now so keen on organizing stamp societies as they may have been once. They might stand for a reunion some time, but th would shy at the society call.

Mr. E. L. Stuart of Chicago is a vau ville artist, and recently he was given a friend, a booking-agent aware of M Stuart's stamp proclivities, a packet stamps that the agent had picked up the White Sox baseball park in Chica at the game the day before. The stam in the packet are mostly Australian a each one has the catalogue number back. It is needless to say that M Stuart wishes to return the stamps the owner, who, should he come for as the successful claimant, must adn

Buys and Sells Fine Old Postage Stamps, Issues Before 1880 Only

I now have (priced very moderate considering the copies) on sale, a large number of 20-page books to go in registered letters, of early issues of Canada, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. I have separate books of those of Unused, Used and stamps on covers.

I have nearly 1000 covers of North American Colonies.

I can also offer collectors fine approval books of old issues of the following good, sound groups to collect:

Confederate States—General issues, unused, used and on covers; a fine stock with many varieties of postmarks, die and paper.
Mexico—A superb lot up to 1872, many on covers, rare District names and fine bisections.
Chili—The finest stock in America. First type only, several hundred on covers.
Colombia and States—A superb lot of early issues unused and postmarked only. No penstroked.
Argentine and Uruguay—A fair lot of early issues.
France—Very fine lot with rare tête-bêche, and fine lot of rarest types of postmarks.
French Colonies—Some fine early issues.
Shanghai—Superb lot of the scarce first issues.
Australians—Some nice books of Fiji, New Zealand, South Australia, Tasmania and Queensland.
Afghans—Choice copies of early issues, no rubbishy clipped or cut postmark copies, but perfect copies with full margins.
Greece—Nice lot of first type only.

From Mr. C. F. Richards of New York, we have received a picture clipped from the rotogravure supplement of the New York Times of May 6th, with the following descriptive text: "For the New 20-Cent Postage Stamp: The Golden Gate and San Francisco Bay, With a Clipper Ship Standing Out Into the Pacific, From a Painting by W. A. Coulter of Sausalito, Cal., Approved by Postmaster General New for the New Issue." Mr. Richards sent, as well, the clipping from the New York Times describing the national exhibit, under the custody of W. Irving Glover, third assistant postmaster general, who sailed on the Homeric. It is with great pleasure that we learn that Mr. Glover will be the official representative of our government at the exhibition in London and that he will attend the dinner to be given by the Junior Philatelic Society at London on May 17th. Too, the fact that Senator Frelinghuysen will exhibit some of his United States is good news. We commend the Times for its intelligent and liberal treatment of philately in its interesting columns; and we are sure that philatelists are not forgetful of their newspaper friends.

EARLY LOW VALUES SPECIALIZED.

By Warner Bates,
152 Lisbon Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Answering to the call for material there comes a letter from F. O. Selianoff, No. 614 Pine Street, San Francisco, Calif., that is so interesting it is worthy of printing entire. Mr. Selianoff says:

"It is with pleasure I see you have started the ball rolling by giving publicity to a cause that is a delight to many collectors of United States stamps. Seeing the remark by Mr. Wylie to address you in this matter, I am sending a few introductory remarks in the interest of postal markings.

Being by nature a collector, my mind first turned to books, then old coins, stamps and cancellations. The last named has been to me very fascinating and I intend to spend the rest of my life in the study of cancellations of which I have at present about 50,000 varieties.

To my knowledge, the collecting of cancellations has been going on for a long time in a primitive form by a certain few collectors, the cause being in most cases through the many curious and interesting designs used by various Post Masters throughout the United States from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and it seems to me that the biggest share of the most uncommon falls to the New England states and California. For instance, the New Meriden, Conn. (The Devil, as he is pictured, with horns, tail, cloven foot and poker, all in a circle on the 3-cent 1861.) The Waterbury, Putnam, etc., most collectors know. Dogshead, Wayland Station, N. Y., Kicking Mule, P. T. Wash., Goleta and Forresttown, Calif., Lady's Shoe, West Berkeley, Calif., Rosebud, from Santa Rosa, Calif., Fish, from Dixon, Calif., Indian Chief, Tecumseh, from Tecumseh, Nebraska, Wildcat, Pomona, Calif., Horse's Head from Knoxville, Tenn., Cat on the Fence. I have two. Post Offices not known. Flag and Union, Healdsburg, Calif. Uncle Sam's Hat, don't show the color, in fact, too many to mention. It seems that the commercialized contingent in Philately has for some reason or other never looked favorably to this collecting until lately when the sentiment steadily grew in its favor, and I must say the love for and collecting of cancellations is burning strong, that dampness and speculative powers will not be able to check.

The majority of collectors have yet to learn to see the importance in knowing something worth knowing. As I stated before, most collecting has been done by curiosity without any further interest or attempt to find out the historical part connected with those markings. Since the Scott Stamp and Coin Co. favored us with a special catalogue of United States stamps and to some part connecting, so far as to let us know that white is white, and black is black, we have arrived at a good start, even if it is a baby in the cradle, a little more interest has been given to this subject, one more step added as to the definition of the real objects we are seeking.

I hope that the near future will give us plenty of enlightenment and explanatory data about real cancellations. I mean those that were used 90% on the cheaper stamps on which there has been very little information concerning cancelling, etc.

In my next letter I will try to give you a check list of all different cancellations I have in my collection, although I feel that some one of the old collectors who has been gathering in for years should have the favor in this matter and not a novice like myself, and I must confess this is really the first letter on any subject I ever wrote in my life."

Although Mr. Selianoff says that the collecting of cancellations on U. S. stamps has been confined to a certain few collectors, it is my belief that this sort of specialization is far more general than is generally suspected. Going through a list of A. P. S. members, one can easily pick out a hundred or more collectors who are designated as collecting cancellations or specializing in U. S. But I have found many not so designated who follow the pastime to a greater or less degree and besides I am in correspondence with many others outside the A. P. S. New York stamp dealers will bear witness to the fact that there are a great number of cancellation collectors and specialists in that city alone.

I think when Mr. Selianoff says in his last paragraph that this is the first article on any subject he has ever written, it gives good proof of the value of this Department. Undoubtedly there are many collectors who have stores of knowledge that will help others who will contribute to a department like this but would never have thought of writing a special article for a stamp paper.

THE ECONOMIST PURCHASE.

The advertisement of the Economist Stamp Co. elsewhere in this issue is of more than ordinary importance. It marks the passing of the G. Fred Ralph collections, one of the notable collections of U. S. stamps. All lovers of the issues of our own country will be especially interested in noting the list of rarities which constitute only a part of the important items that are offered in this collection.

AMERICAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE

1c BOOKLET.

When the A. E. F. embarked for France, the Post Office Department arranged that 1c and 2c stamps be furnished in booklet form rather than sheets, so that the army as it advanced could readily carry its supply of stamps in the inside pocket of the proper authority. This means that booklets of ten pages, each consisting of thirty stamps, were furnished. These have always been in demand and are a real souvenir of the Great Conflict. I can furnish a fine mint pane of thirty of the 1c with margin at $3.00. This is listed in the Scott Specialized Catalogue at $7.50 and is no doubt worth it.

I would like to purchase a few of the 2c which catalogue at $50.00 and will pay a substantial price for them.

United States.—Through the courtesy of Mr. L. A. Hill, Director of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, I am able to bring our list of plate numbers up to May 7, 1923. One hundred and eighteen new numbers for plates have been assigned since the last report.

14602-14605	5c	Ord.	1922	400
14606-14609	10c	Ord.	1922	400

It will be noted on the above list that there is included the first plates of the recently issued new denominations, namely the 7c, 8c, 14c and 20c. An extra plate for the 14c was made which means it is possible that something happened to one of the others, for these plates are usually made in lots of four in the case of the flat plates or multiples of four, and two or multiples of two in the case of the curved plates for the rotary presses. The dies for the new series have all been completed so that we have seen the last plates of the Washington-Franklin design which ran from 1908 to 1923, a period of fifteen years.

Mr. Charles Mueller submits for inspection a half-cent black cigarette tax stamp, issued by the State of Iowa. We listed some months back the 1c, 1½c and 2c of the same design. This is the second series of these stamps gotten out by this state.

Austria.—Mr. E. L. Southwick sends us the following from a weekly Esperanto paper published in Horrem, Germany:—

The Austrian Charity stamps for the present year will be issued in the second half of May. The series will consist of 9 values: 100, 120, 160, 180, 200, 240, 400, 600, 1000 kron. The official price will be six times the face value, for the complete series 18000 kron. They will be valid only during four weeks. The stamps will show pictures of landscapes in the principal cities. Direct orders from foreign countries will not be accepted.

Gold Coast.—The 1½d is being printed in red, on Script paper, from Plate 10. Postage Due labels are on order, comprising the values of 1d, 2d and 3d in black, on white Script paper.—Stamp Collecting.

Hong-Kong.—Supplies have been sent to China of the following, all Plate I:—

1c brown, Script wmk.
4c red, Script wmk.
10c blue, Script wmk.
20c purple and sage-green, Script wmk.
25c purple and brilliant rose, Script wmk.
50c black on emerald, Old wmk.
$1 purple and blue on blue, Script wmk.
$10 purple and black on red, Old wmk.
—Stamp Collecting.

Iraq.—On official authority we are now able to give the respective colours of the impending pictorial stamps (both ordinary and Service sets) in definitive types, of which particulars have already appeared in these columns:—

½a sage-green.
1a brown.
1½a red.
2a buff.
3a blue.
4a grey.
6a green.
8a yellow.
1r brown and green.
2r black.
5r orange.

All Script CA, from a single working plate (except the 1 rupee).—Stamp Collecting.

New Britain.—The 4d blue Australian stamps overprinted "N. W. Pacific Islands" were issued in so limited a number that we have only been able to obtain a very few, less than ten per cent. of the number required for our new issue service. No further supplies are available, as the stock on hand of the 4d violet is sufficient to last until the permanent stamps are issued.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

Poland.—Mr. J. Almar advises that he has just received the 1000 marks orange, in the type of Scott's A31.

Russia.—We have been informed that Mr. J. Almar has a copy of the No. 157, TRANS-JORDANIA.—As we foreshadowed last month, all the Palestine stamps overprinted for Trans-Jordania have been withdrawn from use and replaced by stamps of the Hedjaz overprinted with an Arabic inscription in three lines, a translation of which we have not yet received. The following is a list of values issued, ⅛, ½, 1, 1½, 2, 3 and 5 piastres, also ¼ on ⅛ and 10 on 5 piastres. The two latter have the values surcharged in heavy Arabic characters super-imposed over the other overprints. Supplies are on order and we hope to quote them next month. The information we gave last month as to the places of overprinting was incorrect, it now transpires that the second and third issues were surcharged by means of hand-stamps, and the fourth issue machine printed by the local Government press, all at Amman and not at El Salt or Jerusalem.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

TURKEY.—The 50 piastres stamp of the Kemalist issue exists in two distinct types. In type I the inscription in Turkish at the top signifies "Ottoman Posts" and in the corners the word "piastres" is below the figues of value; in type II the inscription reads "Turkia postalari" (Turkish Posts) and the word "piastres" is above the figures of value.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Bright & Son, 164 Strand, London, England, have just sent us a review copy of their 1923 descriptive priced catalog of foreign countries, (omitting European). This book is fully up to the standard of its predecessors and presents a handsome appearance. The lists have been considerably revised and special attention is called to the re-arrangement and simplification of the middle issues of Persia. The local posts for Morocco is a section that has been re-written and this contribution to the catalog is worthy of attention as the supervision was largely under the Consular Offices. The firm frankly states that no profit is made upon this catalog, and this is self-evident when the fine stock and plentiful illustrations are considered. Price, 3sh. 6d., postfree.

HISTORY FROM POSTAGE STAMPS.

By CHARLES G. WILSON.

The stamps of the German cities of Lubeck, Hamburg and Bremen are relics of the Hanseatic League.

The Hanseatic League was a confederation of so-called "Imperial Cities" which had through the riches gained by commerce and manufacturing freed themselves by bribery or force from the feudal lords. During the 15th century Germany was divided among lawless nobles who warred constantly upon one another and who made commerce and travel dangerous by enriching themselves by plundering the helpless merchants and travelers.

The "Imperial Cities" having grown into turbulent little republics governing themselves as they pleased, united in powerful leagues to defend their rights against the neighboring princes. These cities were an important factor in the development of Europe as they were the centers not only of trade and industry but culture and art. And the freedom they demanded and obtained had much to do with the development of a free nation.

The Hanseatic League was the most famous of these unions of "Imperial Cities." At one time it numbered more than ninety cities among its members and it was strong enough to wage war against foreign countries. The Hanseatic merchants were so successful that the merchants of other lands strove earnestly for the same success; and as the different cities and countries became rich enough and powerful enough to manage their own trade, the League weakened and came to an end.

The free cities of Bremen and Hamburg were the last to yield, but in 1888 these two gave up their independence and joined the German Empire.

OLD THINGS RE-STATED.

¶Unless you name the stamps definitely, no better discount rate than 50% can be used in your ad copy.

¶Mixtures are tabooed. Variety packets are allowed. "30 varieties cat. $3.00, for 50c" etc., is O. K. if you stand ready to submit a sample.

¶Copy must be in Wed. to use one week from the next Saturday.

¶On changes of address, forget the return one until you have finished your vacation.

¶It costs about 5c every time we change a name plate. Ought we to bear this expense twice?

¶Write your ad copy in ink, legibly. Don't use a street railway transfer slip or a visiting card.

¶If bills are not paid by the 20th, advertising will be discontinued in the first issue of the following month.

¶Write your ad. copy all by itself and add your name and address.

MANAGING EDITOR.

What's In a Name—(Ours We Mean)

Tell us and perhaps you'll win a substantial prize!

The West Coast Hobby House asks you how many words found on POSTAGE stamps listed in Scott's Catalogue for 1923 can be spelled with the letters found in the words:

West Coast Hobby House.

The contest is open now. It closes June 30, 1923. The winners will be named in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. You may use any letter as many times as it appears in spelling any words on your list. For each correct word contestants will be credited with five points, but each word erroneously listed will deduct ten points from the score. The seven highest scores will win and winners will select stamps from our famous "TRAVELING SALESMEN" as follows:

THE PRIZES!

1st Prize, for the highest score	$10.00
2nd Prize, for the next highest score	7.00
3rd Prize, for the next highest score	5.00
4th, 5th, 6th & 7th Prizes each	2.00

The winners will receive the full value of their prize money in net, not catalogue values. In case of ties, the prize will be divided — but we are not expecting ties. "There's a Reason."

CONDITIONS

1—Each old or new Mail Order customer or applicant for "Traveling Salesmen" approval booklets who sends a sound reference or society number may compete. Even purchase of a packet of Hobby Hinges at 15c, or splendid Hobby Tongs at 35, 50 or 75c will make you eligible, but be sure to let us know by letter that you are in the race.
2—The period at the end of the four words counts as a letter. You'll need it in listing abbreviations found on stamps, for they count as words. But the same word can be used but once in the list.
3—Postmarks do not count. Overprints and surcharges do.
4—Prepare your list this way, devoting a line to each word:
"Cuba", found on Cuba No. 158.
"Cote", found on Ivory Coast No. 2.
"C.", abbreviation for centavo, found on Cuba No. 414.
"Tohi", found on Tonga No. 38.

HERE'S A GOOD TIP.

Get comfortable, with your stamp album before you, and go to it. It will be real fun and, incidentally, you'll learn a lot about stamps you didn't know before. First qualify, or, if already on our books, just notify us you are in the race. One more thing you will learn is that THE WEST COAST HOBBY HOUSE is worthy of your patronage. Why not try us out? Here are just a few

THE PRECANCEL DEPARTMENT.

Edited by FREDERICK W. ALLEN, 521 So. 4 St., Grand Forks, N. D.

Notes on the New Issue.—New precancels on any but the 2, 5, 10 and 25 cent stamps are very scarce, as yet. Chicago ranks as the only city to have precanceled the new 1 cent at the time of this writing (May 10th). However, numerous cities are using the aforesaid four denominations of the new series. Clearfield, Pa., Cleveland, O., Lincoln, Nebr., Des Moines, Ia., Detroit, Mich., Louisville, Ky., St. Louis, Mo., Springfield, Ill., and Minneapolis, Minn., come on the 2 cent. Wooster, O., and San Francisco are the latest to have been noted on the Roosevelt stamp. Atlantic City, N. J., Connersville, Ind., Des Moines, Ia., Omaha, Nebr., Troy, N. Y., and numerous others are appearing on the 10 cent. Finally on the handsome 25 cent we find the evidence that Ashville, N. C., Cedar Rapids, Ia., Harrisburg, Pa., and Tampa, Fla., have begun to use them. Probably the most desirable precancel of this value will be Niagara Falls, N. Y. As Niagara Falls is a user of many precancels there ought to be plenty for everybody.

Bloomington, Ill.—Bushnell does not list any inverts from Bloomington so they must be rare. Mr. Chas. Metz sends in a fine pair of 6 cents precanceled with the U-3 electro.

Cleveland, Tenn.—These are becoming more plentiful, but are very good property. Mr. L. L. Batchelder informs me that Cleveland began to precancel in Dec., 1922. At present four firms are using them, two of which are large nurseries each having an extensive mail-order business. All values up to the 50 cents have been reported except the 9, 11, and 13. Also the 2c inverted.

Columbus, Ga.—This office precanceled, last month, its remaining stock of the 3c Victory issue. In view of the fact that few have reached the hands of collectors, they should be quite valuable.

Muskegon, Mich. — Muskegon has finally stepped into the fold, according to Mr. C. L. Gabel. Mr. Gabel sends a clipping from the Muskegon paper which states: "An electro-plate, for precanceling stamps to be used by several local manufacturing firms, has been received at the post-office." The type is not mentioned but my guess is that it will be U-18. Watch for Muskegon precancels and see if I am right. Anything on the current issue will be good property in view of the new series being out.

New Albany, Ind.—Mr. Chas. H. Hermann submits copies of the 7, 8, 15 and 30 cents precanceled with the U-3 handstamp. He also mentions that the 50 cents is out with the cancellation inverted. This office has been using precancels for several years and employs an electr plate in conjunction with the hand-stan

Newark, N. J.—An inverted precan from this Jersey City, is really ra Bushnell lists only the one cent cancel thus, but Mr. Chas. Metz goes him o better in reporting a fine pair of the cents inverted.

Princeton, Mo.—Many Missouri tow have been listed during the past f months, as new comers in the precan field. Princeton is the latest which h come to my attention. Mr. Metz chro cles the 7 cent, but fails to state the ty

PARTLY FILLED APPROVAL BOOKS.

I call attention to the following lots of partly filled Approval Books. They were imported some time ago, and contain little or no New Europe, but there are many useful stamps, both 19th and 20th, used and unused. The stamps are in good condition, and fine for the approval trade, as well as for counter trade. I have sold many books, and they give satisfaction. Each book contains from a few stamps up to 200 or more. Of course there are some very cheap stamps, and some bar cancelled, etc. Send best bids.

Note—All lots in this sale are carefully described and the unused stamps are nearly all O. G. mint.

Send your best bids, and remember that I carry, I presume, the largest variety of stamps at wholesale in the U. S., including many desirable items. I fill want lists. In my Auctions, I dispose of my own goods, and do not solicit Auction lots from others. Have more than we can attend to of our own.

Yours sincerely,

J. E. HANDSHAW

79 Nassau St., New York

P. S.—If you do not own a copy of "Looking Backward", better order it today. Be wise.

READ MY LIFE STORY CONDENSED
"LOOKING BACKWARD" or "Fragments From a Checkered Life."

Fresh from the press, and of interest particularly to stamp dealers and stamp collectors. Read it and you will learn why I became interested in stamps and became a stamp dealer way back in the seventies. How I bought big lots of old U. S. and other stamps, and how eventually I became the sole owner of the J. W. Scott Co., Inc. You will learn about my ocean voyages, also about the little paper I published more than 45 years ago at Smithtown Branch, N. Y. Then I sold 1847, 5c U. S. stamps at 10 cts. each. The book tells of my early struggle, and of my later successes.

The book is nicely printed on fine paper, and is well and nicely bound. Contains over 325 pages and more than 40 fine engravings from original photographs, including two of Mr. Scott, as well as one or more of the writer. The book has cost a large sum, and the edition is limited.

Prices prepaid, Imitation leather, 2 colors ....$3.00; Cloth $2.25

A large illustrated circular describing the book more fully sent on request.

All profits will be given to the Church, Temperance and Charity. Address, the U-18 electro. As Rochester uses a quantity of this value they would not be scarce if it was not for the new issue.

J. E. HANDSHAW, 79 Nassau St., NEW YORK

THE PRECANCEL DEPARTMENT.

St. Paul, Minn.—Speaking of the dollar value, reminds me that St. Paul precanceled dollar stamps have heretofore always come inverted. Today I secured four copies of the normal cancellation, and sad to say they are all initialed.

Spring Grove, Minn.—Mr. H. S. Wheeler reports the 3 cent Victory issue from here, in both normal, and reading down positions. The red ink of the cancellation makes a striking appearance. Needless to say, they are very rare and I may add that they are entirely free from speculative taint.

Warren, R. I.—Another new town which uses handstamped precancels similar to U-3. Anything from Rhode Island outside of Pawtucket and Providence is very hard to pick up.

Stamp collectors who have never taken an interest in precanceled stamps will be surprised at the beautiful appearance of a systematic array of these popular stamps. When collected with care for condition and tastefully mounted in a good blank album they are not only beautiful to the philatelist, and interesting to the non-philatelist, but the mode of arrangement reflects certain characteristics of the owner. The collecting of cancellations on the early issues of our country has gained much headway and there are hundreds of collectors devoted to this side line. But the field has been pretty well combed and one has to pay stiff prices for the unusual items. Precanceled stamps fairly bristle with striking items and there is so much lee way in regard to specialization in them that one can make a fine showing along certain lines with but a limited expenditure. Now is the time to get into the field, and form a collection of this most prominent U. S. sideline. As an investment, it is sound if one's good judgment is allowed free play.

Fellow collectors. Any of you who desire information regarding the U-types, precancel catalogues, precancel societies, and in fact anything connected with this branch, need only to write to me, for my services are yours without charge. Notes of interest are cordially welcomed and acknowledged.

GERMANS PUT RESISTANCE STAMPS ON SALE IN PARIS

Paris, May 7—The prefecture of police today forbade the sale of "Rhein Ruhr Hilfe" stamps which agents of the German government had the audacity to put on sale in the French capital. A number of stamps were seized and the Judiciary police are actively seeking the persons who introduced them into France. The object of the stamp as indicated by the name is to raise funds for resistance of the French occupation. Collectors in Paris declare that the philately is international, but French officials take the point of view that if collectors are unable to restrain their ardor when it is detrimental to France they must be restrained.

HONORS TO U. S. PHILATELISTS.

London Exhibition a Distinguished Success and Many Prize Awards Find Their Way Here.

No Fewer Than Seventeen Medals Won by U. S. Exhibits In Competition With the World Including Six Out of Ten In the Three Championship Classes.

By ERNEST R. ACKERMAN.
(Cable dispatch to the WEEKLY.)

LONDON, May 22—The exhibition has been a fine success. There were 50,000 visitors the first week, among the interested spectators present being King George and the Swedish Crown Prince. Seventeen medals were won by American exhibitors. The Victoria exhibit of Charles Lathrop Pack won the grand gold championship medal in Section 1. Arthur Hind won medals in all three of the sections: a gold in Section 1 on Mauritius, a special grand gold in section 2 on Spain and a grand gold in Section 3 on United States. Alfred Lichtenstein was given a gold medal in Section 2 for Switzerland. In the ten awards made in the championship classes six go to the United States.

Awards to the U. S. were as follows:

Rarities, Grand Gold, Arthur Hind.
Canada, Gold, Alfred Lichtenstein.
New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, Gold, Alfred F. Lichtenstein.
U. S. 5c, 10c, 1847, Special Gold Medal, Hon. E. R. Ackerman.
Confederate States. Special Gold, E. S. Knapp.
New Orleans 5c, Silver, E. S. Knapp.
New Zealand, Silver, Arthur Newton Pack.
Greece, Silver, J. A. Klemann.
Uruguay, Silver, Chas. L. Pack.
Victoria Book, Gold, Chas. L. Pack.
Scott's Monthly Journal, Bronze.

Arthur Hind's 1c British Guiana was the cynosure of all eyes. The exhibits of Senator Frelinghuysen, Dr. Carroll Chase and also that of the United States Government received much favorable attention.

John N. Luff of N. Y. C. was one of the judges.

THE EVERLASTING CABOTS, 1897-1923.

By Harry E. Huber.

In no other British Colony have stamps intended primarily as commemoratives remained in use so long as those of the Cabot series, issued by Newfoundland on June 24, 1897, to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the discovery of the island by John Cabot.

Fourteen values comprised the series, each in a different design, and inscribed "Newfoundland," "Postage," and the dates "1497-1897." Issued in the year when the whole British Empire was celebrating the 60th anniversary of Queen Victoria's reign, much comment was occasioned by the fact that only one value, and that the lowest, 1c, featured "Our Queen, Sixtieth Year of Her Reign," while Canada's Diamond Jubilee series, issued in the same month, pictured her on all 16 values (½c to $5). On the 2c appears Sebastian Cabot (no portrait exists of John Cabot), lettered simply "Cabot, Him That Found the New Isle," and on the 60c, Henry VII "Who Granted a Charter to Cabot to Discover New Lands." "Cabot's ship, the Matthew, leaving the Avon" is shown on the 10c, and his landfall "Cape Bonavista," on the 3c. Four values depict the "Colony's Resources:" 5c, "Mining;" 6c, "Logging;" 8c, "Fishing;" and 15c, "Seals," and "Newfoundland Sport" is advertised on the 4c (Caribou Hunting); 12c, (Ptarmigan), and 24c, (Salmon Fishing). "The Seal of the Colony, Fishermen Bringing Gifts to Britannia" finds a place on the 30c, and on the 35c, "Coast Scenery," in the form of "An Iceberg off St. John's."

The following quantities of these stamps were printed, after which the dies, rolls and plates were destroyed (June 23, 1897); for sake of comparison, the figures for Canada's Diamond Jubilee series are given also.

The 1c was the first value to exhaust, in late September, 1897, necessitating the surcharge, "One Cent" on the 3c Queen Victoria, gray lilac, of the 1890 series. The 2c Cabot followed in November, 1899, soon after issue of the following notice:

"Notice is hereby given that on the 2nd day of January, 1900, all obsolete postage stamps will be destroyed, and that after that date the only stamps that will be on sale by the Postal Department will be the ½c, 1c, 2c, 3c, 5c, of the Royal issue, and the 4c, 6c, 8c, 10c, 12c, 15c, 24c, 30c, 35c and 60c of the Cabot issue.

J. O. Fraser,
Postmaster General.
G.P.O., St. John's, Newfoundland.
7th November, 1899."

When the Cabot series was issued June 24, 1897, stamps of all previous series were recalled to St. John's, and these, with remainders of the 3c (2658) and 5c (11342) Cabot stamps were first defaced, and then burned on January 3rd and 4th, 1900.

The 1c carmine (Queen Victoria), and the 2c orange (King Edward VII, then Prince of Wales), of the Royal series were issued in December, 1897, and in June and July of the following year, were changed to green and vermilion, respectively. The 3c orange (Queen Alexandra, then Princess of Wales) followed in July, 1898, and in the next month, August, the ½c olive green (Prince Edward of Wales) appeared. The 5c blue (Duke of York, now King George V) was issued in June, 1899, and two years later, in October, 1901, the series was completed by the addition of the 4c violet (Duchess of York, now Queen Mary). The 2c rose carmine, in the Map design, appeared in September, 1908.

Previous to 1897, the highest value stamps issued by the Colony were 1s (sterling), and 24c (decimal currency). While the Cabot series with a face value of $2.15, did not go to the high values of Canada's Diamond Jubilee series (face value $16.20½), it did include such values as 30c, 35c and 60c for which there must have been little or no postal demand, in the light of later years. From the table above it will be noted that for Newfoundland's quarter million inhabitants the higher values were printed in quantities equaling, if not exceeding, those for Canada's five million population. In the printing of such large quantities of the higher values, the authorities seem to have expected a greater demand from the collecting clientele than was actually made, for on February 1, 1910, H. J. B. Woods, the Postmaster General, commenting on the suggestion that commemorative stamps be issued in connection with the Guy Tercentenary celebrations, wrote "There can be no objection to such an issue, if confined to stamps of the smaller denominations, as they are always in demand for postage, even if there should be but a limited demand from stamp collectors, which of late seems to be falling off."

The Guy series of 11 values was issued in lithographed form on August 15, 1910, with 15c as its highest value. Those above 5c quickly exhausted, and in January and February, 1911, the 6c to 15c appeared in engraved form. They too, as well as the Coronation series (1c to 15c) issued June 19, 1911, were requisitioned in such small quantities (perhaps more in keeping with actual postal demands) that by the end of 1911 only the five lower values remained.

For almost 22 years (1897-1919), except for brief periods in 1910 and 1911, the 6c to 60c of the Cabot series, were the only high value stamps available. The 4c Cabot exhausted in 1916, and the 10c in April, 1918.

On January 2nd, 1919, the Caribou series was issued, and this included, in addition to the five lower values, 6c, 8c, 10c, 12c, 15c, 24c and 36c.

In June, 1919, 10,000 of the 15c Cabot were overprinted "Trans-Atlantic AIR POST, 1919. ONE DOLLAR," for use on the Vickers-Vimy and Handley-Page air mails.

On December 10, 1919, the 6c Caribou, of which 48,400 had been printed, exhausted, and the 8c (50,000 printed), followed in March, 1920. The 6c and 8c Cabot stamps served until they too exhausted—the former in January, and the latter about June, 1922.

In September, 1920, there was a shortage of 1c, 2c and 3c postage stamps of the Caribou series, and as there was no remainder stock of these values to draw upon, it was necessary to resort to surcharging. 50,000 each of the 15c and 35c Cabot stamps were surcharged in black THREE CENTS, and 50,000 of the 30c Cabot were reduced to TWO CENTS.

Many times inventory had been taken of the Cabot remainders, preparatory to destruction, but the orders were always stayed, and the stamps returned to the vault to be brought forth as emergencies arose. In November, 1920, orders were given to burn the remainders of the 24c, 30c, 35c and 60c, after first defacing them. For defacement, the "St. John's, N. F." cancellation, with the date "NOV.—26—1920," in three lines in the center, was applied in red, once to each block of four. Only $175 face value had been defaced when the order was countermanded. The lot of defaced stamps was sold later to a collector in St. John's for 10% below face.

In December, 1921, and January, 1922, attempts were made to fly from Botwood, Newfoundland, to Halifax, Nova Scotia, and for this air mail, which was limited to 5000 pieces, a special stamp was prepared, about the middle of November, by overprinting 5000 of the 35c Cabot, "Air Mail to Halifax, N. S., 1921." Later in the month, the balance of the remainder stock of this value (9000), was similarly overprinted. So disappeared another value.

The 12c and 15c Caribou stamps exhausted on November 9, 1920, and February 13, 1921, respectively. Their places were taken by these values in the Cabot series. On May 27, 1922, there were in stock 2450 12c and 4900 15c Cabots.

The 12c, 15c, 24c, 30c and 60c of the Cabot series were still available at the beginning of February, 1923.

The stamps of this series are considerably over-priced in the catalogues, especially the higher values, which are still current, and to be had at face value.

June 24, 1897.—Cabot series, commemorating the 400th anniversary of the discovery of the island. Engraved and printed by American Bank Note Co. of N. Y., on white wove paper, unwatermarked. Perf. single line 12.

CONTINENTAL JOTTINGS.

By Lowell J. Ragatz.

Mr. Herant Mozian, brother of Vahan Mozian the New York dealer, is a resident of Neuilly-sur-Seine, just beyond the Neuilly gate to Paris. The Mozian brothers were formerly inhabitants of Armenia, and Vahan Mozian was at one time a French teacher there. Following an outbreak of Turkish atrocities in his native country, he went to America and entered the postage stamp business under the trade name, Ararat Stamp Company. I well remember having bought sets of him at that time. Later, after his business had expanded, he commenced dealing under his own name and more recently still organized Vahan Mozian, Incorporated, with himself as head. His large, well-lighted office in the heart of the theatrical district and his comprehensive stock are familiar to most New York and visiting collectors.

His brother Herant entered the French army and served as an officer for many years. Since his retirement a short time ago he has been in the diamond business.

A sister of Felix Cohen the Alexandria dealer lives in Paris. Her husband was formerly consul-general in Argentina. Mr. Cohen was in Paris on a visit a year ago. At the same time he disposed of a choice lot of near-East rarities. Rumor has it that he intends to open a stamp shop in Spain.

While in Louvain recently, I visited the Belgian Congo Museum housed in one of the new university buildings. A complete set of Congo stamps and postal stationery is on display. A large chart shows the two air service routes now in operation, the one running from Boma to Elizabethville and the other from Boma to Stanleyville.

The Commercial Fair and International Historical Congress, both held in Brussels, resulted in my staying in the capital city for a week. During that time I had the opportunity to visit the principal stamp shop. First and foremost for American collectors is, of course, the house of Gelli and Tani, Incorporated. Their office is located on the Rue du Marché aux Herbes. The specialty of this company is auctions of rare stamps and the retailing of classics. Their superbly illustrated catalogues and price-lists have no equals in America. They have used the Weekly as an advertising medium for several years, and have built up a large American clientele. It was my privilege to look over a sale lot which has since been disposed of. Old Europeans in perfect condition comprised the bulk of the goods offered. The company has extensive British connections. Their stock consists rather largely of 19th century.

The Excelsior Stamp Office on the Boulevard Anspach has an average stock. Lloyd Philatelique on the Rue Royale, one of the main streets of the city leading towards the banking section and the government buildings, occupy a new ground floor shop. They have good holdings of modern issues. R. Martens and Alfred Grand Jean on the Rue du Midi and the Avenue du Midi respectively, have roomy ground-floor offices with popular stocks. Scores of stationery shops carry packets and sou and two sou approvals supplied by the stamp houses.

The most popular set in Belgium seems to be the "casque" series. All stamp houses feature them used, unused, on philatelically used covers with ordinary and special cancellations. The Eupen and Malmedy sets in similar shape run close behind. Large lots of Russian Levant on made to order Registered covers, huge lots of German occupation stamps cancelled in sheets, cancelled to order Turkish Capitulation sets, similar Fiume issues and Obock and Macao made to order splits on neat bits of cover were some of the weeds noticed. Most fearful and wonderful of all was a piece of wrapping paper 2 feet by 3 covered with 217 varieties of Austria all neatly cancelled and accompanied by a Registration label.

I had intended to stop in Luxemburg, but passport difficulties prevented. As the train stopped for a considerable time, however, I managed to get a complete set of stamps available via messenger. I was surprised to find that the 10 franc pictorial, recently issued in green in sheets of one had been placed on sale in black, in regular sheet form. A second trip on the messenger's part brought the information that "the American" could have 5 of the 10 franc green, but at 12 francs each. But when the boy went for a third time he came back with the 20 copies of the 10 franc green I had sent money for. So there seemed to be a few more available. I had no trouble in securing 500 each of the 5c on 1c and 5c on 4c provisionals at face.

I found no stamp shop in Strassburg. Packets and sets of German origin could, however, be secured in most of the cigar shops. There was nothing above the boy collector grade available.

The Sample Fair at Basle took much of my time there, but I did not neglect stamps. I located two dealers, H. Schlageter and "Volker," the latter being a trade name. Both have the ordinary dealer's goods with a few good items from every country. Early Europe bring big prices, but such American imperforates as are offered can be secured at half Scott's. The European issues are generally priced by Zumstein's catalogue.

The Jenzer Company of Bern have the novelty slot machines monopoly for Swiss post-offices. One finds their machines vending post-cards, letter-sheets, pencil sharpeners and the like throughout Switzerland. One slot is always reserved for an assortment of stamp packets. These are made up to catch the 20 centimes of the boy collector, and a lot seldom catalogues as much.

SALE EAGLE COLLECTION — SECTION 3.

By J. Murray Bartels.

The second Eagle Sale held by J. C. Morgenthau & Co., May 15, 16 and 17, began with about 100 lots of early issues followed by the highly specialized 1869 series which alone consisted of 945 lots. Of these a large proportion were Proofs and Essays, which, due to the absence of any catalogue prices or other quotations, sold lower than any other section of the sale. Mail bidders were either very little interested or else at a loss to know what to bid, with the result that about 90% went on the floor, divided between less than a dozen buyers, mostly dealers. For once it was bargain day, at least until the regularly issued stamps of 1869 were reached. Even here the mass of material seemed to have some effect upon the prices. Rare cancellations and in some instances blocks unused or used went high.

A few of the outstanding prices were as follows:

*1c, block of four, o. g.	$ 31.50
*2c, block of twelve, o. g.	36.00
*3c, block of nine	17.00
*3c, mint sheet of 150,	142.50
*6c, block of six, o. g.	95.00
*10c, block of four, o. g.	205.00
*12c, block of nine, o. g.,	95.00
*15c, block of four, o. g.	139.00
24c, used pair	32.50
*24c, without grill, o. g.	63.00
30c, used block of four	32.25
*90c, block of four, off center	345.00
90c, vertical strip of four	215.00
*90c, without grill, o. g., pin hole	60.00
*6c, reissue, block of four, o. g.	64.00
*10c, as last	61.00
*30c, reissue, o. g.	19.50
90c, reissue, used	37.50

We have not quoted the prices realized on the 1869 inverts as the 15 and 30c were listed as defective and the 24c was announced at the sale to be repaired.

The third session consisted largely of Departments and Newspaper Stamps. Prices on the former were very high, especially for blocks which sold largely on the floor. These in numerous cases approached full catalogue or even went above it. It is well known that many of them are exceedingly rare in blocks while others are entirely unknown. We quote the following, all in blocks of four and o. g.:

Agriculture, 1c, $16, 10c, $23, 12c, $39; Executive, 3c (creased and off center), $40.50; Interior, set of 10, $49 (cat. $48.68); Justice 2c, $15.25, 3c, $14.50, 10c, $17, 12c, $12, 30c, $121; Navy, 7c, $70, 10c, $14.75, 12c, $12.50, 15c, $13, 24c, $43, 30c, $30.50, 90c, $100; Post Office, set of 10 (cat. $48.68), $45; State, 12c, $31; Treasury, 24c, $51; War, 1c (cat. $20), $20, 2c, $30.50; Agriculture, 1c, soft paper (issued ungummed), $140.

SPECIMEN sets sold as follows: Agriculture, $16.50; Interior, $35.50; Justice, $25.50; Navy, $31; Post Office, $36; Treasury, $31; State, 1-90c, $18; War, $31.50. These prices were high for the more common sets but low for the Interior, Post Office, Treasury and War. Five errors "SEPCIMEN" brought between $20 and $42.50 each. Confederate States 10c, "Outer Line", two copies $36.50 each.

The total of this session reached $15,088.25, making in all for the seven Morgenthau sessions $53,435.20. The next Eagle sale will consist of Revenues and will be held by Percy G. Doane, May 26 and 28.

Mr. Harold D. Watson, representing the Eagle Estate, informs me that the net amount received from the sale will be fully double the original cost of the stamps, although there was considerable shrinkage in Proofs and Essays, largely purchased at private sale from the Lord Crawford Collection.

In my report on page 261, the second item listed should read: "1893, 2c rare reddish shade, block of 6, $16.50," and "1893 4c blue error, $138" instead of $130.

In regard to hinging stamps the writer has had much to say in the past. It is discouraging to collectors to obtain mint stamps with half a hinge stuck to the back and covering a large proportion of the stamp. No up-to-date collector in these enlightened days bends a hinge in half, but permits only a fraction of it to cover the back of his stamps, some limit themselves to 1/8, others to 1/4.

EDITORIAL.

We have pleasure in announcing that Mr. Edward S. Knapp of New York City, whose studies of Confederate stamps in particular have been one of the features of the WEEKLY has been signally honored by the International Stamp Exhibition, London, May 14th to 26th, 1923. A cablegram has been received from Mr. John N. Luff who informs Mr. Knapp that Mr. Knapp's Confederate States won the gold medal and that his "Specialized 5c New Orleans" was awarded the medal for "the best specialized study of a single stamp denomination in one design, with major and minor varieties." In this single stamp competition, the judges were "requested to disregard altogether the catalogue or market value of the stamp, giving regard to the originality of the study, completeness of the research; and to classification and arrangement." Under these conditions, the winning of the prize is a flattering recognition of philatelic ability as well as a tribute to intelligent persistence. We congratulate Mr. Knapp upon receiving this great honor which gives him a place among the immortals of philately.

For some time past we have been having our attention called to the activities of one Panelli Angelo, Italy, who brazenly offers for sale forgeries or imitations of obsolete stamps. Further, samples of the work produced by Angelo have been submitted and while the facsimiles are not perfect by any means, they are dangerous enough to make their distributor a marked man. It is evident that Angelo does not try to avoid the daylight in offering his wares, which, he is careful to say, are imitations of stamps no longer used; and his effrontery shows that he feels himself secure in plying his business. If some legal method cannot be invoked to put an end to the mistaken enterprise of the man, it is time that changes be made whereby he could be prevented from continuing his work. We have confidence that the stamp trade, which in Europe is strong through organization, can devise some plan to render ineffective the assaults of Angelo on philately. He must be put out of business as the example that he sets is bad; and it is the duty of organized philately to spike his guns.

Here is something new in stamp architecture that will cause the dull eye of the ennuied collector to glisten and the pulse of the sated collector to throb at accelerated speed. South Dakota has a law taxing cigarettes that became effective on May 1, 1923, and the payment of this tax is to be indicated by state tax stamps. According to Boyce's Weekly, "the stamps will show a coyote, sitting on his haunches and with nose pointed skyward, howling. Before the coyote is the head of a buffalo." Hail to this delectable bit of Americana. Iowa's cigarette stamps become trite indeed when compared with South Dakota's articles of faith. This state attains the superlative absolute in philatelic portraiture. For instance, the laugh of the laughing hyena becomes a girlish giggle when contrasted with the full-throated howl of the coyote. America now comes into its own and howls down the animals that have been so freely contributed to the philatelic zoo by the foreigners who are striving for sensation. In the vocalism of the wilds, the coyote is the virtuoso that causes all the other animal operatic stars to forget their jealousies and petty differences when he bursts into glorious song. Then, for good measure, the "head of a buffalo" is thrown in. We are willing to say that the originator of the design of the South Dakota stamps is our favorite stage manager.

The state revenue stamps, which were somewhat numerous during the Civil War period, represented a tax imposed by the different states legislatures that was additional to the national tax imposed at Washington. Some of the designs of the state revenues were original and make an impression on the collector who sees them for the first time. Alabama issued stamps in red and in blue with the arms of the state in the center and the Lousiana lottery tax stamps, showing either square and compass or a pelican feeding its young are distinctive; and the same may be said of the California poll tax $2 revenue with its inscription of "Poll Tax" at top. Latterly, there have been so many issues of special tax stamps by the different states that the collector cannot keep pace with them but we think that the South Dakota stamps will compel attention by reason of their stirring portraiture.

If the person who sent in the passionate protest against the exploitation of what he alleges to be "worthless" stamps of some of the new European countries by a dealer on the other side who details at length the varieties that are to be found in the issues with the idea, he says, of "unloading" them will rewrite his criticism under his own name and base his contention on evidence and not surmise, we may accommodate him with the space that his complaint would require. Many of us remember, in the days when Ferrary was going at top speed, of the tales told by one of our dealers, now deceased, of how a publisher would write up the stamps of a country with all the possible and perhaps impossible varieties, who would then send a collection based upon the article, at fancy prices, to that voracious collector. So much for that; but we do not believe that the dealer named by our correspondent would do anything inimical to the best interests of collectors. We do not intend to allow our columns to be made the vehicle for venting spleen or spite and we object to pulling chestnuts out of the fire for someone else.

SERVICE Most collectors believe that when they send a dealer their "want list" he proceeds to charge them the top price for the items they "want," and that he is very sore if they don't take every stamp he submits. A customer wrote us for a superb copy of Brazil No. 3—within two weeks we sent him a perfect copy with a magenta cancellation at $21.50! He had told us that $30 was his limit. This is but one example of our service. If we know your needs and can make a quick turn-over, we can find some real bargains for you.
We have filled dozens of Newfoundland want lists, we are ready to fill yours—or we will file it and send up to a certain amount each week or month. Whether your check is $1 or $100, whether you want Newfoundland, Belgium, Siam or fine B. C. and European in general, our service is untiring and unfailing. THANK YOU,

THE PHILATELIC AGENCY.

By Frank L. Coes.

(We have also received a letter from A. H. Robinson expressing satisfaction with the manner in which the Agency has filled his orders. We should publish Mr. Robinson's letter but for the fact that it duplicates the endorsement of the Agency contained in this article. He declares that the 7c of the new series is the finest of the entire set.—W. O. W.)

Having absorbed every scrap of information from the current issue that my time will allow, I am going to steal a moment from week end activities and ask you a couple of questions.

In your editorial on page 250, May 12th issue, you make some remarks regarding the condition of stamps sent out by the philatelic agency in Washington.

Has it occurred to you that perhaps the agency was doing the very best it could do under the circumstances?

It is notoriously and obviously a fact which even the kindergarten classes of the philatelic world admit and talk about, that sheet after sheet of every issue can be handled and examined without a selection of "perfectly centered" stamps being possible, and often it is difficult to select a block of four that is passable. I have before me a sheet of the current 2, 3 and 5 cent; and if I measured, as some fussy people do, with a dividers, it would be impossible to select a single stamp from either sheet that had the same margin all around it.

I am told this is the requirement of "perfect centering." True, the design is not cut into on any stamp, but on no one stamp is there a possibility of such an agreement of dimension of margin.

Taking these sheets as a sample of millions of sheets made in a year, why should any collector, rich or poor, expect that Uncle Sam's hired man in the little philatelic shop should carefully look over sheet after sheet and select from each one or two or four or eight "perfectly centered" stamps, and of course send the balance of the sheet that contained "disgraceful copies" back to the printer, or somewhere else to be sold to the non-collecting public. (Or throw them into the scrap basket?) I don't suppose your correspondent ever thought, or cared, what became of the balances of the sheets provided he got his little set all "perfectly centered." It never occurred to him that it is entirely possible that in order to fill a thousand orders for "perfectly centered" stamps the agency might have to remove one stamp from a thousand sheets each being the only "perfect" copy. And of course it is nothing to him who gets the other 99 in each pane or how badly matched the margins on the remainders are.

If the orders received by that agency could be compared it is a safe bet that 99½% of them specify the equivalent of "perfectly centered copies."

Suppose we use your own phrase, and say "acceptable condition" is the required condition. What is that?

The Department is furnishing mint stamps, with full gum, as a favor to collectors. Why should any individual intimate that the clerk should select him along from hundreds and send him first of all the item that is perfectly centered, and send the rest of us the balance of the sheet, "as they come?" Who is this guy? We had supposed that all these people were in the Wisconsin section of the senate, or maybe in a few other contingents from the trans-Mississippi States.

"This here now" agency is supposed to be a public service affair. If your almost too fussy friend and correspondent wants particular service, why should he not pay some dealer in stamps the proper premium for such selection, to be made according to his own special micrometric measurements, as regards the margins, special flavored gum and all the other little fussy details that can be noticed only by those who have enough funds to pay double face for a new issue?

Acceptable condition may mean anything. Mint stamps, with the gum propperly protected, and fairly centered, (just average margins I mean) ought to satisfy anyone. Why encourage collectors in the belief that their little individual order should be filled by this special official with "Absolutely perfectly centered" (stock phrase of trade) copies to the exclusion of every one else, or tell them that their judgment of acceptable condition from this source is perfectly reasonable in the face of the conditions we know the clerk has to meet?

Your quotation from the correspondent's letter started this, and I think you will agree that a criticism like that is wrong.

"The clerk should have known enough."

Believe me the clerk at that agency knows a lot more than the guy that blew his feelings into the air that way.

If this collector was in England, he would be the one who would take his little stamp thru the offices till he got to the P. M. G. and then he would recite the time honored phrases regarding his being a "rate payer, a respected citizen of his village, an ardent supporter of the then acting Government (mebbe this guy is a Democrat), and a relative thrice removed (or more) of the member from Sloppyslough by the Severn (or sump'n) and if he didn't immediately get a "perfectly centered" sample of the penny stamp he carried, he would have the aforesaid member bring it to the notice of the House, etc., etc.

Why not let the gentleman take it up with Mister Harding and his Cabinet and get the P. M. G. a good wigging?

Or else, suggest to Warren that the portfolio should be transferred to him, and then we'd all get our copies of the new issue "perfectly centered." Maybe—

Buys and Sells Fine Old Postage Stamps, Issues Before 1880 Only

I now have (priced very moderate considering the copies) on sale, a large number of 20-page books to go in registered letters, of early issues of Canada, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. I have separate books of those of Unused, Used and stamps on covers.

I have nearly 1000 covers of North American Colonies.

I can also offer collectors fine approval books of old issues of the following good, sound groups to collect:

Confederate States—General issues, unused, used and on covers; a fine stock with many varieties of postmarks, die and paper.
Mexico—A superb lot up to 1872, many on covers, rare District names and fine bisections.
Chili—The finest stock in America. First type only, several hundred on covers.
Colombia and States—A superb lot of early issues unused and postmarked only. No penstroked.
Argentine and Uruguay—A fair lot of early issues.
France—Very fine lot with rare tête-bêche, and fine lot of rarest types of postmarks.
French Colonies—Some fine early issues.
Shanghai—Superb lot of the scarce first issues.
Australians—Some nice books of Fiji, New Zealand, South Australia, Tasmania and Queensland.
Afghans—Choice copies of early issues, no rubbishy clipped or cut postmark copies, but perfect copies with full margins.
Greece—Nice lot of first type only.
German States—A few nice things in all the older issues.
West Indies and British Guiana—Some good books.
United States—A few books worth seeing.

Let me send you a trial lot and see if you don't like my copies and my prices!!

WANTED

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT STAMPS

I desire to purchase mint blocks of the Department stamps, including most of the commoner varieties. I especially desire and will pay good prices for blocks of Executive, Justice, State and Navy, also want sets of the "Specimen" issues.

Will pay top notch prices for anything fine in mint blocks of early U. S. previous to 1890 and want fine blocks of fours of the higher denominations of the later issues. Send what you have on approval at your best net price and you will receive a reply by return mail. In the market at all times for anything fine or unusual in the way of United States postal adhesive stamps.

If you are interested in items such as mentioned above, I would be pleased to have your want list, for I am acquiring from time to time very unusual properties.

While I count among my clients most of the more serious collectors of the country, there are new ones starting every day and I am anxious to take care of their wants.

UNITED STATES.—Now that the new series of 1922-23 United States postage stamps has been completed it may be of interest to list the several denominations together with the dates and places of issue.

1c Franklin, issued January 17, 1923, in Washington and Philadelphia, the latter town having been the home of Franklin for many years, although not his birthplace.

2c Washington, issued on January 15, 1923, in Washington only.

3c Lincoln, issued on February 12, 1923, in Washington and at his birthplace, Hodgenville, Ky. The Third Assistant Postmaster General at this date was on his way South and on the 12th mailed some covers from Atlanta, Georgia.

4c Martha Washington, issued in Washington only on January 15, 1923.

5c Roosevelt, issued on October 27, 1922, at Washington, at his birthplace in New York and at his home, Oyster Bay, N. Y.

6c Garfield, issued in Washington, only on November 20, 1922.

7c McKinley, issued on May 1, 1923, at Washington and at his birthplace, Niles, Ohio.

8c Grant, issued on May 1, 1923, at Washington only.

9c Jefferson, issued on January 15, 1923, at Washington only.

10c Monroe, issued on January 15, 1923, at Washington only.

11c Hayes, issued on October 24, 1922, at Washington and also at his birthplace, Fremont, Ohio.

12c Cleveland, issued on March 20, 1923, at Washington, at Caldwell, N. J., his birthplace and Boston, Mass., where a philatelic exhibition was in progress.

14c American Indian, issued on May 1, 1923, at Washington and also at Muskogee, Okla., the location of the largest Indian Settlement in America.

15c Statue of Liberty, issued on November 11, 1922, in Washington.

20c Golden Gate, issued on May 1, 1923, in Washington and also at San Francisco, Calif.

$2.00 Capitol, issued on March 20, 1923, at Washington.

$5.00 America, issued on March 20, 1923, at Washington.

The 2c coil stamp was also officially issued for the first time at Washington, on January 15, 1923, but the Bureau sent out a supply to other offices, such as Lancaster, New York, St. Louis, etc., where they were placed in use at a previous date. The 1c and 2c imperforated were issued in Washington, on March 20th. All of the above varieties were placed on sale at the Philatelic Stamp Agency in Washington on the first day.

Mr. Charles Metz reports that he has seen the new design 1c stamp from the rotary press, perforated 10x10 precancelled New York. I have listed plates made by the Bureau for this variety, but have not as yet seen it.

At this late date, Mr. R. H. Mason has located a new variety of the 2c on 3c Provisional envelope used by a small bank in Colorado.

The information service of the post-office department sends out a special communication, under date of May 19th, calling attention to the fact that letters should be properly addressed and that both street and number should be given where possible. Postmaster General New mentions that probably every Postmaster General since Franklin has called the Public's attention to the same fact, but that he feels that if these precautions are properly followed the Department will save thousands of dollars now made necessary in maintaining a Dead Letter Office, the still more costly Directory Service.

ARGENTINE.—The Economist Stamp Co. have advised us that the 4c red violet has been issued on R A watermarked paper.

CHINA.—Several correspondents call attention to the fact that the new 4 cents grey and 15 cents blue, issued January 2nd last, are from re-engraved dies, the differences being as follows:—

Junk Type.—Most of the "white caps" in front of the junk have been removed and the water made darker. The shading lines have been removed from the arabesques and pearls above the top inscription. The inner shadings at the top and sides of the picture have been cut away.

Temple Type.—The heads of rice in the side panels have a background of crossed lines instead of horizontal lines. The Temple of Heaven is strongly shaded and has a door. There are rows of pearls below the Chinese characters in the upper corners. The arabesques above the top inscription have been altered and are without shading lines. —Stamp Collecting.

EGYPT.—Our chronicle of the new 5m portrait stamp last week seems to have caused some little excitement, prom by the conclusions, doubtless, that Crown provisionals are in process withdrawal. We understand, howe that the latter will continue in curre at any rate for the time being.

Additional interest is lent to the o lescent provisionals by reason of fact that there are two types of Crown overprint and Arabic supersc tions, the Crown being larger in second type and the right-hand Ar characters larger in the first type. the second type, too, the Crescent is l more than a semi-circle of even th ness.—Stamp Collecting.

GERMANY.—We have received a c of the 20 mks red lilac in the M type. The Economist Stamp Co. ki sent us the stamp for chronicle.

FIUME.—The Bulletin Mensuel chr cles a new 5c green and bistre wit view of a sailing ship in the foregro The perforation is 11½.

MARTINIQUE.—The Economist St Co. reports that 75c blue and rose been issued with the surcharge " over the figures of the former valu the upper right corner. The overp is in black.

TUNIS.—The Economist Stamp have shown us the following new p visionals: 5c green surcharged "10" red, 15c violet, "20" in black and 25c blue "50" in red. All are of types of the 1906 design.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Franklin S. Smith enters what apparently a worthy criticism of first page feature of May 12. Referr to the use of the word "priceless" connection with the story of the sta exhibit, he considers it "a rather la term for a face value of perhaps seve hundred dollars in addition to the $1, for the airplane invert." We stand c rected and acknowledge the strength Mr. Smith's criticism.

—W. J. Zink has changed his addr from 4607 Denison Ave., to 3856 W 40th St., Cleveland, Ohio.

—In the Sales Department News pu lished by J. E. Guest, the editor a nounces that he is a candidate for appointment to the office of A. P. Sales Superintendent for the next fis year. During the year 1921-22 the was a total sale of nearly $30,000, an crease of nearly $10,000. The value the stamps now in circulation is $180,0

WHO'S WHO ON THE JURY.

The International Jury, which will adjudicate in all the competitive classes at the Exhibition, comprises philatelists of the highest distinction, representative of the chief nations sending exhibits. They are:—

W. DORNING BECKTON, Manchester, President of the Manchester Philatelic Society, member of the Council of the Royal Philatelic Society. His comprehensive knowledge of stamp issues, especially those from 1840 to 1890, gained in the amassing, during more than forty years, of one of the greatest collections in this country, his experience of all the great stamp exhibitions in Britain and many abroad, together with his legal training and practice, eminently qualify him for the difficult task of adjudicating on an exhibition of this character. His breadth of mind, and sympathy with the general body of collectors, and his complete detachment from any professional considerations in Philately, are well-known throughout the world of advanced philately.

DR. EMILIO DIENA, Rome, President of the Società Filitelica Italiana; the greatest philatelic expert Italy has produced and one whose special talents in the detection of forgery and faking are of world-wide renown. He has been collecting since 1871, has written numerous articles and books on specialist subjects, many of which have been translated into English and other languages from the Italian. He is a F. R. P. S. L., was awarded the Lindenberg Medal 1906, and was one of the first group inscribed upon the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists. He has served on the jury of nearly every European stamp exhibition of importance. His well known signature on stamps that he has passed is so readily accepted everywhere as a proof of a genuine stamp that has not been tampered with, that fakers have been known to attempt to pass off their wares by imitating the doctor's signature.

G. GILBERT, Paris. The leading French expert, holding the posts of professional expert in philatelic matters to the Civil Tribunal and the Tribunal of Commerce of the Seine. Formerly partner in the firm of MM. Gilbert and Kohler, M. Gilbert's experience of rare stamps of all countries is most comprehensive. He has arranged many of the greatest stamp auctions on the Continent, and is the expert in charge, for the French Ministry of Justice, of the arrangement of the famous Ferrary collection at present in progress of dispersal by auction.

JOHN N. LUFF, New York. President of the Collectors Club, New York, an ex-President of the American Philatelist Society. He has collected since the 'eighties, was for many years editor of the American Journal of Philately (2nd series), has been the chief editor, over a long period, of the Scott Catalogue; author of the standard work on United States postage stamps. Was largely responsible for the organisation of the New York International Philatelic Exhibition 1913, where he was a member of the jury, and was member of the jury, London, 1906.

H. P. MANUS, Amsterdam. A leading Dutch collector, member of the Dutch Philatelic Society, owner of one of the last great general collections of the Breitfuss, Tapling, Beckton class. Started collecting about 1860, obtained his first Lallier in 1862, and made a further change over in 1868. About 1890 he embarked upon a comprehensive collection on more modern lines, endeavoring to collect the stamps of the whole world in every detail. He pursued this aim for ten years, but since 1900 has confined himself to Britain and Colonies, taking the old issues unused and used, newer issues only unused. He has plated all the colonies that can be plated having most of them complete, e.g., New South Wales, Tasmania, Mauritius, etc., and has gathered in all varieties of paper, watermark, perforation, overprint, etc. Britain and Colonies occupy more than sixty Oriel albums. He has served on the jury at nearly every important stamp exhibition in Europe since Amsterdam 1910.

BARON A. DE REUTERSKIOLD, Lausanne. One of the most prominent figures in the international philatelic world, started collecting in the 'seventies. Son of an English mother and Swedish father, was educated and still lives in Switzerland. Starting as a general collector, he subsequently specialised in Britain and the Colonies, and later in France, Spain, Portugal, and he is the greatest living authority on the stamps of Switzerland. His specialist interests have been of the broadest, including many modern issues, e.g., Ukraine. The author of numerous articles of standard reference value, his chief books have been a work on the forgeries of the Swiss Cantonal stamps, and he was the collaborator with the late Paul Mirabaud in the classic monograph on the Postage Stamps of Switzerland, 1843-62. No international jury for a philatelic exhibition could be regarded as complete without him, and his experience of great exhibitions of this character is perhaps second only to that of his great friend and colleague Dr. Diena.

NILS STRANDELL, B.A., Stockholm. One of the editors of the Nordisk Filatelistisk Tidskrift, he is the most prolific writer on philatelic subjects in Scandinavia. Has been collecting since about 1885, and in addition to forming numerous specialised collections, has particularly devoted himself to the collecting of philatelic literature. He is the youngest member of the 1923 jury as now constituted, and served with distinction in a similar capacity at the Jubilee International Stamp Exhibition in London in 1912.

ROBERT BLAKE YARDLEY, London. Council member of the Royal Philatelic Society. An advanced collector of wide experience and sound judgment. His contributions to philatelic literature have been characterised by deep research in difficult fields. Has published studies of the Dona Maria II. and Don Pedro V. stamps of Portugal, a masterly treatise on the complicated printings of the Transvaal (Africa Part III.), Samoa, and numerous contributions of great value in the London Philatelist. Served on the jury of the Jubilee International Stamp Exhibition 1910.—Exhibition Times.

HOLLOW-HORN-BEAR

By J. E. Paddock.

The new 14c is a beautiful stamp, but though the head on it is supposed to be the likeness of the famous Sioux Chief, Hollow-Horn-Bear, really it looks no more like him than it does any other Red-man.

It is well that they inscribed on the stamp "American Indian," instead of his name, for it is a good likeness of the Sioux type, which is the finest found among the various aboriginal tribes of American Indians.

I knew H.H.B. for about twenty years prior to his death, which occurred in Washington, D. C., some years ago, and was caused by the Flu. Was employed in a Trader's store at Rosebud Agency at the time his body was brought back to the Reservation by military guards and was buried at the St. Francis Mission with Military Honors.

If he ever looked like the subject on our 14c stamp it must have been during his last illness. It surely does not resemble him as he looked in sturdy health.

Hollow-Horn-Bear was an excellent type of Sioux manhood, though his word could not be depended on, as many found out who let him have credit. Yet he was a great orator and a shrewd statesman. The Washington politicians did not put much over on him except by force; hence the reason he was so often chosen to represent his people, over which he had a profound influence, in their dealings with the Great White Father at Washington.

As an orator Hollow-Horn-Bear ranked with American Horse, Red Cloud, Setting Bull and Spotted Tail; but not with Gaul, Chief of the Cheyenne Sioux. As a monumental prevaricator he was in a class by himself.

I do not understand why the 14c stamp was not placed on sale the first day at Rosebud, So. Dak., in the country where H.H.B. spent most of his life.

After all is said and done, Hollow-Horn-Bear was a great man, and a respected leader of his people. Perhaps he was naturally possessed of a higher moral character than we who knew him give him credit for, but was sharp enough to pick up some of the trickery of his white brothers and appropriate it to his own use.

$610 FOR A 24-CENT STAMP.

Rarities Collected by C. H. Eagle Sell High at Auction.

An unused twenty-four cent "aeroplane" stamp with the centre inverted was sold for $610 at the auction on Saturday of a portion of the stamp collection of the late Clarence H. Eagle. It is one of the sheet of 100 stamps purchased by Colonel E. H. R. Green in 1918, when the first "aeroplane" postage stamps were issued. This was the only sheet of those stamps with the centre printed upside down which got into circulation. Three other similar sheets, it is said, were discovered but immediately destroyed.

At the sale of the Eagle collection, there were 874 lots, all of United States stamps, which brought a total of $8,080. An unused block of four of the ninety-cent issue of 1890 brought $199. An unused four-cent Columbian issue, 1893, printed in blue, the wrong color, was sold for $130, which is $30 higher than the standard catalogue value. A feature of the sale was the payment of $171 for a torn, but repaired, two-cent of the 1901 issue with inverted c

HYPNOTIZED BY FERRARITIES.

Success has never been absent from the Ferrari sales up to now. The sixth, being no exception, again attracted the serious buyers, who bid recklessly against one another. We say recklessly with intention, for in our opinion certain lots were undoubtedly sold too dear, having regard to their condition. But the Ferrari sales have hypnotised philatelists; so much the better for the followers of philately. The catalogue was finely produced, and M. Gilbert, who classified and arranged the lots, had carried out this onerous task with rare competence. It sought to group the vignettes in lots that would command attention, and amongst several stamps in a lot would be found a rare item which evoked keen bidding. In the course of the prices which are enumerated below we cite the instances that illustrate our remarks. Amongst the largest purchasers we noted M. Theo. Champion (who bought Fr. 350,000 worth of rarities), M. Lemaire (Fr. 50,000), M. Poulet (about the same figure), M. Burrus (who paid too dearly!), Messrs. Griebert, Allan, Nissen, Houtzamer, Smith, Penny, Palmers, Friedl, Clark, Lichtenstein, Spohr, etc.

The total for the sale amounted to 1,925,225 francs (about £27,500), exclusive of the Government tax of 17½%, making for the six sales the amazing grand total of 10,300,000 francs (£147,150). And the end is not yet! —Philatelic Magazine.

SHINE 'EM UP!

(YOUR COLLECTIONS, WE MEAN.)

Here's a new wrinkle which we believe will be mutually profitable.

In their keen search for higher priced items, many collectors have been neglecting the more common stamps, and although they demand fine condition in the costly stamps, they mount any old thing in the squares intended for the philatelic hoi polloi. To such of these collectors who read this ad we again say:

SHINE 'EM UP!

Our TRAVELING SALESMEN, who, by the way, have grown very popular, will do the shining. All you need do is send us your name, society number or a sound reference and a booklet containing 120 of the more common stamps of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries will be sent to you. The condition is from fine to superb and prices approximate full catalogue.

Unless you agree with us that almost any stamp in superb condition is worth. full catalogue, don't write for one of these books. But they are mighty worthwhile, and thousands of stamps have been gone over in the preparation of them. Our "regular" Traveling Salesmen are arranged by countries or made to order from clients' want lists. Name your favorites. You'll be surprised!

ROMULUS AND REMUS.

By Chas. G. Wilson.

On the first four stamps of Fiume of the issue of 1919 is shown Romulus and Remus, legendary founders of Rome, and the she-wolf who mothered the outcast waifs.

Romulus and Remus were the twin sons of the royal priestess Rhea Sylvia and Mars, the god of war. Three centuries after Ascanius built Alba Longa a certain Amulius of Latium drove from the throne his brother Numitor, the rightful king. He slew Numitor's son and made his daughter, Rhea Sylvia, a priestess of Vesta. These vestals were forbidden to marry and thus Amulius felt secure from having any rightful heir to trouble him. When he learned of the birth of the vestal's sons great was the king's wrath. The mother he had slain and he ordered the twins drowned in the Tiber. The executioner of the babies, however, took pity on them and left them in a shallow pool near the foot of the Palatine Hill where an old she-wolf found them and sheltered them and gave them suck. A shepherd, Faustulus, took them from the wolf and brought them up with his own children. On reaching manhood the twins learned they were the true kings grandsons and with their followers they put Amulius to death and restored their grandfather to the throne. They then decided to found a city on the site of their deliverance and it was while planning this that they got into a quarrel which resulted in the death of Remus, leaving Romulus as the surviving founder of Rome and the first of its kings.

COYOTE HOWLS ON TAX STAMPS.

Pierre, S. D., May 17—The tax on cigarettes in South Dakota will go into effect May 1. The design and colors of the tax stamps have been selected and ordered by the State revenue authorities.

Various colored stamps are to be used, according to the weight of the cigarettes per thousand and the amount of the cigarette tax law, passed at the last session of the State Legislature. The quality or price of the cigarette will not govern the tax. The one-half cent stamps are of gold, the one cent stamps of green, the one and one-half stamps of purple and the two cent stamps maroon.

As if in anticipation of the clamor arising among the cigarette smokers at the levying of the tax, officials designing the stamps have arrived at a novel plan. The stamps will show a coyote, sitting on his haunches and with nose pointed skyward, howling. Before the coyote is the head of a buffalo.—Boyce's Weekly.

THE MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS.

Irish Provisionals.—Quite a number of new varieties of the Irish provisionals have been "discovered" recently. Some of the corrections have been made by hand and the total number of collectible varieties is now enormous. It is not surprising, therefore, that some of the would-be specialists are beginning to give them up in disgust and confine their attentions to a collection of the normal types or else to turn to some colony where the varieties are less numerous. On comparing the Irish provisionals with a country like Papua, it is noticed that the numbers issued were about a hundred times less, in many cases, value for value, so that they have turned out a really good thing. Of the Irish stamps it has now transpired that "inverts" exist of practically all values to 1sh, but many of these, it is believed, were issued in irregular fashion.

The 2d is the commonest. Something like 4 sheets of 240 occurred, and of this probably about 600 still exist, including both dies, but the majority have not come on the market yet. At the present time there, one is lucky to purchase a copy much under £2, but when the boom has passed, it is doubtful if these high prices will hold, as inverted overprints of some of the War stamps, which were just as popular when issued, and which exist in even smaller numbers, have recently been selling for prices considerably lower than the above figure, as, for example, the ½d War Tax of Jamaica with inverted overprint, of which 240 are stated to have been issued, are now on offer at 15sh each.

This, therefore, is just a warning to those collectors of the Irish errors, who have to consider the financial side, not to be led away in the excitement of the moment, or in consequence of the high prices demanded by speculators, into paying far above what they will realize if, in years to come, they wish to sell.

The total numbers overprinted by the Dollard Printing House, Ltd., have now been published, and these make interesting reading to those financially interested. The 2½d and 4d with black overprint are about the best, but even of these nearly a quarter of a million were issued, whilst the three lower values run into a vast number of millions. Even of the 9d red surcharge on the old colour the number is about half a million, whilst of the highest denomination, the 10sh, the figure is given as 20,000. Of these it may be safely assumed that the majority were used for telegraphic purposes and will probably be coming on the market later with the black circular cancellations. These stamps with the registered postmark are rare.

The figures as a whole are very much greater than practically any of the equally popular Crown Colonies, so that one cannot expect any notable increases in price for most of them, especially as there are large stocks of both mint and used values in the hands of speculators.

Malta.—One of the rarest of recent Colonials to which attention was drawn in these columns some time ago, is the 10sh Malta on old CA paper. Very stiff prices, even running into two figures, have recently been asked for this stamp, but these will probably not hold. It must be borne in mind that such a stamp as Lagos 10sh SCA, of which only about half the number exist, is now readily obtainable at under £10. At the same time the Malta stamp is well worth picking up, whenever offered at a really reasonable figure.

Palestine.—Interest seems to have waned as regards the Palestine stamps. Some of the neglected overprints may turn out well. It is worth noting in passing that the 5 millieme on 1 piastre provisional is notoriously over-catalogued, particularly in mint condition. It is obtainable at about quarter its quoted figure of 15sh. Used copies in fine condition, although catalogued less, are probably worth as much as mint. They were used mostly on postcards and many got destroyed.

Togo.—The 1sh Togo on emerald paper is an elusive stamp whose value has been a very uncertain quantity, such widely different prices being asked in various quarters. It is well worth picking up, however, wherever cheap, as a set of 1sh to 10sh Togo on the last experimental papers and including the 1sh emerald mint, reached £3 15sh at a recent London Auction when the face value of the set was well under £1.

Turks and Caicos.—Some of the Turks and Caicos Islands stamps in old design on script paper had a very short life and are going to be good, and worth many times "face." The 2d, 2½d and 1sh appear at present to be the best of the set. Of the values on coloured paper, of course, none of these exist on any but the old watermarked type.

Union of South Africa.—Collectors of South Africans may have noticed the high prices asked for certain varieties such as the 1d Union with no watermark. It should be remembered, however, that this is only a variety caused by a slight misplacement of the sheet in printing, and that only one row in the middle will occur without watermark.

Similar varieties of other British Colonials caused by misplacement may be found, and others showing portions of the paper makers' monogram, but these seldom realise figures much beyond the normal stamp. — Philatelic Magazine.

THE LONDON STAMP EXHIBITION.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

Two years of arduous work on the part of the organizers of the International Stamp Exhibition culminated on May 14th in the opening of the most extensive and important array of rare stamps that have ever been shown under one roof. The indefatigable Chairman, Mr. Fred J. Melville, with his valiant aide, Mr. H. F. Johnson, and their loyal army of co-workers in the Junior Philatelic Society are to be heartily congratulated on the successful termination of their labors.

It is difficult to speak of the many wonderful stamps on view in sufficiently extravagant terms and the visitor is held spellbound by the wealth of philatelic treasures arranged for proper adulation. Rarities from almost every country in the world are shown in profusion and so large and extensive were the number of entries that I understand all exhibitors were allotted only 60% on the space applied for.

America is strongly represented. Mr. A. Hind has no fewer than five exhibits and shows an almost unbelievable lot of rare items from the Ferrari, Duveen, Gibson and other collections. His famous 1c British Guiana is the Mecca of all visitors though to my mind many of his other treasures are far more attractive. Mr. A. F. Lichtenstein is also represented by five exhibits, including his marvellous Mauritius and Switzerland; Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack has three exhibits, including his wonderfully worked up early Victorias, Mr. Edward S. Knapp shows some of his well-known Confederates in two classes; The Hon. E. R. Ackerman has entered his remarkable specialised collection of the 1847 issue, Dr. Carroll Chase shows a few of his pet 1c, 1851-57, and Mr. John A. Klemann shows a splendid collection of Greece.

An exhibit of particular interest to American visitors is that of Sir Nicholas Waterhouse. He shows some 200 copies of the 5c New York and a wonderfully strong general collection of U. S., which includes some remarkable blocks and covers.

But I shall refer to the various exhibits in more detail when the official awards are announced.

The Exhibition is being held at the Royal Horticultural Hall and it was opened on Monday by the Postmaster-General, Sir. William Joynson-Hicks, who said that he was glad to be able to pay a small compliment to stamp collectors by inaugurating new postal concessions on this auspicious day. He was more interested in the sale of stamps than in their collection. In fact, he could claim to be the world's largest purveyor of stamps. Every year he sold 1,332,000,000 of ½d stamps, 1,459,000,000 of 1d, and 1,845,000,000 of the 1½d denomination. Altogether he disposed of 6,000,000,000 stamps of all values annually, representing a cash revenue of £40,500,000. There were thirty-eight different kinds of British stamps in circulation, and the G. P. O. kept a reserve stock of 50,000,000 stamps. He also had at the Post Office a complete sheet of every British stamp since 1840, as well as specimens of all stamps issued by the Universal Postal Union, so he could claim to have quite a respectable collection. He was glad to welcome Mr. Irving Glover, Third Assistant Postmaster-General of the United States, who had brought over a very beautiful exhibit from his Government. For postal purposes America was as one of ourselves, and from the number of American philatelists present he was satisfied that stamp collecting would further help to unite the two great nations, on whose close friendship depended the future peace of the world.

The United States is officially represented at the Exhibition by Mr. Irving Glover who, as stated above, accompanied the official exhibit of a frame of proofs, among them being the inverted airplane stamp.

Among American collectors and dealers visiting the Exhibition I have so far run across Senator Ackerman, Mr. A. H. Caspary, Mr. A. Hind, Mr. P. M. Mann, Mr. A. F. Lichtenstein, Mr. John N. Luff, Mr. John Klemann, Mr. L. J. Flerlage, and Mr. Elliot Perry.

Gibbons Stamp Circular

This snappy little publication is mailed free for nothing—not even postage—once a month unless the editor goes fishing or yachting. This season of the year therefore is a good time to write for a copy. This circular is not mailed to substitutors, send-em-back-unregistered fiends and such like. Postcards also go straight into the waste paper basket. Serious and interested collectors would do well to send for a copy and get on the list free before we close the offer with the ten thousandth name. [H2

Arrow and Plate Blocks

Many collectors, who have discovered the beauty and advantage of collecting 20th Century U. S. Imperforates in the fascinating sets of a center block of four, four blocks of four with arrows pointing different ways and four blocks of six with plate numbers in different positions, lack an item or two to complete some of their sets.

I have one of the most complete stocks in this line in the country and will sell any item I have separately at reasonable prices.

SEND YOUR WANT-LIST.

Last week, I advertised ten varieties in complete sets. If you do not know how pretty these sets are, order a cheap one and return it for a refund of your remittance if it does not please you.

H. F. COLMAN 2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG.,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

and dealers of England are present and there is a large delegation from the Continent, including Mr. H. P. Manus, Amsterdam, Dr. Emilio Diena, Rome, Mr. G. Gilbert, Paris, Baron A. de Reuterskiold, Lausanne, Mr. Nils Strandell, Stockholm, Mr. M. Galvez of Madrid and Mr. Rachitoff.

The exhibits are well arranged with wide spaces between the aisles so that when it is crowded, which is a very frequent event, it is still possible to move with more or less ease. The bright light from the glass roof, on those few occasions when London deigns to give us a little sunshine, is broken by an artistic arrangement of blue and yellow bunting, credit for which I believe is due to Mr. H. F. Johnson.

Around the main hall are dealers' stalls, at which old friends like Gibbons, Field, Sefi, Marsh, Nissen, Godden, Rapkin, Roberts, Ewen, Wilson, and Bright are represented as well as new ones like Vallancey, Fox, Marshall, Regan, Gill, Josling, Houtzamer and Harris.

All the stalls are different, but I think the prize for originality must be awarded to my old friend David Field—the "King of War Stamps"—The background is a well painted scene, showing battleships, etc., and above is a view of the trenches with airplanes writing suitable inscriptions in smoke.

Lady exhibitors are not much to the fore numerically for there appear to be only four altogether and among the exhibits of the fair sex the wonderful display of Capes shown by Mrs. Edith Field stands pre-eminent. "Tarzan of the Capes" as one of the London papers dubbed her, has a collection to be proud of and one item in it, a remarkable unused copy of the 4d dark blue woodblock, commanded a good deal of attention.

In my next letter I will announce the awards and later give a detailed description of the chief exhibits.

THE OTHER SIDE.

By E. S. PAGE.

I have read with tears in my eyes and sorrow in my heart the plaintive appeal of Bill Bloss of New Iowa. But there is another side to the sad story. We poor collectors have our troubles too. I go into a stamp shop and ask for my wants and am told, "Perhaps we have it, but I don't know where to find it." Then I see it advertised in MEKEEL'S, and in high glee I write for it, only to receive the bitter words, "Sold out." And perhaps with it comes a credit slip.

In desperation I glance over the ads. I learn (1) that several dealers throw post cards into the waste basket, (2) that others cannot be bothered with any but "high class" trade, (3) that I must buy at least a hundred dollars' worth at a time from a certain New York dealer with an English name, (4) that I mustn't write to Elkhorn unless I want damaged goods, or am willing to pay top-notch prices, (5) that to certain dealers I must send references or deposits, but they never offer reference they ask me to send the money vance.

Then I read the news articles. dealers are advised not to answer unless return postage is enclose vertising matter will be sent to pay for it. The great privilege ing is not to be freely or light ferred.

And then I begin to ponder. all the fools in the country happe into the stamp business? Mr. please ask Bill Bloss. He kn about stamps, stamp dealers, an nuts. Have him write another and tell us.

J. O. MOORE, Inc., Rheims, N. Y.

SALE OF EAGLE COLLECTION—SECTION IV.

By J. Murray Bartels.

The fourth installment of the sale of this large specialized collection of U. S., was conducted by Percy G. Doane on May 26th and 28th, and consisted exclusively of Revenue Stamps. The first day was devoted to government issues, while the second session consisted of Private Proprietary stamps. In both cases the results were exceedingly gratifying from the viewpoint of the estate as prices ranged very high. Of course the items offered were in nearly all cases of an exceptional nature. The early general issues were composed very largely of pairs, strips and blocks and were undoubtedly the finest lot of these ever offered at auction.

The first session totalled $7,890. Of this amount something like $6,900 was purchased by five floor bidders, leaving less than $1,000 for all other buyers.

We regret that we have not space to give a very lengthy list of prices in this column, but cannot refrain from mentioning some of the most striking items.

First Issue, Imperf., 1c Playing Cards,	$15.10
——$1.90, splendid margins,	88.00
—Perf. 2c Prop., ult., mint block of four,	50.00
——3c Playing Cards, block of ten, vert. strip of four and pair on one document	205.00
——$1 Mort., block of four,	31.00
——$1.30 orange, strip of four,	22.00
——$1.60 green, pair, thin,	20.50
——$2 Probate, block of 18,	180.00
——$5 Manifest, unused strip of four,	30.00
——$10 Charter Party, strip of five,	19.00
——$10 P. of W., mint block of six,	23.00
——$15 dark blue, vert. pair,	20.50
——$20 Conveyance, strip of four,	20.00
——$20 Conveyance, block of fourteen,	202.00
——$25 strip of three,	26.00
——$200 block of six,	142.00
Second Issue, $1.60, pair unused,	41.00
—$3 block of four,	22.50
—$25 pair,	50.00
Third Issue, 40c, block of ten, unused, o.g.,	42.00
—60c, mint block of nine,	51.00
—$2, $2.50, block of six,	25.00
—$3 block of four,	22.50
—$20, error, pair,	32.00
Proprietary, 1871, 3c sewing machine perf.	29.00
——50c strip of five, two damaged,	185.00
—1875, 5c mint block of eight,	39.00
——6c mint block of eight,	24.50
——6c blue, pair,	32.00
—1898, 4c, Doc. block of nine, imperf. horiz., mint,	152.50
——$1 pair, imperf. horiz.,	39.00
——$3 pair, imperf. vert.,	38.00
——$500 vert. pair, cut canc.,	70.00
——$1000 strip of four, uncut,	90.00

The Match and Medicine stamps, comprising the second session, seemed to draw an entirely different crowd of bidders. Several had come from out of town, including Dr. Hetrich of Birdsboro, Pa., Mr. Polk of Boston, and Mr. Neefus of Hudson, N. Y. Prices in this session did not rule quite so high compared with catalogue value. Many of the very choice and rare blocks sold at quite reasonable prices, nearly all at discounts from catalogue. The majority being bought by the trade.

The total of the two sessions must have reached approximately $12,800, bringing the aggregate to date up to about $73,000. These sales prove more than anything the very staple value of U. S. stamps and show the increasing tendency of collectors to pay high prices for really choice material. We can recall in our experience no sale of any importance where choice items of U. S. stamps did not bring higher prices on the average than they did at sales which preceded them. This state of affairs will undoubtedly continue. The number of substantial collectors is ever on the increase and the newcomers are eager to seize opportunities to achieve gems for their collections whenever the opportunity presents itself. Naturally it is only when a collection of this size is broken up, that collectors can hope to acquire many of the rarities which rarely come into the market and are practically never obtainable except on such occasions as this.

Clarence H. Eagle was America's foremost Revenue stamp collector, he began early to take blocks and strips. He had however, parted with his collection of imperfs. and his best of singles in M. and M. Stamps some years ago.

ERICH PARCHE ON THE HONOR ROLL.

We acknowledge the receipt of $5 in gold from one of our subscribers, Erich Parche, who wishes to renew his subscription to the Weekly for five years. We take great pleasure in adding his name to our honor roll. The club is taking on members rapidly and without doubt a president will soon be chosen. We will not mention the qualification required for this office, but in due season it will be disclosed.

Are You Interested in EARLY BRITISH COLONIALS?

I am dispersing a choice collection of British Colonials, strong in PERKINS, BACON, ETC., printings, and all stamps in very fine condition. Terms will be found MOST REASONABLE.

Also I have a choice lot of EDWARDIAN and GEORGIAN issues, both MINT and SUPERB USED.

Selections willingly sent on approval to responsible collectors.Reference, please.

A POSTAL FREAK.

The English Postoffice authorities decry the use of freak addresses on envelopes, but when they do come across these they exhibit great ingenuity in delivering letters to the persons for whom they are intended.

An epistle having the following "address" duly reached its destination:

Postman, this missive which I send
Is for a tried and valued friend;
From England's shores to Ireland's nation—
Mark well the place of destination.
The name is Bird, you'll find the pair,
And young ones, too, in Mountjoy Square,
The number, seven, all snug and neat,
You'll find the nest in Emmett's street.
So now to Dublin, haste away,
And find the Birds without delay;
They'll clap their wings and sweetly smile
A welcome to the Emerald Isle.

OF TOPICAL INTEREST.

By Kent B. Stiles.

Some new figures regarding the sale of stamps at the Philatelic Stamp Agency in Washington were issued recently by the Post Office Department. To quote from a despatch broadcast by The Associated Press:

"Postage stamp collectors poured $41,000 into the Treasury of the United States through the Post Office Department's Philatelic Agency during the first three months of this year for unused postage stamps to add to their collections, principally stamps of the new issue.

"The money received not only is virtually clear profit for the Government, but would pay several times over the entire cost of preparing the new issue of stamps, which was about $8,500. No estimate can be made of stamps sold to collectors for their collections through the regular post offices, but the amount is thought to be considerable.

"Since the Government decided to encourage the collecting of postage stamps in December, 1921, approximately $100,000 has been taken in through its sales."

Thus is justified the vision of Warren Irving Glover, Third Assistant Postmaster General, in establishing the Agency. It is related that he had a hard job convincing Mr. Hay, then Postmaster General, that such an agency would be remunerative. Perhaps Mrs. Glover, who is a collector, first had to convince the Third Assistant. Who can say?

MERELY ADVERTISING LABELS

From Percy A. Hill, a Journal subscriber in the Philippines, comes some information regarding the Bandoeng, Dutch Indies, Fair "stamps" which several British philatelic journals apparently have recognized as genuine postal adhesives.

Current Dutch Indies stamps were late in 1922, overprinted 3de N. I. Jaarbeurs Bandoeng 1922, in red or green or black, two types of surcharges being provided. In some quarters abroad these are described as Dutch Indies provisionals, but Mr. Hill, who translates the first part of the overprint to mean "3d Annual Fair," states that the surcharge is significant of nothing more startling than an official endeavor to advertise the Bandoeng Fair, apparently even the secretary of the Fair association had no intention of purporting the stamps to be new varieties, the overprinted stamps being regarded in Bandoeng as souvenirs solely. They were on sale until April 23, 1923.

Mr. Hill in his letter states that the communications officials of the Philippines have submitted to the Governor General, Leonard A. Wood, a proposal to raise the first-class postage in the islands to three cents, as compared with two cents at present, but that as yet (March 6) nothing has been decided. Should the plan go through, Mr. Hill comments, it "would necessitate a new set of stamps for the Philippines." Our correspondent adds—pardon us!—

"Out here we enjoy the breezy Scott's much better than the Australian, British and New Zealand stamps journals."

MEMEL'S STATUS

In view of the numerous and various stamp issues emanating from Europe it is natural that philatelists are interested in the exact status of each of the new governments which have arisen out of world-war conditions. Newspaper despatches from abroad are not always complete and are often confusing. It is perhaps timely, accordingly, to quote the following, from official sources in Washington, as to the present position of Memel:

"By the treaty of Versailles the Memel territory, consisting of the three counties—Memel, Heydecrog and Pagegen—was separated from Germany and put under the protection of the Allies until its final disposition should be made by them. The territory is located on the southeastern coast of the Baltic Sea, occupies an area of 1,057 square miles, and has a population of 150,000."

RATE INCREASES.

The following, also quoted from official text distributed from Washington, will account for recent and coming new-value adhesives in the five countries mentioned:

"The unit rates for mail matter in Germany, Austria, Italy, Portugal and Greece recently have been increased on a currency basis to the approximate amounts specified in the convention of the Universal Postal Union. These rates vary from a 150 per cent to a 300 cent increase over the previous char

SPEAKING OF "FAIR" STAMPS—

The American Bureau of the Rus Agricultural Exposition, in New Yor responsible for the following, of int to collectors:

"The Russian Government has asked to issue stamps to commem the forthcoming fair and it is quite sible that these will make their first pearance at the opening of the great August 15th, and be sold up to and cluding the last month of the fair until the end of October, 1923.

"The Berlin headquarters of the sian Agricultural Fair has already b the issuance of stamps for publicity advertising purposes. These stamps similar to our Red Cross and Tu losis campaign stamps and most art in design. They are being affixed t mail sent out and are eagerly b sought after by stamp collectors."

The latter part of the final sent is important, if true. For the Rus Agricultural Exposition the foreg paragraphs are good publicity if journals outside of the philatelic p can be induced to give the text any sp The exposition is to be held at Mos and is designed to establish "a trade tact with the 90,000,000 Russian farr who want and must have modern agri tural implements." If every Rus farmer buys a stamp the Soviet Gov ment ought to be able to lure in a r or two.

A BOLSHEVIK SUBSIDY.

Speaking of the Soviet and philat some interesting information appear a recent issue of Stamp Collecting. quote from our London contemporar

"Soviet Russia has declared post stamps a State monopoly, and a cen office has been established in Mos under the name 'Pomgol'—i. e., 'aid the hungry' or 'amelioration of fan sufferers,' for whom special cha stamps have been issued: At the h of this undertaking is the Bolshe member, F. Tschutschin.

"This central office carries on State monopoly by confiscating, for benefit of the starving, every stamp c signment that is sent from and to R sia. Every legal export of stamps interdicted and is punished by sev penalties—concentration camp or months' imprisonment.

BY PRIVATE CARRIER.

ditions in Germany as reflected by newspaper despatches carry us in back to the days before Uncle Sam lly began issuing stamps. Postal have been repeatedly increased in the n Republic, as witness the recent mark" denomination which have issued of late. A despatch cabled e Associated Press correspondent rlin arouses conjecture by philate- as to whether "private carrier" rs are being employed in Germany. ews story reads in part:

dging the payment of postage is f the great pastimes in Germany, n the trails of business firms and who have inaugurated their own he Federal postal authorities are l mail delivery services. The first pounced upon by the Post-Office tment sleuths was none other than Mayor Boess of Berlin.

vas found that Berlin's municipal istration had organized its own of letter carriers, in order to do away with the buying of postage stamps. Informal complaints that this violated the postal regulations failed to move the city officials, and the case was taken to court.

"With the Lord Mayor on one side and the Postmaster General on the other, this fight has resolved itself into a battle much the same as the contests between the feudal barons and the heads of minor States . . . .

"Pending further action against the Berlin officials, the Postmaster General is directing his attention to a large number of commercial establishments which are suspected of carrying out the same practices. It is declared the Government is losing billions of marks annually through evasion of stamp windows by various concerns."

It is another instance of the downtrodden worm turning. The German postal authorities have been raising rates to prohibitive heights. The world's collectors may purchase these "high mark" values—Germany's stamp authorities expect it and probably will not be disappointed—but selling them to local business interests is apparently something else again.

TWO-COLOR PRESS.

According to the New York Times, the Darmstadt (Germany) firm which supplies the German Government's printing office at Berlin with stamp-making presses has perfected "a new type of two-color rotary press for printing postage stamps. The Times reprints from the Darmstadt Tagblatt the following information:

"The new machine prints, counts and perforates with precision 12,000 two-colored stamps in a minute, or 6,000,000 stamps every eight-hour day. The perforations are said to be so exact that the finest gauge cannot detect the slightest variation between one row of perforations and those of each new sheet. The adjustments are such that any misuse of the machine for falsification is impossible.

The press is so constructed that the stamps can be printed in any one or two colors from rolls of gummed paper, which either can be rerolled or separated into sheets of 100 stamps, as desired. The paper is fed into a cleaning machine consisting of two brush rollers, thence over a stretching roller to the precision rollers. From them the paper goes to the printing rollers and the perforating mechanism, and finally to the rewinder or sheet cutter.

If this new machine is what the Times says the Tagblatt says it is—a marvel—it will probably be used by the German postal authorities—with two-color stamps offered in return for philatelists' money.

PHILATELY IN IRELAND.

A story received by the New York Tribune by mail from London quotes Fred J. Melville, noted British writer on stamp topics, as saying in the London Telegraph:

"The advent of the Irish Free State as a stamp-issuing country has created a widespread interest in philately throughout Ireland, and the succession of new stamps since February 17, 1922, and still in progress of issue, may contribute in no small measure to bringing union and harmony into Ireland.

"The late Sir John Henniker Heaton once said that 'remembering the wars and quarrels of history, we could wish that stamp-collecting instead of war had more often been the sport of kings.' We could wish today that in the excitement of stamp hunting, which has been increasingly prevalent in Ireland, political differences might give way to an interest in philatelic differences of the stamps.

"Enormous sums have been gathered into the Free State's Exchequer by the sales of stamps for the philatelic demand. To begin with, a separate tally was kept of such sales where they could be identified. Single transactions with the agents of English and American dealers ran into several hundreds of pounds, and there are few post-offices in the country where they have not learned something of the peculiar requirements of the stamp-collecting enthusiast. . . .

"The newest stamp of the definitive series for the Free State is the 3p. (Scott's No. 50), just to hand. This is the first of two denominations in the Celtic Cross design, the work of Miss Lily Williams, whose sketch was awarded one of the premiums offered by the Postmaster General last year. The design is more than a little reminiscent of the Sinn Fein propaganda label which appeared in 1908 and which was the work of the same artist. . . . The new stamp is surface-printed in sheets of 240 on paper watermarked with the multiple monogram 'S. E.' (Saorstat Eireann, Irish Free State). A 10p. stamp in the same design is expected shortly."

DANISH AIRPOST

About April 15 the Danish Aerial Co. renewed its Copenhagen-Hamburg air service, by which mails move on to London by way of Cologne—a twenty-one hour journey from Copenhagen to London, with the mail transported by rail between Hamburg and Cologne. This is the service suspended Oct. 15 last for the Winter months.

Will special airmail stamps be issued by Denmark with the resumption of these flights?—Scott's Monthly Journal.

THE SPORTS OF KINGS.

The King of England collects postage stamps. At a recent auction sale he was outbidden for a rare stamp that he wanted by a well-known collector. When the collector found that he had been bidding against royalty, he promptly offered the stamp to His Majesty. But the King, being a good sport, refused to accept it. He offered, however, to swap one of his own stamps for it.

The English are lucky in having such a king. Of all the diversions known to man, none is more harmless than that of collecting postage stamps. It does not involve the grave dangers of chasing butterflies or playing pool. Many a butterfly chaser has stumbled over a rock; many a pool player has fallen off the table.

It must be gratifying to the English to know that their monarch is not needlessly risking his life and that postage stamps interest him. It leaves them free to work out the great problems of democracy that confront them.

As long as they have a king they are saved the spectacle of politicians scrambling for the highest office in the land. And as long as their king is interested in postage stamps they know that he will not attempt to take the reins of government into his own hands.

It will be a grand day for democracy when all kings and hereditary rulers become absorbed in collecting postage stamps. They might form a club—Monte Carlo or Patagonia would be a good place—and spend all their time there swapping blues and green and mauves, etc.

It has often been said that if Cleopatra's nose had been a little longer the world's history would have been changed.

If Woodrow Wilson had gone to Paris to collect postage stamps, instead of butting into the European game of diplomacy, the world today would be much better off.—Washington Herald.

EDITORIAL.

The London International Stamp Exhibition was formally opened on May 14th, at the Royal Horticultural Hall by the postmaster general of Great Britain, the Right Honorable Sir William Joynson-Hicks, Bart. From a friend who attended the ceremony, we have received the following particulars: "It is not easy, I find, to redeem the promise that I made you to send you a few words about the opening of the grand stamp exhibition as the philatelic visitor to London is given no time for self-communion. The air seems to be filled with bustle and pleasant expectancy. The address of the postmaster general was certainly flattering to philately and he paid several neat tributes to it; and reverting to 'shop talk' he gave some staggering figures of the sales each year of British stamps, which I am afraid that I cannot quote. I was interested in seeing and hearing your Third Assistant Postmaster General, the Hon. I. Glover, who said that he felt that it had been a privilege to bring over the exhibit of the United States Government for the occasion. He, too, agreed that stamp collecting was an interesting and deserving pursuit; and he spoke of his wife as an enthusiastic collector. In wishing for the success of the exhibition, he kindly proposed a vote of thanks to the Postmaster General of Great Britain for opening the exhibition. I should say that the interest shown in the first day's proceedings gives every reason to think that the big show will be the greatest of its kind ever held; the hall was filled when the exercises began."

While the London Exhibition has been an unalloyed pleasure for those who were fortunate enough to be able to attend it, yet we cannot but help ponder over the possibilities that it has had as an agent for spreading the philatelic gospel in an attractive guise. We shall be interested in seeing the clippings from the London and other newspapers that have given so much consideration to philately; and we know that their treatment of the exhibition will be generous and intelligent. The Americans who went to London will soon be telling their stories at home and the aftermath of the philatelic congress of nations will be evident for time to come. The brilliant setting that stamp collecting has had at London will impress the outsider and in some instances, will lead him to make inquiry into the claims of philately with satisfactory results.

An announcement is made that will come as a shock to a host of collectors when we impart the news of the sudden death of Edward C. Dodd of LaGrange, Illinois, who passed away almost without warning on May 27th, 1923, at his home. Mr. Dodd, who suffered a rheumatic attack on that day, expired while the doctor was taking his pulse, in the presence of his sister, who some time ago returned from England to the home of her brother. While at different times Mr. Dodd had complained of his health he had not been aware of any serious condition and so the death of this veteran stamp man will astound his friends, of whom there are so many. The burial was at LaGrange on Memorial Day; and among those at the funeral were collecting friends who paid tribute to Mr. Dodd's memory. The philatelic floral offerings were indicative of the esteem in which Mr. Dodd was held by his collecting friends. Looking backwards for over twenty-five years we visualize Mr. Dodd first as an ardent collector who, almost unconsciously, began to drift into the ranks of dealers. When the revenue issues of the Spanish-American War period began to be a market factor, Mr. Dodd, who was employed in the downtown district of Chicago, took advantage of opportunities that he had to secure these stamps in quantities and developed a little business in them which soon extended to include other stamps. Having a solid foundation of stamp knowledge gained as a collector from boyhood, Mr. Dodd was successful as a buyer and in time he had a business that required attention. In time, he gave up his position which he had for many years and having removed to LaGrange, a suburb of Chicago, he devoted himself to his stamp interests; and it may be added to his mother. While characteristically a one-man dealer, he did a volume of business that was surprisingly large, and he prided himself on the range of his stock. As a market expert, Mr. Dodd was one whose judgment was often proved and his memory of prices was little short of marvelous. Had Mr. Dodd cared to extend his business by adopting what may be called modern methods, he could have become one of the great dealers of the world. Mr. Dodd was long identified with the Chicago Philatelic Society and the American Philatelic Society and had served as president of the home society. Through his attendance at conventions and trips that he made with the idea of combining business with pleasure, Mr. Dodd enjoyed the personal acquaintance of many collectors who recognized in Mr. Dodd a refreshing type of man. His wit and high spirits never ran low and his pleasant philosophy of life made him a companion who was cherished. While distinctively individual, he was the embodiment of kindliness and devotion and his little eccentricities were of a most engaging kind. Among his friends his popularity was unbounded and it is truly to be said that his presence radiated cheer. Mr. Dodd was slightly over fifty years of age and unmarried; and to his sister and niece the sympathy of the philatelic fraternity is given. We may add that Mr. B. L. Voorhees has been delegated to attend to the adjustment of Mr. Dodd's stamp affairs.

One of our readers overwhelms us by sending us the top of a wooden box to place in our original cover collection. On the board are a Ceylon five rupee white back and a string of other values of Ceylon, but all the stamps are somewhat the worse for wear. In fact, our subscriber says that about one in a dozen of the five rupees, for instance, comes through unscathed, as these stamps are stuck on the top of wooden boxes of tea from Ceylon; and the boxes are subjected to scraping and straining in the ship's hold.

Now that June is here we wish to impress upon collectors the desirability of planning to attend the Washington conventions of stamp folks in August. Both the American Philatelic Society and the American Stamp Dealers' Association will have their annual meetings in August at the nation's capital, the seat of the postal nation's capital, the seat of the postal administration and of the stamp production of this country. The governmental stamp collection is in the nature of a permanent philatelic exhibit and the local philatelists will see that visitors will have all attention. As a matter of pride, we want to see a record attendance at Washington this year in order that tangible evidence may be given of the hold that philately has on representative men and women in this country.

We think that the publishers of the Youths' Companion of Boston and the New York Times deserve consideration in recognizing that the philatelic field is well worth cultivating. In our opinion, far-sighted business men, such as they who give so freely of their space to reading matter on stamps, are the ones who are worthy of our devoirs; and we hope that their enterprise will be substantially rewarded.

DEATH OF DR SCHIRMER.

Dr. Alfred Schirmer died recently in Chicago, where for many years he enjoyed prominence as a collector who devoted himself to his specialty of the stamps of the German States in used condition. Dr. Schirmer at different times exhibited his superb collection, in part, and it is not so long ago tha showed a well-specialized collectior the stamps of Bavaria, his native co try, at a meeting of the C. P. S. Schirmer was a member of the Chic Philatelic Society, in whose meeting took much interest, but his duties fessionally did not allow him to constant attendant at meetings. Schirmer who was somewhat advance years had been a member of the An can Philatelic Society for years.

EARLY LOW VALUES SPECIALIZED.

By WARNER BATES,
152 Lisbon Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Considered as a whole, the response to the invitation to help along this department by contributions has been satisfactory, thus far. It has not been great but most of those who have responded have done so in a helpful and enthusiastic manner that is very satisfactory in connection with a proposition that is not only new but almost unheralded.

Several communications received, however, were too meager in detail or too far from the subject to be placed in the foregoing category. For instance, a reader, says he has a very light colored copy of a recent one cent U. S. and wishes me to inform him through this department as to its value. There could be no answer to such a question for obvious reasons.

Henry Merlo of Buskirk, N. Y., writes that he has a three cent 1861 showing a long furrow from top to bottom, running through the center of the stamp. Also a one cent 1873, with a line under the bust running well up into the stamp. No one could hazard a guess as to these varieties without either seeing the stamps or having a more detailed description. Information for this department should be accurate and in detail, the more painstaking the detail the better. I realize that it is a difficult proposition to accurately describe a minor variety so that all the readers of a magazine like this will understand and be able to check with copies in their own collections, and yet almost anyone, by spending a little time with his composition and in tudying the stamp should be able to write a sufficiently good description of the odd and unusual.

An interesting letter comes from W. S. Boggs, No. 2 Hillside Avenue, Summit, N. J. Mr. Boggs says: "In reference to W. B.'s query in the April 25th issue of MEKEEL'S, I may say that the line and dot he refers to were traced on the plate by the person who transferred the design as a guide to the correct laying out of the plate.

"Mention of this was made in the Philatelic Gazette some years ago, in a detailed description of the die and method of transferring the one cent and two cent of 1870. One may expect to find this variety in all the National, Continental and American printings. I have this variety on the 3 cent Navy, 1 cent Treasury, both Continental, and the 3 cent Treasury, American."

What Mr. Boggs says has been my understanding and yet I for one have never seen the article referred to. Personally, I would much like to read this article or any other on the same subject and would appreciate it if some reader of the Specialization Department would inform us the date and number of the issue of the Philatelic Gazette referred to, or where a reprint may be obtained. Many of these articles which are long since out of print should be in every specialist's library but the fellows who have started in the game in recent years have neither the previous knowledge to go upon or the reference with which to gain this knowledge. One of the objects of this Department is to bring such articles to light and aid the newcomers in getting the information.

Mr. Boggs also says: "A little aid in distinguishing the Continental from National printings may be of value. This is especially true of the two cent and three cent which are confusing. About 50 per cent of the stamps of both printings show a guide dot. In the National printing this dot usually appears in the oval surrounding the medallion, while in the Continental printings this dot is in the background of the shield, and is occasionally completely obliterated by the lines in the background. These dots, while not constant, are of some help in distinguishing the printings, more especially the two cent with its minute secret mark."

I cannot agree entirely with this although there is something in the point Mr. Boggs brings up. I say this not for the sake of argument but merely by means of throwing additional light on the subject, lest some reader should take the statements made too literally.

It is true that in the National printings the dot nearly always occurs in the white oval space surrounding the medallion, which is what Mr. Boggs says. It is also true that in the Continental printings the dot, when present, is generally in the background to the left and outside of the medallion. Yet the dot is to be found in the white space surrounding the oval medallion on the Continental printings, as well as on the National, so the fact of its location there would be no proof one way or the other, so far as I can see, of the printing. I am speaking particularly of the three cent but this will apply likewise to the two cent. Of course, Mr. Boggs does not claim that the dots are to be used as proof but that they are of some help in distinguishing between the two printings. Still I cannot see where they help much.

The dots, by the way, can form a most interesting section of the specialized collection, especially when pairs, strips and blocks can be exhibited which show dots in different locations in adjacent stamps, or dots on some stamps and not on others in the same sheet. Such pieces are scarce and valuable.

In my collection of the three cent Continental, for instance, there are several pages showing various locations of the dots. The dot in the background at the left of the medallion will be found in various places from close to the medallion to the extreme left hand margin of the design. Most of them are a little below the level of Washington's lips. But rarely the dot is found in practically the same location but lower on the stamp.

Other unusual and rare locations of the dot are over the "H" of Three, under the "R" of Three, on the bottom line of the design, in Washington's collar, at the bottom outside the design, at the top outside design, on Washington's shoulder (low), under "T" of Cents, in the background at the right in various locations, extreme upper left corner of design, etc. Who can tell why this dot should jump around in such a manner.

Then there are the doubles, some close together and others far apart. These likewise are uncommon. One piece in my collection which I am fond of is a block of five on ribbed paper, the deep green shade, with an odd blue cancellation. Three of the five stamps show the dot in the background at the left of medallion and two show no dot, nor can I find any indication that the dot in the latter case has been obliterated by the design. My theory is that the dot was not placed on the original plate in such a manner that it would fall on every one of the 200 stamp designs.

1c "STOCK TRANSFER" MINT

Have you ever seen a copy of the 1c rose overprinted "Stock Transfer", Scott's No. 4250? Very few have and I have never seen it offered before. It was possibly printed through error, for the tax law calls for payment of 2c tax on each share of stock transferred, hence there is no need of a 1c stamp. As a result, the stamp was little, if ever, used.

I have a few mint copies with gum that I offer at $1 each or $4 for a fine block of four. A few straight edge copies at 50c each. Scott lists it, but does not price it, and I doubt if any dealer in the country can furnish it. There will be a place for it in the new Scott Album. Sorry, but cannot furnish any other value of the set, as I do not endeavor to stock revenues.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the address of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In this column last week mention was made of the new 1c rotary print, design of 1922, perforated 10 and precancelled "New York, N. Y." This is one of the varieties precancelled at the Bureau of Engraving & Printing on the same rotary press that prints, gums and perforates the well known rotary sheets of 1c found at the Post-Office, perforated 10 with margins on all four sides, in other words, no straight edges. This new design has not been issued in this condition except with the cancellation noted above. We may, however, expect them at an early date. The work of precancelling at the Bureau is giving very satisfactory results and they are now proceeding to precancel 1c stamps for the Chicago Post Office. This will be followed by similar work for the other larger offices. If this works out as expected, possibly other denominations will be surcharged in the same way at a saving of hundreds of thousands of dollars to the department. For a while the Bureau experimented with cutting a separate die with "NEW YORK" across the face of the 2c stamp, the name being cut so deep that it would take up so much ink that the town name would appear almost black. This was not as satisfactory as the method now being used so was abandoned. This is not the first time the Bureau has precancelled stamps, for some years back they experimentally did the work for several offices.

The new 2c was issued in an imperforate condition back in March but we have just learned of the variety with Schermack III perforations, Mr. Benjamin Cadbury advising that he has received one on cover postmarked "Chicago, May 5, 1923." The 1c in a similar condition is no doubt available.

The 3c envelope with the locally applied Daytona 2c surcharge, listed by Scott as type VII, has always been a very rare variety for only about one hundred were saved to philately. These were all die A on white with the exception of a very few die H, later found with purple overprint, the original lot being surcharged in black. About a year ago a quantity were offered from Florida, including all dies on white and one variety on blue. These were pronounced fakes and returned to the owner. What then happened to them I cannot say. Here of late an additional lot is supposed to have been found packed away in the belongings of one since deceased. Why the deceased party held them all this time when he knew his son was an active collector, I cannot say. I have, however, recently had the opportunity of inspecting some of this lot and can positively say, having handled practically all of the first lot bought from Daytona, that they are not the same as the originals in several particulars, and to my mind are not originals. This opinion is shared by several other envelope collectors who have been following the surcharges from the first. Among the lot I note all dies on white and there may be some on colors.

Mr. J. V. Nielsen, Jr., kindly sends for inspection several values of a new State Revenue issued by South Carolina and designated as a "Business License Tax." They are surface printed by the American Bank Note Company whose imprint is to be found at the bottom of each stamp. In the center within a circle we have the value with what appears to be palm trees on each side, below the value we find "Cents" with "State of South Carolina" across the top. The stamp is oblong, perforated 12 and printed on unwatermarked paper. They are issued in sheets of sixty-four, due no doubt to the fact that the values run into sixty-fourths of a cent. Mr. Nielsen states that he has seen the 42/64c olive, 1c carmine, 1 1/5c purple, 2c carmine and 10c carmine. Other values may exist.

We wish to thank Messrs. Edw. M. Prosser and Frank E. Wood for notes of interest.

AUSTRALIA.—Bright & Son have sent for chronicle the 1d and 2d postage due stamps watermarked crown and single line "A" (3rd type) perf. 14.

CYPRUS.—Bright & Son advise us of the appearance of the 2¾ and 4 piastres on script watermarked paper.

EGYPT.—The Bulletin Mensuel chronicles a 5m brown, perf. 13½, showing the portrait of the ruler.

FIJI.—We are indebted to Bright & Son for copies of the 1d, 2d, 5d and 6d values on script watermarked paper.

GOLD COAST.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the ½d, 1d, 2d and 3d postage due stamps on script watermarked paper.

GWALIOR.—Mr. R. Roberts submits for chronicle the 1a brown stamp of India surcharged in two lines of native characters in black for Service use.

LEVANT (Italian P. O.).—Mr. E. W. Paddock, in reporting several values of provisionals which have already been chronicled in these columns, as well as the additional ones noted below, remarks that his correspondent writes that these will probably be the last of the surcharged issues, as all the foreign P.O. are to close in a few weeks' time. O printed "Constantinopoli" and new va (three lines) on current stamps of It 1 pi 20 para on 25ctes; 7 pi 20 para 60ctes; 15 pi on 85ctes and 18pi 30 pa on 1 lire.—Stamp Collecting.

MONACO.—The Bulletin Mensuel nounces the appearance of 30c red a view of one of the famous buildi of the country in the centre of stamp. The perforation is 11.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—Mr. Frank F. W advises that the 36c Caribou design just become obsolete and will not be issued.

NICARAGUA.—The Economist St Co. have shown us the ½c green in design of the 1914 issue.

POLAND.—Mr. George Allan Mal informs us that he has seen a new mks dull orange (eagle design), p 12, and that he has two shades of stamp, one of orange-buff and the o orange-yellow. The new postage rat America is 1000mks, unregistered 2000mks for registered matter.

RUSSIA.—We have received from Buell A. French a pair of Rus stamps, No. 193, with a double surcha on each stamp. The usual overprin at the base just above the figures value at the upper frame line. other surcharge is just above the ce of the stamp and slants slightly tow the upper right corner.

AN AUCTION CRITIQUE.

By A. Harold Kirkpatrick.

Sales have been very satisfactory during the nine months I have been advertising, but during the last three or four months it has been almost impossible to get decent stock to sell at prices which collectors are willing to pay. Several of the large auction houses are taking advantage of the increased demand by padding their lots with things, which they could never sell under normal circumstances.

For example, I recently got some "fine" lots of British Colonials, which contained many high values with pen (fiscal) cancellations; as Ceylon King George 10 rupee (Cat. $4.00); all included at full catalog and numerous revenues, which were formerly in the catalog, as "used for postage," priced at $1.00 and $2.00 each. The lots contained from 20 to 40% stuff of this character which is practically a dead loss to the purchaser. The attitude of the auction house, when I complained, was, that if I returned any of the lots, regardless of whether they were according to their descriptions or not, they did not care to have me bid on their sales.

I suppose transactions of this character are outside your province, but they make it very uncertain for the retail dealer and I should think, in time, would damage the stamp trade in general,—the business rests so largely on confidence between buyer and seller.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited, as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Cards are out announcing the golden wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Chambers, which will take place Monday evening, June 11, at the Waldorf Apartment, Waldorf-Astoria, New York City. Mr. Chambers is well known to the philatelic fraternity by his connection with the Chambers Stamp Co., 111 Nassau St. He is also No. 16 in his membership in the A. P. S.

—We are informed by Donald Piercy, secretary of the San Francisco Stamp Society, 1125 Fillmore St., San Francisco, Cal., that his society has gone on record in favor of printing the word "Repaired" upon the back of all repaired stamps, in order to check the growing evil of these stamps being placed upon the market as perfection copies. Mr. Piercy also states that Charles E. Cowell, at one time Sales Manager of the Society of the Oranges, does not answer letters addressed him. Write Mr. Piercy if interested in either of these matters.

—Charles L. Widman informs us that German airmail stamps (Scott's type AP3) have been issued in the following denominations:—10 marks violet and lilac, 25 marks brown and yellow and 100 marks olive green and flesh, all on watermarked paper.

—A new advertising cancellation comes from Ypsilanti, Mich. It reads:—"100th Anniversary Ypsilanti July 1-4, 1923." We are also indebted to Frank A. Goldsmith for two new cancellations. One is from Detroit and reads "Michigan Health Exposition June 7 to 16, Detroit," while the other is from Chattanooga, Tenn., and reads "Nat. Encampment Spanish War Vets. Chattanooga, Sept. 16-20".

—H. R. Bishop warns the philatelic public of J. W. Harris, St. Michael, Barbados. A book of stamps belonging to Mr. Bishop was secured only through communication with Barbados officials and when received back many stamps had been substituted and many prices altered.

WILLIAM TELL.

By Charles G. Wilson.

Switzerland has immortalized her legendary hero William Tell by putting his head on her stamps issued of recent years. His son Walter, together with his father's cross-bow and the apple transfixed by the arrow that Tell had shot, is portrayed on stamps of the issues of 1907-08-09.

William Tell was one of the legendary heroes of Switzerland in the struggle for independence of the Cantons of Schwyz, Uri and Unterwalden against the German Emperor, Albrecht the First. The popular form of the story is that Tell refused to make obeisance to an Austrian hat which the Bailiff Gessler had put on a pole in Uri commanding that all Swiss should salute it as proof of their loyalty. Tell, walking with his son Walter, was seized and about to be cast in jail, his life forfeit for treason, when Gessler interceded and told Tell that he had heard of his prowess as an archer and ordered him to show his skill by shooting an apple from his son's head at eighty paces. This Tell did, the arrow speeding true to its mark. Gessler had promised Tell his freedom for the success of his feat but when he learned that the second arrow of the archer was meant for himself in the event that Tell killed his son, he ordered him to be thrown in a dungeon to be eaten by reptiles. On his way to prison Tell shot the Bailiff, made good his escape, and returned to liberate his country.

ILLUSTRATING POSTAGE STAMPS.

By H. L. Lindquist.

The recent enactment into law of the bill permitting the illustration of foreign stamps, if properly defaced, and portions of the borders of United States stamps, if sufficiently enlarged, has been reported formally and more or less accurately in the philatelic press of the country, but behind it all there is a story of intense interest that is worthy of preservation in the annals of philately.

The United States Government has always prohibited the illustration of the stamps of our own country, as is well known, although the interpretation of this law has been fairly liberal and many technical violations have been permitted to pass in philatelic publications without protest. This same liberal spirit has also permitted the importation of foreign works and catalogs containing such illustrations.

Philatelic organizations have long sought unsuccessfully to secure legislation that would remove this restriction and permit the illustration of stamps, but these efforts have been confined entirely to the stamps of our own country. The legality of reproducing the stamps of foreign governments has never been questioned. Publishers of philatelic works did not realize that they were violating the law, even technically.

THE ILLUSTRATION OF FOREIGN STAMPS RULED ILLEGAL.

In January, 1919, however, a bomb was exploded. An old law prohibiting the reproduction of "the obligations of any foreign government" was dug up and a ruling was made that stamps were a "government obligation."

Orders from Washington, without doubt inspired by some unfriendly collector or dealer still unidentified, were sent to government agents in New York directing them immediately seize and destroy every printed likeness of a stamp and every plate or cut used to produce such a likeness. Further, that the District Attorney should proceed to prosecute on the charge of counterfeiting all those having such reproductions, plates, or cuts in their possession.

A number of places were "raided" under this order, including the Scott Stamp & Coin Co., who are the largest publishers of philatelic albums and catalogs in this country, but fortunately for philately enough pressure was brought to bear to secure a stay of execution pending the introduction of suitable legislation to nullify the ruling under which this drastic action was taken.

Few collectors even now can grasp the gravity of the situation. The very life of philately in America was threatened. Without illustrated catalogs, albums and publications, collecting could not well flourish. In fact, it is doubtful if any new collectors would join the ranks and the very foundations of our hobby would crumble. How much do you think your stamps would be worth under such conditions? Think it over.

STEPS TAKEN TO SECURE FAVORABLE LEGISLATION.

Prompt and efficient action was imperative. Legislation must be introduced that would specifically legalize the illustrating of foreign stamps, at least, and as much of United States stamps as the authorities would permit. And this action should be taken quietly for a knowledge of the true condition might well alarm the average collector and create a panic in the stamp market.

In the philatelic Hall of Fame, a special niche should be set aside for C. E. Hatfield, the president of the Scott Stamp & Coin Co., for his energetic and effective work at this critical stage. There will always be those who will point out that his efforts were actuated purely by selfish motives in protecting his own interests, and while it is logical to assume that this is largely the case, we must also be broad-visioned enough to realize that we each and all of us benefited directly from this same effort.

Mr. Hatfield went directly to those influential enough to temporarily delay any drastic action and then set about to interest those who were in a position to make this condition permanent.

In the Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman, Member of Congress from New Jersey, he found an enthusiastic ally. Mr. Ackerman has long been one of our foremost collectors, a philatelist in every sense of the word, and his long service in Congress had given him the knowledge and prestige to handle such a situation.

His influence added to Mr. Hatfield's enlisted the efforts of Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, also of New Jersey, who had but recently returned to the ranks of active philatelists after an absence of many years. With this important addition to their ranks success was assured. The Senator immediately took the helm and things began to happen.

In his first interview with Mr. Moran, chief of the Secret Service, the outlook was not very encouraging. After listening politely to his story Mr. Moran replied: "Well, this department cannot permit the illustration of stamps in any form whatsoever."

The importance of the hobby was urged upon him, the value to children, the dealers who were entitled to consideration, and the fact that any legislation advocated would be phrased to meet with his views as well as those of the other government departments directly involved.

He finally conceded that although he did not believe that anything could be done he personally would not oppose any legislation that properly safeguarded the interests of the government.

And right here we want to go on record as stating that it was due largely to the fairness and reasonableness of Mr. Moran that the passing of the bill was possible. The increasing cleverness of counterfeiters makes it imperative that he be forever on his guard to prevent anything that will let down the bars, and philatelists should realize his splendid recognition of our needs when he permitted this bill to pass.

BILL IS INTRODUCED.

After months of cultivation the path had finally been prepared for the introduction of the bill, and this Senator Frelinghuysen did on November 21, 1921.

When the bill came before the Senate Committee, Senator Cummings took a very liberal view and could see no objection to printing the stamps in colors, but of course such a thing would not be permitted by the Treasury Department. The majority of the Senators looked upon the whole thing as rather foolish, and as no opposition developed the bill passed February 18, 1922.

Up to this time the whole matter had been handled quietly and no word of the movement had reached the philatelic press. The men behind it were bent solely on saving philately, and felt that their efforts would receive the endorsement and commendation they deserved.

This was a mistaken notion. Certain members and officials of the A. P. S., receiving word of the bill, immediately took steps to fight it because it did not provide for the illustration of the U. S. stamps. Arguments showing the necessity of a bill that would first safeguard philately and at the same time open the way for further action that would permit such illustration were of no avail.

The officials of the A. P. S. felt they had been unjustifiably ignored, and proceeded to send out the following circular letter:

"AMERICAN PHILATELIC SOCIETY.
Office of the President
CARROLL CHASE
1170 Dean Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.,
February 15, 1922.

To Each Member of the American Philatelic Society:

A serious crisis has arisen in the affairs of the American Philatelic Society, and your earnest and prompt attention is respectfully called to the following matter.

The Board of Directors of our Society has voted that your President bring to the attention of each member of the Society a bill introduced, by the request of a certain commercial interest, into Congress last November, but which only recently (and then accidentally) came to the knowledge of the officers of the Society. A copy of the bill introduced in the House of Representatives is herewith enclosed. A similar bill has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey.

As you know, our Society through a special committee, called the Lookout Committee, and appointed solely for the purpose, has been trying for several years to obtain legislation to permit, under proper supervision and regulation, the illustration of United States stamps. The illustration of foreign stamps is now apparently permitted under sufferance, although the law as it now stands prohibits the counterfeiting, photographing or illustrating of all stamps, both U. S. and foreign. The bill introduced, as you will note by the final phrase, will, if passed, most definitely exclude the very privilege of illustrating United States stamps for which we so long have worked.

The Lookout Committee and the Board of Directors have made an earnest but so far an unsuccessful attempt to have the bill amended so that it might meet the wishes of our Society, by adding the words "now valid and legal for postage or revenue," at the end of the bill. We feel that you will agree that the unamended bill is definitely unsatisfactory to us, but that we should be satisfied for the present at least, if the above amendment is made.

We believe that the passage of the to counteract it. The main body of collectors, not familiar with the inside story, naturally would assume that officials of our national society would know what course to follow and many more would, no doubt, have followed the suggestions contained if they had not been warned of the danger that existed. The Collectors Club immediately went on record as opposing the letter that was sent out, and used its influence to straighten out collectors who had been misguided by it.

Senator Frelinghuysen and Congressman Ackerman were very much upset over this apparent repudiation of their efforts and were inclined to drop the whole thing, but they were finally convinced that the whole body of collectors should not suffer through the actions of a few individuals, and fortunately continued in their efforts to put through the bill.

LOOKOUT COMMITTEE OF A. P. S. TAKES A HAND.

At this stage of the proceedings the Lookout Committee of the American Philatelic Society took an active and aggressive interest and deserve much credit for the constructive work that they accomplished.

Headed by Judge Robert S. Emerson, Chairman of the Committee, a delegation consisting of Messrs. Heyerman, Hatfield and Klemann journeyed to Washington and laid their case before Chief Moran. He agreed to the necessary changes that would permit the portions of the borders to be shown if enlarged to four times the size and this was incorporated in the bill as finally passed. Just why the "border" in particular was specified instead of a "portion" is not entirely clear, but no doubt the committee secured every concession within their power.

When the bill in its amended form came up for passing an objection arose from an unsuspected quarter. The Attorney General's office sought to add a further amendment providing that permission first be obtained from that office before any illustrations would be permitted.

When President Heyerman was notified of this proposed amendment he strenuously objected, even though other members of the committee were inclined to let it go, and as a result even this was eliminated and the bill was passed without further objection.

HISTORY OF THE BILL IN BRIEF.

As soon as the bill became a law the following summary of its history was furnished the philatelic press by Congressman Ackerman:

"The 67th Congress with its four sessions, without a parallel in its history, has adjourned sine die.

During its sessions there were 14,474 bills introduced in the House of Representatives and 4,656 in the Senate, but only 550 of these bills became laws.

The stamp bill is known as Law No. 479. As there are 531 Senators and Representatives in Congress the number of bills enacted into law averages a little more than one an individual.

Senate Bill 2703 was introduced by Senator Frelinghuysen on November 21, 1921, and was passed by the Senate February 17, 1922. After having been passed by the Senate, Senate Bill 2703 was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary in the House of Representatives on February 18, 1922, over a year ago. Hearings were had upon the bill on March 9, 1922, and there the matter rested until February 6, 1923, when it was reported with amendments allowing portions of the border of United States stamps to be illustrated, such illustrations to be at least four times as large as the portion of the original.

A few days later after appearing on the House Calendar it was advanced to the Calendar for Unanimous Consent and on February 19, 1923, was taken up and passed by the House.

On the next day it was reported to the Senate and the amendments were objected to and conferees appointed on the part of the Senate. Senators Dillingham and Cummings, Republicans, and Senator Shields, Democrat, comprised the conferees.

In the House on February 22, Mr. Volstead, the Chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary, asked unanimous consent to take from the Speaker's table the bill, Senate 2703, insisted on the House amendments and agreed to the conference asked for by the Senate. The Speaker appointed Mr. Volstead and Mr. Boies, Republicans, and Mr. Summers of Texas, as Conferees.

On February 23 the conferees having met, Senator Cummings presented the conference report to the Senate but did not ask for consideraton of the report at that time.

On February 24th, Mr. Volstead presented the conference report in the House for printing under the rules, and on March 1st, Mr. Volstead called up the conference report on the said bill. The conference report was thereupon agreed to and the bill went over to the Senate whereupon, the same day, Senator Cummings presented the conference report to the Senate and it was agreed to.

On Friday, March 2nd, a message from the Senate announced that the Senate had agreed to the report of the Committee of Conferees on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses, and later in the day the Speaker pro tem signed the same. The bill then went to the Senate when Senator Sutherland reported that he had presented to the President enrolled bills, among them being Senate 2703.

The Record of March 4th, on page 5454, announced in a message by Mr. Latta, one of the President's Secretaries, that he had signed the bill, thus making it a law."

WHAT IT PROVIDES.

The bill is very specific in its definition of what will be permitted—Foreign stamps must be defaced and only BORDERS of U. S. stamps can be printed and these must be enlarged at least four times.

The Scott Stamp & Coin Co., who are most affected by this ruling, have a total of 50,000 cuts and plates which must be so defaced. Various designs that would show essential features on U. S. stamps other than borders have been submitted for an opinion, but they were in every case definitely rejected and the intention is to strictly enforce the law as it now stands, and violations will be rigidly prosecuted.

It would seem particularly desirable that every philatelic publication would live up to the letter of the law so closely that it can be shown that no harm can result from an even more liberal measure. It does seem a trifle severe to prohibit the illustration of foreign stamps which are permitted in the countries of origin, but it must be remembered that the law is always subject to repeal, and flagrant violations such as have recently appeared, are almost certain to react to our disadvantage.—Collectors Club Philatelist.

THE PHILATELIC PEPYS.

Transcribed by ALDEN M. WHEELER.

16th March—My wife, poor wretch, and I this day after long enjoying the prettiness of stamp collecting do decide with much pother and talk of this and that to embark as dealers in this commodity and thereby to seek increase of our monies in pleasant occupation and forthwith I do indite writings to Messrs. Hussman, Harris, McLain, Hook and sundry others all at a far distance, bespeaking their goods that my good wife and I may select therefrom with a mind to our profit and a great pleasure to our looked for clients, of which last be there many, please God. Also to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, best of philatelik papers and journals write I, bespeaking their charge for space wherein to extol and cry our pretty wares, hoping it be not too much or too mighty a drain upon us. So home to my luncheon, where find naught to please me—a dish of salmon fish, which I like not nor aught else of daintiness. To my couch, where my wife and I do talk of our venture and do make vast and huge proffit and do bespeak for ourselves great success in our new venture—God wot, a pair of silly fools, making great ending for something not yet begun, but my wife is ever so, being a wight full of visions fayre and very pretty and quaint in her conceits of mind. To my office, at my scrivening, all afternoon and to play at ball in the fields thereafter, and so home to lie in the warm waters of my bath, musing on this and that and again of our great to be profits and as the water with which I lave myself grows colder, so do I and I think of my losses in my future, but praise God, this but shortly. So to bed, and reading in back numbers of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, very good and my wife too listens as I read choice bits aloud. And so with a prayer and a dream of riches as Croesus, to sleep.

The 17th March—Up betimes on this St. Patric's day and abroad to my office, where busy with this and that and making of sundry bills out to our debtors and writing letters for the post. And in the afternoon to town with my wife, where did encounter young Mr. Cobb on the street and did purchase from him a collection of adhesivs, giving him 2 pounds for it, altho the wight would have taken less but verily I do believe in giving him a fair price. The collection of cheap and lesser values but I did buy with a view to my approval sheets to be. To dinner at the Grille where did enjoy a leg of lamb and broth of clam, very tasty. My wife partook of a veal cutlett. So home and up till late pricing Master Cobb's book and very pleased at my purchase. Reading in MEKEELS' and so with a prayer to bed.

18th March—Lord's Day—Lie abed late chatting with my wife. So to taking out some of the Cobb stamps for my collection. My wife thru sloven handling do tear a 10 shilling Transval stamp, new and mint condition and I do rail and sigh and cast about my eyes and she do fail of interest for the time, and I noting her megrim do stop the work in a huff and so no more at the work this day. Women do ever take criticism and displeasure harder than men, but God Knows she should not expect me to fall a-capering and a-carolling at the loss of 10 shillings and make commendation to her for her negligence. To the town and make merry over a tenderloyne steak of beefe, with garlick. Very good and after filling up myself to repletion, do in some measure forget the 10 shillings and do soften my tone to her, at which she pleased and happy. So are women, like a weathercock, listing first this way and then that to each passing breeze. To the Playhouse, where did see a picture "Minnie" made by Master Marshall Neilan, and well done by Mistress Leatrice Joy and Master Moore, Owen, there being three of them, all brothers. Very laughable, and at one place my wife do cause me much merriment, she falling and rolling in her chair like any madwoman—very quaint and comic to see. So home to bed and reading MEKEEL before I sleep—at last my wife, poor wretch, making a caterwaul to put out the taper and so I do, altho, I not yet ready to sleep. And so to lie waking and tossing about and thinking of our future business and the profit and pleasure to be derived from it and finally to sleep.

19th March—All day at my work at the office, and to play at ball in the fields after. A very dull day and I like unto it and of no great moment in my life. Reading in my bed until sleep.

20th March—This day as like the one that went before as two peascods. No post from Scott, Hussman, Harris or the others. I do begin to be impatient, altho my sense do tell me there is scarce time, save they did cease all else and attend to my matters, which God knows I would they would do but I do think my business must needs wait its turn, no matter how important to me. So is it in this mad world, each strives to advance his own interest, to the stoppage of all else, and each magnifys his own needs to gyant sizes. Nevertheless, I do wish they would haste my business and that with due diligence and dispach.

21st March—Indisposed this day. I do not feel well of late. I think it is the tobacco plant that I affect overmuch, constantly drawing on my pipe or cigaret, all day long and late at night. I do know this do ill me but fool that I am it is always tomorrow when I will curtaill it. No post from my correspondents. T day nothing.

NEWFOUNDLAND POSTAL INCREASES.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

Despite the fact that Newfoundland's postal expenditure has always been greatly in excess of the revenue, comparatively low postal charges have been enjoyed. Due to the fact that the heavy steam subsidies are charged entirely against the Department, the yearly loss on the working of the post and telegraph system now amounts to over one and a quarter million dollars.

"For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1920, we paid for steam subsidies $713,581.57, in which amount was included $62,898.25 paid the Reid Newfoundland Co., Ltd., for the conveyance of mail on its main line and branches, leaving $650,683.32 paid for a coastal steam service. 90% of this amount should not be charged to the Post & Telegraph Department, as we received no service, in many cases, for the bills we were asked to pay. Steam subsidies for all purposes should be paid from the General Exchequer, and the Postal Department should pay for the conveyance of mails on a reasonable and equitable scale commensurate with the value of the service rendered. When our financial statement shows a deficit, it is not fair that we should have to stand the expense of providing coastal steamers, since the service is altogether apart from the business of the Department."

In 1887 the local letter rate was 3 cents for a half ounce letter; 5 cents to Canada, the United States, and the United Kingdom; 8 cents to the West Indies, 10 cents to India, and 12 cents to Australia. In 1891, the local letter weight was increased to 1 ounce (for 3 cents), and in the following year, this was made the minimum to other countries. In 1893, the letter rate to Canada was lowered to 3 cents. In 1898, half ounce letters to Canada were accepted at 2 cents, and in the same year, this was made applicable to letters to all parts of the British Empire.

In 1908, the letter rate within the Colony was reduced to 2 cents, and a reciprocal 2c letter rate was entered into with the U. S. A. on May 1, 1909.

On May 17, 1918, the inland letter rate was raised to 3 cents, and letters to the British Empire and U. S. A. were similarly affected. Previously, town letters passed at 1c, and inland letters and those to the Labrador, at 2 cents. The increase was in the nature of a 1c war tax, and was made applicable to foreign letters, as well, contrary to the regulations of the Universal Postal Union. In subsequent correspondence the Colonial Secretary advised that correcting legislation had been passed by the House, but the 5c rate was never restored.

At the Postal Union convention at Madrid, in 1920, increased postage rates were authorised; maximum rates were approved, and it was left to the individual countries to set their own rates, which might be the new maximum rate of 10c, the old rate of 5c, or anything in between. Needless to say, few retained the old rate, and many went to the extreme. Canada was one of the latter, and on October 1, 1921, the foreign letter rate was raised to 10c, to the British Empire 4c, and within the Dominion and to the U. S. A., 3c. During the war years, Great Britain had made many changes in the inland and Colonial letter rates; raising from 1d to 1½d (1918), then to 2d (1920), and dropping back to 1½d on May 29, 1922. But it was not until June 13, 1921, that her foreign letter rate was raised to 3d, and post cards to 1½d. Most of the Colonies followed her example and adopted 2d Empire and 3d foreign letter rates, and 1½d on post cards.

In presenting his report for the year ending June 30, 1920, the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs of Newfoundland (W. W. Halfyard) wrote (in April, 1921)—

"While it may not be desirable to increase the rate to such an extent here (10c for the first ounce), still it does seem proper to charge more for a letter to Australia than one to Topsails, which at present is forwarded at the same charge, i.e., 3 cents. However, in view of the increased cost of service, the Government should consider carefully made exactly like the famous "Oriel" but without the fancy trimmings. This new album is canvas bound, has fifty leaves of the finest possible quadrille ruled paper and has the same peg attachment as the Oriel. When we say this book is just as fine an Album as anyone needs, we are going pretty strong but we mean it. Oriels may be imitated, which some people say is "the sincerest form of flattery."
